A seat in the Cabinet was offered to Rodolphe Forget of Montreal, who declined it for the time being as the granting of a certificate to the Bank International, in which he has a large interest, will come immediately before the consideration of the Government.

The list was incomplete up to a late hour, unforeseen complications having developed Sunday and yesterday. These difficulties were smoothed out last night, and at midnight the official list had been sanctioned by the Governor-General.

SCENE IN TRIPOLI OVER WHICH THERE MAY BE WAR.

CUSTOM HOUSE AND LANDING STAGE AT TRIPOLI.

It is the general opinion in England and Germany that war between Italy and Turkey over Tripoli is inevitable, although these two nations are trying to prevent a conflict.

PROBABILITIES

Light to moderate winds; a few local showers in the south-westerly portion but generally fair to-day and on Wednesday with about the same temperature.

AVIATORS ESCAPED

New York, Oct. 10.—Thomas O. M. Sopwith, the English aviator, and Nelson Doubleday, son of Frank Doubleday, his passenger, had remarkable escapes yesterday from serious injury when the aviator's biplane fell 53 feet, landing on a fence at the Nassau Aerodrome, on Long Island.

Sopwith was about 300 feet in the air when he suddenly found that the handle of his control gear would not work. He started to come down, and when 53 feet from the ground the connecting wire broke and he partly lost control of the machine. With rare coolness and judgment, he managed to keep right side up and landed on the fence without much damage, aside from an injured plane.

Earl L. Ovington again failed to start from here on his trip to Governor's Island, where he was to commence his trip across the continent. Motor trouble was reported as the cause.

TRY A REVIEW WANT AD.

FIGHT FOR IRISH HOME RULE HAS COMMENCED IN BRITAIN

Rt. Hon. Walter Long Points Out That it Means Virtual Separation.

London, Oct. 10.—Right Hon. Walter Long, in opening his anti-home rule campaign at Darlington yesterday, pointed out that self-government upon the lines of Canada and Australia meant virtual separation. Couldn't Canada to-morrow, if it choose to do so, throw off the British flag? They knew perfectly well that all the soldiers and sailors in the world, and all statesmen could not prevent Canada, Australia or South Africa taking their own line.

These great colonies had no intention of doing anything of the kind, for they love the Mother Country, and meant to stand by her. That was true, but wise people ought not to be content with securities of that kind in certain circumstances. They would regret it with bitter tears if Canada or Australia or the Union of South Africa were to leave the Mother Country, but it would not interfere with the security of her defence.

But was it so with Ireland? Could they regard the prospect of the separation of Ireland with the same comparative equanimity as they do that of the colonies? Ireland was part of themselves. She was as much a part of the Mother Country as Lancashire or Yorkshire or Durham.

Caused by Children.

New York, Oct. 10.—Two thousand violations of the fire regulations were committed in the ten-storey building in Washington place, where 145 employes of the Triangle Waist Co. lost their lives by fire last fall, it has been disclosed by prolonged investigation, it is charged by chief of the fire department. He made the charges before the budget committee of the board of estimates in a plea for increased appropriations.

Fire Commissioner Johnson desires to establish a bureau of fire prevention. He said that the majority of fires were due to the ignorance of the foreign population of the city. "Matches," he said, "cause 2,000 fires a year. Parents allow their children to play with fire, and they are not educated to the danger. And we have a larger number of incendiary fires than the public has any idea of." He asked for an appropriation of $3,800,000.

Gets Three Years.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—John Dawson, found guilty of stealing eight bottles of whiskey from the Grand Trunk warehouse, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate Howston yesterday morning. Dawson still maintained that he was not guilty. He walked to the jail with Officer Dodson, calmly smoking a cigar.

HIGHER CRITICS ARE UNDER FIRE

Warm Discussion at the Ecumenical Conference

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Biblical criticism was under hot fire yesterday morning in the Ecumenical Methodist Conference, but emerged from the conflict triumphantly vindicated. Seventeen speakers took part in the liveliest discussion this conference has yet witnessed, some vigorously attacking the critics, while others defended them, and declared that the age demands truth, and the people are bound to have it. The general feeling of the conference appeared to be that there was no need to fear for the results of scientific investigation of the Scriptures.

It was significant that the British delegates who spoke were almost to a man upholders of the scholars known as higher critics, pointing out that they were eminently evangelical men.

Probably the best summary of the discussion could be given in these words of the last speaker, Rev. Dr. J. G. Tasker of the Wesleyan Church:

"I hope we shall never again hear a higher critic represented as a man who exalts himself upon a pedestal of superior knowledge, and looks down with scorn upon his fellows. We have to live in the intellectual atmosphere of our own time. This age is determined to face the facts in all realms. It is determined to get at origins. Then if you are going to get at origins you must be a higher critic, because all that higher criticism means is: that you follow the stream that comes down to you a little higher up towards its source."

The discussion arose chiefly out of the essay by Prof. A. S. Peake, D.D., of the Primitive Methodist Church, which summed up the permanent results of Biblical criticism.

Prize For Peace Essays.

Mohonk Lake, N.Y., Oct. 10.—The Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration announced yesterday the opening of its third annual prize contest for the best essay on international arbitration for an undergraduate male student of any college in the United States or Canada. The prize of $100 is given by Chester Dewitt Pugsley. The conference also announced two prizes of $200 and $100 given by Mrs. Elmer Black of New York, for the best essays on international peace by undergraduate women students of colleges in the United States.

To Improve the Service.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—Mr. Stephen Furness, brother of Lord Furness, and general manager of the Manchester Lines, Ltd., arived here on Saturday by the Allan Line steamer Victorian. Mr. Furness expected a big improvement in the trade of the company with the port of Montreal, and the object of his visit is to investigate facilitiesm for an additional Manchester steamer.

ITALIANS ARE DRIVEN IN

Special to the Review.

Chiasso, Switzerland, Oct. 10.—Italian marines starting inland from Tripoli have encountered an overwhelming body of Turks and Arabs, and have been driven back to the walls of the town where the attackers were dispersed by the guns of the fleet.

A dispatch states that twenty transports with troops have sailed for Syracuse to join the second division Tripoli expedition.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT IS ON THE OCEAN ENJOYING THE SCENERY

Winter Program Will Include Visits to Prominent Eastern Cities - Montreal will be Visited About November 1 — No Official Message

Montreal, Oct. 10.—The Montreal Star yesterday published the following wireless despatch:

"On board the steamship Empress of Ireland, via Malin Head, 9th.

"Fine weather continues to attend the Duke of Connaught's trip across the Atlantic. The duke and his party are proving themselves the best of sailors and are enjoying every minute of the time aboard ship.

"The Star's correspondent was granted an informal chat with His Royal Highness. He found the duke to be most affable and eager to discuss Canadian affairs. His Highness is apparently losing no opportunity to acquaint himself with conditions in the Dominion.

"Upon being asked if he had any message that he would like to send to Canada in advance of his arrival there, he replied:

"'No, I could not give you an official message of any kind, as that would be contrary to etiquette. Earl Grey being still in Canada, official messages can only come from Ottawa. But everybody knows that I am most glad to return to Canada, whose acquaintance I first made 42 years ago, and renewed in the nineties, while on my way to India. I shall be delighted to be in the Dominion once again.'

"I am officially informed that the winter program of Their Royal Highnesses will include visits to the important cities in eastern Canada. The dates are at present unfixed.

"I have also been requested to state that the duke is not going up to Montreal, on his arrival at Quebec, because he feels that he could not do a visit to that city justice in the present circumstances of his divided establishment. He will, however, make an official and formal visit to Montreal at the earliest opportunity.

"The duke is most popular with the passengers and the staff aboard ship. There is no attempt to isolate him from the other passengers, and he is a familiar figure on the promenade deck."

Visit Postponed.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—The Duke of Connaught will not visit the city of Montreal until November 1.

This was the information received yesterday morning by the mayor and Ald. Dandurand, chairman of the reception committee.

Sometime ago when it was found that the repairs to the City Hall would not be finished in time to receive the duke on his arrival in Canada, Mayor Guerin wrote to Ottawa asking if it would be possible to arrange a postponement of the new Governor-General's visit to a later date. Yesterday at noon the reply was received, stating that the duke had been made acquainted with the position of affairs and would delay his visit accordingly.

By that time the new floor on the second storey, where the mayor's office and council chamber are located, will be finished and a special carpet that is being prepared for the occasion will be ready.

Hydro Power Popular.

Thamesford, Oct. 10.—Only one vote was cast yesterday against two bylaws in connection with the purchase of Niagara power from the Hydro-Electric Commission. One bylaw was the purchase of the power from the province instead of from Ingersoll, and the other was for raising the funds—about $6,000—needed for the installation of the local plant and its appliances. In both cases the vote showed 55 in favor of and 1 opposed.

Hitherto the electrical energy used here has been transmitted from Ingersoll and the price to be paid under the new conditions, $48 per horsepower, will be considerably less than the present cost.

It is proposed to supply Kintore power users from here and between 500 and 600 horsepower will be added to the list of the province's customers.

TURKEY WILL BE GOOD NOW

To Yield Tripoli if She Can Have Show of Authority

Rome, Oct. 10.—It is semi-officially announced that, following the intervention of the German ambassador the Ottoman Government suspended the order for the expulsion of Italians from Turkey. It is expected that the Government will now abandon the measure altogether.

Must Know Conditions.

Berlin, Oct. 10.—The Cologne Gazetter, in an inspired Berlin despatch, says that the Turkish note cannot be complied with until the conditions are named, whereupon the cessation of hostilities might be successfully attempted.

It is assumed that Turkey finally will declare her readiness to turn over Tripoli to Italy, while retaining the external signs of power, and that Italy will interpose no stout resistance to peace negotiations.

Should Omit Grain.

Constantinople, Oct. 10.—The German ambassador is urging the Porte to publish a definite statement as to what articles will be treated as contraband of war, and advising the exclusion of cereals from the list, on the ground that to make cereals contraband would offend Russia and Great Britain, but not seriously affect Italy.

Vienna remits a percentage of taxes to landlords who will tear an old building and put up a bigger and better one.

Colonial Office Collecting Data.

Kingston, Ja., Oct. 10—The Colonial Office at London is seeking information here as the possible influence the opening of the Panama Canal will have on the British West Indies. Sir Dyney Oliver, the governor of Jamaica, with this end in view, will pay a visit to the Panama zone in November. He will collect data and make a report to the British Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Motorman's Watch Magnetized.

Detroit, Oct. 10.—Investigation by the Detroit United Railway officials verified the belief of Motorman Harry Uber that Saturday night's collision at Young's curve on the Flint division of the railway, in which two were killed and 12 injured, was caused by Uber's watch having become magnetized. Suptrintendent Bullen gave out an official statement to this effect yesterday.

War on Cockroaches.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—The triple-distilled war spirit of Tripoli has fired the Roman spirit in the hearts of Montreal's Board of Control and they are resolved to make war upon an army of cockroaches which Ald. Lavalle and La Pointe have assured them have taken possession of St. James' market to the exclusion of trade and the public health. Dr. Laberge of the Health Department and Market Inspector Biron have reported that the historic market place is in the hands of the bugs and that the honest tradesmen are fleeing in terror from their stalls and taking to the tall timbers, while the cockroaches are hauling down flags in the shape of price tickets wherever found.

PORTUGUESE GOVERNMENT IS ACTIVE ON NEWS OF RISING

Daylight Robbery.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—Thieves picked the combination of the Aberdeen Hotel safe Sunday afternoon in broad daylight and walked away with over two hundred dollars in cash, undetected. Calixe Bechard, proprietor of the establishment, was in the hotel at the time but the robbery must have been committed in a very few minutes while Mr. Bechard was upstairs. For some time Mr. Bechard had been missing small sums from the safe, but in the hope of catching the thief, he said nothing about it, keeping a close watch on the quiet. Last week $50 was missed in one day. Mr. Bechard did not know at that time just how the money was taken, but now he is positive that the thief knew the combination and opened the safe.

Russians Threatened Conflict.

Teheran, Oct. 10.—The National Council decided yesterday to confiscate the property of Shua-E-Sultaneh, brother of the ex-Shah of Persia, and one of his strong supporters in his recent attempt to regain the throne. Gendarmes were sent to take possession, but they were opposed by a body of cossacks, headed by two Russian consulate officers, who threatened to open fire. Thereupon the gendarmes withdrew.

The matter was referred to the Russian Minister, and if the Minister does not arrive at a decision by ten o'clock this morning, the Persian treasurer-general will take definite action.

PORTER INDICTED

Chatham, Oct. 10.—At the fall assizes which opened here yesterday before Hon. Mr. Justice Falconbridge, the grand jury brought in a true bill for murder against Charles Hurst, the colored porter, who is charged with slaying of Thomas Brown (white) on August 1 last. Hurst's trial will proceed to-day. O. L. Lewis, K.C., will act for the defence, and William Meredith, K.C., of London, will be crown counsel. The killing of Brown came as a tragic climax to the last emancipation celebration held in Chatham. At the inquest witnesses testified that Hurst beat the white man over the head with his fists till he fell to the ground. Brown afterwards died from fractures of the skull.

The grand jury will be next asked to consider the depositions in the case of Rex v. Thomas Griffith, for the alleged murder of his brother-in-law, Orlando Arnold. Arnold died from injuries claimed to have been inflicted in an assault upon him by Griffiths on July 13 last. If a true bill is brought in this case. Griffith will get his trial at the spring assizes.

Immediate Trial for Those Charged With Political Offences — Repressing the Royalists.

Lisbon, Oct. 10.—Both Chambers of Parliament have been summoned to meet in extraordinary session on Oct. 16. The Government will then ask that paragraphs 20 and 21 of article 3 of the constitution be suspended and a special tribunal be constituted for the immediate trial of those charged with political offences.

This is the Government's response to the Monarchist invasion of Northern Portugal. Awaiting trial are 600 political prisoners and to these others are likely to be added in tht next few days. Col. Alberto da Silveira, former commander of the police, was yesterday appointed Minister of War, succeeding Gen. Pimento Castre, resigned.

According to last night's news the Royalists are entrenched in the mountainous district of Serra da Corroa, within less than a mile of the Spanish frontier, and so able to retreat if necessary, into neutral territory. Two regiments of infantry, a squadron of cavalry and 400 soldiers landed from the warships at Oporto, are pressing the Monarchists, with whom there are occasional skirmishes. The Government feels somewhat hindered, as it does not wish to annoy Spanish susceptibilities by fighting near the frontier.

Monarchists Retreating.

Oporto, Oct. 10.—Latest official advices say that the Monarchists are retreating, having abandoned Cafsares yesterday and taking refuge a mile from the frontier to the northwest of Vinhaes. The Government column in pursuit is closing in upon the Monarchists. Oporto is quiet.

Shooting Accident.

Richmond, Que., Oct. 10.—A shooting accident occurred here yesterday morning, resulting in the death of Frank Dresser, insurance agent, of this place. The particulars of the shooting have not been learned, but one story is that the young man, who intended going hunting, was standing in the door of his house, when his gun was accidently discharged. The contents entered his body and he died in a few minutes.

Sunk With All on Board.

Boston, Oct. 10.—The sinking of an unknown British barkentine, said to have hiled from Bridgeton, N.S., off the entrance to the Bany of Fundy, on Sept. 30, with all on board, was reported yesterday by Captain Goodwin of the fishing schooner Good Luck.

COUNTERFEITER IS CAPTURED AFTER CHASE OF SOME MONTHS

British Novelist Is Dead.

London, Oct. 10.—Hesba Stretton, the novelist, died here yesterday. She was never married, and she and her sister, Elizabeth Smith, lived together all their lives. When the latter died, last February, it was predicted that the author would not survive her very long, as she was in feeble health at the time.

The father of the novelist was a Shropshire bookseller. She wrote first for Charles Dickens, from 1859 until his death. Afterwards she wrote a number of religious and philanthropic stories, which have been translated in all European and several Asiatic languages.

A Big Difference.

Washington, Oct. 10.—A discrepancy of over $3,288,271 between the material on hand and that called for by the books of the Washington navy yard was shown by the inventory of that yard just completed, according to an announcement by Secretary of the Navy Meyer yesterday. This is the first inventory of record made at this yard within the last 25 years.

The Navy Department officials stated explicitly that there was no indication whatever that moral turptitude was involved in the discrepancy and that it undoubtedly was due to the antiquated bookkeeping methods.

Political Refugee is Captured as He is About to Leave for South America.

Washington, Oct. 10.—After a search across the continent and up into British Columbia, the secret service operatives yesterday captured Albert Leon, a Russian Jew and political refugee, as he was about to leave New York for South America. Leon is alleged to be the head of an extensive counterfeiting gang which has flooded the Pacific coast with spurious $10 bank notes during the past year.

The secret service was yesterday advised that Leon was alleged to have perfected a process by which he photographed the face of a note that looked so much like surface printing that many experts declared it to have been printed from etched plate.

Two of Leon's alleged confederates, Rudolph Swanson and Fred Marneek, were arrested in Chicago two weeks ago. These two men are charged with passing some of the counterfeit money.

Leon arrived in this country about three years ago. He took up a section of land near Beaumont, near Los Angeles, where it is believed the first spurious notes were made. In December, 1910, he went to Nootka Island in British Columbia, and it was charged that most of his counterfeit work came out of his plant there.

LET US GET GEORGE STREET PAVED. JOIN IN THE MOVEMENT TO MAKE PETERBOROUGH LOOK LIKE THE REAL CITY IT IS.

MR. ROBERT FAIR

The announcement of the retirement of Mr. Robert Fair, in the Review yesterday, will be generally regretted by the thousands of Peterborough people with whom Mr. Fair has done business. After twenty-eight years' continuous service as a merchant of big and broad calibre, Mr. Fair retires with the highest respect and esteem of the community in which his lot has been cast, and which he has done so much to advance and improve. There are comparatively few merchants, after all is said and done, who have made more of a success of life, or as much, than has Mr. Fair, or whose influence has been exerted with such salutary effect in civic matters. As a member of the school board, of which he has been chairman, and in many other capacities, Mr. Fair has made it plain that he has a strong desire for the improvement and progress of his home city.

It is very satisfactory to know that while Mr. Fair may not be actively engaged in business after his present plans are brought to completion, he will still be able to give of his time, and energy, and ripe experience in the public interest—for in the public affairs of a city, the men of broad calibre are not so very numerous. In all of the twenty-eight years of his business career in Peterborough, Mr. Fair has been a steady and consistent advertiser in the Review, and perhaps the results he has achieved, and his reputation as a most progressive business man, may lend a little color to the deduction that advertising in the Review is productive of first class results. Mr. Fair has demonstrated his great faith in it, at any rate.

We believe that it is the earnest hope of his thousands of friends and acquaintances that Mr. Fair shall be able to enjoy for many years the fruits of his labor, and even perhaps be selfish enough to hope that his increased leisure will mean an increase in his service to the city's best interests.

HIGHER EDUCATION

The generally prosperous condition of business throughout the Dominion is reflected strongly in the demand for help at the Canadian General Electric Co. In an advertisement in the Review to-day, there is an opening indicated for two or three apprentices in a department, with the unusual proviso, that they must have a collegiate education.

The value of a collegiate education should not be mistaken by the boys and girls of the public schools—and their parents. There are many boys and girls who leave the collegiate very little benefited by their course, but as a general rule, the higher studies and specialisation which the collegiate curriculum so often leads to, produces in many of the youthful minds a profound and far reaching effect. Even though the student ends his school days after getting his matriculation, he has a tremendous advantage over the boy who leaves at the end of a public school career, with practically only the rudimentaries of knowledge as an equipment for life's battle.

The writer recollects an advertisement in a newspaper for a young man to read proofs in a big newspaper office; and a boy with a collegiate education was preferred. Three or four collegiate products were tried. One managed to spell twenty-two out of twenty-five test words wrongly, and others did nearly as badly. And the position went to a boy with only a general public school education, who was able to spell all but two correctly. This instance, in itself, is only proof of the old saying that colleges cannot make wise men of fools. But even college can give a fool enough polish that he is liable to be mistaken for a wise man by many people. The great value of the higher education is not perhaps so much attained by the studies themselves as by the general effect on the method by which the mind operates. The increase in refinement, the higher stand of culture, the broadened view of life, and a realisation of its many phases, all are indirect results of a higher-than-public-school education.

Of course, the stuff that a boy or girl is made of is the real test. No amount of training, no amount of cramming, no hot-house methods of forcing mental growth, can instil into a boy or girl those fundamental qualities which are the basis of character for the world's greatest struggle. Strength, determination will-power application and industry and ambition are qualities beyond the realm of any professor's wand. Yet even in this, the higher education will often bring to the front a realisation that these are the qualities which count most in the end. The broadening of the outlook means a great deal, and if the youth be fortunate enough to be equipped with horse-sense, with ambition and energy, the lack of the higher education is sometimes a considerable handicap.

Not that a collegiate or a college training is at all necessary to success. Great men of the world without number have risen from humble beginnings—from log-cabins where a book was a precious possession. Any boy with the ambition and the will may rise to great heights in the eyes of the world, by resolving upon his goal and striving, day in and day out, with might and main, to reach it. At the same time, the assistance of a liberal education to such a youth, equipping to some degree his mind, laying more solidly for him the foundation on which he must eventually build, is immeasurable. After all, no man gets very far these days without education. Therefore, get all the education that can be got, and then set to work to root for more.

POPULATION RETURNS

The census returns will be made public in a few days, and it is said that they will be a disappointment, showing only seven and a half million population. It is not to be wondered at—the smallness of the returns, for the census was taken in a most incomplete and slipshod manner, and has very little real value as an indication of the country's progress. On the average, we believe that twenty per cent of the population was missed by the enumerators.

However, what is there in a craze for population anyway? If Canada is to-day the most prosperous country on the face of the earth, with her people enjoying a measure of comfort almost unknown in other countries, will more people crowded into her cities make for greater prosperity? More land under cultivation would, naturally, because that is the production of wealth, but after all, is it any better for an urban resident that his city should be a million, instead of two hundred thousand? Let us live the sane, rational life while we have the chance, without longing for the day when we shall face the great problems of slums and squalor and disgrace such as every great city endures. This is a case where hustling to become big is not such an extremely worthy ambition after all.

THE CABINET

Mr. Borden's cabinet has been announced and contains some surprises the chief of which, perhaps, is the inclusion of W. B. Nantel, of the Nationalists, in addition to F. D. Monk. This indicates that Mr. Borden has found some satisfactory way of handling the Nationalist problem, consistent with the ideals and the attitude of the Conservative party on imperial questions.

The inclusion of Dr. Reid, of Grenville, was a surprise to most people, and until a few days ago, Col. Sam Hughes was not seemingly in favor, but the stretch race told. Both of these gentlemen will be of value as cabinet material, Mr. Martin Burrell is the best available man in sight for the agriculture portfolio, while Mr. W. T. White's selection as finance minister, was already forecasted.

The naming for the Cabinet of F. D. Monk, W. B. Nantel, and L. P. Pelletier is considered as a sure indication that an effort will be made to hold Quebec for the Conservatives as much as it is now, and that the leaders of the Nationalists know that unless they choose to submit to the Borden program, they have little chance of making anyway headway against either Liberals or Conservatives. The only surprise in the west is the naming of Martin Burrell, of British Columbia, instead of A. S. Goodeve, whom most people expected would get the rank of cabinet minister.

On the whole, the Borden cabinet lines up very strongly, and great service should be expected from it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

They say that in Heaven the streets are paved with gold, but in Peterborough George street is paved with mud most of the time.

Britain's biggest battleship was launched yesterday. This is another strong argument in favor of world-wide peace.

What about the paving scheme. The road to hell may be paved with good intentions, but let us pave George street with good asphalt.

The bloodless war between Turkey and Italy will fade into international insignificance, now that the football season has come, with its roll of casualties.

Col. Sam Hughes is minister of militia, after all. Now watch Lindsay swell out its chest like a pouter pigeon. The sky around Seugogville will be of rosy hues on the triumph of its redoubted warrior.

The Jules Motor Company started work yesterday in Guelph and has on hand orders for 800 automobiles, according to a dispatch to the Toronto Globe. If the Jules company turns out to be a good proposition, will Peterborough people take the hint!

Seeing that Sir Wilfrid Laurier fifteen years ago was engaged in the history of Canada, and now on his return to opposition, will have a chance to finish it, might not all Canadians join in hoping that he will be able to "finish his work?"

An Ottawa man took out an insurance policy of $100,000 a year ago, paid one premium, and now he is dead. This is not intended as a notice to other people that they shall go and do likewise. The insurance companies might object, while the undertakers would rejoice.

The Examiner cannot resist the opportunity to take a fling at the Protestants of Peterborough who were opposed to Mr. Stratton in the election. But in this election, at any rate these sadly mistaken people didn't seem to mind the error of their ways—in fact, they seemed to be rather happy.

Nearly a score are reported drowned, the result of a storm at Nogales, Arizona.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 9.—At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Oct. 7 were 2250 cattle, 2375 sheep and lambs, 4150 hogs and 800 calves. The offerings on the market this morning amounted to 1400 cattle, 2400 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 500 calves.

Owing to the increased supplies of cattle, and especially so from the Canadian Northwest, a weaker feeling developed in week show a decline of 25c per 100 pounds, the market, and prices since this day but even at this reduction butchers considered that they were too high, when the quality of the stock offered was taken into consideration. Some of them found it difficult to fill their wants with the right class of cattle, and stated that they would rather pay ½c per pound more and get the quality, as they dressed out far better.

The gathering of buyers was large, and the demand was good, consequently a fairly active trade was done. A few full loads of steers and heifers, mixed, sold at $5.85 per 100 pounds, and picked lots of choice steers brought 6⅛c; good, 5⅝c to 6c; fairly good, 5¼c to 5½c; fair, 5c to 5¼c, and common, 4½c to 4¾c per pound.

The weak feeling which has characterized the market for hogs for the past month still continues to be the main feature of this branch of the trade, on account of the liberal supplies coming forward, and the lower prices ruling throughout the country, and in sympathy with the same prices here to-day were 10c to 25c per 100 pounds, lower than they were last Wednesday.

The demand from packers was good at the above reduction, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.50 to $6.75 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. Heavy hogs and sows sold for $1 per 100 pounds less than the above prices.

Owing to the increased receipts of sheep and lambs, the tone of the market this morning was weaker, and prices declined 10c to 15c per 100 pounds. The demand was fairly good, and sales of choice lambs were made at $5.50 to $5.60, and sheep at $3.65 to $3.75 per 100 pounds. The supply of calves was larger, for which the demand was good, and prices were maintained at $3 to $15 each, as to size, quality, etc.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Oct. 9.—Cattle—Receipts, 4775 head; market active and firm; prime steers, $7.25 to $7.80; butcher grades, $3 to $6.75; cows, $3 to $5.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 20,000 head; market opened firm, closed weak; choice lambs, $4.80 to $6.90; cull to fair, $5 to $6.60; yearlings, $4.50 to $5; sheep, $3 to $4.40.

Hogs—Receipts, 16,150; market active, 15c to 20c higher; yorkers, $7 to $7.05; stags, $5 to $5.25; pigs, $6.50 to $6.60; mixed, $7.05 to $7.10; heavy, $7.10; roughs, $5.50 to $6.00.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

Duperon did not seem to care much one way or the other, and the Kentuckian was not the sort to seek conciliation—with an insult such as his captain had reived calling for chastisement.

After the preliminaries were passed over, the seconds again separated—each to attend upon his principal.

The young Irishman took off his coat and rolled back his shirt sleeves up to the elbow. Santander, on the other hand, who wore a red flannel shirt under his ample sacque, simply threw aside the latter, leaving the shirt sleeves as they were, buttoned around the wrist.

Everybody was now silent; the backney drivers on their boxes, the doctors, the gigantic Texan, all looming large and spectral-like through the still lingering mist, while the streamers of Spanish moss hanging from the cypresses around were appropriate drapery for such a scene

CHAPTER VII.

A Duel "To the Death."

The duelists stood confronting one another, in the position of "salute," both hands on high grasping their swords at hilt and point, the blades held horizontally. The second of each was in his place, on the left hand of his principal, half a pace in advance. But a moment more all were waiting for the word. The second of the challenger had the right to give it and Crittenden was not the man to make delay.

"Engage!" he cried out in a firm, clear voice, at the same time stepping half a pace forward, Duperon doing the same. The movement was made as a precaution against foul play; sometimes, though not always intended. For in the excitement of such a moment, or under the impatience of angry passion, one or other of the principals may close too quickly—to prevent which is the duty of the seconds.

Quick, at the "engage," both came to "guard" with a collision that struck sparks from the steel, proving the hot anger of the adversaries. Had they been cooler, they would have crossed swords quietly. But when, the instant after, they came to tierce, both appeared more collected, their blades for a while keeping in contact and gliding around each other as if they had been a single piece.

For several minutes this cautious play continued, without further sparks, or only such as appeared to scintillate from the eyes of the combatants. Then came a counter-thrust, as quickly followed by a counter-parry, with no advantage to either.

Long ere this, an observer acquainted with the weapons they were wielding, could have seen that of the two Kearney was the better swordsman. In changing from carte to tierce, or reverse, the young Irishman showed himself possessed of the power to keep his arm straight and do the work with his wrist, whilst the Creole kept bending his elbow, thus exposing his forearm to the adversary's point.

It is a rare accomplishment among swordsmen, but, when present, insuring almost certain victory, that is, other circumstances being equal.

In Kearney's case it perhaps proved the saving of his life; since it seemed to be the sole object of his antagonist to thrust in upon him, heedless of his own guard. But the long, straight point, from shoulder far outstretched, and never for an instant obliquely, foiled all his attempts.

After a few thrusts Santander semed surprised at his fruitless efforts. Then over his face came a look more like fear. It was the first time in his dueling experience he had been so baffled, for it was his first encounter with an adversary who could keep a straight arm.

But Florence Kearney had been taught tierce as well as carte and knew how to practice it. For a time he was prevented from trying it by the other's impetuous and incessant thrusting, which kept him continuously at guard, but as the sword-play proceeded, he began to discover the weak points of his antagonist, and, with a well-directed thrust, at length sent his blade through the Creole's outstreched arm, impaling it from wrist to elbow.

An ill-suppressed cry of triumph escaped from the Kentuckian's lips, while with eyes directed towards the other second, he semed to ask:

"Are you satisfied?"

Then the question was formally put.

Duperon looked in the face of his principal, though without much show of interrogating him. It seemed as if he already divined what the answer would be.

"A la mort!" cried the Creole, with a deadly emphasis and bitter determination in his dark, sinister eyes.

"To the death be it!" was the response of the Irishman, not so calmly, and now for the first time showing anger. Nor strange he should, since he now knew he had crossed swords with a man determined on taking his life.

There was a second or two's pause of which Santander availed himself hastily whipping a handkerchief round his wounded arm—a permission not strictly according to the code, but tacitly granted by his gallant antagonist.

When the two again closed and came to guard the seconds were no longer by their sides. At the words "a la mort" they had withdrawn—each to the rear of his principal—the mode of action in a duel to the death. Their role henceforth was simply to look on, with no right of interference, unles either of the principals should attempt foul play.

Though now on both sides the contest was caried on with increased anger, there was not much outward sign of it. On neither any rash sword-play. If they had lost temper they yet had control over their weapons, and their guards and points though perhaps more rapidly exchanged, displayed as much skill as ever.

Again Kearney felt surprised at the repeated thrusts of his antagonist which kept him all the time on the defensive, while Santander appeared equally astonished and discomfitted by that far-reaching arm, straight as a yardstick, with elbow never bent. Could the Creole have but added six inches to his rapied blade, in less than 10 seconds the young Irishman would have had nearly so much of it passed between his ribs.

Twice its point touched, slightly scratching the skin upon his breast and drawing blood.

For quite 20 minutes the sanguinary strife continued without any marked advantage to either. It was a spectacle somewhat painful to behold, the combatants themselves being a sight to look upon. Kearney's shirt of finest white linen showed like a butcher's; his sleeves encrimsoned; his hands, too, grasping his rapier hilt, the same—not with his own blood, but that of his adversary; his face was spotted by the drops dashed over it from the whirling wands of steel.

Gory, too, was the face of Santander, but gashed as well. Bending forward to put in a point, the Creole had given his antagonist a chance resulting to himself in a punctured cheek, the scar of which would stay there for life.

It was this brought the combat to an end, or, at all events, to its concluding stroke. Santander, vain of his personal appearance, on feeling his cheek laid open, suddenly lost command of himself and with a fierce oath rushed at his adversary regardless of the consequences.

He succeded in making a thrust though not the one he intended. For having aimed at Kearney's heart, missing it, his blade passed through the buckle of the young Irishman's braces, where in an instant it was entangled.

Only for half a second, but this was all the skilled swordsman required. Now, first since the fight began, his elbow was seen to bend. This to obtain room for a thrust, which was sent, to all appearance, home to his adversary's heart.

Everyone on the ground expected to see Santander fall, for by the force and direction of the blow Kearney's blade should have passed through his body, splitting the heart in twain. Instead, the point did not appear to penetrate even an inch! As it touched there came a sound like the chinking of coin in a purse, with simultaneously the snap of a breaking blade, and the young Irishman was seen standing as in a trance of astonishment, in his hand but the half of a sword, the other half gleaming amongst the grass at his feet.

ORIGIN OF LIFE

Swedish Professor Opines That Particles of Spontaneous Generation May Be Flown From Globe To Globe.

The old idea that life may have been spread from world to world by dust particles traversing space is being again discussed. Professor Svante Arrhenius, the Swedish physician, finds that spontaneous generation is probably no longer possible on the earth, but conceives that it may take place on some globe having more favourable physical and chemical conditions. From that globe life may be scattered to other habitable bodies on particles driven by the pressure of light. In recent experiments with bacteria, half of the dried organisms perished within three days at ordinary temperature, but others showed no impairment of vitality after four months at the temperature of liquid air, and it was concluded that the cold of space may so diminish vital activity that life may be sustained for millions of years. An objection to this theory, by M. Paul Becquerel, is that the ultra-violet rays from incandescent stars are constantly sterilising space. Even extreme dryness and cold cannot greatly lengthen resistance to these rays, and spores exposed in a vacuum to ultra-violet rays under conditions of extreme cold were destroyed within a few hours.

QUAINT JAP PILGRIMS

The Japanese peasants, when they get themselves up for the business of a pilgrimage, are the quaintest figures imaginable. The women generally tuck up their petticoats well above their knees, either leaving the legs bare or else swathing them in white bandages, which form a kind of leggings. Their hair is done in the usual elaborate Japanese style, and generally an artificial flower is stuck in at the top. It does look so comic to see the wizened face of an old woman with a large red rose bobbing over it. And this floral decoration is not confined to the women; when you meet a party of pilgrims you often see the old men also with a flower stuck coquettishly above the ear. It appears that many of the poor old dears from the country get so bewildered by the magnificence of the places they go to and the distractions of shopping, that they quite lose their heads, and consequently their way. So the ever thoughtful Japanese police have insisted that every party of pilgrims is to have a distinguishing badge. At Nagano it was the commonest thing possible to see some ancient dame rushing about wailing, "Where is my party? Where is the purple iris party?" or, "Where is the yellow-towel-round-the-neck party?" And then she would be told that the "yellow-towel-round-the-neck party" was on its way to the station, or that the "purple irises" were still saying their prayers in the temple.

They Set It Right!

Among "the good old ways" of "Merrie England" is the tendency to democracy prevailing in the great public schools. There there is no pampering, however exalted the boys' rank or great their possessions. A story is told of an Indian official of high rank, calling upon the house master in a famous public school, where a young prince, son of a rajah, was being educated. The official brought a special message from his master to the effect that he wanted no favours or exceptional treatment of any sort extended to his son on account of his exalted birth.

"You may set the mind of the rajah at rest on that score," said the house master, struggling to keep back his smile before the dignified anxiety of the Indian official. "If the authorities were inclined to discriminate in the prince's favour, the boys of the school would set the matter right. Among them generally the rajah's son answers to the name of 'Nigger,' and I understand that with his intimates he is familiarly known as 'Coal scuttle.'"

New Zealand's Sulphur Island.

One of the most extraordinary islands in the world lies in the Bay of Plenty, New Zealand. It is called White Island, and consists mainly of sulphur mixed with gypsum and a few other minerals. Over the island, which is about three miles in circumference, and rises between 800 and 900 feet above the sea, there continually flots an immense cloud of vapour attaining an elevation of 10,000 feet. In the centre is a boiling lake of acid-charged water, covering fifty acres, and surrounded with blow holes, from which steam and sulphurous fumes are emitted with great force and noise. With care a boat can be navigated on the lake. The sulphur from White Island is very pure, but little effort has yet been made to procure it systematically.

Finley Knew

Michael Clancy, who lived in Goldfield, Nevada, had returned to that mining city after a stay in Sacramento. He was telling his friend Finley about the place, and was expatiating particularly on the glories of a new hotel building where he had aided construction by carrying the hod.

"Tis that big," orated Clancy, "they have a place on the roof where they play goll'f."

"Man, you're crazy!" broke in Finley. "How could they do that? 'Tis some other game you're thinkin' av."

"Well, 'tis this game they play with a fish-net."

"That's tinnis," explained Finley.

"Beloike you're right," condescended Clancy; "I niver played it."

"Sure I'm right," declared Finley, with a fine air of superior wisdom. "I know'd it couldn't be goll'f, for how the blazes would they get their horses up there?"

It is not known just how long mosquitoes can live, but their average life is much longer than is ordinarily supposed. Thousands of them live through winter, hibernating or asleep in dark places, and even though the temperature may fall far below freezing they are not winter killed, but on the approach of warm weather become active again.

A Valuable Aid in Fighting Tuberculosis

The modern weapons against the "White Plague" are fresh air and nourishing food. For years Cod Liver Oil has been recognized as probably the best form of nourishment.

The difficulty has been with its nauseating taste and its tendency to upset the digestion. In the nasty taste and the indigestibility have been done away with entirely. The Compound is very agreeable both to the palate and the stomach. At the same time it retains the nutritive and curative properties of the pure Norwegian Oil, strengthened by the addition, in just the right proportions, of Extract of Malt, Wild Cherry, and Hypophosphites of Lime, Soda, Potassium, Manganese and Iron.

When a cold or cough "hangs on", particularly with a child or growing boy or girl, don't take chances. Start right in with a bottle of Na-Dru-Co Tasteless Cod Liver Oil Compound—it will quickly build up the strength to throw off the cough or cold.

Ask your druggist about Na-Dru-Co Tasteless Cod Liver Oil Compound. He has it—or can get it—in 50c. and $1.00 bottles. 103

Spanish Losses In Morocco.

Madrid, Oct. 10.—The Spanish losses in the engagement between the Spanish columns and tribesmen in the Kert River region, Morocco, on Saturday, were 36 killed and 109 wounded.

The Spanish columns, in resuming operations against the hostile tribes, advanced ten miles inland, burning the houses and driving the tribesmen from their positions. But they met with determined resistance. The operations were directed by the Minister of War in person.

A Youthful Robber.

Kingston, Oct. 10.—In broad daylight, a 10-year-old lad walked into the home of W. Linton, took $3 out of a purse on the hall-tree, put the purse back in its place, and walked out. Members of the household heard the door slam, and, running to the door, saw the lad getting away. The boy is under arrest, having been identified by Mrs. Linton as the thief. He was caught twice before stealing in houses.

No Foul Play.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The coroner's jury enquiring into the death of J. Frederick Fraser, former light commissioner of the Marine Department, decided that the deceased died from cyanide poisoning, probably self-administered. There was nothing in the evidence to support the theory of foul play or the sensational stories sent from Ottawa on the affair.

IF YOU ARE SICK YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees ?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

MISS McCALLA'S TALK ON CHINA

Very Entertaining to Members of Charlotte Street League

Miss McCalla, the energetic secretary of the Y.W.C.A., provided a most enjoyable and interesting evening, for Charlotte street church Epworth Leaguers at their monthly missionary meeting last night. She spoke on China, its resources, its possibilities and the crying needs of the country. She accurately described the conditions in which its inhabitants are living, of their unlightened state, and the poverty in which swarms of the people are dwelling.

At the conclusion of her talk she exhibited several articles which she received from China, such as fancy work Chinese ladies' slippers and scroll pictures. A most appreciative vote of thanks was tendered to Miss McCalla afterwards.

The president, R. F. Downey, acted as chairman; also contributing a solo in good voice.

Next Monday, the League contemplate entertaining the Normal school students and are arranging an evening of great promise.

DALTON—BRUSH

The marriage of Miss Mabel Brush daughter of Mr. Roland Brush to Mr. Ernest R. Dalton, took place at seven o'clock Friday night in St. Cyprian's church. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev Mr. Seaborn, in the presence of the immediate relatives.

Miss Sara Fraser was bridesmaid and Mr. Alfred Furter best man. Mr. and Mrs. Dalton left later to spend their honeymoon in Peterboro and other Eastern points and on their return they will reside in Shendon Ave.—Toronto Star.

THEY WATCHED MEN TRIM HATS

Unique Number of Program at Young Peoples' Meeting

The Young People's Guild of Knox church held a very enjoyable fruit social in the lecture hall last night. There was a very pleasing program consisting of instrumentals, vocal solos and recitations and later fruit was served.

A very laughable item was the trimming of ladies' hats by three young men, Messrs Sheppard, Williamson and Hardy. Messrs. Lorimer and Thompson acted in the capacity of judges and decided upon Mr. Everett Williamson as the winner.

The following was the program as called by the chairman, Mr. R. F. C. Laing.

Instrumental—Miss Chiles.
Recitation—Miss Ethel Sheppard.
Cornet Solo—Mr. Newall, Miss Ross accompanist.
Trimming Hats—Messrs. Sheppard Hardy and Williamson.
Recitation—Mr. Stillman.
Address—Rev. H. J. Keith.
Vocal solo—Mrs. (Rev.) H.J. Keith
Stump speeches—Messrs. Lorimer, Sheppard, and Thompson.
Recitation—Miss Eva Bartley.

Rev Mr. Keith, informed the young people that they were to lose one of their workers in the person of Miss McFarlane, 470 Rubidge street, who leaves next Monday for California. Mr. Keith said that Knox church had lost many good workers in the past few years and the ones that were left would have to work all the harder. Miss McFarlane has been of much assistance in Knox Young People's Guild as she was also in the other organizations of the church including the Sunday school where she was a teacher.

CONFIRMATION BY BISHOP O'CONNOR

To Forty-five Children at St. Mary's Church

Warder.—Every available space in St. Mary's church was occupied yesterday morning at nine o'clock mass to witness his Lordship Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough, administer the sacrament of confirmation to a large number of boys and girls. High mass was celebrated by his Lordship, assisted by Venerable Archdeacon Casey and Fr. Guiry. At the conclusion of mass 45 boys and 40 girls marched to the altar where the solemn sacrament of confirmation was administered to them by his Lordship.

The children presented a unique appearance, being neatly dressed, the girls in pure white with long veils, and the boys in black suits. Their efficient training was quite noticeable by the able manner in which they marched from their seats to the altar and returned without any confusion, which speaks well for their teachers who spent many hours of late in teaching them, especially during the past week.

After confirmation his Lordship Bishop O'Connor, in an eloquent address congratulated the children upon their conduct in receiving the sacrament. He also congratulated the pastor, Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Father Guiry, the parents and teachers for the able manner in which the children were prepared. The speaker addressed the children briefly and warned them against the many evils and temptations before them in this world.

WE WANT TO SHOE!

Some Men, who don't know, have an idea that all Shoes are alike. They think that when they pay $3.50, $4.00 or $5.00 for a pair of Shoes, that it doesn't make much difference where they buy them, that a Shoe is a Shoe, and that's all there is to it

THESE MEN ARE MISTAKEN!

It's true that all Shoe Prices sound about the same, but there is as much difference in the Shoes as there is in the Men who wear them.

Our Men's Shoes are the choice products of The Country's Best Shoe Makers. We select the best Shoes that the best makers turn out. There are no better Shoes than ours to be had anywhere.

INCREASES REPORTED IN MEMBERS AND FINANCES

Two Bright Sessions at District Convention of Methodist Women's Missionary Society.

The two sessions at the annual district convention of the Methodist Women's Missionary Society, held at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, yesterday profitable for the large number of delegates, there being forty-five from the city alone. Delegates were also sent from Lakefield, Bridgenorth, Bensfort, Bailieboro and Fairmount. Three young ladies represented the Mission Circle of George street church. The district organizer, Mrs. J. K. Moore, presided in the chair during the sessions. A most hearty welcome was extended by Mrs. Collins at the afternoon session, the reply being made by Mrs Sherin, of Lakefield.

Splendid papers were read as follows;—Our Galician work in Alberta, by Mrs. John Carlisle; Importance of Crusade Day by Mrs. (Rev.) Couch; Systematic Giving by Miss Hanbridge followed by a discussion lead by Mrs. (Dr.) M. A. Morrison; Our Work in West China, by Mrs. (Rev.) Henderson; What the Women's Missionary Society owes to the Gospel, by Mrs. Finnie, and "The Watch Tour," by Mrs. Walsh. Reports were read from all auxiliaries which showed increases in membership and finances.

The afternoon session was concluded with a Consecration service taken by Mrs. Allum, of Peterborough.

From 5.30 to 7 o'clock, tea was served to the delegates who cannot speak too highly of the generous attention given them, and the kind hospitality.

Rev. G. W. Henderson gave a fine address at the evening session as did also Mrs. Moore, district organizer. Mrs. James Kendry gave some very interesting notes on the recent Board meeting at Lindsay.

Special music was given by the Bethel church choir and Mrs. Ireland, the wife of the Methodist minister at Bridgenorth, was also heard in two solos, both being much appreciated.

The delegates from the city arrived back home shortly after ten o'clock.

THE SQUAW MAN

Few persons of the thousands who have seen "The Squaw Man," in which Mr. Dill and Company, will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night, October 12th, have stopped to think that the Indian chieftain, Tabywana, who is presented with such startling fidelity in the play, is but the theatrical representation of a famous character that lived and died during the Ute campaign in which General Nelson A. Miles figured some years ago. The name of this Indian has been retained, for it is one that should live in history. During the active campaign against the Utes, General Miles found himself penned up in a river bottom and surrounded by hordes of Indians. Seven couriers he had sent out had been captured and killed by the enemy, and the situation looked positively hopeless unless some word could be sent to the fort, fifty miles distant.

In the command was Tabywana, who had been cast out of his tribe for daring to exhibit fidelity to an American officer who had befriended him some time before. To General Miles went this officer, and said that the Indian would attempt to reach the fort, provided General Miles would intrust him with a dispatch. It was a case of Hobson's choice, for no one but an Indian could hope to get through. Tabywana started on the best pony that could be obtained, and he had not gone far when he was discovered and pursued by the Utes. Having failed to cut him off they set fire to the prairie and the flames soon overtook the courier. In desperation he killed his pony, disembowelled it, crept inside the carcase and managed to remain alive until the fire passed by, and though he was terribly injured he crept to the fort, a distance of twenty miles, on his hands and knees. His hands had been burned to the bone where he had held the body of the pony together during the passage of the fire. It is this character that Mr. Edwin has immortalised in his play.

THEATRICAL

"GUY BROTHERS"

Patrons of the Grand were provided last evening with an entertaining mixture of all the lastest songs, jokes, eccentric dances, and everything else that accompanies a minstrel performance, when the ever popular Guy Bros.' minstrels played to a very large and appreciative house.

The elegant new first part setting entitled "The Yacht Club," was most elaborately staged, the fixings being most appropriate and neat. The fun commenced when the members of the yacht club decided to spend a joyous evening with songs and dances and engaged six colored servants to help amuse them.

At the rear of the platform and just above the choristers the orchestra were arranged. The songs were all catchy and musical. Happy Denway in his two funny contributions, entitled, "I feel religion coming on me," and "I'm afraid to sleep alone," made decided hits. He was forced to respond. The burnt cork artists pulled off some very fair jokes, while the interlocutor was all that could be desired.

The olio fairly bubbled over with novelties, each of which was excellent. The musical Baums are masters of handing out sweet music on strange instruments, while the novelty acrobatic artists, Leroy and Adams, made the hit of the night.

The city newsboys' quartet were warmly received in their singing of old and familiar songs. They shone particularly in the number, "The Hymns of the Old Church Choir." Harry Prince showed himself to be the possessor of a phenomenal tenor voice, which he was given full opportunity to display.

"Zeila," the human frog, is a contortionist of no mean degree. Some fancy buck and wing dancing closed the performance, which proved to be a most exhilarating tonic of enjoyment.

Wednesday night "The Squaw Man" will be presented at the Grand.

THE WONDERFUL ESKIMO MUMMY

Peterboro people have now the opportunity of seeing the much talked of Eskimo Mummy which is now on exhibition at 410 1-2 George street. This is a high class, high priced attraction which should be seen by ladies and children as well as men and boys. Found in Northern Alaska, this specimen has been pronounced the most perfect in the world. The admission price is 10c. Crowds are thronging to the store to see it. It was brought out by miners and prospectors who were astonished to find this remarkable and wonderful thing. Nothing to compare with it in any museum in the world.

Lord Kitchener received great receptions at Alexandria and Cairo. The natives call him Father of the Moustaches.

MACKMEN HAVE BETTER AVERAGES

Stronger at Fielding and Batting Than the Giants

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—An interesting comparison of the relative strength of the New York Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans, who will begin their battle for the world's championship next Saturday, is made by the unofficial records of the teams for the present season.

In batting the Giants have a team average of .278 for 146 games, while the Athletics showed .294 for 150 games. In fielding the Giants average .961 and the Athletics .962.

McGraw's men have stolen 338 bases, while the Athletics have a total of 226 bases. The Athletics have made 856 runs and the Giants 720. In safe hits the figures give the Athletics 1,506 and the Giants 1,298.

PETERBORO BOYS IN RUGBY GAME

Work for Hefferman and Sheehy for Ottawa College

Peterboro boys.

Commenting on the work of Frank Hefferman and Dick Sheehy on the Ottawa College-McGill rugby game at Montreal on Saturday, the Ottawa Free Press has the following—

"Hefferman is a new one, on the back division. He has a sure pair of hands and a good foot. He showed fine form until injured in the second half. He played the biggest part of the second and all of their third quarter under a heavy handicap.

Dick Sheehy however, who was carried down as spare and not put into the game until the last half when he relieved Cornellier was right on deck with all kinds of good stuuff. He played a remarkable game. Once he got his hooks onto the rubber he never let go and generally advanced it a good many yards before downed. Dick has the short arm down to a science as many McGill men will testify.

T.A.S. ATHLETES ELECT OFFICERS

Hon. Vice-President—Rev. Father O'Brien
President—L. J. Picard
1st Vice-President—Lew LeBarr.
2nd Vice President—Geo. A'Hern.
Secretary—Nagle E. Phelan.
Asst. Secretary—J. B. Mann.
Executive Committee—Geo. Daly, E. Coughlin, Jos. Begley.

Plans were made for fitting out the gymnasium and a physical director will likely be engaged. A hockey team will also be formed for the coming winter. The club will also be represented in the road races on Thanksgiving day.

SPORT TALK

Vernon Hayes, who has played such a stellar game at full for the W.K.A.C. at Port Hope on Saturday, left last night for Ottawa College. It is expected that he will catch a place on the college team with Dick Sheehy and Frank Heffernan, two other Peterborough boys.

The W.K.A.C. had a good workout last night in Central Park. The boys are working hard for their opening game on Saturday next.

Denison is to play at right half on Saturday and Johnston will be moved up to quarter, while it is expected that George Minorgan will do the punting. Hogan will be on the wing and Craig will return to his old love at full.

Langley and Gilbert will hold down the outside wing positions on Saturday. They both played stellar games at Port Hope, looking through continually and always holding their men when Peterborough had the ball. The former was a little anxious during the first quarter, getting off-side frequently, but with a little practice he will be invaluable.

Johnston was at a disadvantage on Saturday last, being disabled with a sore ankle. He looks good for quarter.

Corkery is fast at left half. He is a little inclined to run back, but is coming around under the coaching of Dr. McPherson.

PROF. FERNOW TO GO NORTH

Will Visit Galway and Harvey on Re-Foresting Expedition

Prof. Fernow, the well known forestry expert of Toronto, who has been employed by the United States government in schemes for re-foresting will arrive in Peterborough on Friday morning, and in company with Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., will go north in this country to explore the land, with a view to possible re-foresting. The township of Galway, and Harvey have been largely denuded of timber, in its place there having grown up stunted second growths that are of little use to anyone, or else the land is becoming an arid waste.

Mr. Burnham, who has taken much interest in this matter for some years has secured Prof. Fernow's valuable services to make a report. Mr. McClellan will accompany Prof. Fernow and Mr. Burnham in the trip, as the matter of re-foresting has an important bearing on the rainfall of the district, and indirectly on the water conservation scheme of the Trent Valley.

RURAL MAIL FOR TOWNSHIPS

New Route to be Commenced in South Monaghan

P. O. Inspector Merrick has been here for two days in consultation with Mr. Burnham, concerning rural mail delivery. Rural delivery is to be begun in South Monaghan before long. Routes to be placed under contract can be extended on petition by those living along proposed routes. The North Monaghan route has been changed so as to put under contract the township line between lots 6 and 7 and concession 10 instead of merely cutting across the Dobbin line as at present and it confirms the G. K. Scott service. Forms for petition may be got from Mr. Burnham also books of regulations.

THE MILK BY-LAW

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—I hope our City Council is not going to deprive us of one of the few luxuries we now enjoy, of milk at 6 cts. a quart, and pass a by-law to satisfy a few rich people who want milk in bottles. If they do let them get their milkmen to give it them in such, but in the name of justice and reason, don't put on the working man any more high priced food. Mr. Carlisle in his letters gave good reasons why we should not have such a by-law passed. We expect our aldermen to help the people of Peterboro instead of increasing their burdens.

The milkmen are clean and the citizens are satisfied with milk as it is.

MISFORTUNE TO YOUNG CRIPPLE

Small Bone in Knee Fractured Through Falling

Walter Meharry, a fourteen year old lad living on Cross street, and who is slightly crippled, had the misfortune to be thrown out of the chair in which he is wheeled around, about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. There is a slight grade in front of his home on which he was coasting and his carriage upset throwing him forward and out on the sidewalk on his knees. Dr. Yelland was summoned and on examination found that one of the small bones in one of the lad's knee's was fractured. He was taken to Nichols Hospital and is progressing satisfactorily.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Lulu Glaser Herz, who is known to theatregoers as Lulu Glaser, light opera and musical comedy star, is suing her husband, Ralph C. Herz, comedian, for divorce in the Superior Court. Cruelty is the charge contained in the bill.

They were married in New York City on May 23, 1907, and have been separated since Nov. 10, 1907. Herz grasped his wife around the neck and choked her until she "was black and blue." He threw her against a door, causing painful injuries, on the day they separated, it is charged.

To the Zam-Buk Co.

Dear Sirs,—I have found Zam-Buk most reliable for healing cuts and abrasions; while for the relief of skin irritation it is invaluable.
(Signed) RODNEY M. LLOYD,
Admiral.

Zam-Buk Cures Bad Burns.

Stoker Kingsnorth, of H.M.S. "Cochrane," says:—"I slipped and fell with my arm on an exhaust steam pipe, which fairly frizzled the skin. At once the ship's surgeon dressed my arm, but the burns took the wrong way, owing to a lot of dirt from the pipe setting up blood-poison. A large scab appeared, and from underneath the festering flesh, matter oozed out. I was in fearful pain and didn't know how to get ease.

"For weeks I remained under treatment, but the ordinary ointments proved no good. Indeed, I got worse. I therefore obtained a supply of Zam-Buk and almost as soon as this was applied I got ease. From the very first application, healing commenced; and a few boxes of Zam-Buk healed my wound completely."

Zam-Buk cures eczema, ulcers, abscesses, ringworm, bad leg, varicose ulcers, piles, cold sores, chapped hands, babies' sores, etc. All stores at 50c., or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Send 1c. stamp for trial box.

HAD WEAK HEART AND TOOK POISON

Young Husband Ended Life in Presence of Wife

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Because he feared death from heart failure, James Acun swallowed a dose of carbolic acid on Saturday night.

He did it in his home, 32 Brock avenue, and in the presence of his wife. He died immediately.

Acum was only twenty-one years old, and was employed as driver for Jas. A. Harrison, coal and wood merchant in Parkdale. Occasional attacks of heart trouble made it necessary for him to stop work, and he worried.

His widow is left with a young child to care for.

PARTRIDGES

Season is From October 15 to November 15

The partridge season opens on the 15th day of October and closes on the 15th day of November.

A number of people have been under the impression that the season opened, October 1st, and it is reported that several good kills have been made in the back country. The law in regard to the killing of partridge has been changed so often during the past few years that the people find it hard to follow the decrees. For a couple of years no one was allowed to shoot partridge at all, but there was another change made in the game and fishery laws of Ontario for 1911, of which the Review has a copy, and which can be seen at this office.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

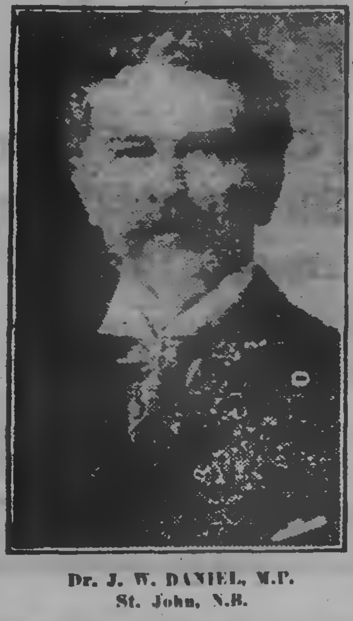
Dr. RUTHERFORD'S RESIGNATION

Farmers and stockmen in every part of Canada will hear with regret that the decision of Dr. J. G. Rutherford, Dominion Live Stock Commissioner and Veterinary Director General, to resign his position at Ottawa is final. Few men could have done so much for the live stock interests of Canada as has Dr. Rutherford, and although Dr. Rutherford will no longer hold his position at Ottawa, the results of the good work that he has done in past years will live after him and bear strong testimony to the whole-hearted way in which he has always worked for the extension and improvement of the live stock industry in Canada.

Dr. Rutherford has many years of usefulness still before him and Agriculturists are asking why his services were not retained by the Dominion Government? It is understood that internal friction in the department has forced Dr. Rutherford to take his step and the Honorable Sydney Fisher should be able to give an account of the why and wherefore.

Dr. Rutherford retires taking with him the good will and good wishes of all the live stock men of Canada.

Dr. J. W. DANIEL, M.R.C.S.



Dr. J. W. DANIEL, M.P.
St. John, N.B.

One of the most prominent men in public life in New Brunswick is Dr. J. W. Daniel particularly in St. John where the doctor is known and respected by every man and woman in the city by the sea. Born in 1854 at St. Stephen, N.B., Dr. Daniel was educated in England where he took his degree in surgery. He was first elected to the House of Commons in 1904 though his public duties have not been confined to parliamentary life. He was mayor of St. Johns for two years and is a member of many societies. He is a Surgeon Lt.-Col. in the Militia (Long Service Medal).

MISS CARRIE DERICK (M.A.)

It is not given to members of the gentler sex to shine in a science which has always been a close preserve for man, but since Miss Derick has made Botany her special subject the world of science and now agriculture — at least in Canada — is raised to the scientific level, the world of agriculture are the richer by the studies of this remarkable woman. McGill University is the present home of Miss Derick, where she is on the staff as Assistant Professor of Botany.

Born in the little village of Clarenceville, Que., of U. E. Loyalist stock Carrie Derick commenced her brilliant career in gaining the Prince of Wales Medal at McGill Normal School after becoming Logan Gold Medalist at McGill University. Then came research work, in United States, England and Germany. Then a position as demonstrator in Botany at McGill (the first woman to be appointed on the staff) finally attaining in 1906 the coveted position she now holds.

Miss Derick's energies have not, by any means, been confined to the laboratory, as a few of the public positions she holds show Chairman of the Local Council of Women, Vice-President of the Natural History Society, and member of many societies. Surely a good record for a woman.

Personally Miss Derick has nothing of the blue stocking about her — her sweet graciousness and courtesy always give one the feeling that a good woman is chatting with you — a feeling that grows as one knows her better.

DOCTOR ADVISED HOSPITAL

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back hurt, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice. I have done as you told me.

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. Benj. H. Stansbery, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE OBNOXIOUS HOUSE FLY

House and Blue-Bottle Flies are Distinctly More Dangerous to Humanity Than the Mosquito.

Some flies, among them our familiar house-fly and the bluebottle fly are really more of a pest and a greater danger to the community in hot weather than their more aggressive cousins, the mosquitos, gnats, etc., for they wander from refuse heaps and decaying matter in all forms to good, wholesome human food, with no pretence of cleanliness in their habits, and on this account they are certainly the most dangerous of all disease carriers. Especially so is this in the case of children, and too great care cannot possibly be taken in keeping their food and milk from contamination by these insect pests. Not only do they carry unwholesomeness in the mouth parts, but also in the peculiar bristly, adhesive pads of their feet, so that the very fact of their walking over food contaminates it; they are also liable to a fungoid disease known as fly mould, and when thus attacked one may see them in hundreds adhering to the window-panes and lying about in odd corners covered with a mouldy-looking grey fur. These dead flies should certainly never be left lying about. The common bluebottle, or blowflies, as they are popularly called, are objectionable and dangerous in a more open manner, for they make no attempt to conceal the fact that they are depositing their bunches of eggs in our food, and especially in meat foods.

He'd Be Mean, Sure

The late Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, was exceptionally good-natured, and spent much of his time trying to redeem promises of jobs and legislation he made when approached by constituents he hated to refuse.

One day Senator Carter said to him: "Steve, why in thunder do you make all these promises and then stew around trying to make good on them?"

"That reminds me of a trip I once made across Iowa by stage," said Elkins. "I rode on the box with the stage-driver and we spent several days getting to Council Bluffs. The driver was acquainted all along the line. He had a dog that usually travelled with him, but on this trip the dog wasn't there. He was asked about the dog at every stopping-place and he explained that she had just become the mother of a fine litter of pups. Each person to whom he made this explanation asked for one of the pups, and in each case the driver promised one.

"When we got to Council Bluffs I said to him: 'My friend, I have heard you promise about forty pups on the way across this state. How many pups did that dog of yours have?'

"'Four,' he replied.

"'Well,' I asked, 'why did you promise to give away about forty?'

"'Mister,' he said, 'did you ever stop to think it's a mighty mean man who wont' promise a friend a pup?'"

Keep the Hands Cool

Cool hands are, to a large extent, constitutional, and usually betoken a healthy system. Habitually hot and moist hands indicate physical weakness of some sort and the need for medical advice.

To cool the hands in hot weather, wash them in hot water to which half a handful of fine oatmeal has been added. The oatmeal not only cleanses thoroughly but also allays perspiration. Dry gently with a soft towel, and finally rub eau de Cologne lightly all over the palms and fingers.

Loosely-fitting gloves of close texture keep the hands cooler than does the open-work variety. Tightly-fitting sleeves are the sworn enemies of cool white hands. Hot red hands often look worse than they might because they are held stiffly and clumsily. When the veins swell uncomfortably there is no harm done by holding the hands up above the head for a few minutes to restore the veins to their normal appearance.

Religious Distinctions

It was Sunday morning at a certain small country inn. The one guest, a commercial traveller who had been unexpectedly detained over the week-end, had finished his breakfast, and had walked over to the proprietor's desk to make some inquiries.

"And another thing I want to know," he said, in conclusion, "please tell me what denominations have churches here."

"We ain't very well fixed here," said the other, reflectively. "We've got three churches, countin' 'em all, an' ye can take yer own choice. They's a Reformed Presbyterian, an' a United Presbyterian, an' one that ain't either Reformed or United."

He Had Sufficient

A boy of twelve years of age, with an air of melancholy resignation, went to his teacher, and handed in the following note from his mother before taking his seat:—

"Dear Sir,—Please excuse James for not being present yesterday.

"He played truant, but you needn't whip him for it, as the boy he played truant with and him fell out, and he licked James; and a man they threw stones at caught him and licked him; and the driver of a cart they hung on to licked him; and the owner of a cat they chased licked him. Then I licked him when he came home, after which his father licked him; and I had to give him another for being impudent to me for telling his father. So you need not lick him until next time.

"He thinks he will attend regular in future."

The schoolmaster of a certain village asked his pupils the following question: "Suppose in a family there are five children, and the mother had only four potatoes between them. Now, she wants to give every child an equal share. What is she going to do?" Silence reigned in the room. Everybody calculated very hard, till a little fellow stood up and gave, to the great surprise of the schoolmaster, the following unexpected answer—"Mash the potatoes, sir."

MOVING PICTURES TAKEN OF LIFT LOCK IN OPERATION

With Other Scenes, the Films Will b Shown All Over the World.

Mr. Gerald McKenzie, a moving picture man in the employ of the C.P.R., was in the city to-day obtaining views of Peterborough, which will be shown all over the world.

Mr. McKenzie is engaged by the National Color Kinematograph Company, of England, who have a contract with the C.P.R. to secure pictures of interest in Canada.

The pictures are photographed in natural colors, an invention that is growing to be a much appreciated and popular feature.

Mr. McKenzie has been in Canada since last May. He is constantly on the road and takes his orders from the C.P.R. as to where to go, to secure pictures of places and events of note

This afternoon at 2.30 he chartered the steamer Lintonia, and taking a party of local citizens on board, including M. J. Jamieson, of the C.P.R., and B. A. Rose, G.T.R. ticket agent, and representatives of the press, a trip was made as far as the hydraulic lift lock.

During the progress of the trip Mr. McKenzie was able to secure several hundred feet of picture scenery along the shores of the lake, and a splendid picture of the lift lock in operation. He expressed himself as highly delighted with what he saw and has no fear but that the pictures will be highly satisfactory.

The bright sunshine favored him in securing clear and faithful views.

This morning Mr. McKenzie secured some films of the C.P.R. bridge just as a train was crossing it, and also some pictures of the neighboring scenery.

To a Review reporter he illustrated the method by which the moving pictures are secured. Each film is 200 feet in length and if more than this length is used, why another film can be immediately paced in the camera, in such a short period that the progress of the photographing is not interfered with.

As noted before, the picture machine which Mr. McKenzie is using is one that shows up objects photographed in exactly the same colors as they really are and as he remarked they are growing to be more in demand, and to be more popular than the ordinary black and white pictures.

TO SNAP THE DUKE.

This evening Mr. McKenzie under orders, leaves for Quebec to be present when the Empress of Ireland docks at Quebec, having on board the Duke of Connaught, the new Governor General of Canada.

The lift lock looked particularly imposing this afternoon; and a splendid picture was secured as the steamer glided into the lift. A number of people were in the towers on either side, evidently desiring to be snapped, and have their pictures exhibited around the world.

WEDDING BELLS

McKAY—CAREY.

The residence of Mr and Mrs. Jas Carey, 450 George street, was the scene this morning at 9.30 of a quiet, but charming wedding ceremony, when their only daughter, Evelyn Etta, became the bride of Thomas Sutherland McKay, of Halifax, N.S.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. Robert Pogue, of St. Paul's. To the melody of Mendelssohn's wedding strains, the bride entered the parlor with her father, by whom she was given away. Miss Aldrich presided at the piano. The contracting parties were unattended. The bride was married in her traveling suit, and wore the groom's gift, a beautiful gold necklace and pin. His gift to the pianist was a gold bar set with pearls.

The bride has been one of the popular teachers on Central Normal training school, and for the last ten years has been a member of St. Paul's church choir, which suitably remembered her.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay will reside in Halifax, where the groom is prominently identified with the Quaker Oats Company.

George street church official.

Last night the official board of George street Methodist church met in the church parlor to talk over matters for the coming season's work There was a larger attendance than usual and the pastor Rev. Isaac Couch presided. The most optimistic spirit prevailed. The officers were deeply interested and spoke in feeling terms of their gratitude to God for the way in which they had been led and felt that they should strive for a still larger work.

Each man seemed to have the church at heart and there was manifested a strong desire to do everything possible to make the people feel at home in this large and growing congregation. While it may be difficult to obtain pews, yet the Board wishes strangers to feel at home in any pew. All are heartily welcome.

The choir is doing grandly under the able leadership of Mr. J. H. Renwick. Special committees were appointed to inaugurate a forward ment along missionary and other lines They are anxious to keep their pastor to lead them on. After these business deliberations the Board adjourned, encouraged and feeling they had had one of the best meetings in the history of the church.

MANUFACTURERS ARE GLAD TO SEE LAST OF RECIPROCITY

Echoes of Election Day in the C.M.A. Reports—President Rowley's Address One of General Optimism, and Foreshadows Great Industrial Progress.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Election day echoes permeated nearly every address at the opening session of the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which commenced yesterday at the King Edward. It seemed as if every speaker was imbued with optimism regarding the future of Canadian manufacturing interests, and in this connection the defeat of reciprocity was referred to time and time again as the best stimulus that the manufacturing interests of Canada could by any possible means have received.

In his annual review, the president, C. H. Rowley, emphasized the fact that intense national feeling had been displayed by Canadians in the recent elections, and his forecast of a splendid industrial and commercial future for the Dominion seemed to voice the feeling of everyone present. The past year has been a year of peace within the empire, industrial strikes in Canada have been few and far between, immigration has increased by leaps and bounds, the country has developed in every field of endeavor, the output of mine, field and forest being wonderfully increased. As a result, the people of the Dominion have been actively employed, and wages were never so good as now.

President Rowley's address was one of optimism throughout, and his comprehensive survey of the whole field of Canadian politics, industry and development brought forth the hearty applause of all the members present.

In every convention the opening day usually sees a rather slim attendance and there was no exception to this rule when the opening session commenced yesterday morning. About 150 members were in attendance when the president called the meeting to order, but the vacant chairs filled rapidly as the session progressed.

The prevailing rates for fire risks were favorably commented on by R. D. Fairbairn, chairman of the insurance committee. These rates are appreciably lower than in the years immediately following the great Toronto fire. The development of business in the northwest, as well as New Ontario and Quebec, where high rates were in force, had been the cause of a relatively high rate for the whole Dominion. Recent reductions on manufacturing risks were, therefore, greater than they appeared from the Government's official figures. It was to improvement in the risks that the lower rates were largely due, the members having shown ready response to the suggestions of the committee in this regard. In addition, the insurance companies were giving full recognition in cases where improvements had been made.

As regards the legality of the insurance associations, as alleged combines, the Parliamentary and insurance committees in pursuance of the resolution passed at the last annual convention, reported that nothing could be done at present. The result of their investigations had shown that the cases now before the Supreme Court must first be passed upon, before any action be taken. Regarding licensed and unlicensed insurance, the report gave returns of $179,860,576 carried in Canada by unlicensed companies; $1,815,299,605 carried by licensed companies, in one year, an indication that over 90 per cent. of the total was taken by licensed offices.

The report referred to the recent consolidation of the mutual companies, and recommended the re-election of G. M. Murray to the board of the Central Canada Co.

Suggestion was also made that the convention reaffirm its desire that the Provincial Governments should provide for the appointment of marshals to record and investigate the country's fire waste, and that this be communicated to the Conservation Commission.

The annual appropriation of $1,000 for the expenses of the department was asked for as usual. The adoption of this report was seconded by W. K. George, and carried by the association.

The assets of the association, according to the financial statement, are $31,917.37, and liabilities $12,211.39. The revenue for the year consisted of $35,090.87 from members' fees, $1,315.75 for interest, $5,960.36 from Industrial Canada, $2,921.34 from the Trade Index, and a surplus from the Western excursion $234.79, a total of $45,522.11. The expenses, including $15,000 to the Tariff Education Fund was $47,508.11. The estimated revenue receipts for this year are: Membership fees, $36,000; interest, $1,000; Industrial Canada, $5,000; total, $42,000.

The membership seemed about equally divided between a desire to increase the rates and a determination to keep the fees as they are at present.

40 Cent Butter for Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Forty-cent butter for the coming winter, is the prediction made by butter dealers following a report of the warehousemen's association, which figured cold storage holdings of butter on Oct. 1 as only 48,027,000 pounds, as against 60,849,000 pounds last year.

Acquitted.

London, Ont., Oct. 11.—Hiram A. Burgess, a London merchant, charged with obtaining $960 by fraud from Roy and C. W. Tomlinson, of York county, was yesterday morning discharged by Judge MacBeth.

Will be at Oriental To-night at Six O'clock --57th Band Will Serenade Him

The Review received the following telegram late this afternoon from J. H. Burnham, M.P., elect, from Lindsay:

"Colonel Hughes will arrive at the Oriental at six o'clock to-night by motor."

The new Minister of Militia will be accorded a rousing reception to-night, when he draws up in front of the Oriental.

The 57th Regiment band under the direction of Mr. Gliddon, by permission of the officer commanding, will give a program in honor of the visitor, and citizens will have an opportunity of congratulating the new cabinet minister on his appointment.

Bequest to Acadia University.

New York, Oct. 11.—The will of Charles F. Myers, M.D., D.C.L., who died Aug. 22 last, was filed in the surrogate's office yesterday. To the Acadia University of Nova Scotia is left $25,000, "or any part of it that has not already been given to establish and for all time support a professorship known as that of biology and zoology." To the church "known as Baptist, in Boylston, N.S.," $1,000 is left.

May Lose His Leg.

Barrie, Oct. 11.—While out with a number of friends Monday evening hunting coons on the outskirts of Barrie, Fred. Salisbury was shot in the right leg by the accidental discharge of his gun. The shot entered his right leg just above the ankle, carrying away about one and three-quarter inches of bone and lacerating the flesh terribly. Slight hopes are entertained of being able to save the limb.

SIR JAMES WHITNEY TO TELL DATE OF ELECTIONS TO-DAY

If Elections Are to be Held This Fall it Will be in November.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Sir James Whitney intimated yesterday that he will this afternoon state when the Ontario Government will go to the country. Yesterday afternoon the Cabinet Ministers held a long conference in the Premier's private room and will to-day announce a definite decision.

Up to the present Sir James has not made any statement further than that the matter has not been decided.

"The people are anxious for news, and if I could say anything definite now I would do so," said Sir James. "I assure you that the very moment any information can be given out you will have it."

In the event of an election the date would probably be set for the early part of November.

Premier Whitney said that Hon. Frank Cochrane, the new Dominion Minister of Railways, will be greatly missed from the Ontario Legislature and that he has proved himself to be a faithful servant in Government affairs.

Irish Bacon Industry.

London, Eng., Oct. 11.—In forwarding statistics relating to the Irish bacon industry the American Deputy Consul-General in London remarks that while Ireland sends its bacon and ham to England, it eats more of American and other foreign produce. Many firms in the wholesale provision centres of the greater English cities, while buying Irish produce extensively, at the same time forward to Ireland large quantities of American and other produce.

It will be the object of the Convention to work with the law makers at Washington to prevent waste of the country's mineral resources.

Walter L. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, who has just returned from Alaska, will have something to say on the development of that territory.

E. A. Montgomery, vice president of the Congress, was a poor prospector before he sold a "strike" claim in Nevada to Charles M. Schwab

CABINET MEETING IS HELD; BYE-ELECTIONS FOR MINISTERS

Seats to be Found in Ontario for Mr. W. T. White and Hon. Mr. Cochrane.

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—The new Cabinet went into council yesterday afternoon after the formal swearing in at noon at Rideau Hall. The council lasted an hour, being cut short in time to let the Ministers attend the send-off to Earl Grey, who left by special train at five o'clock for Quebec.

The only subject discussed at the council was the holding of the bye-elections in the cases of those Ministers who have been entrusted with portfolios. No decision was reached, and at eleven o'clock this morning the talk was resumed.

The only Minister not here yesterday was Martin Burrell of British Columbia. Mr. Burrell leaves for Ottawa to-day, and will be the only man in the new Government to take the oath of office in the presence of the Duke of Connaught.

It is likely to be some time before anybody is chosen for the office of Solicitor-General.

Premier Borden yesterday received from George Taylor (Leeds), a blackthorn stick, which was given to Mr. Taylor many years ago by Sir John Macdonald.

One of the first duties of the new Cabinet will be to find seats in Ontario for Mr. W. T. White and Mr. Cochrane, and in Manitoba for Mr. Rogers; in New Brunswick for Mr. Hazen. Among seats mentioned as available in Ontario for Mr. White, are West Toronto, South Toronto, Halton (of which Mr. White is a native), East Middlesex, held for a number of years by Mr. Elson. It is understood the seat for Rainy River and Thunder Bay, won by Mr. Carrick, is to be held by that gentleman. Mr. Cochrane, however, might find a seat in some other portion of New Ontario. Gordon Wilson, M.P., has offered Mr. Cochrane his seat in Wentworth.

Satisfaction In Quebec.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—The personnel of the new Borden Cabinet as published yesterday morning, appeared to give very general satisfaction to the business community, the impression being that the new Prime Minister had endeavored to gather around him men who would make active and able administrators. It may be said, however, that as far as the English-speaking Quebec is concerned, the present arrangement is looked upon as temporary by the business and banking community, and that in a short time, the Hon. George Perley will be the holder of an important portfolio.

On the whole, French-Canadians looked upon the Cabinet as very generously conceived towards this province.

GETS BACK FARM FROM HIS SON

An Interesting Case at the Barrie Assizes.

Barrie, Oct. 11.—The fall assizes opened here at 10 a.m. yesterday with Sir John Boyd presiding. The first case heard was a non-jury case of Henry Moore, of Nottawasaga, against his son, James Moore, claiming $851 for rent and $1,000 damages for cutting and wrongfully removing wood, and to reclaim possession of property. Decision was given in favor of plaintiff.

His lordship charged the grand jury at 1.15 p.m., stating that while their work would be light, it would also be of a very serious nature. His lordship regretted to learn that, during the past year, there had been a number of cases of murder in this section and the jury would be called upon to consider the evidence relative to the alleged murder of Ross Ford of Orillia, by Arthur Sheridan. The two young men had been courting two girls. One had been carrying a knife for some time. The defence may be able to produce evidence to show provocation.

ATTACK IS EXPECTED

Special to the Review.

London, Oct. 11.—A fresh attack on Tripoli by the allied Turks and Arabs is momentarily expected. The allied Mohammedans are said to number upwards of 20,000.

TROUBLE IN CHINA

Special to the Review.

Pekin, Oct. 11.—Five foreign gunboats have been rushed to Hankow to protect foreigners. An attack on the city is expected. The rebels are pillaging and burning all over the province.

GERMANY IS TRYING TO KEEP FIGHT TO AFRICAN COAST

Cannot Make Any Effective Headway on Plan For Mediation, but Tries to Limit Area of Fighting.

Berlin, Oct. 11.—Although Germany finds that the time is not ripe for an offer of mediation to end the war between Turkey and Italy, pending the completion of the Italian occupation of Tripoli, the Government is endeavoring further to localize the hostilities and prevent fighting in the Red, Aegean and Adriatic Seas.

If Turkey will give assurances that she will not interfere in the transport of the expedition to Tripoli there is hope that all other hostilities will be suspended. The prolongation of war movements outside of Tripoli presents great risks to international shipping, and it is even feared that the service on the Suez Canal might be interrupted. The landing of the Italian expedition is said to present difficulties not anticipated. The weather on the Tripolitan coast has interfered and it will be at least a week probably before Italy is ready to treat with Turkey.

It is learned in diplomatic circles that Italy probably is willing to indemnify Turkey to the extent of about $12,000,000, but it is a question whether she is willing to recognize Turkish suzerainty over Tripoli in any form. Popular feeling and desire to avoid future sources of conflict may have changed the attitude that Italy held before the war began.

Turkish Refugees.

Malta, Oct. 11.—The Italian cruiser Borea wharved here Monday escorting the steamer Assyria, carrying many Turkish refugees from Tripoli, left port yesterday morning. She was permitted to take on only sufficient water to carry her to Syracuse.

The Italian consul raised objection to the action of the British authorities, contending that as the Borea was escorting a steamer filled with passengers, who were liable to mutiny and capture the ship, she should be commandered and could not be considered as being employed for warlike purposes, and she should, therefore, have free use of a neutral port.

The refugees, who were permitted to land, will take the next steamer for Constantinople. They complained bitterly of ill-treatment at the hands of Italians, saying that they had not been supplied with sufficient water.

A second Italian steamer, with 150 Turks, their wives and families, deported from Tripoli, arrived here yesterday afternoon. Many of the refugees will return to Tripoli on steamers which are now leaving daily.

Close Down on Italians.

Constantinople, Oct. 11.—At a Cabinet Council yesterday it was decided to close all Italian industrial, financial and scholastic establishments in Turkey, and to seize Italian steamers.

Italy's Purpose.

Chiasso, Oct. 11.—A confidential note from Italy to the powers confirms the purpose of Rome. The two objects, it says, are quite clear and distinct—namely, the conquest of Tripoli and the maintenance of the status quo in the Balkans.

It is semi-officially stated that Italy is now no more than satisfied with a simple protectorate over Tripoli, as in future events when other partition of territory occurs the interested powers may assign her a simple annexation of Tripoli to the detriment of other Italian aspirations.

Expedition On the Sea.

Rome, Oct. 11.—The greater part of the Italian army expedition is now at sea en route for Tripoli. The battleship envoy covers a moving area one mile wide and five miles long. It is expected that, with a favorable sea, the troops can be landed in two days.

The first expeditionary force, which left Naples Oct. 5, was landed at Tobruk yesterday.

Britain Was Alarmed.

London, Oct. 11.—Turkey has now agreed to permit the free passage of neutral vessels, grain laden, to their destination. For the greater part of the day it looked as if Great Britain's food supply was endangered by the action of Turkey in declaring grain contraband, as 250 grain-carrying ships were tied up in the Black Sea. At this season fully 30 per cent. of the wheat imported has to pass through the Bosphorus.

Powers to Wait on Italy.

London, Oct. 11.—A news despatch from Rome says that the Turkish soldiers who retreated to the interior when Tripoli was bombarded, have been obliged to open negotiations for their surrender, owing to the failure of their supplies.

The correspondent of The Chronicle at Constantinople telegraphs that the latest Turkish note to the powers was so conciliatory in tone that Germany has decided, with the other Governments, to renew the approaches at Rome for an understanding. Some of the answers received by the Porte from the powers Monday night are favorable to Turkey's request.

Reports from Benghazi that two Italian cruisers were destroyed, and from Derna that two Italian torpedo boat destroyers had been blown up by mines, are in circulation, but have not been confirmed.

More Fighting In China.

Kankow, China, Oct. 11.—Much firing was heard yesterday afternoon in the direction of Wu Chang. Communication with that city has been cut off. Several large fires are seen.

It is evident that the soldiers have gone over to the revolutionaries following the execution of four conspirators at Wu Chang earlier yesterday.

A message from Chung King says that the leaders of the movement in protest against the Government's plan of building railways with foreign capital, are protecting the missions in the districts where rebels are operating.

PROBABILITIES

Light variable winds, fair for the most part. Thursday, fair not much change in temperature.

THE ONTARIO ELECTIONS

Announcement Will be Given Out To-night.

Special to The Review

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Sir James Whitney stated at noon to-day that nothing would be announced regarding the Ontario elections until to-night.

ROYALISTS ARE ON THE WARPATH

Internal Trouble in Portugal is Spreading.

Lisbon, Oct. 11.—The Royalists expect another column now advancing through the Minho Valley to create a diversion and lead to a division of the Government troops, which are now concentrating. The Monarchists keep their line of communication with Spain open and are able to receive recruits and supplies from sources which the Republicans cannot attack without a quarrel with Spain. The invaders are able to obtain plenty of food from the countryside, but few men join them.

Buried With Civic Honors.

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—With mounted constables leading, eight special pallbearers, representatives of the civic and his mill interest, and five hundred city corporation employes, including police and firemen, and 300 mill men marching four abreast, the funeral of Controller Davidson was held yesterday afternoon. The Governor-General's Foot Guards' band played.

W. H. ROWLEY.
President of the C.M.A., who thinks Canada is safely on the right national path.

At 86, Assaulted Girl.

Welland, Ont., Oct. 11.—J. D. Fortier of Fort Erie, aged 86, was placed under suspended sentence by Justice Middleton, after he had pleaded guilty to committing an indecent assault on a young girl, under fourteen years of age, who is now in the Alexandria Home, Toronto. In was owing to his extreme old age that the judge did not impose a prison term.

ARBITRATION TREATY GOOD

Ecumenical Delegates Discuss the New Treaty.

War System Was the Most Stubborn Obstacle of Church.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—"We hail with pleasure and profound gratitude, the deepening and growing of good-will and peace among the leading nations of Europe and America.

"The noble work of The Hague Conference, as promoted by the federal council of the Church of Christ in America, the Church of England and the Free Church Council in England, is already bearing fruit in this arbitration treaty, which agrees to submit questions of national honor to the proper tribunal for arbitration.

"We heartily endorse this signal advance in the interest alike of peace and universal brotherhood. We strongly urge the Christian nations represented in the Ecumenical Conference speedily to take necessary legislative action to consummate the arbitration treaty which has been signed by the representatives of the British Empire and the United States of America.

"By every proper means we will seek peace and promote it in His holy name, Who is the Prince of Peace."

With a dignity befitting the great principles for which the Ecumenical Conference stands, the above resolution was presented and unanimously adopted at the afternoon session yesterday.

The chairman, Bishop E. R. Hendrix, D.D., of the Methodist Church South, took advantage of the early usages of Methodist conventions and moved the adoption of the resolution. In speaking on the resolution he praised President Taft and representatives of the British Empire for advocating and successfully carrying out a peace pact between the two nations which makes war between them impossible.

Ald. T. Swape, J.P., brought forth vigorous applause when he characterized the late King Edward as "The Peacemaker," and the act of President Taft in promoting a peace pact between the United States and England as "the most courageous" ever put forth by an official during the history of the world."

He said the war system had been and was still the most stubborn obstacle which the church had to face. Dr. Henry Hayes, in seconding the resolution, said he hailed with joy the fact that England and the United States of America had clasped hands in a peace pact making war impossible.

"I say impossible, because the two great nations agree to submit all questions of honor between themselves to arbitration, and any other nations will think twice before they challenge that compact."

The resolution was seconded by Sir Robert Perks on behalf of the laymen of England, and as a commercial man, during which he said the churches and the Christian world were entitled to much credit for the consummation of this long-worked-for peace pact, "but," he said, "let us not forget that two of the largest Jewish banking houses in the country gave the pact their sanction. And," he continued, "no war between nations can be conducted without the assistance of the financial institutions of the banking interests of the country."

Rev. George Elliott, D.D., came in with a large share of praise for the two Governments, saying other nations must of necessity follow their lead. "For Christian thought and action," he said, "is bound to eventually rule in world's things."

VICTORY FOR THE WOMEN VOTERS

Returns Show Vote Apparently Carried

Special to the Review.

San Francisco, Col., Oct. 11— The addition returns to-day show the vote for women suffrage apparently carried.

COLORADO IS FLOOD SWEPT; 300 MILES OF TRACK GONE

Package of $150 Missing.

Hamilton, Oct. 11.—The Canadian Express Co. has another mystery to solve in addition to the ten thousand dollar robbery in its main office here.

It was learned yesterday afternoon that a package of $150, forwarded from Aylmer the other day, is missing.

Pioneer Lady Dead.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Jane Cronin, born in St. Catharines seventy-four years ago and well-known around the frontier, died here yesterday. She leaves a son, Harry, and a daughter, Mrs. George Hillman of this city.

Cheaper Water For Brockville.

Brockville, Oct. 11.—The commissioners of Brockville's municipal water department have just announced another discount of five per cent. in the payment of half yearly rates, which now amounts to 30 per cent.

Strike on G.T.P.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 11.—Over 350 machinists of the G.T.P. struck at 10 a.m. for higher wages. No disorders followed though it is said the train operating department is likely to go out in sympathy.

Heavy Losses of Life Are Rumored, But There is no Verification.

Denver, Col., Oct 11.—With the telephone and telegraph service crippled, and more than 300 miles of railroad out of commission, only meagre reports are being received from the flood-swept district of south-western Colorado and northwestern New Mexico, comprising an area approximating 100 by 75 miles.

There are rumors of heavy losses of life, but the verified death list so far is comparatively small.

Residents of towns in the flood district face a serious situation from food shortage.

Want Board of Control Abolished.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—At a meeting of the former aldermen of the old regime and their friends, a few nights ago, it was determined to enter upon a campaign to oust the present city council and the board of control, and to once more assume the power formerly enjoyed. The first attack will be made upon the board of control upon a platform to abolish that body.

Gas Distended His Stomach

Caused Palpitation, and Prevented Sleep—When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveler of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did, before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart jumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the traveling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

NERVILINE CURES ALL PAIN

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11, 1911.

LET US GET GEORGE STREET PAVED. JOIN IN THE MOVEMENT TO MAKE PETERBOROUGH LOOK LIKE THE REAL CITY IT IS.

SOME POST OFFICE MATTERS

The Toronto News makes a complete exposure of the method in which the Liberal machine has used the post-office department to assist the distribution of the Grit organs during election time, while holding up as far as possible, the Conservative newspapers. The Toronto Globe sent out papers by the car-load all over Ontario, and refused to pay a cent excess postage on them, though, according to the postal regulations, it should have done so. All it would do was to assure the Toronto post-master that he would be protected after the Liberals got in again.

The Toronto Globe owes the country, owes the people whose cause it so loudly champions, about $25,000. The Toronto News in the campaign had to pay postage on all extra copies of the paper ordered by the candidates in the various ridings, or by the Conservative party, at the rate of a cent for every four ounces, in accordance with the postal regulations. Did the Globe? Not much. It simply poured some 40,000 extra Globes every day into the post-office, to be sent out at the same rate as its regular subscription edition.

Right here in Peterborough, the Review was up against the same sort of a problem. When the distribution of the Review in the various parts of the riding, to people who do not ordinarily get it, was brought up, naturally the question was as to how much the distribution would cost. The ruling handed out by the post-master in Peterborough was that the extra rate for copies not on the regular list, would be one cent for every two ounces, or practically one cent per paper. That was a prohibitive rate, and while many Reviews were sent out even in spite of this, there were several special editions in contemplation which had to be abandoned on account of the excessive cost.

The Examiner was distributed all over the county, not being at that time so much of a newspaper as an advertising sheet for Mr. Stratton. We do not know what the Examiner was charged, or whether it was charged at all, but the fact remains that it was sent all over the two ridings flooding the mails, along with the Toronto Globe. If the Toronto Globe sent out 40,000 extra campaign copies a day without extra cost, is it not reasonable to suppose that a minor government satelite like the Examiner would get the same privileges?

The assistant post-master on Oct. 5, wrote to the Toronto News informing it that it had been decided not to enforce the excess postage regulation, after all, though the News had paid its cheques regularly. Here is the letter:

> "I have the honor to inform you that the Post Office Department authorized that a refund be made to you of the cheques collected on a number of additional copies of your publication sent out by mail yesterday to temporary subscribers, and others, and in accordance with the authority, I am returning you herewith the following cheques deposited by you. In this connection, I am by direction to inform you that the postal regulations with regard to newspapers will be strictly enforced hereafter. I shall be glad if you will kindly acknowledge receipt of this, and I am returning cheques."

When the Globe had refused to pay a cent, under the protecting wing of the machine, and the government had been defeated, the reason for the hasty return of the Toronto News' cheques is obvious.

According to this ruling, where the excess rate is not being charged against the Toronto newspapers distributed for campaign purposes, the local post-office has no right to keep the money paid in by the Review. This is not the question we are raising, however. It is the question of the discrimination against the opposition newspapers by the post-office officials, acting with the Liberal machine behind it. When such efforts to choke public opinion are made, when a public service such as the mails, is prostituted for such ends, is it any wonder that the government was overthrown—and its vast graft machine destroyed?

THE CABINET

The Toronto News, chief government organ, says of the cabinet.—The country will be favorably impressed with the composition of the Borden Cabinet. Some names have been omitted that the News would be glad to see in the roll of ministers. There may be a question as to the distribution of portfolios. But even where there may be differences of opinion Mr. Borden may be wiser than his critics and undoubtedly the Cabinet so constituted represents a high average of ability and integrity.

Ultimately the ministers will be judged, not by their professions, but by their performances. The voting of September 21st shows that there is an ever increasing element amongst the Canadian people who hold party allegiance lightly and that the mere appeal to party cannot decide a national contest. The same truth stands out from the last two general elections in Ontario. The people demand honest, straightforward and efficient government and ministers beyond suspicion of compromising relations with private or corporate interests.

Such a government we have in this province. Such a government we have not had at Ottawa. The Laurier Administration came to represent an arrogant and reactionary Toryism. It was a government by the interests and for the interests. Even its boasted concern for labor degenerated into sheer political manoeuvring. Liberal newspapers in the anger of defeat continue to talk of the Liberal party as "the party of the people." But as represented by the Laurier Administration in its later days it was a party of privilege, subservient to local bosses, lay and clerical, dominated by favored financial and corporate interests, with access to the spending departments guarded by gratified heelers, and with party as the one idol set up for the adoration of the people.

The Laurier Government was beaten on the trade agreement. It probably would have been beaten if that issue had not appeared. No government so bound to corporate interests, so tolerant of evil financial practices, so involved in corrupt relations with contractors, so wasteful of the public money can hope to live in the future even with control of the immense resources of power and patronage which Ministers command in Canada. This is the supreme fact to be considered by the ministers who have just been called to office. Under Mr. Borden it is assured that we will have a sound fiscal policy. We will have moderate protection both for agriculture and for manufactures. We will maintain the British preference and endeavor to secure a reciprocal preference in British markets. We will develop a sound naval policy in co-operation with the Imperial Government and in harmony with the settled convictions of the Canadian people.

It is important that the naval program should have the support of the whole population and that our provision for defence should contribute to the security of Canada and the strength of the Empire. Zeal and patience may be needed to reconcile differences of opinion and to rouse the people to an adequate sense of their Imperial obligations. But we need not apprehend that a satisfactory solution of the problem will not be found or that Canada under the Borden administration will not take the position of leadership in the reorganization and consolidation of the Empire.

So we may trust the new government to carry out its pledges to the country. It must express in legislation the progressive temper of the West. It must apply itself with energy to the conservation of natural resources and the settlement and development of the country. While dealing justly with vested interests and respecting all public contracts it must exercise a strong and wholesome restraint over corporations which possess powers of taxation, check the growth of plutocracy and make the State superior to the creatures of its creation. In short we may expect a period of orderly progress, of honest and stable administration, of firmness without meddlesomeness, and of correction of abuses without the disposition to retaliate or seek revenge. If we can secure an administration of federal affairs such as that which Ontario enjoys under Mr James Whitney the new Prime Minister of Canada will write his name deeply in the history of Canada and he will deserve and will retain the confidence of the people.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The cabinet is made, and the appointments and disappointments are matters of history.

Under the Conservative regime, let us at least have a post office free from the working of the machine.

The town of Lindsay is now on the map. Our congratulations to the town pump which will now be re-painted.

Already the Liberal organs are swinging the hammer. But if they don't do it more effectually than they did in the late campaign, no one is likely to feel anything but the rush of air.

The Montreal Star is not at all delighted with Mr. Borden's selection of cabinet ministers. That ought in some degree to be a good sign for the people of Canada. Mr. Borden is premier, and not the Montreal Star "loud though its boasting and proud its name."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A Coal Stove That Keeps The Floor Warm

The Regal does this in two ways:

In the first place it creates continuous currents of warm air in the room. There is a special flue inside the stove, apart from the fire chamber and free from gas or smoke. This flue draws in the cold air from the floor, heats it, and passes it out at the top. See diagram.

In addition to this the Regal radiates extra heat near the floor. All the hot smoke and fumes from the fire pass down and through a flue under the ash-pit before they reach the pipes. This keeps the stove hot at the bottom and helps materially to warm the floor.

The REGAL PENINSULAR

With its massive nickel parts, heavily plated and elegantly formed—with its large oven—with its perfect duplex grates and durable fire-box, the Regal Peninsular has a combination of beauty and heating comforts not usually found in a heater

It is thoroughly Peninsular and that means that it is honestly made.

It has proven economical both in fuel consumed, and in its years of service.

If you are interested in heaters or ranges, get "THE COST." It is a booklet you should read before you buy. Ask for it.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

It seemed a mischance fatal to Florence Kearney and only the veriest dastard would have taken advantage of it. But this Santander was, and once more drawing back, and bringing his blade to tierce, he was rushing no his now defenceless antagonist when Crittenden called "Foul play!" at the same time springing forward to prevent it.

His interference, however, would have been too late, and in another instant the young Irishman would have been stretched lifeless along the award but for a second individual who had watched the foul play—one who had been suspecting it all along. The sword of Santander seen flying off, as if struck out of his grasp, and his arm dropping by his side, with blood pouring from the tips of his fingers, were all nearly simultaneous incidents, as also the crack of a rifle and a cloud of blue smoke suddenly spurting up over one of the carriages, and half-concealing the colossal figure of Cris Rock, still seated on the box. Out of that cloud came a cry in the enraged voice of the Texan, with words which made all plain:

"Ye darned Creole cuss! Take that for a traitor an' a coward! Strip the skunk! He's got somethin' steely under his shirt; I heard the chink o it."

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Saying which he bounded down from the box, sprang over the water ditch and rushed on towards the spot occupied by the combatants.

In a dozen strides he was in their midst and before either of the two seconds, equally astonished, could interfere, he had caught Santander by the throat and tore open the breast of his shirt!

Underneath was then seen another shirt, not flannel, nor yet linen or cotton, but link-and-chain steel!

CHAPTER VIII.
A Disgraced Duelist.

Impossible to describe the scene which followed, or the expression upon the faces of those men who stood beside Santander. The Texan, strong as he was big still kept hold of him, though now at arm's length; in his grasp retaining the grown man with as much apparent ease as though he were but a child. And there, sure enough, under the torn flannel shirt, all could see a doublet of chain armor, impenetrable to a sword's point as a plate of solid steel.

An explanation this, why Carlos Santander was so ready to take the field in a duel and had twice left his antagonist lifeless upon it. It explained also why, when leaping across the water-ditch, he had dropped so heavily upon the farther bank.

By this time the two doctors, with the pair of hackney drivers, seeing that something had turned up out of the common course, parting from the carriages, had also come upon the ground; the jarveys, in sympathy with Cris Rock, crying "Shame!" In the Crescent city even a cabman has something of chivalry in his nature—the surroundings teach and invite it—and now the detected scoundrel seemed without a single friend. For he—hitherto acting as such, seeing the imposture, which had been alike practiced on himself, stepped up to his principal and looking him scornfully in the face, hissed out the word "Lache!"

Then turning to Kearney and Crittenden he added:

"Let that be my apology to you, gentlemen. If you're not satisfied with it, I'm willing and ready to take his place—with either of you."

It's perfectly satisfactory Monsieur," frankly responded the Kentuckian, "so far as I'm concerned. And I think I may say as much for Capt. Kearney.'

"Indeed, yes," assented the Irishman, adding: "We absolve you, sir, from all blame. It's evident you knew nothing of that shining panoply till now," as he spoke, pointing to the steel shirt.

The French Creole haughtily, but courteously, bowed thanks. Then, facing once more to Santander and repeating the "Lache," strode silently away from the ground.

They had all mistaken the character of the individual, who, despite a somewhat forbidding face, was evidently a man of honor, as he had proved himself.

"What'll we do wi' him?" interrogated the Texan, still keeping Santander in firm clutch. "Shall we shoot him or hang him?"

"Hang him!" simultaneously shouted the hackney drivers, who semed as bitter against the disgraced duelist as if he had "bilked' them of a fare.

"So I say, too," solemnly pronounced the Texan; "shootin's too good for the like o' him; a man capable o' sech a cowardly, murderous trick deserves to die the death o' a dog."

Then, with an interrogating look at Crittenden, he aded: "Which is't to be lootenant?"

"Neither, Cris," answered the Kentuckian. "If I mistake not, the gentleman has had enough punishment without either. If he's got so much as a spark of shame or conscience—"

"Conscience!' exclaimed Rock, interrupting "Sech a skunk don't know the meanin' o' the word. Darn ye!" he continued, turning upon his prisoner and shaking him till the links in the steel shirt clinked. "I feel as if I could drike the blade o' my bowie inter ye through them steel fixin's an' all."

And, drawing his knife from its sheath, he brandished it in a menacing manner.

"Don't Rock! Please don't!" interposed the Kentuckian, Kearney joining in the entreaty. "He's not worth anger, much less revenge. So let him go.'

"You're right thar, lootenant," rejoined Rock. "He ain't worth either, that's the truth. An' twould only be puttin' pisen on the blade o' my knife to smear it wi' his black blood. F'r all, I ain't a-goin' to let him off so easy's all that, unless you an' the captain insists on it. After the warmish work he's had, an' the sweat he s put himself in by the wearin' o' two shifts at a time, I guess he won't be any the worse of a sprinkling o' cold water. So here goes to give it to him."

Saying which, he strode off towards the ditch, half dragging, half carrying Santander along with him.

In an instant after, the chastisement was administered by the Texan laying hold of him with both hands, lifting him from off his feet and then dropping him down into the water-ditch, where, weighted with the steel shirt, he fell with a dead, heavy plunge, going at once to the bottom.

"That's less than your desarvin's," said the Texan, on thus delivering his charge. "An if't had been left to Cris Rock 'twould 'a been up 'stead o' down, he'd 'a sent ye. If ever man deserved hanging', you're the model o' him. Ha—ha—ha! Look at the skunk now!"

The last words, with the laugh preceding them, were elicted by the ludicrous appearance when Santander presented. He had come to the surface again, and, with some difficulty, owing to the encumbrance of his undershirt, clambered out upon the bank. He was covered with the Kearney, Crittenden and their surgeon could not help uniting in the chorus. Never had tragic hero suffered a more comical discomfiture.

Soon after the carriage containing the victorious party rattled away, they inside it scarce casting a look to see what had become of Santander. He was nothing to them now at best only a thing to be a matter of ludicrous remembrance. Nor long remained he in their thoughts; these now reverting to Texas and the necessity for hastening back to the Crescent city, to make start for "The Land of the Lone Star."

CHAPTER IX.
A Spartan Band.

In ancient days Sparta had its Thermopylae, while in those of modern date Sicily saw a thousand men in scarlet shirts make landing upon her coast and conquer a kingdom defended by a military force 20 or 30 times their number!

But deeds of heroism are not alone confined to the history of the old world. That of the new presents us with many pages of a similar kind, and Texas can tell of achievements not surpassed, either in valor or chivalry, by any upon record. Such was the battle of San Jacinto, where the Texans were victorious, though overmatched in the proportion of 10 to one; such the defense of Fort Alamo, when the brave Col. Crockett, now world-known, surrendered up his life, alongside the equally brave "Jim Bowie," he who gave his name to the knife which on that occasion he so efficiently wielded—after a protracted and terrible struggle dropping dead upon a heap of foes who had felt its sharp point and keen edge.

Covered by fire from warships, two Spanish columns advanced ten miles inland, and drove back rebellious Moroccan tribesmen.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

WILLIAM DENNIS

Mr. Denis, owner of the Halifax Herald, is a native of Cornwall, Eng., but came to Canada in 1873, and joined the reportorial staff of the Herald when it started a couple of years later. For some years he engaged in journalistic work in Winnipeg, and when he returned to Halifax it was to take possession of the concern on which he had acted as junior. Since then the Herald has gone on prospering and to prosper, and is to-day a journal of weight and influence. Mr. Dennis earned a high degree of praise for the whole souled effort through the columns of his paper in 1906 when no less a sum than $15,000 were raised in the distinct to help relieve the want resulting from the famine in Japan.

WILLIAM DENNIS
Prominent Halifax Journalist

SIR CHARLES FITZPATRICK, K.C.M.G.
Chief Justice of Canada

When Sir Charles Fitzpatrick left the stormy sea of politics in 1906 for the comparitive calm of the bench he left behind him a record that any man would be proud of — a reputation that has been enhanced each year he has dispensed justice as the head of our judiciary and a splendid tribute to his impartiality is the esteem he is held by men who were at one time bitter political opponents. This brillant man was born in 1853 in Quebec when after graduating in Laval, he took up practice in law; three years later becoming crown prosecutor for his native city. In 1890 he entered the Provincial House for the county of Quebec, resigning six years later to became federal member for the same division, when he was also appointed Solicitor General. In 1902 Sir Charles became Minister of Justice, which portfolio he resigned in 1906 to occupy his present high position. Possibly the highest compliment that could be paid to a legal man was paid to the Chief Justice when he was offered and accepted a place in the Hague Tribunal of Arbitration in 1908-10, where he discharged his duties in such a way as to call forth the commendation of the greatest legal luminaries of the world. In 1906 Sir Charles received his K.C.M.G. and in 1908 his P.C.

HON. CHARLES DEVLIN
Minister of Public Works, Quebec.

Charley Devlin must have kissed the "blarney stone" thrice if successful public life and a gift of the mother tongue go together; for there is no doubt but what the Hon. Charles Ramsey Devlin — to give him his full title — has turned up trumps in every sphere of political work he has undertaken. First a member of the Federal House at Ottawa, — then a Commissioner in Ireland, — next a member of the Imperial Parliament — back again to Ottawa as member and finally Minister of Public Works in the Quebec Government and a seat in the Provincial House. Not a bad record for a man just out of the forties.

Chas. Ramsey Devlin was born in 1858 in Aylmer, Que., where after graduating at Laval University he engaged in newspaper work. He first became M. P. for Ottawa County in 181 resigning from parliamentary life temporarily to take up the position of Canadian Commissioner in Ireland. While in the land of his forbears Mr. Devlin was elected by acclamation as M. P. for Galway in the British House of Commons. On his returning to Canada in 1906 he was elected to the Federal House for Nicolet, but resigned nine months later to accept his present position as Minister of Public Works, Que. As a man Mr. Devlin is the essence of courtesy and kindness and no immigrant from the Emerald Isle has appealed to this big hearted man in vain.

"FATHER ENDEAVOR" CLARK

Not many Canadians have a more fruitful sixty years of life behind them than the Rev. "Father Endeavor" Clark, who visited Montreal a few days ago and has since celebrated his birthday in his native town of Aylmer. He was one of the first and ablest men to apply the new organizing principles of this continent to spiritual work, and the society which he formed has done a notable work in rallying the young people of the Protestant world into a single force, imbuing them with a powerful inspiration, and combatting the tendency to drift away from religious affiliation. In the 'eighties Dr. Clark could hardly have done what he did if he had remained in Canada, so that his removal to the United States was more a mission than an expatriation.

WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

HOSPITAL BOARD

Applications Received for Positions at Queen Mary Hospital

The Queen Mary Hospital Board assembled last evening at five o'clock with Mayor Morrow, Dr. Boucher and Ald. Duncan in attendance.

Dr. McPherson dropped in later.

The first part of the session was occupied by the passing of the accounts.

Samuel English applied for the position of caretaker of Queen Mary Hospital.

James Edmondson, of 12 Kirke street street, also applied giving the names of numerous citizens who would give him references.

George McLean and wife asked for the position, as did also Joseph Craig.

There are just five patients in the Isolation Hospital now, none of which are serious cases.

Samuel English tendered at $425.

Dr. McPherson and Ald. Duncan drove around to visit a couple of the applicants to ascertain their suitability. No definite action was taken.

W. J. Johnston offered to supply storm sash and doors for hospital at $75. His tender was accepted.

A letter was read containing an offer to lay out the grounds at the hospital. Wm. James was the tendered. A plan of the work was submitted, and it was referred to Frank Wise for his advice.

Dr. McPherson referred to Miss Rae, who is employed at the hospital at $15 a month. She is competent to earn $20 a month and to be hired by the year. As she is not receiving regulation hospital education in hospital work, the M.H.O. thought that she was worthy of the increase.

Dr. McPherson's recommendation of her capabilities convinced the board she was worthy of the increase, on condition she would stay at the hospital for one year.

WEDDING OF LOCAL INTEREST

Bride is a Cousin of Mr. A. J. Johnston, This City

From the Riverside Daily Press, California is taken the following item which will be of interest to many friends in Peterboro and Lakefield where the bride's family is well known. She is a cousin of Mr. A.J. Johnston, the George Street druggist.

A wedding which in accordance with the wishes of the bride was simple and unostentatious in its appointments and yet was one of the prettiest ceremonies of the summer was solemnized, when Miss Helen Mar Wallace became the wife of Mr. Wm. T. Henderson. Only the near relatives and most intimate friends of the families were present at the ceremony which was celebrated at the residence of the brides' father Mr. W. J. Wallace of West Riverside.

The bride was truly lovely in a princess creation of white cashemire de soie, with pearls and rose point lace as its adornment. She wore the gift of the groom which was an exquisite circlet of pearls and diamonds, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair fern. Her veil of shimmering net was artistically and becomingly arranged over her dark hair and was fastened with orange buds.

The Episcopal service was read by Rev. W. A. Hunter, who is a boyhood friend of the bride's mother, and who attended the Peterboro Collegiate Institute.

Mrs. Henderson is a Canadian by birth, having been born in Lakefield, but has spent most of her life in Riverside, where she is a popular member of the social set.

WEDDING BELLS

TOUGAS—EDGAR

The wedding was solemnized this morning at seven o'clock of William J. Tougas, eldest son of J. Tougas, Harvey street, and Sarah Edgar, eldest daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Edgar, Sherbrooke street.

The young couple were unattended, and Rev. G. W. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist church, officiated. The wedding took place in the parsonage.

Immediately afterwards Mr. and Mrs Tougas left on the 7.47 C.P.R. for Toronto and western points of interest, and on their return will reside in Peterborough.

WELSH—ROGERS

At the Park street parsonage, this morning at seven o'clock, Miss Flaudie Rogers was united in marriage to Mr. Edwin Norman Welsh, both parties being of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev W. C. Riddiford, and afterwards a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Park street. Mr. and Mrs. Welsh left on the 8.10 G.T.R. train for a trip to Hastings and other points.

TATE—BELL.

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, Hillcrest farm at high noon Wednesday, Oct 11th, when their eldest daughter, Pearl B., and Albert J. Tate, a prominent business man of Moosejaw, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The bride was beautifully attired in cream satin trimmed with embroidered chiffon wearing the customary veil caught with a cornet of lilies of the the valley, carrying a shower bouquet of white roses.

To the strains of Lohengrin wedding march played by Miss Lizzie Smith, of Peterborough, the bride entered the parlor on the arm of her father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Henderson, pastor of Charlotte street church, Peterborough, assisted Rev. J. Ireland, of Bridgenorth.

Afterwards the company adjourned to the dining room where a dainty dejeuner was served.

The bride's costume de voyage, was of navy blue broadcloth with picture hat of silk velvet and ostrich plumes. Among the many gifts was a persian lamb jacket the gift of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Tate left on the 4.28 C.P.R. for Toronto and after visiting Winnipeg, Fort William, Regina and other places they will reside in Moosejaw.

The bride was a popular young lady and is followed by the best wishes of many Peterborough friends.

MUMMIFIED BODY OF ALASKAN ESKIMO

See This Wonderful Exhibit at 410 George Street

An exhibit of more than usual interest, which is attracting the attention of hundreds of citizens, is now to be seen on the premises formerly occupied by the Boston Cafe, 410 George street. There you will see in the stern and solemn democracy of death, the remains of an Alaskan Eskimo. Medical authorities state that they have never seen a body petrified, mummified or otherwise, in a more remarkable state of preservation than this one. The flesh and skin are quite pliable, and that the body is intact, is indicated by the presence of the internal organs, as well as the hair on the head, eyebrows, etc. Medical autthorities state that this remarkable state of preservation is due to the presence of certain gases which were in the cave in which the body was found. The is that of a man, large of stature, and judging by the worn condition of the teeth, that of one advanced in years.

The price of admission is 10c. The ladies are invited to see this wonderful exhibit, as well as the children, as there is nothing immodest whatever in the exhibit. The afternoon is a specially favorable time to view it. Medical men of the city are invited to see the exhibit, complimentary.

ALD. BULLER DUBS CHAMBERS STREET FOREST OF POLES

There Are Thirteen, Five of Which the City Engineer Should Have Removed—Board of Works Session.

At a meeting of the Board of Works last night, A. E. Dixon on behalf of Jos. Grey asked for an approach to his property north of the west ward school. The chairman and engineer will deal with the matter.

POLES AND GAS MAINS

Permission to erect five poles on Dale Avenue, between Burnham st. and Engleburn Avenue and to lay gas mains in the same vicintiy was granted the Peterboro Light and Power Company. The poles will be between 25 and 30 feet high and will carry only secondary wires.

TRACK ON REID STREET

The Wm. Hamilton Company asked and was allowed to construct a track across Reid street, and one parallel with the west side to facilitate the handling of castings etc. by lorries. The company will remove same at a future date if requested by the city.

Ald. Duncan opposed granting the request he stating that the McDonald people had asked for a track across George street, and had been thrown down. The chairman pointed out that Reid Street had not a heavy traffic.

Wm Stock & Sons, Sherbrooke st. asked for an approach and were accommodated.

FOREST OF POLES

There are 13 poles on Chambers st. and the engineer suggested that this number be cut down by five.

"A regular forest" remarked Ald. Buller. "Put them underground," he suggested.

ABOUT SIDEWALKS

A request for a sidewalk came up and Mayor Morrow suggested that the ratepayers be notified by advertisement in the local papers to submit petitions for sidewalks and sewers to be concluded next year, not later than February 1, 1912. The new law provides for a report on applications by the engineer.

The Murray Street congregation want a concrete walk connecting the two pavements in front of the new church. The crossing will be constructed, as will also one from Driscoll terrace to Hunter street.

R. C. Braund and others complain of a ditch filled with refuge, which effects their property on Park street south of Albert. Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan that the ditch be filled in and piped.

It was remarked that there was no money to do the work, but the engineer will report.

Connections have not been made by the G.T.R. to their stand pipe on Bethune street, Ald. Buller reported. He urged that this work be done and the order to the company will be renewed

A plank sidewalk will be constructed from Princess street to Lansdowne Avenue, if sufficient planking is available.

MR. BARTLETT WON'T BE COAXED TO TAKE UP THE SEWER WORK

Board of Works Will Take Other Means to Have Operations Commenced at Once.

If Mr. Frederick Bartlett will not proceed with the work of making up a sewer gang and commence construction work at once Ald. Metheral, chairman of the Board of Works and the City Engineer will pass him by and look after the proposition themselves. There is much work to be done. At a recent meeting of the Board of Works it was decided that a second sewer gang should be set to work and Mr. Bartlett was given the foremanship at $3 per day. But it appears he wants to start operations on Romaine street, for some reason or other, despite the fact that Mr. E. Wade, who is superintending the pumping house sewer work will be able to take up the Romaine street work in the very near future.

The Board of Works is desirous of assuring the applications of ratepayers in East City for sewers and the second gang was intended to do this work. Mr Bartlett, however, has held back.

At the board's meeting last night, it was decided that if Mr. Bartlett still refuses to take up the sewer work, other means will be taken to have the operations commence at once.

There is a great scarcity of labor and difficulty will be experienced in getting a gang of men together.

THE FINEST MUSICAL EVENT OF THIS MUSICAL SEASON

Visit of Mark Hambourg next Tuesday an Important Musical Event in Peterboro at the Grand Opera House

A very good impression of Mr. Hambourg's was published a little while ago by one of the best critics in Europe who said—"Of the different kinds of pianists, we have in Mark Hambourg a very happy blending of the emotional and the intellectual types the former predominating in a sufficient degree, to impart to his playing an atmosphere which glows with warmth and vitality. He is a virile, brilliant, fascinating, and successfully audacious performer, he is magnetic he carries you off your feet, and can make you cry or laugh, and compels you, whether you will or not; he causes a suspension of our critical faculties for the time being, while his daring originalities amaze and bewitch you. He is a magician who paints tone-pictures of marvellous beauty, and he interprets as we have heard no one before him. His lightning like speed, the accuracy of his execution, his conceptions at times dignified and grand, at time subtle and suggestive, his marvellous tone, his wonderful use of the pedal, his abandon and finesse, and above all, the poetic feeling he displayed, drove the audience frantic with wonder and delight."

In the course of his tours and travels, Mr. Mark Hambourg has had many adventures, and he is full of amusing stories. Undoubtedly the most extraordinary experience he ever had, probably, indeed, the most extraordinary that has ever befallen a public performer, was when, during a recent European tour, he was decoyed to the underground meeting place of Russian Revolutionaries in Warsaw, who compelled to play to them.

Once when Mr. Hambourg was playing at one of the smaller colonial towns, he was very much annoyed during the performance of a work with orchestra, by the first violin continuously coming in at the wrong place, quite regardless of the fact that by so doing he constantly interrupted the pianist. Mr. Hambourg said nothing for some time, but at length he good humouredly expostulated with the man in a low voice. "Let me tell you," replied the culprit angrily, "that I put up the money for this orchestra and I shall come in when I like."

Mr. Hambourg was once playing at a small hall, a Concerto, the orchestral part of which was performed upon another piano. The two pianos were placed end to end, the accompanying instrument being farthest from the audience, in the darker part of the stage. During a pause in the solo the second piano took up the orchestral part whereupon a lady in the audience was overheard to say to her companion, "What a marvellous pianist!" "Oh, yes," replied her friend "but you see his feet going. He is such a wonder with the pedals!"

On another occasion he was approached by a professional pugilist, who, having heard Mr. Hambourg play was filled with the desire to himself become a pianist and wrote to enquire what he had better do to make his hands sufficiently supple without interfering in any way with his profession as a boxer.

GOOD PROGRAM AT LYCEUM

Miss Henry Delivers Instructive Lecture on Passion Play

At St. Alphonsus Lyceum last night the life, travels and the scenes of the Saviour's sacrifice on the cross were beautifully depicted by Miss Angela Henry, who was formerly of Peterborough and is now on the editorial staff of the Buffalo Express, with the aid of illustrated pictures.

Rev. Father McColl opened the program with an explanation of the origin of the Passion Play and Miss Henry's lecture was supplemented by a large number of panoramic slides.

On the showing of Christ's entering Jerusalem, Mr. Harry Quinlan sang "Palms" acceptably. Other soloists were Mr. George Daly, "Calvary"; Mr. Eddie Hanrahan, "When the Lighthouse Bell Rings Ding Dong," and Miss Annie Simons, "The Holy City."

There was a fairly good attendance and those who were fortunate enough to hear Miss Henry will not regret the time spent at the Lyceum.

THEATRICAL

George Wright, Halifax, N.S., writes: "With regard to the many debasing plays which are coming to Canada from across the border and are being boomed by giving fictitious and misleading press notices, which point out the great success which they have met with in the cities across the border, and for this reason they are generally accepted in Canada without protest. In the United States at the present time there are twelve of these shows under the ban of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, and the following is what they say in part for the reason of doing so: 'There are still theatres missing their high and noble aim and debauching the minds and hearts of the theatre-goers, and especially our young persons, when plays like "Salome," "The Soul Kiss," "The Blue Mouse," "The Girl From Rector's," "The Easiest Way," "The Girl in the Train," "The Girl in the Taxi," "Alma, Wo Wohust Du?" and "La Samaritaine" are praised and heralded as attractions, we feel that the theatrical producers and managers are menacing the public morality and the welfare of the nation, for these plays, being based on abominable sexual perversity and and setting up a standard of morality which is open licentiousness, will gradually accustom the the spectators, first in thought, then in deed to disregard and discard all Christian modesty, and will thus prove the grave of the nation. Now many of these shows come to Canada and appear at some of the best theatres, and the ones above mentioned are but a small portion of many other bad ones which are travelling through the United States and Canada. There are so many now of the burlesque type, which are the commonest form of amusement, and in most cases demoralizing; then we have all the low-class vaudeville which is appearing in the cheap theatres. In Halifax during the past few weeks there have been three of these shows appearing in our best theatre. The title of one was "Baby Mine," boomed as being the funniest show on the road, but the fun was caused by suggestive jokes and sayings. Then we had a visit from 'The Girl From Rector's,' a play that has been closed up in many cities of the United States. The manager claims that it had been modified. Now, to prove the lack of censorship on the part of the authorities, most of all the above-mentioned shows, which are under ban, have come to Canada without any interference on the part of the authorities to stop them. And for this reason the people are becoming educated to them. There should certainly be some method taken to keep them out of Canada. There are plenty good plays to be had, but it is strange that the playwriters and managers cater to the lowest taste of the people."

"The Arrival of Kitty"

No matter how much our of sorts you may be, or how blue you may feel, the "Arrival of Kitty" at the Grand Opera House Peterboro, Saturday, matinee and night will dissipate that and send you home in a happy frame of mind. We suggest that husbands with nagging wives, or wives with nagging husbands, attend this breezy little comedy and here inhale the air of mirth and merriment which makes life worth living. There is so much drama in every day life, that we owe it to ourselves and to our associates to get away from the monotony of it occasionally and dwell in the realm of make believe, when all is happy and beautiful our dispositions will improve our friends will be more numerous, and they will be glad to see us, and we will succeed accordingly, for is not the sunny disposition a big asset in the success to-day.

LOCAL CLUB IN TANKARD GROUP

District Cup Competition May Take Place Here

In the proposed plan for the tankard grouping of the clubs which the executive of the Ontario Curling Association will consider, Peterborough is mentioned in group 2 in the Ontario Tankard competition, which is to be played at Lindsay. The other clubs in the group are Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Campbellford, Port Hope, Bobcaygeon, Cannington. Umpire, Mr. J. D. Flavelle.

The District Cup competition for this district may be played off here, with the following clubs competing: Cannington, Peterborough, Keene, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Port Hope, Campbellford. Umpire, Mr. R. M. Waddell.

The semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association will be held on Tuesday next at 11 o'clock, a.m., at the Victoria Club, Toronto.

CHURCH FOOTBALL LEAGUE CONCERT

Since his election Mr. Barnham has been working hard in the best interests of the city and is certainly proving himself to be the right man in the right place. Not the least pleasing of his many good 'qualities is the keen interest he takes in all forms of sport. To-night is an example. Although a very busy man, he gladly promised to preside at to-night's concert in aid of the Church Football League and has shown his practical interest to the league. To-night's concert is certainly one of the best programs seen here and the sale of tickets has been exceptionally good. The S.O.E. hall looks like being full for the concert. Mr. Burnham's interest has largely helped to bring this about. P. G. E. Webb, secretary-treasurer.

BASEBALL

The world's series between the Athletics and Giants will bring together two stars who were educated on different lots.

Eddie Collins graduated from Columbia University to Connie Mack, and Larry Doyle, who tossed aside the garments of a miner for the diamond tags.

Collins' first hand as a professional was in 1906, when he played with the Athletics under the name of Sullivan while Doyle quit the mines in Preese Ill., in 1906, to join the Mattoon Kitty League club.

Collins didn't cost Mack a penny while Doyle brought the Springfield Three-I team $4,500. Both are dangerous players on the offensive and defensive, wild on the bases, brilliant fielders and sluggers with the stick.

GROUPING FOR TANKARD AND DISTRICT CUP

For the Ontario Curling Tankard this coming season, Peterborough Curling Club has been placed in the following grouping:—Group No. 2.—Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Peterborough, Campbellford, Port Hope, Bobcaygeon, Cannington. Play at Lindsay. Umpire, Mr. J. D. Flavelle.

For the District Cup Competition grouping the local club is in district No. 2 composed of Cannington, Peterborough, Keene, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Port Hope, Campbellford. Play at Peterborough. Umpire, Mr. R. M. Waddell.

SPORT TALK

The W.E.A.C. players were out in strength last night and had a splendid signal practice. They are fast rounding into shape.

There will be another rugby practice at Central Park to-night and a daylight workout to-morrow afternoon. Everybody is asked to be in attendance as the game next Saturday will be a fast one. The Central Y.M.C.A. boys are training hard and are coming to win. It is up to the locals to get out and work and be prepared to stop them.

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

ANIMAL AND RACIAL ODORS

The White Man Gives Off a Distinctive Natural Smell Same as the Negro.

That every human being and every animal possesses an individual odour we know, although generally our own sense of smell cannot distinguish one from another, for the more sensitive scent of the dog does this with ease from the slightest traces. That the personal odour of an entire race has a character of its own we also know. In most cases this odour is displeasing to members of different races. The odour of the negro is often spoken of by white races as offensive, but it will be news to most of us that the odour of Europeans is quite as objectionable to the Japanese. A Japanese physician, Dr. Burtaro Adacki, has recently published some remarkable observations on this subject.

"This physician states that 'it is certain that the Western peoples possess a natural odour which is not perceived by them, but which is clearly perceptible to the yellow race.' After a certain length of time, however, both Japanese and Chinese who have taken up their residence in Europe become habituated to this odour, it being the experience of these European residents that the odour of Europeans, which at first was intolerable, after several weeks' residence becomes supportable.

"Every living animal possesses in general a characteristic odour — horses, dogs, cats, etc., man himself having an emanation which is a part of the race and which may be individual and variable with age and condition of health. The sudoriferous glands produce the emanation perceived by the sense of smell, although it is true that the Chinese and Japanese have little or no odorous emanation. When these races perspire, their perspiration has no odour, a fact which is doubtless chiefly a question of race, although also probably one of alimentary regime. In the white races observers who possess an acute sense of smell can distinguish solely by this means those persons who follow a vegetarian regime and those who eat meat, at times the difference between these two classes of persons being very pronounced. The individuals who nourish themselves on meat exhale, under the influence of the fermentation of cutaneous secretions, a much stronger odour than vegetarians. Experimenters in ethnography know that there exist provincial odours, the odour of Brunswick being different from that of Bavaria, that of Savoy different from that of Normandy.

"The Japanese are chiefly vegetarians, and for this reason their skin exhales odours which are scarcely perceptible; but here clothing plays its role, for if we superimpose many layers of tissue closely around the body, perspiration is produced, and with it the odour of disassimilation.

THE WONDERFUL WATCH

Few pieces of machinery show more marvellous feaures than that of the watch. As a general proposition it may be stated that a watch is the smallest, most delicate instrument of the same number of parts that has ever been devised. About one hundred and seventy-five different pieces of material enter into its construction, and upwards of twenty-four hundred separate operations are comprised in its manufacture. Certain of the facts connected with its performance are almost incredible, when considered as a whole. A blacksmith strikes several hundred blows on his anvil in a day and, as a matter of course, is glad when Sunday comes; but the roller jewel of a watch makes every day — and day after day — 432,000 impacts against the fork, or 157,680,000 blows during the course of a year, without stop or rest — or some 3,153,600,000 blows during the space of twenty years, the period for which a watch is usually guaranteed to keep good time. But the wonder of it does not cease here. It has been calculated that the power that moves the watch is equivalent to only four times the force used in a flea's jump. The watch-power is, therefore, what might be termed the equivalent of a four flea-power. One horse-power would suffice to operate 270,000,000 watches. Furthermore, the balance-wheel of a watch is moved by this four flea-power one and forty-three one-hundredths inches with each vibration, or 3558¾ miles continuously in one year. Not much oil is required to lubricate the little machine on its 3500-mile run. It takes only one-tenth of a drop to oil the entire machinery of a year service.

Life on Mars.

Mr. Elgie, the author of "The Night Skies of a Year," agrees with the statement recently made by a French scientist that life on Mars has evolved in the same way as it has done on the earth. It is, he thinks, a reasonable conclusion at which to arrive, and adds:—"Why should not life evolve (that is, on Mars) in the same way as it has done on the earth? And not only so on Mars, but on all the other planets? Life will appear on those planets which are at present without it when the planets are ready for the reception and the evolution of life—and not until then. Why should the earth be an exception, either to the rule of the existence of life, or of its evolution?"

The Best Temperature

Sir Benjamin Ward Richardson found, after long experiments and practice, that 64 degrees Fahr. is the best temperature in which to conduct mental labour. If the temperature falls below this the mind becomes drowsy and inactive, and if it rises much above there is a relaxed state of the body and mind which soon leads to fatigue and exhaustion. It is important that the temperature be the same in all parts of the room and that it be steadily maintained.

ENJOYABLE DANCE BY THE BALL CLUB

In Conservatory Hall—A Large Attendance and Fine Music

The dance given last evening by the Peterborough ball team, in the Conservatory of Music Hall, proved to be a most enjoyable and highly successful social event, and one that was largely attended. About sixty couple were estimated to have been present. Under the excellent direction of the committee in charge, namely Messrs. A. Quinlan and J. Doris, the proceedings took place without any hitch.

A delightful program of dance music was provided by Mr. John Strathdee of Toronto.

The Conservatory of Music Hall was decorated attractively with flags, bunting, etc. by Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons. The colors of the ball team were also prominent.

Refreshments were served about 12 o'clock, and about two the dancers dispersed.

The Sea Serpent Exposed

The mystery of the sea serpent has apparently been solved by Capt. James Schmidt, master of the Dutch steamship Charlois, of Rotterdam. As the master mariner has spent some time studying the strange denizens of the deep in the Pacific and Indian oceans, as well as the Atlantic, he has arrived at the conclusion that the sea serpent is really a number of whales drifting in single file across the ocean. He says of his conclusions:

"It was our good fortune to observe such a big fish, which had a length of about 500 to 600 feet, on our journey to the United States on July 28. The tail continually beat the water several feet high, and its head, which appeared on the surface every few minutes, threw the water far away. Our course was right on to the serpent, and when we were about 50 feet away from it we shot at it with our small cannon, and hit it right in the middle of its body.

"The blood colored the sea red. The giant fish then cut itself up into four parts and swam away Indian style.

"They were four whales, one behind the other, of which the first one showed its head now and then above the water, the last one beat the water with its tail and the two middle ones lay gently in the water, thereby showing only their backs. The whole looked so much like one fish that we were fooled the first few minutes ourselves."

DUNCAN McMARTIN,

The story of the poor lad who leaves home to make his way in the world, and who returns to his native place as a self-made and honorable man of affairs can never lose its charm.

This is the lifestory of Duncan McMartin, the Conservative candidate for the county of Glengarry in the present federal fight.

Born thirty-seven years ago at St. Raphaels, on one of Glengarry's historic farmsteads. Duncan inherited from his father Alan McMartin, the priceless advantage of United Empire Loyalist blood in his veins, and pioneer stamina in his constitution. Glengarrians still cherish the memories of that party of seventy-five Loyalists, consisting mainly of McMartins and their kinsfolk, who forsook the United States in 1783, abandoning their homes and all the comforts of life rather than swerve in their devotion to the British throne.

Mr McMartin went West from the old farm while yet in his teens and after encountering all kinds of hard work success got him. Years of close application and tireless activity, combined with a phenomenal business acumen, have brought their sure rewards, and Mr. McMartin now finds himself not only on Easy street, but a multi-millionaire.

SUFFERED FROM VIOLENT CATHARTICS

The Warning of Mr. Geo. C. Fox Is One That Should Be Heeded by All.

Few men on the road are better known than genial George Fox, whose friends throughout the West are legion. In the following letter he expresses gratitude for signal services rendered by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. He goes on to say: "Until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and experienced their wonderful mildness and curative power, I estimated the value of every pill by its activity. Talking about this to a well-known physician I met on the train the other day, he explained there are different kinds of drugs that act upon the bowels, the most active being known as drastic. Except in extreme cases where the life of the patient depends upon speedy evacuation of the bowels, pills should never be drastic. Purgatives cause catarrh of the bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation I could see why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are curative and not irritating, why they are mild, yet most searching.

"From my experience I recommend everyone that takes pills to give up the old-fashioned harsh, purging pill, and, instead, to use Dr. Hamilton's. They cure headache, biliousness, constipation, bad stomach, and keep the system in perfect condition."

Owing to the scarcity of milk our local cheese factory has had to quit making but we look for a better season next year.

Mr. James Thompson has recently purchased from Mr. Will Fell, of Bailieboro, a riding plow, with which he intends to make things give.

What Parisian Sage Will Do

A bad scalp is no credit to anyone, especially when it can be remedied by consistent use of Parisian Sage, the great scalp and hair tonic.

The cause of dandruff is a germ. Parisian Sage will kill these pests in a few days and thereby remove the cause of baldness.

Falling hair is caused by the dandruff germ. By killing these Parisian Sage at once restores vitality to the hair roots and commences a vigorous growth.

If the roots are not gone, Parisian Sage will grow hair. It strengthens thin, scraggy hair and makes it healthy and luxuriant. Stops itching scalp after one or two applicants, in fact is guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist, to do this or your money back. Fifty cents a large bottle.

ONLY ONE FOR BREAKFAST!

Not Even a Forty Days Fasting Man Could Face More Than One Egg Like This.

The egg of the gigantic extinct bird aepyornis, of South Madagascar, has a capacity of two gallons, or 150 times that of a hen's egg. The shell is 1-8 inch thick. Lengthwise it is 32 inches in circumference, and it measures 26 inches around the middle. Though termed a fossil egg, it is not petrified, but is in perfect condition, unbroken, and has a yellow colour. The contents have turned into a fine dust, which comes out, when handled, through a small natural perforation on one side. The aepyornis, like the moa of New Zealand, was exterminated by the hand of man. A few centuries ago it was quite abundant. Several incomplete fossil remains have been discovered, but no complete skeleton has ever yet been found. These show the bird was three-toed, of massive proportion and short winged. The Madagascar natives have for many years used the great egg shell for various household purposes. In fact, the first knowledge of these eggs became known when some Madagascar natives came to the Mauritius to buy rum, bringing the aepyornis eggs with them to hold the liquor. Only three or four of these huge eggs have been brought into civilization.

The Swallows Southward Flight

Nobody can explain why wild birds do certain things, nor why tame ones do, either. A domestic hen in the road is as big a puzzle as a partridge in the woods. But naturalists study acts and tell us what certain birds do, even if they cannot tell how or why. For example, at this season of the year the swallows begin to combine in great flocks. They are to be seen now, in various parts of the country, ranged along the telegraph or telephone wires and in enormous flocks filling the air and actually clouding the sky. They are getting ready for their flight south. But how come these speechless birds to be able to pass the word along to meet? Some call, covering many miles must have gone out to assemble them. Presumably the most of them are young birds, hatched this summer. What do they know of the flight south? They have never taken it. And now they are preparing to go hundreds of miles away to a region entirely strange to them. Who calls them together? Who gives the signal to start? One day they are here and the next all are gone. They go because we have cold weather here, but they go before it becomes cold, and they return here to meet the returning summer and be warm, but they get here before the warm weather is assured. Hence it is evident that cold does not drive them away nor warmth bring them back. The notion entertained years ago by Gilbert White (and not by him alone) that swallows hid themselves in the mud at the bottom of ponds doesn't go, these days.

Jumping Out of Bed.

Our cherished theories are always being upset in these iconoclast days. We have always held it a virtue to be able to jump out of bed in a morning as soon as we have opened our eyes; now we are warned against this practice, on account of possible damage to our hearts. Doubtless many persons doing this have felt a dizziness follow the sudden and violent uprising in the morning; this is owing, so a well-known medical authority has it, to the shock to the vital organs, especially to the heart, as it starts suddenly to pump the blood more quickly. As a doctor points out:—"A kitten stretches out a leg, then the other, when waking; rubs its face rolls over, and stretches its whole body. A baby stretches its arms and legs, rubs its eyes, and yawns, waking up slowly. Even the birds do not fly off from the nest the instant they awake. All these movements are natural, and have a purpose; they are not mere whims or coincidences, but are the healthy and correct way of starting the vital organs into waking working order. So if you feel inclined to stay in bed a few moments, do so; it is the prompting of nature, only take care — don't turn over and go to sleep again.

World's Most Costly Memorial.

The colossal statue of King Victor Emmanuel II., dedicated at Rome June 4, is the most costly and colossal memorial ever erected in honour of a national hero. The statue is itself 40 feet high, and weighs 50 tons. It is in gilded bronze, and stands against the white marble of a portico 500 feet long, which has 16 immense columns, and many fountains, groups of statuary, and gilded decorations. Back of the portico will be a national museum, in which will be placed mementos of Italy's struggle for independence. The entire memorial represents 30 years' work and a cost of twenty million dollars. The monument faces the famous Corso, and the statue may be seen a great distance. The chief criticism made against the memorial is that its newness and bigness make it overshadow the remnants of ancient Rome in the midst of which it stands.

Can the Serpent Fascinate?

Professor Barnard concludes from his personal observation of cobras in Ceylon, that the serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, and that the only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. It appears to perceive only sounds of high pitch, for it pays no attention to the low notes of the flute or the beating of a drum. Professor Barnard has also confirmed, in Ceylon, the results of observations made in the zoological gardens on the supposed power of fascination exerted by serpents upon birds, and he concludes that this power of fascination is also purely imaginary.

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

THAWED BACK TO LIFE

Remarkable Experiments With Fish and Frogs Frozen for Months in Ice Blocks.

Some remarkable experiments were made not long since at the University of Geneva by M. Raoul Pictet, whose name is intimately connected with the production of artificial cold. In the course of some work he was able to take live fish and place them in a tank. Then he froze the water in which the fish were swimming, so as to form a block of ice. After two or three months the block of ice was thawed out very slowly, and the seemingly dead fish came to life and swam about as usual. In a recent interview M. Pictet states that his first experiments upon life at very intense cold date nearly eighteen years back. He became convinced that if the chemical reactions of a living organism could be suspended without causing any organic lesion, the phenomena of life would disappear, but these would come back as soon as the organism was restored to the usual conditions. Great cold will suspend the operations of life as far as we are able to observe, but without losing it totally. The freezing must not be carried down too far in the case of fresh water fish, otherwise the fish will be killed. However, there are other animals which can stand a much greater amount of cold. Frogs come next in order to fish in this respect, and can be frozen down to 28 deg. C. below the freezing point. Some water lizards or salamanders will stand more cold, or 50 degrees. He finds that snails will resist the greatest amount of cold among the specimens which he tried, and they can be frozen as low as 120 deg. C below the freezing point, and will then come back to animation.

COLOURS OF THE OCEAN

It has been proved that the blueness of sea water is in constant ratio to its saltness. In the tropics the tremendous evaporation induced by the blazing sun causes the water to be much more salt than it is in higher latitudes. For about 30 degrees both north and south of the equator the waters of the world's oceans are of an exquisite azure. Beyond these latitudes the blue fades and changes to green, and in the Arctic and Antarctic Oceans the greens are almost as vivid as the tropical blue.

The extraordinary blueness of the Mediterranean has two causes. One is that very few large rivers of fresh water run into this sea; the second, that the Mediterranean is practically land-locked, and, being exposed to a powerful sun, evaporation is great. By actual test the waters of the Mediterranean are heavier and more salt than those of the Atlantic.

But blue and green are not the only colours observed in the world's seas and oceans. In January, 1909, a river of yellow water, three miles wide and of enormous length, was observed running parallel with the Gulf Stream. It stretched from Cape Florida to Cape Hatteras, and was undoubtedly caused by some tremendous submarine upheaval, probably of a volcanic nature.

Again, about nine years ago, the sea turned almost black off a large portion of the California coast. The whole of Santa Cruz Bay assumed this extraordinary inky hue, and fishing came abruptly to an end. In this case the darkness seems to have been caused by millions of tiny animalcules, known as whale food. The dull reddish tint which is occasionally seen in the Red Sea, and which has given that sea its name, has a similar cause. The water becomes full of microscopic algae — tiny weed.

China's Yellow Sea is usually supposed to owe its origin to the flood of muddy water which its great river pours into it. But here again modern science has proved that living organisms are responsible for its peculiar tint.

Occasionally, and for some cause as yet undiscovered, great areas of the ocean turn milkwhite. In March, 1904, the passengers and crew of a Japanese merchant vessel steaming at night between Hong Kong and Yokohama ran into a snow-white sea. It was an opaque, phosphorescent surface, but an expanse of pure snow-white, having a dazzling effect upon the eyes. The phenomenon lasted for six hours, and alarmed the passengers so greatly that not one slept at all that night.

Eight thousand gallons of fresh water are used in a large battleship daily. About two-thirds of this is taken up by the boilers, and the remainder is used for drinking, washing, etc.

England is to be divided into three ecclesiastical provinces — Liverpool, Birmingham and Westminster—by the R. C. Church.

THE LIE NAILED DOWN

J. M. Barrie, who celebrated his 51st birthday a few days ago, is a direct contradiction to the absurd theory that Scotsmen are humorless. Once the leading actor who was playing in one of his plays fell ill. The occurrence meant a chance for his understudy, who, not being particularly gifted with a sense of modesty, sent a few dozen telegrams to dramatic critics and others solemnly informing them that he would be taking the "star" part that evening. One telegram went to Mr. Barrie. He sent this answer:

"Thanks for your warning."

In connection with the Scotsman's proverbial love of argument, he tells a delicious story. An old fellow lay very near to death, and his friends suggested sending for the minister. But the old chap did not want a spiritual comforter. The friends said they would sing a hymn. The dying man did not want hymns. "A'm wanting neither hymns nor minister," quoth he: "I want to argy."

Another yarn Mr. Barrie tells is about a friend of his who once had the misfortune to sit at a performance of "The Little Minister" behind a lady with a large hat. Requested politely to remove it, the lady stubbornly refused. But the man was anxious to see the play. Presently he leaned forward again. "Madam," he said, gravely, "if you won't remove your hat, would you mind folding up your ears?"

SAVED HERSELF YEARS OF PAIN

If She Had Used Dodd's Kidney Pills First

Mrs McRea suffered for over two years, then two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of Her.

Previl, Gaspe Co., Que., Oct. 10, (Special)—That she might have escaped two years and seven months of suffering had she tried Dodd's Kidney Pills in the first place is the firm conviction of Mrs. John McRea, an old and respected resident of this place. And this is the reason she gives for believing so:

"For two years and seven months I was a sufferer from Kidney Disease brought on by a strain and a cold. My eyes were puffed and swollen, my muscles cramped and I suffered from neuralgia and Rheumatism. My back ached and I had pains in my joints.

"For two years I was under the doctor's care, but he never seemed to do me any lasting good. Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me."

To save yourself suffering cure your Kidneys at the first sign of trouble. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure.

BEAUTIFUL EYES

are made beautiful by long, silky lashes and well defined, lustrous brows. Eyes, like diamonds, depend on their setting. The beauties of the face are lost if the eye brows are thin and scanty, and the lashes are short and lifeless. Parisian Lash Lustre grows beautiful, soft, silky lashes. It has done so for society women throughout Europe, and it comes here well recommended to do the same for you. Parisian Lash Lustre is not a dye or colorator, but a scientific preparation for beautifying the eye lashes and brows. Our guarantee goes with every box of Parisian Lash Lustre. IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

SOME FLY FALLACIES

Flies Don't Grow in Size and It is not the Case that the House Specimen Bites.

It is quite a common belief that flies grow in size, and that the small flies one comes across in the house are but the young of the larger house-flies, but this is quite a misconception. The difference one notices in flies of very similar appearance is due to their belonging to a different species. The feet of flies are wonderfully adapted to their habits, for they are equally useful for moving in any position over either rough or smooth surfaces. When walking over a rough surface there are two claws which come into play and enable them to grip tightly, but when the foot falls on to a smooth surface the claws are automatically withdrawn, and a pad comes into contact with the smooth plane. This pad is provided with minute glands, which cause the air to be expelled from between the pads, the surface to which the feet cling. Bristles are also provided in the feet, and these probably contain the nerves which enable the insect to feel its way along and select its foot-hold. Another popular fallacy with regard to the house-fly is that at certain seasons of the year it bites, but this is due to confusion with another species, very similar in appearance, the stable-fly, which possesses the piercing mouth-parts that are so modified in our common house-fly that it makes biting or rather piercing, an impossibility.

SPONGE CULTIVATION

Sponges are becoming scarcer and scarcer, the higher qualities fetching extraordinary prices, as compared with those of a few years ago, and this condition has led to the suggestion that some artificial substitute for the sponge be devised, or that sponge cultivation take on a new and better phase.

Experiments in the Mediterranean show that the cultivation of sponges may be undertaken with excellent prospects of success off the French coast, and that such cultivation need not, as it was first feared, be confined to the Tunisian shores.

Sponges from the opposite shores of the Mediterranean have already been carried to France and planted on its coasts. It is expected that the sponge industry will be greatly strengthened by these methods.

Fragments of sponge transported to another locality heal in about three months, when they again begin to grow. Irregular bits soon become spherical and rapidly increase in size, adding twenty-five times their own value in the course of four or five years. The growth is, of course, slow, especially during the first year, mainly because of the necessity for healing the wound caused by the tearing off of the fragment from the main body for transplanting.

The character of the spongy tissue is altered by cultivation, that dark tint becoming much clearer. It has not as yet been ascertained whether there is sufficient change in this respect to alter the commercial value of the product.

THE EARTH'S AGE

One of the most interesting results of Professor G. F. Becker's summing up of recent investigations as to the age of the earth is the general agreement in the figures arrived at by different methods. "These," as Professor Becker says, "seem to be mutually confirmatory, and to give results which converge towards some value near 60,000,000 or perhaps 65,000,000 years." And these figures approach more nearly to the time allowed by Lord Kelvin from physical consideration than to the practically unlimited period demanded by some evolutionists. One of the methods of estimating the age of the earth is by dividing the amount of salt in the ocean by that yearly carried in by the rivers of the globe. And Professor Becker draws attention to the remarkable fact that 200 years ago the famous astronomer Halley suggested a way of determining the age of the earth from the saltness of the ocean. "If," he said, "we determine the quantity of salt in the sea, and then some centuries after make a second determination, we may by the rule of proportion take an estimate of the whole time wherein the water would acquire the degree of saltness we at present find in it."

To Hear the Fly Tramp

The inferiority of the human sense organs to the instruments of science is pointed out by Dr. Carl Snyder. He says that whereas the human eye can see but little more than 3,000 stars in the heavens on the clearest of nights, the photographic plate and the telescope can discover countless millions. It is difficult for the eye to distinguish divisions of the inch if they are smaller than 1-200 of that unit of measure, yet a powerful microscope will make an object 1-10,000 of an inch in diameter look comparatively large. It would be a delicate ear which could hear the tramp of a fly, yet the microphone magnifies this sound until it sounds like the tramp of cavalry. The most sensitive skin cannot detect a change in temperature less than 1-5 of a degree, but the bolometer will register on a scale an increase or decrease of temperature of 1-1,000,000 of a degree, and can easily note the difference in temperature caused in a room when a match is lighted one mile away.

Wax from Weeds.

The discovery of a process for extracting wax from the candelilla weed has created a new and important industry in Mexico and Texas. The candelilla weed is a desert plant which grows abundantly upon many millions of acres of semi-arid land in Northern Mexico. The candelilla contains wax to the amount of 3 1-2 to 4 per cent., and the cost of producing a ton of the wax is $75.

COW TESTING RECORDS ARE COMPILED FOR THIS VICINITY

Best Cow Gave 1410 lbs. of Milk on the Poorest 175 lbs.

The records of the Cow Testing Associations of Trewern, Central Smith, Shearer, Maple Leaf, Warsaw, Peterborough, Ennismore, Norwood and Keene have been compiled for the month of August and show the following results:

The best cow gave 1410 lbs. of milk, testing 3¾ per cent, thus producing 53 1-3 lbs. of fat. Valuing the fat at 25 cents per lb, she brought in for her owner $13.37. The poorest cow gave 175 lbs. of milk, testing 4 per cent, thus producing 7 lbs. of fat, which would be worth $1.75, or about $11.50 less than that produced by the best cow.

A POPULAR BELIEF.

Many people consider that because a cow is giving a small amount of milk that it is extremely rich, and that the cow is probably as profitable as larger milkers in the herd, and in many cases are right in their belief, but here is an example of a cow which has never tested over 4 per cent and has never given over 353 lbs of milk in a month. No doubt there are many cows equally as unprofitable in Peterborough county. The best cow referred to above is a 5 year old grade Holstein owned by Mr. F. J. Greenbank, of Norwood, whose herd in the month of June averaged 1388 lbs. of milk and over 44 lbs. of fat. Mr. Greenbank has used pure bred Holstein sires, sires with official backing, for about 20 years, by saving the heifers from the best herds, has graded up a herd which he may well be proud of.

The highest average lbs. of fat for the month was 40 3-4lbs., which was produced by Mr. Greenbank's herd. The herd of Mr. Louis Brown, of Norwood, was a close second, with 39 1-2 lbs. fat.

Leaving the Norwood association out of consideration and looking over the records of some of the herds nearer Peterborough, we find some excellent herd averages. The herd of Mr. J. A. McGregor, of Central Smith, averaged 32 1-2 lbs. fat. The herd of Mr. R. Scott, also of Central Smith, averaged 32 lbs. of fat. The herd of Mr. Joseph Mann, of Trewern, 32 1-2 lbs. fat, and the herd of Mr. Wm. Telford, of Ennismore, 31 1-4 lbs. fat.

A FINE RECORD.

A remarkable cow in this herd is a 5 year old grade Holstein, which Mr. Telford did not consider amounted to much, but the scales and the Babcock test have proven otherwise, as this cow has in 4 months produced 3680 lbs. of milk, and 161 lbs. of fat, or more than the average cow in Canada produces in a year.

No doubt there are a number of excellent cows sent to the butcher every year because their owners do not realize their value.

MOTOR CYCLED TO TORONTO

Fred Roy Made Fair Time to and From the City

Mr. Fred. Roy, the photographer returned last evening, from a trip by motor cycle to Toronto. While the jaunt was not made for the purpose of establishing any speed records, yet Mr. Roy's time was pretty fair, when halts for meals, etc., were considered.

Leaving Peterborough about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, Mr. Roy reached Toronto about six in the evening. The roads along some of the way were excellent and all that could be desired for speeding. On Monday Mr. Roy remained in Toronto, and left for home Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock. He had quite an experience on the return trip and was delayed for a couple of hours by losing his bearings. He was eventually directed to the straight and narrow road which brought him to Peterboro at eight o'clock last night.

JERRY THE FIRE HORSE FOR SALE

Board of Works Are Going to Dismiss Him

Clifton street, East city, is 46 feet in width at one point and only 30 feet at another, and the Board of Works will arrange for a survey of the street so that the city's rights will be protected.

Ald. Metheral and Ald. Morgan, chairman of the Board of Works, and Fire Water and Light committee, respectively are due to figure at David Harum's.

The Board of Works has a horse Jerry, by name, that can besides drawing a city dump cart, or other like service, do a steeple chase stunt, or occasionally run away. Jerry is an ex-firehorse, but his bad behaviour at the hall brought disgrace to him there. He fares no better with the Board of Works and now that his services are not greatly in demand, it is thought advisable to find a purchaser. Another horse could be secured in the spring at the re-opening of operations.

Ald. Buller is of the opinion that if Jerry graduated to the service of the Fuel and Cartage Company, the habit of running away would eventually evaporate.

ONTARIO ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD IN FIRST OR SECOND WEEK OF DECEMBER

Premier Whitney Makes Announcement of Election Date — Changes in the Cabinet—Hearst Taken In Toronto, Oct. 12.—Sir James Whitney has announced that in the near future the Ontario Legislative Assembly will dissolve and that a general election will be held during the early part of December. The exact date of dissolution has not yet been set, nor has the date of the elections.

The Cabinet Ministers held a long conference yesterday afternoon, and later the Premier handed out the following statement:

We have decided to dissolve the House in the near future, and I give this notice now, in order that there may be no suggestion that we desire to hurry the elections. The present Legislature has already existed longer than its predecessor and there are now ten vacant seats. The expense of bye-elections would be large—about $15,000—and this expense would have to be duplicated in less than a year did we not dissolve now.

There are several other very important reasons for our decision—reasons of vital importance to the province—which I shall lay before the public in the course of a week or ten days, or perhaps earlier.

Owing to the length of time necessary for the preparation of the voters' lists in unorganized districts, the polling cannot take place earlier than about the first or second week in December, and the issuing of the writs will be held over until the latest date possible, in order to facilitate the revision of the voters' lists in older Ontario.

I expect that the successor to Mr. Cochrane will be sworn in probably to-morrow.

As was forecasted, W. H. Hearst of the Soo will succeed Hon. Mr. Cochrane.

Many changes in the Cabinet are expected to follow. Hon. J. J. Foy, for some time has been slated for the bench. While the Laurier Government was in power this change was quite improbable, but now that the Conservatives are in control both at Ottawa and in the local House, the improbable has become not only possible, but most likely.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, has been mentioned for the office of Attorney-General, and being the man who comes next in seniority to the present Attorney-General, he will undoubtedly be given that portfolio.

The question arises who shall fill the office of Provincial Secretary should Hon. Mr. Hanna succeed Hon. Mr. Foy.

Two names have been mentioned for the office of Secretary. They are Hon. I. B. Lucas and T. W. McGarry. The whole matter, however, is only conjecture so far, and nothing definite will be known for some time.

Hon. A. J. Matheson, it is reported, will retire in the near future, owing to his failing health. The burden of the Provincial Treasurership is very heavy, and the colonel was forced to take a prolonged vacation during the past summer by reason of a general breakdown. It is hardly likely that he will be desirous of entering upon a campaign which will be followed by a long session.

Owing to Col. Matheson's long and excellent service in Government affairs he will probably be made a Senator, it is said: his many years of experience as Provincial Treasurer and in connection with other Government matters, point him out as a man who would make a strong member of the Senate.

Who the next Treasurer will be is not guessed at yet. The political prophets are silent regarding this portfolio.

Big Electric Merger.

Brantford, Oct. 12.—It is reported here that negotiations are now in progress in New York for the merger of the Grand Valley and Brantford Street Railway lines into a big system of electric roads to extend from Toronto to Detroit, and it is said the deal will be consummated with a number of American capitalists.

LEAD FORTH THE SACRIFICE

Now that Sir James Whitney has announced the Ontario elections will be held in the first or second week of December, we are in for another campaign. There will be the usual cry from the Liberal organs that Sir James Whitney has taken advantage of them, hoping for a snap verdict from the people. But with eighty-seven Conservatives and only nineteen Liberals in the present house, that cry can scarcely be made to hold water.

In Peterborough Mr. E. A. Peck is the Conservative candidate for the Ontario house. No better candidate in the riding could have been nominated, and even at this distance, it looks very improbable that he will have much opposition. The Liberals have been hunting a candidate, without much success. They seemingly want one with some Labor qualifications, and in this connection the name of J. J. Hartley has been advanced. There are two or three young Liberal lawyers, rising party stalwarts, one of whom might be induced to come out, but with the prospect of Sir James Whitney's return by a large majority, the willing sacrifices are not many. Who will the sacrifice be?

DUKE'S WELCOME

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The following wireless message from the steamer Empress of Ireland has been received:

"The Duke of Connaught is receiving messages of welcome from every station and vessel passed. He received a greeting from Earl Grey, stating that the new Ministry was sworn in, and welcoming him to Canada. Connaught has already Marconied about twenty replies to the messages of courtesy.

"The duchess made a tour of the ship yesterday afternoon, visiting all classes aboard. The duke has already made a similar tour, and has had a cordial reception everywhere. Fine weather continues, and the Empress of Ireland is assuming a festive air. The steamer arrived at Rimouski about ten yesterday morning."

G. T. R. Piers Have Sunk.

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—Owing to contractors for the national transcontinental bridge over the Seine River, just east of here, not having gone deep enough for their piers, these have sunk several feet and will have to be taken down. This will mean some months' delay to the opening of the new road.

Blizzard In Montana.

Pocatello, Idaho, Oct. 12.—Southwestern Montana is in the grip of a terrific snow storm that has cut off Butte from communication with the outside world to-day.

Ten of Them Will be Arranged—Voting Will be Held on Nov. 1st, if There is Opposition.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Writs will be issued to-day for ten bye-elections in the constituencies represented by those members of the Borden Government, who were elected on Sept. 21, and have been assigned portfolios. They include Hon. Messrs. Borden, Monk, Doherty, Pelletier, Nantel, Foster, Reid, Crothers, Roche and Hughes. Nominations will be held on Oct. 25 and elections on Nov. 1 if there are to be contests. This much was decided upon at yesterday's Cabinet council, and to-day the order-in-council goes to the clerk of the crown in chancery.

Nothing has been determined as to the seats to be occupied by Messrs. Hazen, Cochrane, White and Rogers. The probability is that Mr. Hazen will take the St. John City and county seat, and that Dr. John Daniel will wait for the Senate. It is also pretty well understood that Hon. Robert Rogers will sit for a Manitoba constituency, and will not move into Saskatchewan. It is said that he has been offered the Winnipeg seat, now held by Alex. Haggart. There is a vacant Senatorship in Manitoba since the death of Senator Chevrier, and it might go to Mr. Haggart, although it has been regarded as a French appointment, and Hon. A. Lariviere, former member for Provencher, wants to get it.

PROBABILITIES

Moderate to fresh westerly to northwesterly winds; fine to-day and on Friday, with about the same temperature.

British ex-M.P. Dead.

London, Oct. 12.—Mr. Henry Broadhurst, for many years a Liberal-Labor member of Parliament, and formerly Secretary of the Parliamentary Committee of the Trades Union Congress, died yesterday. He was born in Oxfordshire in 1840, and in early life was employed as a blacksmith and later as a stonemason.

Kingston, Oct. 12.—An addition to cost $60,000 will be built to Notre Dame Convent. It will contain a gymnasium, lecture halls and class rooms.

CALLS IN ALL WARSHIPS

Portuguese Government Prepares for Eventualities

Lisbon, via Frontier, Oct. 12.—The Government has recalled in an urgent command all warships that have been operating north, and the whole fleet is now anchored in the Tagus with steam up night and day ready to sail.

This is accepted as confirmation of the report that the Royalists have something armed afloat against which precaution must be taken.

The Monarchist adventure on land is regarded as lost. The Government forces are concentrated on three sides of the enemy, which is entrenched near the Spanish border. The loyal troops forbear to attack, as it is not quite certain whether the position actually occupied by the Royalists is Spanish or Portuguese. The frontier in that direction has never been clearly demarked, and if the spot should prove to belong to Spain, fighting in the vicinity might start a serious controversy.

Paper From Bogs.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 12.—The announcement was made yesterday that experiments in making building paper from the bogs near Humberstone, in this county, have been successful, and American capitalists would shortly build a large plant to manufacture the strange product.

J. J. HILL PREDICTS GREAT MANY IDLE MEN THIS WINTER

Business Sound, But Politicians and Newspapers Are to Blame for the General Unrest.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 12.—"There will be more idle men this winter than ever before," predicted James J. Hill in discussing the condition of business over the country and particularly in the west.

"This is the reason," continued the chairman of the Great Northern Railroad, "our capacity for production along industrial lines has grown faster than our consumption along the same lines.

"Some years ago the farmer had to raise enough to feed himself and another man in the cities; now he must raise enough for himself, and for two other men, on account of the movement to industry rather than to farms.

"Business is sound," he affirmed, "but, no new enterprises are being started. The politicians and newspapers are to blame. There is too much political ghost dancing. The people are not given the facts. There is uncertainty as to the future on this account, rather than on account of the Supreme Court decisions."

ROGERS FOR WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—The Telegram announces that Alex. Haggart, M.P., has resigned his seat, and that Hon. Robert Rogers will sit for Winnipeg. He was also offered Lisgar and Macdonald by the sitting members. Harry Whitla has been appointed returning officer for the Winnipeg bye-election.

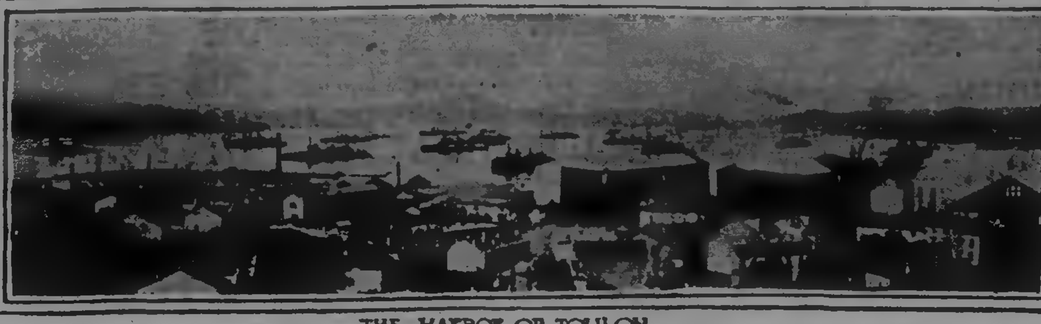
Killed by Falling Brick.

Hamilton, Oct. 12.—David Fedwizi, a foreigner, 27 years of age, was struck on the head by a falling brick at the Hamilton Steel & Iron Co.'s east end plant Tuesday night. His skull was fractured and he died yesterday.

A Plucky Aviator.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 12.—Though he had not recovered from a fall at St. Louis some weeks ago, in which both his legs were broken, Horace Kearney, an aviator of that city, attempted an exhibition flight here yesterday and fell again and was seriously injured. He walked with a crutch when he came upon the Indiana University campus to start his biplane. The machine rose fifty feet and then dropped into a [illegible]

TOULON HARBOR, SCENE OF ACCIDENTS TO FRENCH WAR SHIPS.



THE HARBOR OF TOULON

The recent catastrope in the harbor of Toulon was not confined to the battle ship Liberté. There were in the harbor at the time of the explosion, in addition to the Liberté the battle ships République, Vérité and Démocratie. At least fifty were killed on these vessels from the force of the explosion and flying débris.

ARMY OF OCCUPATION LANDS AT TRIPOLI, AND IS WELCOME

Germany Still Striving to Effect an Armistice Between the Billigerents—Holy War Threatened With Desert Fanatics.

Rome, Oct. 12.—The first division of the army of occupation arrived at Tripoli at noon yesterday. The troops were landed safely without incident.

There is a feeling in official circles here that Turkey and her sympathizers, as well as those elements which are antagonistic to Italy, are doing everything possible to engender opposition among the Powers to Italy's plans, and it is believed that certain reports which have been circulated aim chiefly to play on Anglo-German antagonisms. With this object, it is supposed, the report has been spread broadcast that Germany, having planned to obtain Tobruk from Turkey, prior to the beginning of hostilities, will end by obtaining this important strategic point from Italy now as base for operations in the Mediterranean against British supremacy.

All these rumors and reports are officially denied by Italy. It is pointed out by Italian officials that Germany has never taken any step in such a direction in the past and has no intention to ask anything from Italy in the future, while it is also declared that Italy would not dream of being a cat'spaw to draw the chestnuts from the fire for Germany, notwithstanding the alliance.

In connection with this denial, it is stated that the entire situation remains unchanged; that none of the Powers oppose Italy's action and that they have no intention of intervening until Italian dominion in Tripoli is indisputable.

Troops Welcomed.

Tripoli, Oct. 12.—The last transports bearing portion of the Italian expeditionary forces arrived here yesterday. They were escorted by warships and accompanied by the hospital ship Regina d'Italia. The disembarkation of troops began immediately, the greatest enthusiasm prevailing.

The batteries of the fleet all through the night shelled the surrounding country, which was swept by searchlights. Tripoli has nothing more to fear from Turkish attacks.

Striving For Armistice.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The armistice between Italy and Turkey, for which German diplomacy has been striving for some time, it is believed here, has practically been concluded, although not yet announced as "official."

It is understood that the transportation of the Italian military expedition will not be interfered with, but that hostilities in all quarters will cease. This is considered in Berlin as equivalent to ending of the war, or at least the warlike movements, which now will be succeeded by negotiations looking to a settlement.

It is regarded as probable that as soon as the strong Italian army has once disembarked at Tripoli, even the young Turk irreconcilables will begin to recognize, as apparently the Ottoman Government already does, that there is no hope of withholding Tripoli from Italy. Then it will be possible for Turkey to enter into peace negotiations, with the prospect of reaching a less unsatisfactory conclusion than would result from a continuation of the conflict.

Holy War Threatened.

Rome, Oct. 12.—Reports from Tripoli yesterday state that the Arabs of the interior are circulating a report that the Great Mahdi of the Sahara, having heard of Italian invasion, is gathering arms and men and especially trained horsemen and proclaiming a holy war, which is to be conducted relentlessly until the "infidels" are driven into the sea.

The Italian authorities have found evidence at Benghazi showing that the place was the centre for large importations of rifles for the Senussi and Wadai tribes. The guns were gradually distributed among the tribes of Central Africa.

Strict measures have now been adopted to close this last section of the African coast heretofore free to receive arms and supplies for the tribes of the interior.

Italy's King In Danger.

Rome, Oct. 12.—The Corriere d'Italia says that a patrol of carabineers Tuesday night encountered four men armed with guns in the woods around the castle of San Rossore, where the king is staying. Shots were exchanged. Three of the men escaped, but the fourth was caught. The men are said to be poachers, but the paper points out that they were not known in the neighborhood.

ROME, OCT. 12.—THE GOVERNMENT REFUSES TO DENY OR AFFIRM THE REPORT THAT AN ARMISTICE WILL SHORTLY BE DECLARED BETWEEN THE TWO NATIONS. THE PEOPLE, HOWEVER, GENERALLY ACCEPT THE REPORT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, OCT. 12.—ENRAGED AT THE RUMORS THAT PEACE IS ABOUT TO BE DECLARED THE ARMY CORPS AT SALONIKA ARE THREATENING TO MARCH AGAINST CONSTANTINOPLE.

CHICAGO, OCT. 12.—AN ITALIAN PAPER HERE, CLAIMS TO HAVE AUTHORITY FOR THE STATEMENT THAT ITALY WONT AGREE TO SIGN PEACE DECLARATIONS WITH TURKEY UNTIL THE LATTER CEDES JERUSALEM AND THE HOLY LAND, WHICH WILL LATER BE TURNED OVER TO THE POPE.

Bid For Winnipeg Railway.

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—R. J. Mackenzie is authority for the statement that local capitalists, including Messrs. Muir, Reece and Mather of the Manitoba Power Co., allied with New York capital, have made a bid of $300 a share for the purchase of the plant of the Winnipeg Street Railway Co. This is $50 a share more than what Sir William Mackenzie asked for the property from Winnipeg City, to whom he would have preferred to sell.

London Has Fever Scare.

London, Ont., Oct. 12.—Colon bacilli in two of the collecting ponds of the Springbank water supply caused the immediate cutting off of these ponds yesterday morning. London has had a typhoid scare, due to the existence of colon bacilli in the city drinking water, and to several deaths. Samples were forwarded to the provincial analyst at Toronto last week, and his report was received yesterday. The remaining sources are absolutely pure.

Murder Mystery Explained.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 12.—When the police yesterday investigated the finding by Dr. Cook and Robert Murphy of a supposed unmarked grave in the woods near here, they found it was a hole in which campers had deposited refuse during the summer. The city was much agitated over locating supposed evidence of an infanticide.

HEAVILY FINED

Found Murdered.

Washington, D.C., Oct. 12.—Fred. Springman, formerly president and principal owner of one of the largest express transfer companies in Washington, was found murdered in a barn near his home in Maryland yesterday.

Harry W. Silbrook, a 21-year-old farm hand was arrested.

Springman once had contracts for delivering and collecting mail in every section of the United States.

TRIAL IS NOW ON

McNamara Dynamiting Case Under Way.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12.—Yesterday began the fight of the State of California to hold James B. and John J. McNamara responsible for the death of nineteen men in the explosion in The Los Angeles Times' plant on Oct. 1, 1910.

A severance of the case against the McNamaras, both of whom were indicted five months ago on 21 counts for murder, has been the announced desire of the defence, and the prosecution awaited the formal request in court yesterday to that effect before disclosing which of the two brothers it had elected to try first.

When court opened, District Attorney Fredericks declared that should the defence exercise its privilege of having the brothers tried separately, he elected to begin by placing James B. McNamara in the prisoner's box.

James is the younger brother of the accused secretary of the structural iron workers, and is alleged to have been one of the men who bought the dynamite and participated directly in the deeds which led to the explosions.

Twelve veniremen were placed in the jury box out of the venire, which originally numbered 125, but which contained less than forty men when the proceedings started.

District Attorney Fredericks read the indictment to the veniremen, pointing out the prisoner and explaining the case briefly, "so that the veniremen might know in a general way what it was about should they be called upon to become trial jurors."

Lecompte Davis, for the defence, asked the usual questions concerning qualifications.

Court adjourned at 3.55 p.m., until 10 o'clock Friday morning, because of the legal holiday to-day.

Attorney-General of Nova Scotia.

Halifax, Oct. 12.—Hon. O. T. Daniels of Annapolis was yesterday appointed Attorney-General of Nova Scotia in succession to Hon. A. K. MacLean, and was sworn in at noon.

Hon. Mr. Daniels was born in 1860 and was educated at Acadia University, where he graduated in arts. He was first elected to the Legislature in 1906.

It is said there will be no opposition to Mr. Daniel's re-election in Annapolis.

Foreigners Are Safe.

Hankow, Oct. 12.—The foreign consuls at a conference yesterday, decided not to comply with the Chinese request that they employ foreign gunboats to prevent the revolutionaries from crossing the river to Hankow. The revolutionaries sent a circular out to the consuls asking that foreigners remain neutral and assuring them that they would not be harmed.

Yesterday the loyal troops fled across the river followed by the bullets of the insurgents.

A fugitive colonel of the Chinese army informed the correspondent of the Associated Press at Hankow that the entire provincial army at Hupeh with the exception of two or three men, mutinied.

The proclamation of the revolutionary committee threatened with decapitation anyone who assaulted a foreigner. The movement aims at the overthrow of the Manchus, the reigning dynasty.

When a friend tells you of his wrongs, he wants sympathy, and not an argument.

SHERIDAN IS IN THE DOCK

Murderer of Ross Ford Has Confessed

But Says That He Committed the Deed in Self-defence

Barrie, Oct. 12.—The opening of the trial yesterday morning before Sir John Boyd, of Arthur Sheridan of North Orillia, for the alleged murder of Ross Ford of the same town brought out a crowd that filled the large court rooms to the doors. Peter White, K.C., appeared as crown prosecutor, the prisoner being defender by T. C Robinette, K.C., and J. T. Mulcahy. An hour was spent in empannelling a jury. Ten were challenged by the defence and six by the crown.

Chief Reid of Orillia was the first witness called and told of finding the body of Ross Ford on the road near Geo. Duff's house after midnight on Aug. 9. There was a stab wound in the breast and beside the body was a large pool of blood. Later he noticed three cuts in the back of the coat behind the shoulder. There was no sign of any struggle on the roadway. He told of a confession.

"Orillia. On Wednesday, the 9th day of August, 1911, I was in dancing at Duff's in North Orillia. Ross Ford sent Robert Thorburn into the house to tell me he wanted to see me. I went out to the gate. He said: 'What talk was going around?" I said I didn't know. He asked me to come down the road. He said that some fellow says that I am telling lies. I told him that I didn't know, that I never told lies about anybody. He said we would have to fight it out. I told him I did not want to fight. He said: 'I do not give a damn whether you do or not.' He struck me in the eye and knocked me in the ditch. I got up again and he hit me in the ribs; we clinched and he backed me over a root and we both fell. Then I asked him to let me up and I said: 'I do not want to fight.' He had his hand on my throat. 'I don't give a damn,' he said, 'I will kill you anyway.' I said, 'I do not know about that, Ross; let me up. I have a knife here.' I told him I would put the knife into him if he did not let me up.'

"He still held on. I pulled the knife, I then raised my hand with knife in it and struck him in the breast. I think I stabbed him in the breast first; I only stabbed him twice that I remember. He said then: 'Give me the knife.' I then rolled him over and I got up and he got up also and walked towards Duff's house, about twenty feet and he let a yell out of him and dropped. I went u and got Jim Cable to come down. He called to a crowd of men to come quickly and they came down, some of them.

"I fainted and lay down on the ground for half an hour. Then I got up and looked around and went up the road in a field of shooks and then went to the swamp and met a surveyor and he coaxed me to come back. He said the police were in here after me. It was an old Italian knife I had. The blade was three inches long. I got the Italian knife that I stabbed Ross Ford with down in the Italian swamp. After I stabbed Ford I put the knife under a rail by Duff's gate. I had a fight with Ford about a month ago over some whisky on the 12th of July. At William O'Connor's I had a quarrel with him.

(Signed) "Arthur Sheridan."

James Cable, one of those at the dance, told of Sheridan and Ford going down the road together at invitation of latter, seemingly on good terms. A few minutes later he saw a tussle and the men fell together without making any outcry. Then Sheridan ran toward witness and asked him to "Come quick; I have killed Ford."

George Anderson told much the same story.

Robert Thorburn, a lad of fifteen years of age and a brother of the young girls with whom Sheridan and Ford had been keeping company, corroborated the evidence given by previous witnesses, that he had been asked by Ford to call Sheridan out of the house.

Other witnesses corroborated these stories and the court adjourned.

Motor Road to Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 12.—At a meeting of prominent citizens on the American side yesterday final arrangements were made for building a boulevard between the Falls and Buffalo. The belief was expressed that Canadians would co-operate in the good road movement by shortly building a model highway from here to Toronto, thus connecting Albany and Toronto by motor road.

ANOTHER YOUNG SCHOOL TEACHER HAS DISAPPEARED

Double Murder?

Kingston, Oct. 12.—Although the penitentiary authorities say there is no truth in the report, Dennis Babcock, Sharbot Lake, is in the city endeavoring to probe a story to the effect that a prisoner in the penitentiary had confessed to a double murder, one of the victims being a son of Babcock. About eight years ago, Morris Babcock and a companion named James Martin, both young men living near Sharbot Lake, mysteriously disappeared, and as they were on a fishing trip it was believed they had been drowned. The story sent abroad was that a man named Bedore, serving a term for manslaughter, had confessed to double murder, stating that the bodies had been buried in a creek swamp. Babcock is having a lawyer take up the case.

She Taught in a Backwoods Settlement — Police and Friends Are Searching.

Special to the Review.

Parry Sound, Oct. 12.—Miss Violet Smith, a young school teacher, eighteen years of age, has mysteriously disappeared from her school in Dillon Park, a backwoods settlement, twenty-five miles from here, and a vigorous search has been instituted by the provincial police and the young lady's friends. She has been missing since last Monday, having commenced teaching only recently when she came from Toronto. Her home was formerly at Collingwood.

Catarrhal Bad Breath

Corrected Quickly by the Use of

Catarrhozone

Catarrh is an inflammation. Where there is inflammation there is always more or less offensive secretion. Inflammation may be of the very active sort, but it is often of the slow kind, and this is the particular form in which the breath is rendered offensive and the presence of the sufferer becomes an offence to every person of delicate sensibility.

Bad breath is in itself sufficient to urge you to correct it, because one dislikes to be unpleasant to their friends, but this form of catarrh is dangerous because it supplies a hotbed for the development of Consumption or of other diseases of the throat and lungs.

Bad breath is an evidence that the microbes have found a good resting place and are carrying on their evil inroads into the health of the body.

Catarrhozone acts at once and destroys these minute organisms, but it does more—it heals the inflamed surfaces in which they found a nesting place and consequently removes both cause and effects of their action.

If we only highly estimated the value of prevention and used Catarrhozone at the beginning of a cold or just before it becomes well seated, the deadly ravages of Consumption would be stayed and the terrible agonies of sufferers of Asthma or Bronchitis completely abolished.

There is no remedy as effective for bad breath, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, etc., as Catarrhozone. Besides being healing and soothing it is germ destroying. Nothing ever offered to the public can compare with it in its promptness, efficiency, and permanency of action, and you can buy it from any dealer in medicine throughout the Dominion of Canada, 25c, 50c, and $1.00 sizes. By mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

LET US GET GEORGE STREET PAVED. JOIN IN THE MOVEMENT TO MAKE PETERBOROUGH LOOK LIKE THE REAL CITY IT IS.

THE RIFLE RANGE

The visit of Hon. Col. Sam Hughes, the new minister of militia, to Peterborough last evening was well timed. Col. Hughes will have many demands on his time, and energy, and inasmuch as Peterborough has one big grant to secure, from the militia department, it is well that it should get in a word early.

The need of a rifle range has been becoming rather acute in Peterborough, for without a range for practice, how are the men of the regiment to gain or maintain shooting efficiency? The Fifty-seventh has not been productive of as many good shots as other regiments that might be named, for the very good reason that there has been no place in which the youthful Tommies could train their hand and eye, and become familiar with the variable conditions that affect shooting so much.

Col. Hughes talked over the matter of a new range for Peterborough, in company with Mr. Burnham and Lieut.-Col. Clegg, last evening, meeting the officers of the regiment. While the cost of a suitable range is no insignificant sum, Col. Hughes was able to promise that Peterborough's need in this respect would be given close attention. It is to be hoped that the Conservative government will be able to do for Peterborough what the Laurier administration succeeded in side-stepping. At least some provision for a range should be made.

MANUFACTURERS AND THE TARIFF

President Rowley of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, says in his annual address—

> "Pray observe that I do not advocate a higher tariff or even a high tariff. Our Association and the individual members who compose it would be ill advised to ask for material increase in the rates of duty. The vote of the people cannot be distorted into a building permit to heighten the tariff wall but it endorses the policy of reasonable, moderate, fair and practical protection; beyond that it does not go."

This announcement from the manufacturers' presiding officer comes with particular timeliness. The Liberals have adopted an attitude of antagonism to the business men of the country, because in two or three instances "the interests" have been formed, with the assistance and encouragement of the Laurier regime. The Conservative party, being put into power through the unpopularity of reciprocity, has not got a mandate from the people to raise the tariff and in addition we have the manufacturers themselves asserting that they do not want it. All they want is to be assured of the stability of the moderate protective policy that has flourished since 1897. We are firmly convinced that there is no fear whatever, of the Borden Government making any mistake as regards the tariff, because the commission that will be appointed will probably remove it to a very large degree from active politics and will adjust the tariff very much as the railway commission now handles railway matters.

Canada does not want constant tinkering of the tariff, or truckling to the interests, but Canada does want a strong, sane sensible handling of the tariff as a business proposition for the people as a whole. And the manufacturers are wise in recognizing the fact that they would be hurting themselves and their cause by reading into the electoral verdict a mandate for high or higher tariff.

What Canada wants above everything else is stability in the present order of things, with a sharp eye on the industrial combinations that are breeding in every broker's office, against the welfare of the nation.

BILL BOARDS

The Ottawa Free Press is conducting a campaign against the ugly, advertising bill-boards around the capital city. It refers to one which it mentions in particular as a "hideous eye-sore, a disgrace to the city, a menace and an insult to the business people."

That must be somewhat of an effective bill-board for advertising purposes, to draw on its wooden self such language. The Free Press' aesthetic taste is mightily offended by the bill-board perpetrations against the beautiful views from some of the streets. We don't suppose the Free Press would object to advertising bill-boards in front of some of those typhoid fever houses which were pictured in the report of the Conservation Committee on the epidemic last winter and spring. It all depends on what the bill-boards hide. This is true of other cities than Ottawa.

The advertising bill-board question generally may be averaged up. Many artistic tastes are outraged by these glaring evidences of modern commercialism. But perhaps if these evidences were removed, and the tin can dumps which they hide were exposed to the public view, these artistic tastes would be more unmercifully pilloried. If the view which the bill-board hides is better than the bill-board, by all means shout for removal. But if the bill-board can carry the day in point of attractiveness, would it not be foolishness to wish to see it laid low?

As a matter of fact, many bill-boards are not so grotesquely inartistic. The more advertising signs there are on a street, the brighter and livelier it looks from a business standpoint, and instead of being frequently a drawback to a city's appearance, elicits favorable comment. If anyone wants natural beauty, he or she can find it in almost any place in Canada within a few hundred yards of city boundaries. The country abounds in magnificent scenery, millions of square miles of it. Why, therefore, should we seek to make our cities famous for the very thing the whole country is noted for? A city should be handsome, well built, lively and progressive, and advertising either through the newspapers or on bill-boards as a supplementary, is part of true city life.

EDITORIAL NOTES

After reading some of the press comment on the Borden cabinet, we are inclined to think that Mr. Borden will mentally exclaim "O save me from my friends."

Hon. Martin Burrell, of British Columbia, the new minister of agriculture, is a fruit-grower. He ought to realise full well that it may be said of cabinet ministers quite appropriately "By their fruits ye shall know them."

So Peterborough will have a good rifle range for its sojer boys, after all. And that is more than Mr. Stratton could get for Peterborough in his parliamentary career, even though he was the man who "kept the wheels arollin.'"

The Toronto Globe owes the country about $25,000 for postage on campaign copies of the Globe. The good that the Globe did seems to have been about 25,000 cents worth. Not much wonder that his reverend nibs finds it so hard to seem reconciled to the destruction he brought on the Liberal party.

There is very little doubt, we think, but that in the next six months or more, some cabinet changes will be made that will materially alter the complexion of affairs. It is a decidedly difficult thing to try to weld into a cabinet some rather ill-matched material, but once the big fabric is formed, the improvements can be undertaken one by one, and accomplished, whereas they would be impossible all together.

Hon W. T. White, the new finance minister, has had a spectacular career. It is only a dozen years ago that he was a newspaper man. While in the Toronto assessment department, he came under the eye of some of the Toronto financiers, who took him up and brought him along until to-day Mr. White stands at the top rung of the ladder. But it is not likely that it will be found that he is inclined to favor the interests, as some people have feared. The tariff commission will settle that.

Kidneys Wrong?—

If they are you are in danger. When through weakness or disease the kidneys fail to filter the impurities from the blood, trouble comes at once. Backache, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gravel, Diabetes, Gall Stones and the deadly Bright's Disease are some of the results of neglected kidneys. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Because frost in the Argentine failed to work any injury to crops there was a generally weak tone to-day in the market for wheat, altho evening-up of trades brought about a rally in the last half hour. Compared with last night the close was 1-4c lower to a shade advance. Corn finished 1-8c to 1-4c down, oats at a 1-16c loss to 1-4c gain, and hog products varying from unchanged to an increased cost of 7 1-2c to 10c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ½d to ⅜d lower than yesterday on wheat, and ⅛d higher on corn. Berlin wheat closed ⅛c higher, Budapest ⅜c higher, Antwerp 1⅛c higher.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.—On more favorable advices from the Argentine on crop conditions, cables came weaker, and the prices bid for Manitoba spring wheat were 1½d per quarter lower; consequently, outside of sales of a few loads of feed grades, little business was done. Notwithstanding this fact there was an increased demand for ocean grain room, and a fair amount of space was engaged to Glasgow and Avonmouth.

The local demand for oats is fairly good at firm prices. Malting barley is in demand at 86c per bushel, ex-store. Demand for flour is good for both export and local account. Millfeed is fairly active and strong. The trade in cheese, butter and eggs is fairly active. Potatoes have advanced, with sales of car lots at 97½c to $1 per bag. Dressed hogs were weak, and prices have declined 50c to 75c per 100 pounds.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess, barrels, 35 to 45 pieces, $22.50; half-barrels, $12; Canada short cut and back pork, 45 to 55 pieces, barrels, $23; Canada clear pork, barrels, 30 to 35 pieces, $20.50; bean pork, small pieces, but fat, barrels, $14.50.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts of live stock to-day were 1250 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 2100 hogs and 400 calves.

A feature of the trade was the weaker feeling in the market for cattle, and prices since Monday show a decline of 25c per 100 pounds, which was attributed to the much larger supplies than was generally expected and the fact that a large percentage of the stock was only of medium quality. At the reduction the demand was fairly good from butchers and packers, and a good clearance was made.

Choice steers sold at 5¾c; good at 5½c; fairly good at 5¼c; fair at 5c; common at 4½c to 4¾c, and inferior at 3½c to 4¼c per pound. Cows brought from 3c to 4½c, and bulls from 2¾c to 3¾c per pound.

The market for sheep and lambs was also weaker on account of the increased offerings, and prices for the former were 25c per 100 pounds lower, while the latter declined 25c to 50c. The demand was good and an active trade was done, with sales of lambs at 5c to 5¼c, and sheep at 3c to 3¼c per pound. The trade in calves was fairly active at prices ranging from $3 to $14 each, as to size and quality.

The weak feeling in the market for hogs continues, and prices have scored a further decline of 25c to 50c per 100 pounds, which is due to the very large supplies coming forward and the lower prices ruling in other markets. The demand from packers was fairly good, and sales of selected lots were made at $6 to $6.50 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars, and heavy weights at $5.75.

At the Montreal Stock Yards west end market the offerings of live stock to-day were 300 cattle, 650 sheep and lambs, hogs and 125 calves. The trade in hogs was active at the decline in prices noted above, and sales of selected lots were made at $6 to $6.50 per 100 pounds.

By D. Lewis

Among the deeds of great renown done by the defenders of the young republic, none may take higher rank since none is entitled to it, than that known as the battle of Mier. Though they there lost the day—a defeat due to the incapacity of an ill-chosen leader—they won glory eternal. Every man of them who fell had first killed his foeman—some half a score—while of those who survived there was not one so craven as to cry "Quarter!" The white flag was not shown until they were overwhelmed and overpowered by sheer disparity of numbers, and the "Mier expedition" from which Texas had expected so much was ended. Those who survived being made prisoners and carried off to the capital of Mexico.

Of the volunteer corps which composed this ill-fated expedition—and they were indeed all volunteers—none gave better account of itself than that organized at Poydras-st. New Orleans, and among its individual members no man behaved better than he whom they had chosen as their leader. Florence Kearney had justified their choice and proved true to the trust, as all who outlived that fatal day ever after admitted. Fortunately, he himself was among the survivors; by a like good luck, so, too, were his first lieutenant, Crittenden, and Cris Rock. As at "Fanning's massacre," so at Mier, the gigantic Texan performed prodigies of valor, laying around him and slaying on all sides, till at length wounded and disabled, he was compelled to submit.

Cris Rock now felt for Kearney the affection of a father and had the young Irishman called upon him for the greatest risk of his life, in any good or honorable cause, he would have responded to the call without a moment's hesitancy or murmur. Nay, more than risk; he would have laid it down, absolutely, to save that of his cherished leader.

Proof of this was, in point of fact, afforded but a short while after. Any one acquainted with Texan history will remember how the Mier prisoners, while being taken to the City of Mexico, rose upon their guards, and mastering them, made their escape to the mountains around. This occurred at the little town of El Salado, and was caused by the terrible sufferings the captives had endured upon the march, added to many insults and cruelties, to which they had been subjected, not only by the Mexican soldiers, but the officers having them in charge. These had grown altogether insupportable, at El Salado reaching the climax.

By early daybreak on a certain morning, as their guards were carelessly lounging about an idle hour before continuing that toilsome journey, a signal shout was heard.

"Now, boys, up and at them!" were the words, with some others following, which all well understood—almost a repetition of the famous order of Wellington at Waterloo. And as promptly obeyed; for on hearing it the Texans rushed at the soldiers of the escort, wrenched from them their weapons, and with those fought their way through the hastily-formed ranks of the enemy out into the open country.

So far they had succeeded, though in the end, for most of them, it proved a short and sad respite. Pursued by an overwhelming force—fresh troops drawn from the garrisons in the neighborhood, added to the late escort so shamefully discomfited and smarting under the humiliation and defeat—the pursuit carrying them through a country to which they were entire strangers—a district almost uninhabited, without roads, and, worse still, without water—not strange that all, or nearly all, of them were recaptured and carried back to El Salado.

Then ensued a scene worthy of being enacted by savages, for little better than savages were those in whose custody they were. Exulting fiendlike over their recapture, at first the word went round that all were to be executed: this being the general wish of their captors. No doubt the deed of wholesale vengeance would have been done and Florence Kearney, with his companion, Cris Rock, never more have been heard of, but among those reckless avengers there were some who knew better than to advocate indiscriminate slaughter. It was "a far cry to Loch Awe," all knew; the Highland loch typified not by Texas, but the United States. But the more knowing ones always [illegible] that, however far, the cry might be heard, and then what the result? No mere band of Texan filibusters, ill-organized and but poorly equipped, to come across the Rio Grande; instead a well-disciplined army in numbers enough for sure retaliation, bearing the banner of the "Stars and Stripes."

In fine, a more merciful course was for the prisoners—every tenth man to suffer death.

There was no word about degrees in their guiltiness—all were alike in this respect—and the fate of each was to be depended on pure blind chance.

When the retaken prisoners had been brought back to El Salado they were drawn up in a line of single file and carefully counted. A helmet snatched from the head of one of the dragoons guarding them was made use of as a ballot box. Into this were thrown a number of what we call French or kidney beans—the pijoles of Mexico—in count corresponding to that of the victims. For every nine white beans there was a black one; he who drew black would be shot within the hour!

Into the hard soldier's head piece appropriate for such purpose, the beans were dropped and the drawing done as designed. I, who now write of it long after, can truthfully affirm that never in the history of human kind has there been a grander exhibition of man's courage than was that day given at El Salado. The men who exemplified it were of no particular nation. As a matter of course, the main body of the Texans were of American birth, but among them were also Englishmen, Scotchmen, Irishmen, French and Germans—even some who spoke Spanish, the languages of their captors, now their judges, and about to become their executioners. But when that helmet of horrible contents was carried round and held before each, not one showed the slightest fear or hesitancy to plunge his hand into it, though knowing that what they should bring up between their fingers might be the sealing of their fate. Many laughed and made laughter among their comrades, by some quaint jeu d'esprit. One reckless fellow—no other than Cris Rock—as he fearlessly rattled the beans about cried aloud:

"Wal, boys, I guess it's the tallest gamblin' I've ever took a hand at. But this child ain't afraid. I was born to good luck, an' am not likely to go under—jest yet."

The event justified his confidence, as he drew blank—not black, the fatal color.

It was now Kearney's turn to undergo the dread ordeal, and, without flinching, he was about to insert his hand into the helmet, when the Texan, seizing hold of it, stayed him.

"No, Cap!" he exclaimed; "I'm wounded, purty bad, as ye see"—(he had received a lance thrust in their struggle with the guards)—"an mayent git over it. Therefore, your life's worth more'n mine. Besides, my luck's good jest now. So let me take your chance. That's allowed, as these skunks hev said themselves."

Though fully, fervently appreciating the generous offer, Florence Kearney was not the man to avail himself of it.

"Thanks brave comrade!" he said with warmth, detaching his hand from the Texan's grasp and thrusting it into the helmet. "What's left of your life yet is worth more than all mine, and my luck may be good as yours—we'll see."

It proved so, a murmur of satisfaction running along the lines as they saw his hand drawn out with a white bean betwen the fingers.

"Thanks to the Almighty!" joyously shouted the Texan, as he made out the color. "Both o' us clar o' the scrape! An' as there ain't no need for me dyin' yet, I mean to live it out an' git well agin.'"

And get well he did, despite the long after march, with all its exposures and fatigues; his health and strength being completely restored as he stepped over the threshold entering within his prison cell in the City of Mexico.

CHAPTER X.

The Acordada.

One of the most noted "lions" in the City of Mexico is the prison called La Acordada. Few strangers visit the Mexican capital without also paying a visit to this celebrated penal establishment, and few who enter its gloomy portals issue forth from them without having seen something to sadden the heart and be ever afterwards remembered with repugnance and pain.

There is, perhaps, no prison in the universal world where one may witness so many and such a variety of criminals; since there is no crime known to the calendar that has not been committed by some one of the jailbirds of the Acordada.

Its cells, or cloisters—for the building was once a monastery—are usually well filled with thieves, forgers, ravishers, highway robbers and murderers; none appearing cowed or repentant, but boldly brazening it out, and even boasting of their deeds of villainy, fierce and strong as when doing them, save the disabled ones suffering from wounds or some loathsome disease.

Nor is all their criminal action suspended inside the prison walls. It is carried on within their cells and still more frequently in the court yards of the ancient convent, where they are permitted to meet in common and spend a considerable portion of their time. Here they may be seen in groups, most of them ragged and greasy, squatted on the flags card playing—and cheating when they can—now and then quarreling, but always talking loud and cursing.

Into the midst of this mass of degraded humanity were thrust two of the unfortunate prisoners, taken at the battle of Mier—the two with whom our tale has alone to do.

For reasons that need not be told, most of the captives were excepted from this degradation; the main body of them being carried on through the city to the pleasant suburban village of Tacubaya.

But Florence Kearney and Cris Rock were not among the exception both having been consigned to the horrid pandemonium we have painted.

INFLAMMATION AND PAIN

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I was troubled for a long time with inflammation, pains in my side, sick headaches and nervousness. I have no more pain, my nerves are stronger and I can do my own work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me after everything else had failed, and I recommend it to other suffering women."—Mrs. Wm. Seals, 605 W. Howard St., Creston, Iowa.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letter as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

WEALTH FROM WASTE.

City Garbage and Manufacturers Waste Material are Gradually but Surely Being Brought Into the Useful Class.

The old maxim, "Waste not, want not," in these days of national competition, is being given a new significance, and in every branch of industry all the resources of brain and science available are being brought into operation not only to prevent waste but to make money out of waste products.

Municipal Money Making.

Towns the world over are continually studying the question of how to make wealth from waste. The sorting of a city's refuse in many cases brings money in no mean quantities to that city's finances. Several years ago the New York City garbage department was reformed, and £5000 worth of waste was saved from the streets. This included rags, grease, metal, and unburnt coal. £5000 is something worth saving in relief of rates. Four or five times that amount is paid over annually by the contractors who have the privilege of sorting the dirt captured by the public brooms of New York, and taking out the bottles, pocket knives, old boots, buttons, rubbers, wire, and the thousand and one other items of waste which may be converted into wealth.

More than that. British inventors have solved the problem of how to use the very "clinker" left in destructors. In very few towns of any importance now is the old method of dealing with house refuse still in vogue. Formerly it was the practice to pile such refuse on plots of vacant land there to destroy itself by decomposition — and occasionally to cause epidemics of disease, and in one case we know of, a plague of rats. Processes have been invented whereby all the fatty parts which household refuse must necessarily contain may be extracted for various uses: another method is to pulverise the refuse and to apply it as a stimulant or manure to land. Even then the residue is taken to the destructor, and its very destruction by fire turned to profitable account in the generation of electric power. The very clinker that is left after fire destruction is in some cases utilised under a new process to make paving for roads. It is pulverised, mixed in a special way with asphalt, put under pressure, and turned into paving blocks of remarkable wearing properties, with the additional virtues of being noiseless and dustless.

A Lesson to Children.

A few years ago the school children of Brussels were given a practical illustration of how things usually regarded as waste may be converted into wealth. They were asked to gather up, as they went to and from school, seemingly valueless objects which are to be found in the streets of nearly all towns, and in this way in nine months they collected and handed over to their teachers nearly 8000 pounds weight of metal ware—tin foil, metal scraps, bottle capsules, old paint tubes, and so on. All this stuff was sold for such a handsome amount as was sufficient not only to send 100 sick children to recuperation colonies but completely to clothe 500 of the poorest children of the city.

A Natural Mistake

A little girl was rather given to exaggerating and would tell wild stories of her adventures, for which she was duly punished on the grounds of telling naughty stories.

One day after her walk in the park she ran to her mother, exclaiming "Oh, mummy, as nurse and I were walking in the park a great big lion sprang out and would have eaten me up if nursie had not pulled me aside."

"You naughty child!" said her mother. "Go to your room, and stay there until you are sorry for telling such wicked stories, and ask your good angel to forgive you for telling such a naughty story about the lion."

Half an hour later her mother went up, and found her looking very penitent.

"Well," she said, "have you asked your good angel to forgive you?"

"Yes, mummy,' was the reply. "I did ask, and he said, 'Don't mention it, Miss Brooks; I've often mistaken those big yellow poodles for lions myself.'"

Learn of the Cat.

In the study of aviation the flying men have neglected the scientific investigation of the anatomical and muscular structure of the domestic cat. Although there are fewer falls from the clouds than there were — in proportion to the number of airmen — it would be very useful to know how to leave an aeroplane hurriedly in mid-air and effect a comfortable contact with mother earth. The common or household cat knows how to do it. Quite an ordinary untrained pussy was the other day poised on a third storey windowsill admiring a sparrow, and, trying to follow it, she fell into the street. Hastily, and with tears, one of the women folk employed at the shop rushed downstairs to pick up the remains. She found the cat unhurt, looking pathetically up to the distant window, and wondering how on earth she was to get back. Such a faculty of descent should be cultivated by every aspirant for the certificate of the pilot aviateur.

The Only Thing Left

There is a man who is the head of a large family, nearly every member of which is a performer on some kind of musical instrument.

A friend who was visiting the house of this man referred to the fact, remarking that it must be a source of great pleasure to the family, but to this observation the father made no reply.

"Really," continued the friend, "it is remarkable. Your younger son is a cornetist, both your daughters are pianists, your wife is a violinist, and, I understand, the others are also musicians. Now what are you, the father of such a musical combination?"

"I," replied the old man sadly—"I am a pessimist."

IF YOU ARE SICK YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST
WHY?
Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.
If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.
Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

LABOR COUNCIL DEALT WITH SOME LIVE PROBLEMS

Milk, Meat, Coal and Frontage Tax Questions to be Brought Before the City Council.

The Trades and Labor Council met last evening and some very important matters were discussed, with the result that a committee will wait on the city council and try to have a few very necessary matters brought to a head.

The question of milk and meat inspection is one of the questions which was discussed at some length. It is claimed that some of the milk men who are delivering milk in bottles have been noticed filling the bottles out of milk cans on the street and then deliver it to the next customer. This is where the trouble comes in delivering it in bottles.

Another question brought up was that of a municipal coal yard. At the present time you can buy coal cheaper in Lakefield than you can in Peterborough. This is something that is rather hard to understand.

The question of meat inspection was also touched on, and it is claimed that if a thorough inspection of the different butcher shops in the city took place some of the meat that is at present being disposed of would be condemned.

The matter of a frontage tax came up also and was gone into at some length. All those matters will be gone into with the city fathers at an early date.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE SNOWED UNDER

Beaten by an Overwhelming Majority in All Parts of the Country

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—On the face of the returns from all parts of the State, woman suffrage has been beaten by an overwhelming vote. The defeat of woman suffrage was a distinct surprise, as it was thought that the women had made a successful fight. It was expected that this city would cast its vote against the amendment, while in southern California the suffrage leaders expected to roll up a great majority, which would ensure a victory. Los Angeles disappointed the suffrage workers, as the returns at 8 o'clock show the vote for suffrage was 1,735, against 1,525. On the face of these returns Los Angeles County will give suffrage a little more than 5,000 majority, while this city will give an adverse majority of more than 15,000. This city is nearly three to one against woman suffrage.

HOMING PIGEONS MADE GOOD TIME

Covered Distance of Fifty-three Miles in 1 Hr. and 15 Mins.

Mr. Joseph Kelly, secretary of the Peterborough Poultry Association has been advised by Mr Frank Bottrell, of Bowmanville, that the three pigeons liberated here at 1.25 Sunday afternoon arrived at their lofts in Bowmanville at 2.40 the same afternoon, having covered the distance of fifty-three miles in one hour and fifteen minutes.

This is some travelling. Mr. Bottrell further states that he is sending some young pigeons to Pickering for a return flight on Sunday and will also send some of his pigeons to Toronto on the following Tuesday.

The Board of Directors of the association met last night and revised the prize list for the winter show in January. It was decided that more coops be constructed as the large number at present available is not sufficient to meet the demands of the growing entry list. New classes too were added. For the coming show the prize money for pigeons will be the same as offered in the poultry classes.

MATRICULATION AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Good Opportunity for Young Men to Better Themselves

The prospects are bright for a good class this year for those young men who want to write off their matriculation. At the meeting of the class which was held last night, plans were talked over and the courses decided upon for the term of forty weeks. It is encouraging to know that twenty-four men have signified their intention of taking up the studies this year, and these men must turn up at the meetings of the class or they cannot expect the class to go ahead.

In this Matriculation Class a splendid opportunity is presented to the young men of Peterborough who are engaged in business to prepare for college. This year the subjects will be English literature, composition, physics and algebra. If the class is started at once it will be possible for the candidates to write papers in these subjects at the July examinations and failing that the papers can be written in the fall of 1912. The candidate will receive credit for a subject or subjects on obtaining 40 per cent in each paper and an aggregate of 60 per cent. of the total marks assigned to such subject or subjects.

There will be four lessons each week and forty weeks in the term, making 160 lessons for $10.00. It will not matter where a young man stands now, provided he has passed his entrance.

The next meeting of the class will be held next Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. and if the required number is present, that will be a regular class night.

SOCCERITES HAVE SOCIAL EVENING

Splendid Program Brought About Enjoyable Evening

The Church Football League concert held in the S.O.E. Hall last night, was well patronized by the players and their friends. The lengthy program consisted of instrumentals, vocal solos and elocutionary selections and an address by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., elect, who acted in the capacity of chairman, during the first part of the program. He had to leave early to take part in the entertaining of Col. Sam. Hughes, and was succeeded by Mr. Theobald, secretary of the Park Street Athletic Club.

Mr. Burnham congratulated the soccerites on the quality of sport that was inspired in the Church Football League. He regretted that he was unable to remain for all the program but assured them of his well wishes.

On the remainder of the program, probably Tucker's orchestra is deserving of special mention if any discrimination is to be made.

Mr. Lewis was the accompanist of the evening.

Some Men, who don't know, have an idea that all Shoes are alike. They think that when they pay $3.50, $4.00 or $5.00 for a pair of Shoes, that it doesn't make much difference where they buy them, that a Shoe is a Shoe, and that's all there is to it

THESE MEN ARE MISTAKEN!

It's true that all Shoe Prices sound about the same, but there is as much difference in the Shoes as there is in the Men who wear them.

RECEPTION TO THE NEW MINISTER

Hon. Col. Hughes Congratulated by His Peterboro Friends

Hon Col. Sam Hughes, the new Minister of Militia, at the instance of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.-elect, spent a few hours in the city last evening. With Mr. Burnham he met the officers of the Peterborough garrison, and all had a very satisfactory talk regarding a rifle range for the local regiment.

Col. Hughes, with Mr. Burnham, arrived in the city about 5.45 o'clock from Lindsay and dined at the Oriental. The 57th band, under the direction of Mr. R. Gliddon, gathered in front of the hotel and serenaded the visitor. On the appearance of the Minister with Mr. Burnham, the Maple Leaf and Rule Britannia was rendered by the band. The new Minister received the congratulations of his many Peterborough friends, and upon being called upon, he cordially thanked the band and the citizens of Peterborough for the reception tendered him.

At 8.30 o'clock he met Lieut.-Col. E. B. Clegg and the other officers of the garrison, including representatives from the 57th regiment, the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons and the 24th Field Battery. The regimental band was also present for the occasion. Col. Hughes congratulated the organisation upon its efficiency.

The program in the officers' mess was of an impromptu and informal nature Among the prominent citizens present were T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P.; ex-Ald. H. Phelan, Messrs. Robt. Fair and John Nugent, as well as a number of the reserve of officers.

About fifty sat down to luncheon, and a short program, consisting of toasts speeches, songs and recitations was called by the president of the mess, Lieut.-Col. E. B. Clegg, who proposed a toast to the King, and followed with one to the new Minister of Militia. Col. Hughes made a few remarks in response, and before sitting down proposed "the health of Lieut.-Col. E. B. Clegg, which was fittingly honored.

Major Hayes and Captains Watt, Cluxton and McPherson assisted in the entertainment with solos. Col. Hughes and Col. Miller were heard in recitations.

The visiting citizens, as well as Mr. Burnham and Mr. Bradburn, made short congratulatory speeches, which were also expressive of the goodwill of the Peterborough people towards the Minister.

The officers of the garrison escorted the colonel to the midnight train, by which he went to Ottawa.

PRESENTATION AT FENELON FALLS

To Church Worker Who Will Reside in this City

Fenelon Falls, Oct. 12.—On Monday evening a number of the members of St James' church met at the home of Mrs. Cassidy, to bid farewell to one of their number, Mrs. Sproat, on the eve of her departure for her new home in Peterborough. Dear Mrs. Sproat,—We, a few of your fellow-workers in the church, are sorry to see you going from our midst. We will miss you very much, as you were always a ready and willing worker, doing what you could with a good will and trying to make a success of all you undertook. We sincerely wish you both health, happiness and prosperity in your new home. We ask you to accept this little memento of our esteem as a parting gift from the parish workers of St. James' church, Fenelon Falls.

Signed on behalf of the Society, Mrs. W Burgoyne.

HAYES SHOWED GOOD SPEED

Vernon Hayes has turned out with the college fourteen at Ottawa, and the Free Press has the following to say:

Although registration rules will likely keep Hayes, the Peterborough student, out of the Ottawa Colleges Queen's game at the Oval on Saturday, there is no doubt but that he will be played in the game on the following Saturday against 'Varsity, when he will be most needed.

The Peterborough boy was out for practice last night and was used on the back line. He showed rare good speed, catches neatly and has a good foot. He uses his gray matter, and is a sure, fearless tackler, so what more can be asked. Of course a practice is by no means the same as a game, especially in the Intercollegiate, and he will need all of his fine qualities to make good.

There are now four Peterborough boys attending Ottawa College. They are Frank Heffernan, Dick Sheehy, Vernon Hayes and Herb Callaghan.

"Salvador" BEER

THE FAMOUS NATIONAL DRINK

There's a story behind "Salvador" beer —Canada's most famous brew—that carries us back to the year 1651

The Grand Duke Ferdinand, the Bavarian monarch of that period, established the now famous cloister brewery on the Nockerberg Mountain, near Munich, and appointed Father Sale the chief brewmaster.

The product of the royal brewery was first known as "Father Sale's Beer," until the more convenient title of "Salvador" was adopted, about a century later.

For over 150 years "Salvador" was brewed under the patronage of the Bavarian royal family. In 1806, Franz X. Zacherl acquired control of the cloister brewery and purchased the secret formula of the royal brew.

From that day to this the formula and sole European rights have been the most jealously guarded inheritance of the famous brewer's family.

The rich, mellow flavor of "Salvador" is only attained by a special aging process, and if the output of the cloister brewery was great enough the people of Bavaria would drink no other beer.

Mr. Lothar Reinhardt completed his extensive studies of German brewing in this famous cloister brewery, where he secured the secret formula and process for brewing "Salvador." He has the sole right under the Canadian Government Copyright and Letters Patent to manufacture this famous brew.

Reinhardts' "Salvador" has become "The National Drink by a rigorous adherence to every detail of the original process devised by Father Sale in 1651.

Compared with all other brews, "Salvador" beer is worth a dollar a drop, yet it costs no more than just ordinary beer.

Every pint of "Salvador" is matured in wood for at least six months before bottling.

"Salvador" is not only a pure, sparkling and refreshing brew; it also possesses tonic qualities which make it the beer par excellence for family use.

Always order "Salvador" if you want the best beer brewed.

TORONTO TEAM COMING IN PRIVATE CAR ON SATURDAY

Another good Signal Practice for Locals, Who are Shaping up Nicely.

The Central Y.M.C.A. rugby team have engaged a private car for their game at Peterboro on Saturday, in the junior O.R.F.U. series. The coach will be attached to the regular C.P.R. train leaving the Union Station at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. A special rate has been secured, and any supporters who may wish to take in the trip are requested to make their intentions known.

This will be the first league game for the Central fourteen this year, and the "Y" boys are ouut to win it. They wish to go clean through without one defeat, and they figure that their chances are extremely good. For the return game with Peterboro here on the following Saturday the Y.M.C.A. club has secured Scarboro Beach—News.

The back division of Captain Derison's fourteen, is fast rounding into shape. A daylight practice, such as they should get this afternoon, will remedy all the weak spots.

Leahy, who is to play centre scrimmage, was not out last night but will likely be around this afternoon. "Eooster" is a consistent player and is almost sure to make the regular fourteen.

Johnston is working well at quarter. Wallis will be carried in the reserve list.

The Toronto team is out to win, but they are likely to find the locals an important factor in their championship aspirations.

Every man on the back division is mastering the signals, so that there will always be someone to take charge of the team in case of an accident.

Langley gets down fast on a kick and will be right here to handle any Y.M.C.A. fumbles next Saturday.

Dr. McPherson was highly pleased with the form of the players last night. He gave them a few ideas which if put into practice, will help to perfect the "machine.".

A large crowd will no doubt be attracted to Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon to see the opening of the rugby season in Peterborough. The W.K.A.C. players look like the best aggregation that has represented this burg for some time.

LINDSAY CURLING CLUB READY FOR THE SEASON

J. M. Knowlson is the Secretary—Twenty-eight Skips Elected.

Lindsay, Oct. 11.—The annual meeting of the Lindsay Curling Club was held last night in the rink, and was largely attended between sixty and seventy-five members being present. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, and from present indications be coming season will be the banner one in the history of the club President Jas. Boxall occupied the chair, after which the following officers were elected:

Patron—John Carew.
President—J. D. Flavelle.
Vice-President—R. Butler.
Secretary—J. M. Knowlson.
Treasurer—J. D. Flavelle.
Asst Treas.—E. Gregory.
Chaplain—Rev. J. W. Wallace.
Managing Committee—The officers and Messrs. T. Burke, I. V. O'Connor and G. A. Little.
Representatives to O.C.A.—J. D. Flavelle and Rev. J. W. Wallace.
Finance Committee—J. Boxall, T. J. Tills, L. V. O'Connor.

Owing to the increased membership it was decided to elect 28 skips instead of 24.

Skips J. D. Flavelle and G. A. Little have again been elected Tankard skips, and they can be depended upon to make a good showing in the blue ribbon event of Ontario. They have been in the finals for many years, and last season played in the final game. They have five tankards to their credit, and will be found knocking at the door this season.

I always think it looks shiftless to see a man drinking tea.

MIGHTY MIRACLE IN STONE

Unearthing the Secrets of Egypt's Mighty Pyramids that have been Buried for Over Fifty Seven Centuries.

It slumbered for thirty-seven centuries before the coming of Christ — the Great Pyramid of Cheops or Khufu. It still stands there, eight miles from Cairo, defying time, the elements, and the vandals, all working together, barely able to stretch its skin. An American, Dow Covington, has brought out the latest word from its mysterious depths; he has almost solved its secret.

After clearing every passage that can be found, he has discovered that certain winds make musical sounds in the passages, which he has rid of the debris of nearly fifty-seven centuries and he hopes yet to find another northern passage which will make quite a musical effect when the winds blow right. Best of all, he has cleared the single remaining course just above the sands of the desert, and revealed to the world that its outer sheath was of white limestone, which nobody knew before, because the great mass of stone had been used as a common quarry for thousands of years. The limestone sheathing makes many a mosque in Egypt to-day. When the tomb of Cheops was first reared it was as white as a marble mansion of our times. The technical work of those days was marvellous. The masonry is absolutely unrivalled; there is nothing better in all the world to-day. Monuments and palaces have come and have gone a hundred times since the Great Pyramid was built. They have perished; it remains.

For 20 years 100,000 men toiled at the stones. They built their great pile facing exactly north and south. They chose a base of nearly a seventh of a mile, 761 ft. to be exact. This was a plot covering nearly 13 acres. There were 210 perfect courses of stone, almost invisibly joined of Mokattem limestone blocks. At an angle of a little more than 51 degrees its four sides swept-up, tapering to the pointed apex, 481 ft. above the ground.

In it were 85,000,000 cubic feet of stone, put up by people who had no modern machinery. There are about 2,300,000 individual blocks.

It Flew 5600 Years Ago!

The debris removed, marvellous relics were unearthed. They had been left there almost before modern time began — objects of bronze and terra cotta, two mason's levels, breadplates and wine-flasks used by the workmen of other days. There were the bones of a sacred bird which flew its last flight at least 5,600 years ago.

He found the mysterious chamber below the ground — burrowed out of the living rock beneath the mighty pile above—"The stones of darkness and the shadow of death." What this chamber was for is not yet known.

Sixty-nine feet of debris obstructs the outer end of the channel that leads to the great chamber of the king — the great Cheops, or Khufu himself, and when this has been cleared away there will be exposed for the first time in history the interior of this world wonder.

The Queen's Chamber

Beneath the King's chamber, in the heart of the pyramid, is the Queen's chamber, near the entrance to which there was found about forty years ago a number of rare relics, the most important of them being a small bracelet of iron, or perhaps it was a child's anklet. This was lying imbedded in the cement of the eighty-fourth course. It is the oldest iron object known to men. In 1837 a Mr. Hill, an engineer, found imbedded in the 103 course a flat piece of iron equaly as old, which is now in the British Museum.

Masons to-day build no more beautifully than did those ancient men who toiled 5,600 years ago. They have left their own monument in the Queen's chamber which, apparently, was never used. It is superbly finished and jointed; yet, oddly enough, the entrances to this superb tomb was covered and concealed. Possibly it was intended for Mertitefe, Khufu's Queen, but she survived him and married his brother Chephren, who built the second pyramid in the great group which stands to-day as perpetual monuments just outside Cairo.

The Grand Gallery is considered the most mysterious part of this mighty miracle in stone, because if the pyramid were intended only as a tomb there was practically no use for this elaborate Grand Gallery, with its strange and remarkable features, except perhaps to temporarily accommodate the granite plugs which still close the lower end of the ascending passage, but which I find fit too tightly to have been slid into position. At an angle of about 26 degrees 8 minutes it slopes up for 156 feet, its height 28 feet, and its width above the rampe nearly 7 feet. Its great sides are clearly marked by seven overlapping layers of stone, while it is roofed by thirty-six slabs.

Plants Breaking Up an Island.

The man in the street would scarcely associate great growth with so delicate and fragile a thing as maidenhair fern, yet if its roots have not sufficient room they will break the pot in which the plant grows. Blades of grass will force the curbstones between which they spring up out of their place, and in a single night a crop of small mushrooms has been known to lift a large stone. Indeed, plants are on record as having broken the hardest rocks. The island of Aldabra, to the north-west of Madagascar, is now becoming smaller through the action of the mangroves that grow along the foot of the cliffs. They eat their way into the rock in all directions, and into the gaps thus formed the waves force their way. In time they will probably reduce the island to pieces.

The Egyptian State Railways will experiment with 10,000 tons of U.S. coal.

CONQUEST OF THE AIR

Discovery and Progress of Airman's Art has Wonderful Possibilities in Connection with Public Services and Work of Exploration.

The fundamental principles of aerostatics was discovered by Archimedes and formulated as follows: "Everybody plunged into a fluid is subjected by this fluid, to a 'pressure' from below to above which is equal to the weight displaced by that body." The first application of this principle was to balloons, care being taken to produce a body whose total weight was less than that of the volume of air it displaced.

But although the principle was thus applied as far back as 1783, it was not until 1884 that the first balloon capable of being steered was produced by Col. Renard, who accomplished a circular flight in what deserved the title of a dirigible. The reason for this was that in order to steer a body floating in a fluid it is absolutely essential that this body should possess an independent speed, to permit it to move in the fluid of its own accord. In 1885 Col. Renard succeeded in obtaining an electric motor of 8 horse-power, weighing only forty kilogrammes a horse-power and capable of great endurance.

To-day mechanicians have succeeded in perfecting motors especially designed for aviation of the almost incredibly light weight of two kilogrammes a horse-power and of such perfect action that they can start in an instant without preliminary preparation. Professor Berget explains clearly and briefly the mechanical difficulty of the problem and the scientific reasons why it took a century to discover how to guide the machine which the brothers Montgolfier launched into the air in 1783.

Next came the problems connected with the resistance of the air, which determine the shape of the envelope for a dirigible balloon. A spherical balloon cannot be propelled. So long ago as the beginning of the nineteenth century Marey-Monge predicted the necessity of adopting a shape, should an attempt be made to propel aerostats, which should have "the head of a cod and the tail of a mackerel."

The applications in civil life of locomotion in the air will be numerous and varied, and it will doubtless be possible to travel by public service or by private vehicles. The special use of the highway of the air which Prof. Berget foresees is by the post office with aeroplane messengers from city to city every hour, the service, interrupted only by heavy storms. The exploration of unknown regions in such difficult countries as Africa, the heart of Asia, Australia and South America, with accurate maps, is one of the important scientific uses to which the new ships may be put. The whole of Central Africa, for example, could be mapped from airships, acting under international sanction, with a ship over Timbuctu and the shores of Lake Tchad, in French territory; Leopoldville, for the Belgian Congo; Dongola and Lake Albert for the English stations.

Progress Comes by Death

One of the straight facts about living beings is that so far as this earth is concerned, they die, and the question is whether we can hope to find that this fact of death has a use for life. That would be a great discovery, for we are apt to think that death is useless and cruel.

Well, death certainly has a value for life — not for the life of the creature that dies, but for the lives of others. If there were no death there would be no parenthood and childhood, for plainly there would soon be no room for the introduction of new beings if those already there did not make room for them. Without parenthood and childhood, and all that they mean, no kind of life—human, animal, or vegetable — would be anything like what we know; and there would be no more progress, for that depends on new and higher kinds of life being born in the world. Thus, without death, mankind could never have been produced.

The Parnell Monument

The elaborate Parnell monument in Dublin, which has been in course of construction for a long time past, at a cost of about $45,000, is now complete, and the unveiling will take place on October 1, when the ceremony will be performed by Mr. John Redmond, M.P. Parnell is represented standing in oratorical attitude, with his left hand resting on a table. The inscription, an extract from one of Parnell's own speeches, reads as follows:—"To Charles Stewart Parnell. 'No man has a right to fix a boundary to the march of a nation. No man has a right to say to his country, 'Thus far thou shalt go and no further.' We have never attempted to fix a ne plus ultra to the progress of Ireland's nationhood, and we never shall.'"

A Salutary Lesson

An artist, a barrister, and a doctor, motoring from Dijon to Chalon-sur-Saone together, devised a novel method of punishing an unprovoked act of aggression by a peasant who, out of sheer prejudice against motor cars, threw a large stone, which struck the artist on the chest. The occupants of the car pursued and captured their assailant, took him into the car, quietly divested him of his coat, watch, and money, and then, after proceeding at full speed for over 30 miles, set him down on a lonely roadside to walk home in the broiling sun. His clothes and other property they sent back to him subsequently.

As Long as it Lasted

She (whose sliced brassie shot has hit her partner, who has fallen)—"Oh, Laurie, dear—speak; do speak." (Kisses him.) "Don't say I've hurt you badly." (Kisses him again.) "Oh! are you dead are you dead?" (Shower of kisses.)

He (to himself)—"You go right on. You can bet your hairpins I'm dead as long as this lasts."

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

RECORDING EARTHQUAKES

Recently Introduced Instruments Can Record Earth Motions However Distant May Be the Earthquake.

In the new Magnetic Observatory at Eskdalemuir, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, there has recently been fitted up an instrument to record the motion of the earth produced by an earthquake, however distant the earthquake may be from the observatory. The inventor of the instrument is Prince Galitzin, the Russian scientist. The instrument consists of a horizontal pendulum suspended by wires, so that when the framework, which is attached to the earth by a pier, is moved the pendulum is forthwith set in motion. In the absence of friction, however, such a pendulum would vibrate too long, and this fault has been corrected in the Galitzin pendulum in an ingenious manner by allowing a copper plate attached to the pendulum to move between the poles of a strong magnet. The introduction of friction has one disadvantage: it reduces the sensitiveness of the apparatus, but by a second clever application of electro-magnetic theory, Prince Galitzin has overcome this trouble. Mr. G. W. Walker, the superintendent of the observatory, has invented an electrometer for the measurement of electrical forces. He has also devised an original construction for ascertaining the 'electric potential' of the atmosphere.

SIR GEORGE GARNEAU, Quebec.

AN INTERNATIONAL SCIENCE LANGUAGE.

The tendency towards a common tongue whereby people of various nationalities might be able to correspond and converse intelligibly with one another has been revived by Professor Donnan in a strong plea for an international language of science. He has collected and translated a series of essays written by the most celebrated luminaries of Europe upon this perplexing question, for in the development of science the need of a common comprehensive tongue is more essential than in any other ramification of human endeavour. Up to a few years ago, comparatively speaking, science was well supplied in this respect, for Latin was the vehicle for spoken and written communications in science; but the development of the latter brought about the abandonment of this practice. Efforts to the same end have been made by the creation of universal languages such as Esperanto and Volapuk, but these have now gone the way of all others, and are as dead as Greek. The failure of Esperanto and Volapuk is attributed by Professor Lorenz to 'want of rational development' and the fact that they contain too much arbitrariness.

Blood Stain Discoveries.

It does not appear from the reports in the daily press and the scanty statistics available, that the crime of murder is diminishing, notwithstanding the great social efforts that have been made, all the world over, to improve the race. However, what education and sanitation have failed to accomplish, the chemist and the physicist may yet effect, by rendering the detection of crime easier and the "game" less worth the candle than ever. Thus we have seen how criminals may be tracked by finger-print methods, and better still, of late the very blood of the victim is able to tell its tale, whereas previously this was a comparatively silent clue. In a recent murder case, however, great progress was shown in the utility of the biological serum test. Mr. Justice Darling, Eng., remarked on the value of a discovery which not only enabled the scientist to distinguish between human and other mammalian blood, but likewise could indicate the condition of the blood. The blood proved to be that of an anaemic person, and the murdered girl had been shown to have been treated for anaemia by a doctor.

SOLD DIRTY MILK AND WAS FINED

Two Milk Vendors Appear in Police

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The condition in which F. F. Fitton, of 144 Harvey avenue, has recently been keeping his dairy premises, was condemned by Magistrate Ellis in the afternoon police court, when the Medical Health Department presented a complaint before him. Also, the magistrate spoke sharply to the man regarding the danger to which he was exposing the community. Fitton's chief defence was that sickness had kept him from his work.

"That's no excuse for you running the risk of poisoning the community." He had just looked at a sample of the strainings. The officer presented a cloth through which a quart of milk had been strained and it was badly discolored.

"The cows must have done a lot of kicking," the court remarked.

Besides general conditions, drainage, etc., were spoken of as unsatisfactory. The fine was five dollars.

Antonio Taviero was in much the same circumstances, except that he had crowded twelve head of stock into too small premises. His place is at 1788 St. Clair avenue. The fine was a dollar.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

W. S. DINGMAN

Editor and proprietor of the Daily Herald, Stratford, Ont., Mr. Dingman was born at Lambton Co., in that province in 1858, coming of United Empire Loyalist stock, his father's family having settled at Bay of Quinte district in about 1783. After completing his education at Sarnia public and grammar schools he decided on a journalistic career and made beginning on the Strathroy Dispatch which he conducted until 1884, when he went over to the Daily Sentinel at Port Arthur. But young Dingman aimed higher, he aimed at being a newspaper owner and his chance came in 1886 when he succeeded in founding the Stratford Herald, a newspaper which, under his skilful guidance has kept going to the front all the time. He has also found time from the multifarious duties that fall on a newspaper proprietor who edits his own journal to act as President of the Canadian Press Association for a term and for ten years a member and one year chairman of the College Inst. Board. Mr. Dingman has also gone through the Municipal mill of his adopted town, having been three years alderman prior to his election as mayor in 1909.

RENNIES OF YORK COUNTY

A real interest in the farm, an ideal life, and satisfactory profits, go hand in hand with the style of farming practised by two farmers of York Co., Ont., Messrs. W. G. Rennie and James A. Rennie, sons of Ontario's famous gold medal farmer, Mr. Simpson Rennie. The Rennie boys are following closely in the footsteps of their father as regards their methods of farm practice. And they are well justified in their practice, as anyone may know who is acquainted with the Rennie farms, and knows of the splendid crops that are grown thereon. The casual passerby can scarcely fail to note on either of these farms — one at Ellesmere, the other at Milliken — something much above the ordinary, and indicative of the fact that a real farmer, thorough going and prosperous, lives there. Both of the farms present many striking characteristics, and a stranger looking for either of them need have little doubt as to their identity as he approaches, since they stand out in considerable contrast to neighboring farms although all of the farms in the district are of a very superior order.

To farm successfully as the Rennies do calls for the exercise of a high order of intelligence and an intimate knowledge of the great diversity of things pertaining to the farm, of market conditions, of men, and that rare trait of human nature of being satisfied with a real good thing. Both of these men keep practically no stock whatever during the summer time; thus they are free to take care of their farm and crops to the very best advantage, and they also are to a considerable extent free not only to run their farms but to take real enjoyment out of life as they go along. Later in the season they stock up with feeding cattle and hogs and during the winter months turn their grains and fodders into finished market products, thereby netting the greatest returns and maintaining the fertility of their farms.

A FORMER DUKE GOVERNOR

The Duke of Argyll recently attained the age of 66, having been born at Stafford House, London, in August 1845. When Marquis of Lorne, in 1871, he married Princess Louise, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, and a sister of the late King Edward. He represented Argyllshire in the House of Commons from 1868 to 1878 as a Liberal, and South Manchester as a Unionist from 1895 until the death of his father in 1900, when he succeeded to the Scotch dukedom and other titles, being created a Duke of the United Kingdom two years later. From 1878 to 1883, his Grace filled the office of Governor-General of Canada. Besides being head of the house and clan of Campbell, and a lineal descendant of the "MacCallum More," he is Heritable Master of His Majesty's Household in Scotland, Keeper of Dunstaffnage, Dunoon, and Carrick Castles, Keeper of the Great Seal of Scotland, Lord-Lieutenant and Hereditary Sheriff of Argyllshire, Admiral of the Western Isles, Constable and Governor of Windsor Castle, Chancellor of the Order of St Michael and St. George, and Hon. Colonel of the 3rd and 8th Battalion Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, the London Scottish, and several other corps.

15 YEARS A DYSPEPTIC

Forced to Live on Stale Bread and Porridge.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HIM

AVONDALE, N. B., October, 15th.
"I have been a great sufferer from Indigestion for fifteen years. I was forced to deny myself all such hearty foods as beans, meats, potatoes and could not drink tea or coffee. For the past two years, I lived on porridge, stale bread, etc. I had treatment from two doctors, and tried nearly every kind of medicine, but got worse.

"Finally I saw a testimonial of "Fruit-a-tives" and concluded to give them a trial. I took nearly four boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and they have made me feel like a new man. I can eat all kinds of hearty foods without suffering, and am no longer constipated."

LEMUEL A. W. BROWN.

Many people look on "Fruit-a-tives" as a miraculous medicine. It has indeed performed what have seemed like miraculous cures in hundreds of cases of chronic Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fresh fruit juices and valuable tonics. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Complained to Stagni.

Montreal, Oct. 9.—Lucien Canon, who was beaten in Charlevoix by Rodolphe Forget, has entered a complaint before Monsignor Stagni, the papal delegate at Ottawa, alleging strong partisan conduct on the part of Rev. Abbe Larouche, parish priest of St. Fidele. Canon alleges that he complained in the first place to the Bishop of Chicoutimi and having no reply from his lordship, he goes to the delegate for redress.

Mr. Canon says that it was the clerical influence that defeated Laurier, but L'Action Sociale wants to know what the priests had to do with the result in Ontario and the eastern provinces.

German Balloon Wins.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 9.—The balloon Berlin II., carrying the flag of Germany, has won the international balloon race for the James Gordon Bennett Cup. The Berlin II., landed in the wilderness near Holcombe, Wis., at seven o'clock Saturday morning. The Berlin landed about 440 miles from Kansas City.

The Buckeye, the United States representative in the race and the Berlin II.'s nearest rival, landed 365 miles from Kansas City at Lacrosse, Wis. The Berlin has beaten the Buckeye's mark by about 75 miles.

Murdered In Their Saloon.

Detroit, Oct. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kraft, proprietors of a road house seven miles from Detroit were murdered in their saloon last night and the police are searching for Charles Fuller, a former employe. A daughter of the murdered couple claims Fuller shot at her and missed, and then killed her parents. The tragedy, it is said, followed a quarrel between the girl and Fuller.

SUFFERERS FROM PILES!

Zam-buk Has Cured These!

Friction on the hemorrhoid veins that are swollen, inflamed and gorged with blood, is what causes the terrible pain and stinging and smarting of piles. Zam-Buk applied at night will be found to give ease before morning. Thousands of persons have proved this. Why not be guided by the experience of others?

Mr. Thomas Pearson, of Prince Albert, Sask., writes: "I must thank you for the benefit I have received from Zam-Buk. Last summer I suffered greatly from piles. I started to use Zam-Buk and found it gave me relief, so I continued it, and after using three or four boxes I am pleased to say it has effected a complete cure."

Mr. G. A. Dufresne, 183-185 St. Joseph street, St. Roch, Quebec, P. QQ., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to everyone who suffers from piles."

Magistrate Sanford, of Weston, King's Co., N.S., says: "I suffered long from itching piles, but Zam-Buk has now cured me."

Mr. William Kenty, of Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co., N.S., says: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. I tried various ointments, but everything I tried failed to do me the slightest good. I was tired of trying Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin injuries and diseases, eczema, ulcers, varicose veins, cuts, burns, bruises, chaps, cold sores, etc. 50c. box. all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. The Age of Fish.

Until within recent years there had been ascertained no trustworthy way of finding out the age of fish. It has been shown that mere size does not indicate the age. Reibisch, Heincke, and others have discovered that many of the bones, scales, and otoliths of fishes have annual age-rings, resembling those in tree trunks, and by means of these Professor Wallace and others have now determined the rate of growth of plaice, showing that some specimens attain the age of 25, or even as much as 29 years. Age can now be correlated with size and weight, although, it appears that the sexes have a different rate of growth.

Some people think they work hard because they get easily worked up about other people's work.

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

GROWING BUTCHER MEAT

Latest Scientific Discovery is that Flesh and Fowl Can Be Grown by Chemical Process.

Dr. Warren H. Lewis, associate professor of anatomy in John Hopkins' University, and his wife, Margaret Reed Lewis, also a physician, claim to have discovered a method of inducing the indefinite growth of cellular substances by chemical processes. What Dr. Lewis and his wife claim to have actually accomplished is this: They have taken pieces of chicken, placed them in a saline solution and grown chicken meat. They have discovered that it is possible to cut off some of this chicken meat without hindering further growth, and the process can be repeated indefinitely. They also claim that the process can be applied to any sort of flesh. Dealing with the question of his discoveries. Dr. Lewis says: "The value of all these experiments which my wife and I have conducted has several different phases. For instance, it may some day have a great commercial value. There is nothing to prevent our operations from being conducted on a much larger scale. Suppose that you had a number of vats filled with saline solutions, and that in these solutions you put the muscles or other organs of various animals, not only while in the embryo, but even when they had reached the adult stage. There would be large growths, and these would be edible. In other words, the salt solutions could be turned into incubators, sure to hatch, and from which pieces of embryo chicks could be taken every day without hindering the increase of the supply."

The possibilities conjured up by this statement are so great as to almost verge on the grotesque. The idea of actually growing meat appears to offend the laws of Nature, and yet Science has done stranger things.

Pigments from Odd Sources.

The ingenuity of the manufacturers of pigments for the use of artists has been so severely taxed within recent years that they have been obliged to employ for the purpose all manner of animal, vegetable and mineral substances. Even Egyptian mummies have been utilised in this way by the manufacturers. It appears that the corpse of the old Egyptian was preserved in the finest bitumen, and that the remains thus treated in the centuries gone present, on being unwrapped to-day, an appearance quite like that of light-coloured leather. Now it has been discovered that, when the bitumen and the leather-like remains are ground down by machinery, there is obtained therefrom a beautiful brown pigment, especially prized by painters of portraits, who claim that this pigment is particularly effective in depicting certain shades of brown hair. Among the other colours obtained from strange sources may be mentioned Prussian blue. This is made by fusing the hoofs of horses with impure potassium carbonate. Sepia is the dark fluid discharged by the cuttlefish to render the water opaque for its own concealment when attacked by its enemies. The cochineal insect furnishes crimson and purple lake and carmine; while ultramarine is procured from the precious metal known as lapis lazuli. Raw sienna is natural earth from Sienna, and, when burnt, becomes burnt Sienna. Camboge is the yellow sap of a tree that grows in Siam.

Fireless Cooking-Stoves.

A system of cooking comestibles, or keeping in a heated condition those which have already been prepared, has been devised, and has aroused considerable attention, especially in regard to its application to railway trains. The stove, which has neither fire nor gas, is based upon the ingenious utilisation of a non-conductor of heat. The outer vessel is wrought in aluminium, and the vessels employed for culinary purposes are of the same metal with aluminium locking covers. The necessary heat is supplied by radiation from several hot plates, which are inserted in the cooker, and the arrangement is such that several dishes can be cooked simultaneously. It is stated that not only is this system, so far as it applies to railway travel, free from all danger, but that it represents a saving of 70 to 90 per cent. in the fuel-bill, while one charge of the plates is sufficient to keep the contents hot, or to cook them, during a journey of several hundred miles.

An Interesting Watch.

An interesting horological, sidereal novelty has been perfected by the Rev. Daniel B. Marsh, D.Sc., F.R.A.S. The watch contains many ingenious features, and is conceded to be a striking example of timekeeping mechanism. It is adjusted to five positions, fully jewelled with twenty-one rubies, compensated for temperature, and owing to the special construction of the face-mechanism there is no lost motion in the hands. The watch has been acquired already by the leading observatories of Canada, and is being manufactured in Switzerland, the watch-makers of that country alone having proved equal to the delicate nature of the task imposed, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

Safety Window Cleaner.

The invention consists of a wire frame made to clip the window cloth. To the frame is attached a long band of webbing, which passes over trolleys running along the top and bottom of the window-frame and continues right down the inside of the window. There is obviously no danger in cleaning the outside of a window with this invention, as, of course, the pad is moved to and fro, up, down, or sideways, entirely by the manipulation of the webbing strap on the inside of the room. The necessary pressure upon the surface of the window is obtained by springs, and in obstinate cases the busy maid can of course revert to that well-known domestic dodge of adding a little methylated spirit to the water.

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR NORWOOD FAIR

Attendance of Over Four Thousand aud Everybody Enjoyed the Splendid Program

All roads led to Norwood yesterday and on to the exhibition grounds where over four thousand people helped to make the forty-third annual exhibition of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, another big success.

It rained before seven, and according to tradition, Jupiter Pluv. had to cease operations before eleven. The result—a big day for everybody and a merry competition for shares of that $1,800 in premiums. The choicest cattle, horses, fruit vegetables and numerous other resources of fair East Peterborough were arrayed in their best for inspection and many were the complimentary comments heard on all sides at the excellence of the exhibits. "Are you going to the Norwood Fair" became a popular query long ago and each succeeding year finds the exhibition growing in favor.

ALL WERE HAPPY.

President Birdsall was a happy man yesterday, so was the secretary J. E. Roxburgh, and the other officers and directors smiled and smiled often. Every item on the program was carried out smoothly and in a manner that caught the big crowds, who were out for a time. They had it.

Peterborough city contributed to the attendance by two hundred or more who went down on the regular C.P.R. before noon and were given a special for the return which was commenced at 7.15 o'clock at night.

The village certainly presented a busy scene. It was something unusual and the chief constable with his small army of recruits worked so well, that no serious trouble occurred during the whole of the day.

LOTS OF GRUB

There was plenty to eat for one thing and the ladies of the Methodist church deserve the success which came their way. They all worked hard to feed the multitudes which invaded the basement of the church, and it was a good square meal without any unnecessary fringes. Other smaller eating houses, also had a busy time.

By 1.30 there was a steady stream of people hiking it for the exhibition grounds. With the parting of a quarter and a passage through the gate, the scene before the eye could not have been more inviting. Things were arranged so that it looked like a real live Fair. There were all kinds of tents and Kinney's Beauty show lead the way also in receipts. It featured the Midway with its barkers and mysteries. You could see anything from a 500 pound alligator to a freak calf in the shape of a double header and also eat or drink anything that was ever spieled out on a pike. All of East Petreboro's fairest daughters and their brothers were too in line; and there was nothing lacking.

HORSE RACES

The horse races brought the crowds to their feet; the green event going to Ora Tarif in three straight heats each with a fancy margin. Silver Jim drew second money, Silver Dick third while the best Tom O'B could navigate, was fourth place. The results of the three heats were—

Ora Tarif	1	1	1
Silver Dock	4	4	3
Tom O'B	4	3	4

There was nothing lazy about the Free for All, which went to Jim Direct also in three straights. Adrian Pointer made the winner travel in the initial heat, but fell back to last horse in the other two, Dot L. usurping his place with some pretty foot work. It was great racing, with the final standing:

Jim Direct	1	1	1
Dot L	4	2	2
Adrian Pointer	2	4	4
Orilli. Belle	3	3	3

SMITH WON RACE

Between acts, Harold Smith astonished the gathering with a fast run around the track five times, for which he was handed a suitcase. Two other competitors, McBurney, of Havelock and Anderson, of Norwood, found the distance too long and the pace too hot. Smith made a pretty finish and received a hearty hand.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

The judging of the more prominent classes was continued during the afternoon, and warm interest was shown throughout. Mrs. Bert Preston won the especial prize of $10 offered by Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., for the best lady driver, single horse in buggy, repeating her performance of last year. The special prize of the Matthews Company for the best pen of hogs suitable for the English bacon trade went to Mr. Richard Honey, of Brickley. The big exhibit building was filled to overflowing with vegetables, fruit, domestic manufactures, ladies' work, etc., and this department of the exhibition was all that could be desired. Music was supplied most liberally during the afternoon by the Alderville brass band and the Norwood band, each organization doing splendid work. Everything considered, the officers and directors put on a show that was well worthy of the large and enthusiastic patronage it received.

The township solicitor's advice in the matter states that the council could only sanction an agreement and that a by-law would have to be submitted to the ratepayers according to law.

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT LAND TO-DAY AT QUEBEC ; ARRIVED LAST NIGHT

Empress of Ireland Reached Port at 6 O'clock—A Splendid Voyage—Much Interest in the Passengers on Board—Great Reception.

SPECIAL TO THE REVIEW.

Quebec, Oct. 13.—Fine weather greeted the Duke of Connaught on his landing this morning. French and English joined in a great demonstration and welcome. The crowd was almost beyond handling by the soldiers and police. Connaught will be immensely popular.

Quebec, Oct. 13.—The Duke of Connaught is here.

Quietly, without firing of guns or blowing of whistles, the Empress of Ireland at six o'clock last night rounded the buoy in the channel and proceeded to dock at her wharf. It was a small crowd that waited to greet the boat which carried Canada's new Governor-General. The announcement which had been made in the afternoon papers, to the effect that the duke would not disembark until Friday morning, had kept the curious mob from gathering about the gates.

Those who did come were subjected to a careful scrutiny by police placed on the wharf for the purpose of keeping out only those who had business inside the enclosure.

At the foot of the gang-plank waited the small, silk-hatted, frock-coated group who were to be the first to greet H.R. H. on his arrival at Quebec. The group consisted of Thomas Mulvey, Under Secretary of State; Col. Sherwood, Dominion commissioner of police; Capt. Malcolm, Col. Sladen and the A.D.C. of the duke, who had come on ahead to prepare for his arrival. As soon as the way was cleared they went aboard. In the large saloon above, the Duke of Connaught, the Duchess of Connaught and the duke's staff were waiting.

As the visitors entered the duke greeted them with a hearty smile and a handshake all around. The meeting was most informal, and a stranger would never have suspected that the genial, white-moustached gentleman talking so affably was the duke of royal blood and Governor-General of Canada.

When Col. Sherwood was introduced to him as the Dominion commissioner of police, he at once was interested and asked the colonel many questions as to exactly what the position meant, and the general policing system of Canada.

Several messages were brought to him during the half hour following his arrival, and several were despatched to different parts of Canada, replying to the congratulations which he had received. Col. Lowther, military secretary to His Royal Highness, was a very busy man. He was not too busy, however, to give a short audience to the newspaper men who had come aboard.

"No," he said, when asked if the duke would say a word of greeting to the Canadian people, through the newspaper men present, "royalty never gives interviews.

He was quite willing, however, to talk about the trip across. "We had only one bad day," he said. "Otherwise the trip was delightful." The duke and duchess showed the keenest interest in everything on the boat. The duke examined the third-class section on Sunday and was given a rousing cheer by the passengers there, who had been notified of his coming. On Wednesday the duchess made a tour of the ship. They were both very affable and chatted freely with the passengers throughout the voyage.

"The duke received messages of congratulation from almost every ship that passed; I think there were 17 in all. Coming up the river he had a message from Lieutenant-Governor Gibson of Ontario, and Col. MacNaughton of Cobourg. Incidentally, I have just wired Col. MacNaughton that the duke bears with him the order of C.V.O. for him, in recognition of his services in connection with the trip of the artillery team to England recently."

ITALIANS WILL TAKE ACTIVE MEASURES AGAINST TURKS

Second Corps is Landed at Tripoli—Expedition Against Inland Enemy—Cholera Has Broken Out in the Captured Town.

Tripoli, Oct. 13.—Gen. Caneva, commander-in-chief of the Italian expedition, has decided to act quickly, and it is believed that the troops under him will march immediately against the positions occupied by the Turks. A reconnissance of the desert yesterday disclosed the central body of the Turkish troops with field guns not far from the city.

Nineteen more Italian transports, escorted by warships and carrying the second division of troops, arrived yesterday morning. The men were hastily landed. This division is 15,000 strong, and there are now 22,000 Italian soldiers on the coast of Tripoli for its defence ian occupation joyfully, but some of the warships remain in the harbor in readiness for emergencies. Troops were landed yesterday also at Benghazi, Derna, Tobruk and Bomba.

Although the utmost precautions have been taken looking to the perfecting of sanitary arrangements, cholera has broken out, and it is reported that four deaths have occurred.

Gen. Caneva has addressed a proclamation to the inhabitants, assuring them that they have not been enslaved by Italy. On the contrary, they have been liberated from the yoke under which they have been laboring for years. They will be ruled by their own chiefs under the patronage of the King of Italy. The religious and civil laws will be respected and taxes will be reduced or abolished.

The proclamation concludes by announcing that Italy desires that Tripoli shall remain the land of Islam, under the protection of Italy.

A part of the force landed yesterday will be sent to occupy Benghase and Derna, Bomba and Tobruk. Smaller garrisons will be established at Marsa, Susa, Tokra, Medina, Lebda, Hissa, Mesurata and a few other points.

No Armistice.

Rome, via frontier, Oct. 13.—That an armistice has been arranged between Italy and Turkey, as reported from Berlin, is strenuously denied by the Italian Government.

A despatch from Trpioli to The Giornale d'Italia says that the Turkish Government, being unable to communicate directly with Munhir Pasha, commander of the former Turkish garrison at Tripoli, has telegraphed to the Turkish consuls at Tunis and Malta to instruct him to resist as long as possible.

International Bank License.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—It now looks as if the International Bank of Canada would open its doors for business on Tuesday morning next. Rodolphe Forget, M.P., the president, stated last evening that it was expected that the long-delayed license would be granted on Monday. It is understood that Hon. W. S. Fielding has left a memorandum in the department giving the reasons for his persisting refusal in granting the license.

Kidnapper Gets Life Sentence.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Giuseppi Nicolasi and his brother, Carmello, were yesterday sentenced to life imprisonment after they had been found guilty by a jury of kidnapping five-year-old Angelo Marino on August 5. Mrs. Coleraga Nicolasi, wife of Carmello, was sentenced to seven years in prison for complicity.

N. CURRY OF MONTREAL THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE C.M.A.

Montreal Man is Now Head of the Manufacturer's Association.

Toronto, Oct. 13.—After a three days' session of strenuous work, during which an amazing amount of important business was transacted, the 40th annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was brought to a close yesterday. Next year the C. M. A.'s annual meeting will be held in Halifax, N.S. The officers for 1911 are as follows:

Edwards, Londonderry; New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island vice-president, John Palmer, Fredericton; Alberta and Saskatchewan vice-president, W. H. Clarke, Edmonton; treasurer, George Booth, Toronto.

Big Fellow Meets Tragic Death.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—John Phair, aged 46, an Ottawa bridge inspector, was instantly killed 150 miles below Quebec city. He was on what is known as a gasoline speeder, on a bridge, when it collided with a train. He was a man of exceptionally fine physique, being 6 feet 4 inches in height, and weighing 275 pounds. He leaves a widow and several children here.

Klaus Larsen Recovered.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 13.—Capt. Klaus Larsen of Cleveland, who last year navigated the whirlpool rapids in a motor-boat, and came here two months ago to repeat the feat, was yesterday discharged from the General Hospital, where he has been confined with typhoid since coming here. He says he will make the trip next summer.

CHINESE ARE IN REVOLT

Aim to Establish a Republic is Spreading

Imperial Edict to Concentrate Troops Against Rebels

Hankow, Oct. 13.—The revolution which has been hanging over China for months past, and of which the rising in the Province of Sze-Chuen was only a small part, has begun in earnest. It is a concerted movement to take the empire and declare a republic. The noted exiled revolutionist, Dr. Sun Yet Sen, leader of the anti-Manchu party, if the plans do not miscarry, is to be elected president.

The revolutionaries have captured Wu-Chang, the native section of Hankow and Han-Yang, all adjoining cities in Hu-Peh Province. Chang-Sha, capital of Hunan, is reported to have risen in revolt, and Nanking, capital of the Province of Kiang-Su, is on the verge of a rising, several public buildings having been destroyed.

Troops Are Sent.

Peking, Oct. 13.—An imperial edict issued yesterday ordered the immediate despatch of two divisions of troops to the disaffected provinces. At the same time orders have been issued for the assembling in the Yang-tse-Kiang of a fleet of warships which are to unite with the land forces against the rebels. According to the official report at least ten thousand, and possibly fifteen thousand troops have mutinied in the Province of Hu-Peh alone. It is said that they captured thirty modern guns at Wu-Chang. There is an unconfirmed report that the revolutionists occupied Chang-Sha on Oct. 1.

Extraordinary precautions have been taken in Peking to prevent a rising, and large bodies of troops are guarding the palace.

IS STILL MISSING

Detective Boyd Now Assisting in the Search for School Teacher

Special to the Review.

Parry Sound, Oct. 13.—Provincial Detective Boyd arrived this morning to assist in the search which is being made for the missing school teacher, Miss Violet Smith, of Dillon Prto. Detective Boyd has been empowered to make arrests, if there are any evidences of foul play. No clue to the girl's whereabouts has yet been secured.

Miss Smith graduated from Toronto Normal School last year. On Monday morning she left her boarding house to walk to her school, and since then has not been seen or heard of. She was a clever girl, possessing unusual ability.

Cost Motorist $1,000.

Toronto, Oct. 13.—A fine of $1,000 was imposed in the sessions yesterday, being sentence day in that court, and an intimation that the judical mind of the bench is becoming alive to the necessity of taking noticeable action to stem the tide of reckless motor car driving in the city. It was imposed by Judge Winchester upon Alexander Tracey, who, while intoxicated, ran his powerful car into a crowd of people at Roncesvalles avenue and Queen street on Labor Day, injuring seven of them.

"Will any of that fine go to those injured?" asked Acting Crown Attorney Monahan.

"No," replied the judge; "he is liable to those people in civil actions. This money goes to the court."

HER ROYAL HIGHNESS
THE DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT

OUR NEW VICE-REINE

HON. W. H. HEARST SWORN IN MINISTER OF LANDS AND MINES

Soo Lawyer, and Strong Man Becomes Member of the Whitney Cabinet — Born on a Farm.

Toronto, Oct. 13.—Hon. William Hearst, K.C., now holds the portfolio of Lands, Forests and Mines in the Ontario Cabinet as successor to Hon. Frank Cochrane, who has gone to the Borden Cabinet at Ottawa. Mr. Hearst was sworn in yesterday by Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

With the exception of Hon. J. J. Foy, who was out of town, all the members of the Provincial Cabinet were present, as well as George H. Gooderham, M.P.P., South Toronto, and Rance Howitt, M.P.P., of South Wellington.

Congratulations were extended to Hon. Mr. Hearst by his fellow-members of the Cabinet, after which the new Minister went to his office in the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines, where he made himself acquainted with his office staff.

HON. W. H. HEARST, K.C.

William Howard Hearst was born on a farm in Arran Township, in the County of Bruce, on Feb. 15, 1863, and is therefore 48 years of age. After attending the Collegiate Institute at Collingwood, he took up the study of law with the late Judge Masson of Owen Sound. On being called to the Bar Mr. Hearst began practice in Sault Ste. Marie, and has resided there ever since. He represents his home constituency in the Legislature, to which he was first elected a member in 1905.

Scarcity of Laborers.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—A great scarcity of laborers is reported by George Barlow, city surveyor. He said yesterday morning that he could find employment for 300 or 400 more easily. "I wanted fifty and and got thirteen to-day. One of my foremen who wanted a gang, only secured one man, and he practically a cripple."

Mr. Barlow attributes the shortage of laborers to the great number of young men who have learned trades in the past few years. "We are paying twenty cents an hour, that is $2.00 per day for ten hours' work, and I consider it good pay for unskilled men."

Can't Find Murdered Man.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—Felix Drouin, charged with the murder by shooting of an unknown man at his home in Ponsonby, Que., was arrested yesterday and is being brought to Hull. The arrest was effected by Sheriff Wright of Hill and Detectives McCaskill and Brousseau of Montreal.

A strange point about the case is that the body of the supposed victim has not been found and is thought to have been hidden.

The shooting took place Monday night, and while Drouin maintains he only fired into the air, three witnesses swore in obtaining the warrant that they saw the man fall, after which Drouin carried off the body. The place is isolated.

Elections In New Brunswick?

St. John, N.B., Oct. 13.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, the new Minister of Marine of Canada, is home from Ottawa, and will tend Governor Tweedie his resignation as New Brunswick's Premier.

Hon. J. K. Fleming, or Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer, will be his successor. It is also likely to be determined at once whether or not the new Premier will make an immediate appeal to the people.

The last election was held in 1908, when the Conservatives turned out the Liberal Administration, the results showing: Conservatives, 31; Liberals, 10; Independents, 5.

BYE-ELECTIONS NOT ON NOV. 1

In Quebec That is All Saint's Day a Legal Holiday

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—It looks like John Stanfield of Colchester, N.S., to succeed Hon. G. H. Perley as chief Conservative whip. Mr. Stanfield was assistant whip in the last Parliament and made a great success of the job.

Ottawa last night is a capital without a Government. The three branches of Parliament are all absent. Extraordinary preparations are being made to extend a fitting popular welcome to the royal Governor-General and his consort when they arrive on Saturday. The city is already ablaze with bunting and steps have been taken to hide the ugliness attendant upon the building of the Chateau Laurier and the new station.

Premier Borden announces that on account of November 1, the day fixed for polling in the bye-elections, being All Saints' Day and therefore a public holiday in the Province of Quebec, nominations and polling would be a little later. No date was fixed upon, but it is not expected to be more than two or three days later than previously arranged. Announcement will be made immediately the Cabinet returns from Quebec on Saturday.

In the meantime some progress has been made in locating the seatless Ministers. Hon. Robert Rogers is to have Alex. Haggart's seat in Winnipeg. George Gordon is likely to make way for Hon. Frank Cochrane in Nipissing and Hon. W. T. White stands a chance of getting East Middlesex, if a Senatorship can be found for Peter Elson.

TO JAIL FOR LIFE

Sentence Meted Out to Arthur Sheridan

Barrie, Oct. 13.—Arthur Sheridan, who has been on trial for his life here for the stabbing of Ross Ford, near Orillia, last August, was yesterday sentenced to life imprisonment.

The jury after being out three hours and 20 minutes, returned and reported that they had been unable to reach a verdict.

Asked by the court if they were given a little more time to deliberate, did they think they would be able to reach a verdict, James Findlay, the foreman, said that there might be a possibility. His lordship then ordered refreshments served to the men in their rooms, and they were asked to retire again.

One hour later they came in and reported that they had agreed to disagree, 11 standing for a verdict of willful murder and one for manslaughter.

The court then informed the jury that counsel for the defence, with the consent of the crown, had agreed to withdraw the plea of not guilty to the charge of murder, and would plead guilty to manslaughter.

After complimenting the jury on the way they had handled the case, his lordship said he was sure they would be satisfied with the sentence he would impose and that the ends of justice would be just as well met.

He then sentenced Arthur Sheridan to imprisonment for the rest of his natural life.

The prisoner, while hearing the verdict, retained the composure which has characterized him throughout the trial. His broter, who was standing near, seemed to show disappointment at the change of plea.

Evidence given by Drs. Kelly and Carson, who made post-mortem examinations of the body of Ford, showed that there were three wounds, one on the lower part of the back, one on the shoulder and the fatal one in the chest. Dr. Carson said the bent blade of the knife could have been caused by the force used in inflicting the wound.

The prisoner took the stand in his own defence at the morning session and, while he owned to the stabbing, contended that it was in self-defence. His testimony was substantially the same as that brought out yesterday in the confession made to the constable who arrested him.

Robert Thorburn said that on the night of the dance Ford had a pair of steel knuckles and said he was going to the dance, and if anyone said anything to him he would split the devil's mouth open.

T. C. Robinette, K.C., counsel for defence, made an eloquent, thoughtful and spirited appeal to the jury. He dealt on the comparative natures of his client and the murdered man. His client was quiet and inoffensive. Ford pugnacious and boasting. Apparently Ford sought the quarrel and his client tried to avoid it. There was no motive apparent for such a crime, admittedly no jealousy between the men, who were courting two sisters. It was the murdered man who called Sheridan out from the dance. Sheridan made no effort to conceal the knife, which was one he used in ordinary ways and there was no evidence of premeditation to murder anyone.

His lordship in instructing the jury, took a very decisive stand favoring the crown's case. He read the prisoner's written statement and compared it with his cross-examination, picking out discrepancies.

Oldest Oddfellow Dead.

St. Catharines, Oct. 13.—Samuel G. Dolson, for 41 years city assessor, passed away yesterday morning after a brief illness brought on by age. He had attained his 80th year. He was educated and spent his entire life in St. Catharines, figuring prominently in the construction of most of the larger buildings, either as contractor or architect. He was a prominent member of the Masonic and Oddfellow orders, being at the time of his death the oldest Oddfellow in all Canada, having been initiated in Union Lodge in this city on January 12, 1852, and held membership continuously ever since. He served as grand secretary in 1856 and nine years as Ontario grand master.

The deceased built the public arches in the city used at the time of the visit of the late King Edward as Prince of Wales in 1861. He was also the builder of the court house, Masonic Temple, Oddfellows' building, four churches and six schools. He served in the council and was deputy reeve in the old days. Besides being assessor he was a member of the local Board of Health for years. When the Government expropriated Queen Victoria Park, Niagara Falls, some years ago, he acted as valuator.

MUSTACHED POLICEMEN

The chief constable of Toronto, Mr. Grassett has issued an order that all policemen on the force must wear moustaches. It seems that he got his ideas from England, where a clean shaven policeman is somewhat of a rarity.

Isn't this rank foolishness for a place like Toronto? It must be presumed that wearing a moustache affords some particular advantage. Perhaps the policeman who wears one—even just a little downey one—can run faster, think more quickly, or use his wits more a la Sherlock!

It is all right for the famous London bobbies to display an esprit de corps that leads them to maintain uniformity in facial appearance— at a pound or a pound and a half a week. But the London bobby seems to be more of a street traffic regulator, and rescuer of lost and bewildered maidens that the Toronto mustache grower will become for many long years.

If a man is a capable policeman, and nature will not permit him to grow a stubble that might be taken for a moustache even at night, what will Chief Grassett do? Send him to a hair-growing establishment, and put him in an incubator for a while? If a man cannot stand having long hair on his upper lip, to get into his tea or his coffee, or get plastered with butter, and have to be specially wiped every meal, must he cease being one of Toronto's stalwart guardians of the peace, and take to driving a brewery wagon?

Toronto must be feeling some importance, puffing up like a balloon attached to a compressed-air tube, to be so careful of the facial appearance of her coppers.

THE ONTARIO ELECTIONS

The decision of Sir James Whitney as to holding an election in the early part of December is one with whom few people can justly find fault. The elections will be far enough removed from Christmas that the Christmas trade of the merchants will not be interfered with; in fact, it seems scarcely likely that the contest will warm up very much at all.

The return of Sir James is assured. His administration has been sound, progressive, honest, and clean, and any mistakes that have been made have been in the minor matters of departmental administration. These have been very few indeed, and the Whitney government can go before the judgment bar, feeling quite well that it has the sympathy and the support of the people of the province at large.

There are thousands of Liberals in Ontario, who support the Whitney government. They support it because it is in fact, more of a Liberal government (in the broad sense) than was their own aggregation of political tricksters. The frank, blunt honesty, the courage with which Sir James Whitney has tackled the problems of the province, have won him a place in the affections of Ontario that will be hard to efface. The people of Ontario after all, want a man at the head of affairs, and not a mere politician, slippery as a banana peel.

While there will be plenty of discussion on various subjects in connection with education, road work, colonisation, taxation etc., the great fact outstanding at the very outset is this; that the Whitney government is the cleanest, most honest, efficient and capable government Ontario has ever known. Ontario can stand many more years of such administration.

THE BORDEN CABINET

Mr. Borden is a progressive, as his election platform indicates, and like Sir James Whitney, he will insist on strict honesty in all departments of the Administration. Cynical opportunists may sneer, but in this province the Whitney cabinet has proved that a Government can implement all its pledges. In the Federal arena the new Government may also be expected to keep faith with the electorate.

Liberal newspapers now pretend to be fearful that the inclusion of Ministers from Quebec, amongst Mr. Borden's colleagues, will endanger the Laurier navy. It is not forgotten that at the outset these very journals bitterly opposed the naval defence project, until forced by the pressure of public opinion to reverse their policy. The Borden Ministry may be depended upon after consultation with the British Admiralty to make an effective contribution towards naval and Imperial defence. Certainly the new regime means the abolition of graft, the safe-guarding of the public estate, the avoidance of sudden and unsettling changes in the country's fiscal policy, and the stimulation of the National and Imperial consciousness.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review (Liberal) shows a fairer spirit than some of its contemporaries when it says; "We will all know more about the strength and the weakness of Mr. Borden's Cabinet, a year from now than we do at present. Time is the great critic. The Cabinet contains some tested material; it contains a good deal that remains to be tested. It is only fair that opportunity should be afforded for a fair and thorough test." Without doubt the new Government is one of great promise. In the Prime Minister himself, the nation gains a clean, strong man imbued with a high sense of public duty. He is not a politician in the ordinary sense of the term any more than Sir James Whitney. That is one reason why the one, like the other, is supported by thousands of Liberals. It is by no means to his discredit that he began life as a poor boy, and that sheer character and ability have raised him to the highest post in the gift of the people. In this sense the personnel of the Cabinet is peculiarly democratic in its composition. Absolute integrity and marked administrative capacity have advanced Mr. Cochrane from the position of a country merchant first to the control of a great Provincial Department and now to the Federal portfolio of Railways and Canals.

Mr. W. T. White worked his own way through the University and the Law School until while still in the thirties he became the head of a powerful and progressive financial institution. In many ways the new Finance Minister is more radical than most members in the late Government. His inclusion in the ministry constitutes at once a recognition of those tens of thousands of Liberals who helped to defeat a worn-out Administration and a guarantee of efficient business methods at Ottawa. Though an English college graduate, Mr. Burrell, the Minister of Agriculture from British Columbia, was to be found only a few years ago working as a hired man on a Niagara fruit farm. Mr. Doherty brings a high reputation for probity and legal ability to the office of Minister of Justice. An ardent militia man all his life, with a worthy record of effective service in South Africa, Colonel Samuel Hughes will find the Militia Department familiar ground. Mr. Crothers is an especially strong man. In fact it must be admitted on all sides, that in a country of diverse interests, Mr. Borden has got together a Ministry that may be counted upon to do great things for Canada.—Toronto news.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It did not take Hon. Col. Sam Hughes long to decide about the vehicular obstructions in the armory, at least.

Good morning, have you seen anything around Peterborough that looks like a Grit candidate for the Ontario house?

An egg laying contest will soon be brought on at Storrs, Conn., with 500 hens competing, and four hens to a team. Probably the promoters will enclose the hens in a sound proof yard.

The selection of Mr. Hearst as minister of mines in the Whitney cabinet must command approval from all who know Mr. Hearst. He is a brilliant and forceful speaker, and ready debater and will be a distinct addition to the government forces.

The Toronto Globe staff will have a great deal of joy and comfort out of the Christmas season. Having wrecked the Liberal party at Ottawa, his reverend nibs will probably feel happy over the fact that there wasn't much of the party left in Ontario to finish.

As a matter of political tactics there are some Conservative newspapers and many Liberal newspapers who would like to see Mr. Borden throw the province of Quebec to the four winds, in his cabinet considerations. That might be all right, from where they sit, but Mr. Borden sees conditions all over the Dominion. There is no necessity for even a strongly imperial government such as Mr. Borden will undoubtedly endeavor to give, to ignore Quebec, or sacrifice strength there, for the sake of handing it back to Laurier, and reducing the Conservative majority in the house materially.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

After serving ten days less than a year, the Los Angeles grand jury which indicted John J. McNamara, his brother, James B., has been discharged.

Charles Wise, a young Englishman, was found guilty yesterday of burning the barns of William Wallace, Stoney Creek, Ont., and also of stealing a gold watch. Wise will likely be deported.

The official returns announced yesterday give Dr. Gauthier (Conservative), member-elect for the County of Gaspe, 574 majority.

A concern known as the Hamilton Steel Co., has secured options on $600,000 worth of New Westminster, B.C., water front for industrial purposes.

Mrs. Mary Frances Gurney, wife of Edward Guerney, of the Gurney Foundry Co., Toronto, was seriously injured in New York yesterday in a taxicab collision.

J. A. Ellis, city treasurer and president of the Conservative Association of Ottawa was last night selected to contest the riding of West Ottawa for the Legislature.

Roy Brintnell, whose motor car fatally injured Mrs. Elizabeth Salter of Oshawa in Toronto, was committed for trial to the criminal assizes from the Police Court yesterday.

Pearl Heustin, the 15-year-old daughter of William Heustin, living near St Eugene, Ont., was accidentally killed yesterday afternoon while leading a horse from a nearby pasture to her home.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—The export trade in Manitoba spring wheat from here continues very quiet owing to the fact that the demand from foreign buyers is limited and prices bid are below what exporters are offering. MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

It was some consolation to them that they were allowed to share the same cell, though they would have liked it better could they have had this all to themselves. As it was, two individuals were bertowed in it along with them.

It was an apartment of limited dimensions—about eight feet by ten—the cloister of some ancient monk in th days when the Acordada was a pleasant place of residence for himself and his cowled companions.

Besides the Texan prisoners, its occupants now were men of Mexican birth. One of them, under more favorable circumstances, would have presented a fine appearance. Even in his prison garb, somewhat ragged and squalid, he looked the gentleman and something more. For there was that in his air and physiognomy, which proclaimed him no common man. His face was of the rotund type, bold in its expression, yet with something of gentle humanity in the profound depths of a dark, penerating eye. His complexion was a clear olive, such as is common to Mexicans of pure Spanish descent, the progeny of the Conquistadors; his beard and mustache coal black, as also the thick mass of hair that, bushing out and down over his ears, half concealed them.

Cris Rock "cottoned" to this man on sight. Nor liked him much the less when told he had been a robber! Cris supposed that in Mexico a robber may sometimes be an honest man, or at all events, have taken to the road through some supposed wrong—personal or political. Freebooting is less a crime, or at all events, more easy of extenuation in a country whose chief magistrate himself is a freebooter, and such, at this moment, neither more nor less, was the chief magistrate of Mexico, Don Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna.

Beyond the fact, or it might be only suspicion that Ruperto Rivas was a robber, little semed to be known of him among the inmates of the Acordada. He had been there only a short while, and took no part in their vulgar, commonplace ways of killing time; instead, staying within his cell. His name had, however, leaked out, and this brought up in the minds of some of his fellow prisoners certan reminiscences pointing to him as one of the road fraternity; no common one either, but the chief of a band of "salteadores."

Altogether different was the fourth personage entitled to a share in the cell appropriated to Kearney and Cris Rock. He was a contrast of the completest kind, both physically and mentally. No two beings claiming to be of human kind could have presented a greater dissimilarity—being very types of the extreme. Ruperto Rivas, despite the shabby habiliments in which the jail authorities had arrayed him, looked all dignity and grandeur, whil El Zorillo—the little fox, as his prison companions called him—was an epitomised impersonation of wickedness and meanness; not only crookd in soul, but in body—being in point of fact an enano or dwarf hunchback.

This ill-assorted pair had been kept chained together, as much by way of punishment as to prevent escape. But now, the jail governor, as if struck by a comical idea, directed them to be separated and the dwarf linked to the Texan Colossus—thus presenting a yet more ludicrous contrast of couples—while the ex-captain of the filibusters and the reputed robber were consigned to the same chain.

Of the new occupants of the cloister, Cris Rock was the more disgusted with the situation. His heart was large enough to feel sympathy for humanity in any shape and he would have pitied his fellow prisoner, but for a deformity of the latter worse than any physical ugliness; for the Texan soon learned that the hideous creature, whose couch as well as chain he was forced to share, had committed crimes of the most atrocious nature, among the rest murder! It was, in fact, for this last that he was now in the Acordada—a cowardly murder, too—a case of poisoning. That he still lived was due to the proofs not being legally satisfactory, though no one doubted of his having perpetrated the crime.

For the first two days of their imprisonment in the Acordada neither of the Texans could understand why they were being thus punished—as it were to satisfy some personal spite. None of the other Mier prisoners, of whom several had been brought to the same jail, were submitted to a like degradation. True, these were also chained two and two, but to one another, and not to Mexican criminals. Why, then, had they alone been made an exception? For their lives neither could guess, though they gave way to every kind of conjecture.

They learned it at length—on the third day after their entrance within the prison. All was explaned by the door of their cell being drawn open, exposing to view the face and figure of a man well known to them. And from both something like a cry escaped, as they saw standing without, by the side of the jail governor—Carlos Santander.

CHAPTER XI.

A Colonel in Full Feather.

Yes; outside the door of their cell was Carlos Santander, and in full panoply, wearing a magnificent uniform, with a glittering sword by his side and on his head a cocked hat, surmounted by a panache of white ostrich feathers.

To explain his presence there and in such guise, it is necessary to state some particulars of this man's life not yet before the reader. As already said, he was a native of New Orleans but of Mexcan parentage, and regarding himself as a Mexican citizen; something more than a mere citizen, as, previous to his encounter with Florence Kearney, he had been for a time resident in Mexico, holding some sort of appointment under that government, or, from the dictator himself—Santa Anna. What he was doing in New Orleans no one exactly knew, though among his intimates there was an impression that he still served his Mexican master, in the capacity of a secret agent—a sort of procurador or spy. Nor did this suspicion do him wrong; for he was drawing pay from Santa Anna and doing work for him in the States, which could scarce be dignified with the name of diplomacy. Proof of its vile character is afforded by the action he took among the volunteers in Poydras-st. His presenting himself at their rendezvous getting enrolled in the corps and offering himself as a candidate for the captaincy, were all done under instructions, and with a design which for wickedness and cold-blooded atrocity, was worthy of Satan himself. Had he succeeded in becoming the leader of this ill-fated band, for them the up-shot might have been no worse; though it would not have been better; since it was his intention to betray them to the enemy at the first opportunity. Thwarted in this, knowing he could no longer camped, and, as we now know, once more made his way to Mexico.

Luckily for him, the undershirt business did not leak out; at least it reached the ears of no one in the Mexican capital.

So, for the time, Carlos Santander show his face among the filibusters, fearing, furthermore, the shame that awaited him in New Orleans as soon as the affair of the steel shirt should be noised about, he had hastily dehad escaped the brand of infamy due to his dastardly act.

His reappearance on the scene in such grand garb needs little explanation. A fairly brave and skilled soldier, a valiner man than Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna never wore sword, and one of his foibles was to see himself surrounded by a glittering escort. The officers of his staff were very peacocks in their gaudy adornment, and as a rule, the best looking of them were his first favorites. Santander, on returning to Mexio, was appointed one of his aides-de-camp, and being just the sort—a showy fellow—soon rose to rank; so that the defeated candidate for a captaincy of Texas volunteers was now a colonel in the Mexican army on the personal staff of ta commander-in-chief.

Had Florence Kearney and Cris Rock but known they were to meet this man in Mexico—could they have anticipated seeing him, as he was now, at the door of their prison cell—their hearts would have been fainter as they toiled along the weary way, and perchance in that lottery of life and death they might have little cared whether they drew black or white.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

HON. G. H. MURRAY.

Nobody visits Cape Breton without carrying away lasting impressions of its picturesque scenery. But wealth and beauty are not its only pride and glory. From that island, divided by lake and canal into two islands, have gone forth sons and daughters whose names stand high among Canada's good and great. Hon. George Henry Murray, Nova Scotia's premier, is one of these.

Premier Murray was born at Grand Narrows, N.S., in the island of Cape Breton, in 1861. He is of Scotch descent, a Presbyterian in religion and a Liberal in politics; a combination quite palatable in Victoria County, of which he is one of the representatives. Mr. Murray received his elementary training in the public schools of his native place and then entered the profession of law under the firm name of Murray & McKensie in North Sydney. In 1889 he was appointed to the Legislative Council. Later he was an unsuccessful candidate for the House of Commons in the country of Cape Breton. Political success came to him in 1891 when he was appointed Member of the Fielding Administration, without portfolio. In 1895 he was created Q. C. When Hon. William S. Fielding resigned, Lieut-Governor Daly called upon Mr. Murray to form a new administration. This was done by the premier in a creditable manner, he himself taking the portfolio of Provincial Secretary.

HON. G. H. MURRAY
Premier of Nova Scotia.

Hon. George H. Murray has retained his seat in the local House with practically no opposition, being either reelected by acclamation or by a large majority.

HON. A. K. McLEAN

A prominent young member of the Nova Scotia Government, Hon. A. K. McLean is surely destined for yet higher honors in the land of his nativity. During the present parliament Mr. McLean has filled the responsible position of Attorney General, and it may perhaps not be too much to recognise his selection as Acting Premier during severe illness last winter of Premier Murray as a finger-post that points the way to more than a temporary honor whenever the opportunity should arise.

HON. A. K. McLEAN
Attorney General for Nova Scotia

C. F. HAMILTON, M.A.

A well known member of the Canadian Fourth Estate, Mr. Charles Frederick Hamilton, M.A., saw the light at Roslin, Hastings Co., Ontario, near the close of 1869, the son of Mr Charles Samuel Hamilton, M.D., C.M., his mother being a daughter of the late George Edward Jaques of Montreal. Educated at Picton and Campbellford High School he graduated to Queens University, and at the age of 24 entered the journalistic field as a member of the staff of the Toronto 'Globe'. He had some interesting stories to tell the readers of that paper of the South African war, where he acted as special correspondent, as close up on the firing line as circumstances and the military commanders would permit, and on return to the more prosaic things that go to make up the life of the modern Torontian, Mr. Hamilton resumed his staff duties on the 'Globe'. Here he remained until 1903 in which year he crossed over to the Toronto 'News' and is now parliamentary representative at Ottawa for the Publishers Press of Canada, the Morning Post, London Eng., and other important publications.

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

DISTANCE GAS-LIGHTING

A Useful Appliance by Which Gas Jets May be Lit Up All Over a Warehouse by Merely Moving a Switch.

Users of gas for lighting purposes will be interested in the very useful appliance for lighting gas at a distance by means of an electric spark. The whole apparatus is compact and inexpensive, and may be used with existing fittings and be applied to any number of lights, and when once installed costs practically nothing for upkeep, as there is no permanent bypass-jet used. The apparatus consists of a small dry battery which generates a current of four to six volts, and measures about twelve by six by three inches, and is capable of serving any number of lights up to five hundred. To each burner is affixed a patent valve-tap which can be opened or shut as desired by means of a switch, and this can be fixed at any convenient place in the room, its connection with the battery and the valve-tap being made with ordinary bell-wire. The switch has two buttons, the first of which, on being pressed, opens the gas-way, and at the same time makes a very hot spark at the point of the burner which sets it alight; the second button when pressed shuts off the gas. To obviate the trouble and expense of using insulated wire in the wiring, the current from the battery is altered by means of a trembler, and is transformed to high tension by passing it through a transformer which is fixed to each valve-tap. The transformer is made of a core of laminated soft iron surrounded by a short coil of thick wire and a long coil of thin wire; the spark-leads are of stout sparking wires with steatite insulators, and the spark emitted is of the same strength as is used for firing explosive mixtures for internal combustion, and cannot miss fire. The whole apparatus is neat and compact; the valve and transformer, being quite small, do not show any apparent indication of their presence on the fittings.

The Utilisation of 'Air-Gas.'

During the past few years the utilisation of air-gas for lighting, heating, and other domestic purposes has advanced considerably. Air-gas, it may be explained, is an inflammable mixture formed by the addition in very small proportions of the vapour of a highly volatile spirit such as petrol with the air. Several disadvantages of the system have developed in its use, the most noteworthy being the condensation of moisture in the pipes, which impedes the flow of the gas and produces a disconcerting flicker in the light. This drawback, however, has now been overcome by previously passing the air to be associated with the volatilised spirit over a moisture-absorbing medium such as calcium chloride. That the system in the main is reliable and efficient is proved by the increasing establishment of small installations for the lighting of the houses in small communities from a central point. Worked on such a principle, it enables the smallest and most remote village to secure the same illuminating and other conveniences as are possible to large towns with an elaborate coal-gas generating station, and at a much smaller proportionate expenditure.

Artificial Snails.

It is astonishing how often it is that one hears of strange and secret processes through what is virtually the vagaries of that blind goddess, Chance. An instance of this occurred in France a week or so ago, when a workman brought an action against his employer to recover damages for a finger that had been mutilated in one of the machines. Then in the examination that followed the fact came out that the factory in question was engaged in the manufacture of artificial snails. It appears that the shells are bought by the firm in question from the dustmen and rag-pickers, and, after being cleaned, are filled with "lights" or cats' meat, the soft flesh being cut into corkscrew form to fit the shell by a skilfully-designed machine. The top is then sealed with liquid fat, and the escargot is ready for the consumer. The artificial snails have a ready sale in Paris and other French towns, and are presumably sold as the genuine article. One wonders what the opinion of many epicures of this delicacy is now that they have discovered the method by which their favourite dish is sometimes manufactured.

Artificial Resuscitation

The resuscitation of a drowning person by means of artificial breathing is not only a laborious undertaking, but the motions must be correctly executed or the attempt will prove unsuccessful. A Swedish physician has constructed an exceptionally simple and effective apparatus, which lightens the task materially and adds immensely to the chances of success. It consists of a short board on which the patient is placed, two levers to which the arms are fastened, attached to the board, and a wide belt or girdle fastened to the levers and passing over the patient's breast. When the levers are pushed backward, the arms follow and the chest is inflated; and when the levers are pushed forward and down the girdle presses the air out of the lungs.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARD COMPOSER AND ORGANIST

Rich Treat Provided by Gatty Sellars at St. Paul's Church

A large audience greeted Mr. Gattyn Sellars, the English organist and composer, at his concert in St. Paul's Presbyterian church last evening and all enjoyed the treat given by a master musician. The organ was fairly made to speak by Mr. Sellars. His control of the instrument was remarkable and he gave a brilliant demonstration of what an accomplished organist can do and incidentally showed the great scope of the organ.

Mr. Sellars played a number of his own compositions and also selections from Bach and Wagner. Of his own works a Cradle Song, At Twilight, Cantilene Rustique, aL Grade (descriptive of the approach, passing and disappearance of a military band), and Storm at Sea, also descriptive, were especial favorites with the audience. In the Storm at Sea Mr. Sellars gave a realistic performance in the darkened church, unequalled by anything of the kind ever heard in Peterborough. His reproduction of the roaring thunder, the shrieking of the wind through the rigging, the clash and tumult of the ocean, during a storm, was wonderful, and then in a lull of the tempest Mr. Sellars introduced with fine effect the magnificent old hymn, "For Those in Peril at Sea." A more subdued but very effective descriptive piece was La Garde. Of the classic selections the introduction to Act III. of Wagner's Lohengrin with the wedding music, particularly well rendered. Aubade, by Ernest Halsez, and A Sunset Melody by Dr. Vincent, also elicited much applause. Mr. William Short, King's Trumpeter, played several selections and rendered incidental trumpet calls in one or two of Mr. Sellar's organ compositions. Mr. Short's trumpet selections included two songs composed by Mr. Sellars, one of which was the Lost Chord, and a number of Coronation Trumpet Calls. Mr. Short's selections were given considerable applause.

The audience however, did not hear Mr. Short at his best, as he was suffering from an injury to his lip, sustained through consistent practice, which was made necessary by his valuable instrument being recently held with other luggage for several days by the customs officers, when coming into Canada from the United States.

Mr. John Crane and members of the St Paul's church choir are to be congratulated on the success of the concert.

MORAL—DON'T SHOOT CRAP

Officer Spoiled Game and Magistrate Did the Rest

Three young men handed over $4.60 each to Chief Thompson this morning for gambling.

On Wednesday, October 4th, the gentlemen in question were having a quiet game with craps in the public lavatory at the market arcade and when P. C. Meharry was making his rounds he unceremoniously walked in amongst them and broke up their game. He took their names with the above results.

TWO DRUNKS

One man who had slipped into the police net while drunk was discharged and another was remanded until he sobers up.

NEW RIFLE RANGE AT BELLEVILLE

The new rifle range at Belleville, recently completed, is the only one in Canada to be built over water, but the reason is that there was difficulty in getting land on account of the Canadian Northern railway line.

The firing points are cedar cribs filled with stone work, connected by a board walk and a telephone line running the whole length of the range. Each crib is 8 feet wide by 84 feet long and a distance of a hundred yards intervenes between them. The range is a short one, 600 yards with a clear length across the water of about a mile and a half. The last firing point is on land at the westend. There are six targets at the east end and built on Big Hill, on which a top has been put to prevent bullets passing over. The marker shelter is of the lightest concrete description.

The completion of the range has bee ndelayed through a change in the location of the range, the original situation being found too low for proper drainage and shelter.

It is more trouble for a woman to wash her hair than to do the family washing.

Some Men, who don't know, have an idea that all Shoes are alike. They think that when they pay $3.50, $4.00 or $5.00 for a pair of Shoes, that it doesn't make much difference where they buy them, that a Shoe is a Shoe, and that's all there is to it

DROWNING IN THE OTONABEE; RICHARD MILBURN THE VICTIM

Was Crossing River Near Rye's Boathouse When Canoe Upset—Body Recovered by Mr. Ed. Vinette.

A sad drowning accident occurred yesterday afternoon about three o'clock in the Otonabee river, opposite Rye's boathouse, when Richard Milburn, a married man, with a small child, lost his life.

The body was recovered at 10.10 o'clock this morning by Mr. Edward Vinette, of 155 River Road, Auburn.

WORKED AT C.G.E.

Mr Milburn, who was 31 years of age, left his work in the machine shops of the Canadian General Electric company yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, suffering from a toothache. He was treated by a dentist and returned to work at one o'clock. So severe was the pain, however, that he secured another pass out and made his way to his home in McMartinsville, via Rye's boathouse, where he took his canoe to paddle across the river. When about forty feet from shore the canoe upset.

ACCIDENT WAS SEEN.

Two men at work on the west bank noticed the accident, but at the same time the "Agatha" put out from the boathouse with the intention, so the men thought, of making a rescue, but instead proceeded down the river. The explanation made to a Review reporter was that the occupants believed the man to be swimming. The two eye witnesses then hurriedly made for the scene of the mishap, but Milburn could not be seen.

Searching operations were proceeded with during the remainder of the day and this morning without success. Mr. Vinette, who is expert at this work, left his employment at the C.G.E. at nine o'clock, and after a short search, with the aid of a pike pole, discovered the body entangled in the weeds in about five feet of water, and receiving it took the remains ashore. Dr. Greer was called and gave the order for removal, which was proceeded with by the Dan Spence ambulance, the body being taken to Comstock's undertaking establishment.

The late Mr. Milburn came to this country about seven years ago, from Peterborough, England, and for the past six years had been a member of the Sons of England, under whose auspices the funeral will be held. The arrangements have not been completed.

THE BIG MUSICAL EVENT OF THE SEASON IN PETERBOROUGH

Visit of Mark Hambourg, the Great Pianist, a Social Event of Great Importance Coming—Tuesday Night

The announcement that Mark Hambourg, the great artist, is to appear in Peterborough next Tuesday evening will be received with much interest by the music-loving people of this city. Mark Hambourg is one of the greatest pianists of the present day, and Peterborough is highly favored in being visited by him. His execution is wonderful, his touch most sympathetic, while his technique is a delight to those who know what such excellence means. A number of people in the city went to Toronto last year to hear Mark Hambourg, and they are all loud in their praises of his wonderful playing. It is not often that Peterborough has the opportunity of hearing such a famous artist. An agreement has been signed by Mr. Hambourg for a two years' tour of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and South America, commencing in December next.

There will no doubt be a large advance sale for the event, the plan of the hall being now open. The prices are $1.50, $1.00, 75c. This will undoubtedly be the best musical and social event of the season, and already several parties have been arranged for the affair.

COMPENSATION MUST BE MADE OR THE LANEWAY RE-OPENED

Property Owners Get Judgment from Board of Railway Commissioners.

Mr J. W. Bennet of the firm of Bennet and Goodwill appeared before the Dominion Railway Board at Toronto yesterday morning, on behalf of two clients who protested against the closing of a laneway by which their property is affected. The action brought by Mr Bennet was against Houedry Bros. an dthe Grand Trunk Railway. Two property owners, Messrs. Ash and Anderson bought certain lots with a laneway bordering on the lots. Houedry Bros. bought the balance and erected a building west of Lock street and immediately south of the G.T.R track, and proceeded to close the laneway. They appeared before the Railway Commissioners for power to construct a railway siding. Representation was made to the Board that none but themselves were interested in the matter, and an order was made to proceed with the siding

Messrs. Anderson and Ash asked in the High Court for an order of injunction to stop Houedry Bros. and the G.T.R. from putting in the siding and Mr. Bennet on behalf of his clients applied to the Board to rescind the former order, and yesterday the Board made an order after finding that other property owners were interested, that Houedry Bros. and the G.T.R. must make a settlement or arbitrate otherwise the laneway must be re-opened.

The Telegram of yesterday says—Mr. Daniel O'Connell, for Houedry & Sons, argued that the siding was necessary for his clients.

But the lane is necessary for the others,' said the chairman. "If we had understood the facts the order of last fall would not have been issued. Anyhow, Mr. O'Connell your clients must settle with those property owners for blocking up that lane, or we'll cancel that order."

There was some argument over the matter of costs.

"Well," said the bluff chairman, "we never have made an order as to costs; we're not going to start now. The order of 5th September last will be amended, and unless the parties can come to some agreement as to compensation there will be an arbitration."

LAMENTABLE CONDITIONS

Of Family Near Burleigh—Children Now in Shelter

County Constable Cochrane returned last evening to the city, bringing with him two children, a young girl of about fourteen and a boy slightly younger, whom he took from a home in the vicinity of Burleigh Falls, that is said to have been in a most destitute condition. The children are reported to have been sadly neglected with scarcely any clothing to protect them from the late cold weather.

It is also reported that the father of the children will shortly be called upon to face a very serious charge.

The unfortunate are at present in the Children's Shelter, and the circumstances of the lamentable state of affairs are being inquired into by the county officials.

THEATRICAL

"THE SQUAW MAN"

"The Squaw Man" was presented to a large audience at the Grand last night by Clarence Bennett and Company. Everyone was highly pleased with the work of the artists, which was exceptionally good, especially that of George V. Dill, who took the character of "Jim Caraton," and was dubbed "The Squaw Man," by the other members of his community because he married a squaw, who had saved his life a couple of times. In spots the lines savored of the wild west and the presentation was at all times intensely interesting.

The play depicts the story of an English officer who came to Canada bearing the bane of guilt, for a deed committed by his cousin, for the sake of the cousin's wife, whom he loved. He went to Ute and started ranching, and having occasion once to stop a bad man when he attempted to kiss a squaw, the grateful squaw shot the troublesome one at another time when he was under the influence of liquor and about to shoot the Englishman. Again she saved Carston's life by nursing him out of the fever and later they were married. When his brother died he left a written confession and a lawyer was sent to tell the wanderer that he had come into the title. He could not take his wife amongst the aristocracy of London, so he decided to let his little son, the future Earl of Kerhill go back. The squaw could not understand it all, and being broken hearted at the loss of her child, she shot herself just as a sheriff arrived to arrest her for the shooting of several years before.

"The Arrival of Kitty" will be presented at the Grand to-morrow afternoon and night.

IT WAS A CRUSH

The announcement of Robert Fair's retirement, and that this immense Stock would be thrown open to the public at Wonderful Bargain Prices, in order to quickly dispose of it, brought such crowds of good value seekers that our staff was

STAGGERED BUT NOT DISCOURAGED

The first day was the scene of the greatest enthusiasm ever seen in the history of the store, and everybody went away happy on account of the big savings realized.

TEMPERANCE.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I notice that some of the correspondents are trying to give the temperance people the idea that the hotel keepers are the particular friends and allies of the Conservative party, especially at the late election. This is all by way of getting ready for the local. There is not one word of truth in it. The good old days when a certain man treated the hotel-keepers as his property are gone by, and don't you forget it. One of the strongest supporters of the Liberals was and is a white haired old gentleman who owns a hotel, who worked tooth and nail for the Liberal candidate, although he says he's a Conservative, &c. The bunco-steering has begun already. The Grits must be going to play the local option fiddle for all its worth this time. The temperance people are not so gullible as they used to be, and don't you forget it.

Yours truly,
ONE OF THEM.

The Plumb-line in Porto Rico.

Among the various discoveries made by men of science in their innumerable efforts to measure and map the earth with the least possible error are places where the direction of a plumb line is not vertical. Irregularities of density in the crust of the globe may produce this phenomenon. A remarkable instance in point was found in the island of Porto Rico, where the deviation from the vertical is so great that, in mapping the island, the northern and southern coast lines, as shown in the older maps, had each to be moved inward half a mile.

Nine-tenths of the things people quarrel over do not make any difference, one way or the other.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

THOMAS H. PRESTON

A native of Indiana, Mr. Preston now proprietor of the Brantford Expositor, was transferred across the line at a tender age, and gleaning all his education and life's experience in the Dominion, he may fairly be claimed as a good son of Canada. Clear of the school books, young Preston's mind ran on newspaper ..., and with a desire to know everything pertaining to the business he wisely decided to start at the bottom of the ladder, and went to the office of the Woodstock Sentinel as apprentice printer, subsequently transferring to the Stratford Beacon where he completed his term. In course of a few years Mr. Preston drifted into editorial work and in 1874 was appointed to the staff of the Ottawa Free Press, and was for a time member of the Press Gallery in the House of Commons, transferring to the Globe in 1881 and subsequently was managing Director and chief shareholder of the Winnipeg Sun, but purchased the Expositor in 1890 and moved to Brantford. Elected to the Legislature in 1899, and in 1902 and 1904, his other honors include the presidentship of the Canadian Press Association, and of the Brantford Board of Trade.

HON. JOHN HAGGART

John Haggart crossed the threshold of parliament when some of its present luminaries were being cared for in the nursery, and he has been one of its most picturesque and interesting figures ever since.

It was in 1872 that John Haggart, mayor of Perth, an ambitious and handsome young politician, first went to the electors as the Conservative candidate. His majority was some nine hundred odd. The men who voted for John in seventy-two are nearly all passed from this vale of tears, but their sons and their sons' sons have been steadfastly voting for the old war-horse ever since.

He is, perhaps, the oldest man that ever sat in the Dominion House. If he lives until November 11 he will celebrate then his seventy-sixth birthday, which it must be admitted is some age to be stumping and canvassing a constituency. Laurier is five years his junior, Hon. Wm. Paterson is three, and as for Fielding, he is quite a juvenile beside Hon. John. In the Senate, Sir Richard Cartwright is a year older, and Sir Mackenzie Bowell can look down upon the Lanark member with the added weight of thirteen winters.

He is one of the genuine picturesque figures who wend their way around Parliament Hill. In his younger days they say he was one of the handsome men in the House and one of the best groomed. He is still debonair, rido checked, with a fine mop of white hair: a sprightly and gay veteran is John Haggart.

When a woman is a little given to flirting, it is a great shock to her to find a man who will not return the ball when she throws it to him.

THE EARTH'S AGE

One of the most interesting results of Professor G. F. Becker's summing up of recent investigations as to the age of the earth is the general agreement in the figures arrived at by different methods. "These," as Professor Becker says, "seem to be mutually confirmatory, and to give results which converge towards some value near 60,000,000 or perhaps 55,000,000 years." And these figures approach more nearly to the time allowed by Lord Kelvin from physical consideration than to the practically unlimited period demanded by some evolutionists. One of the methods of estimating the age of the earth is by dividing the amount of salt in the ocean by that yearly carried in by the rivers of the globe. And Professor Becker draws attention to the remarkable fact that 200 years ago the famous astronomer Halley suggested a way of determining the age of the earth from the saltness of the ocean. "If," he said, "we determine the quantity of salt in the sea, and then some centuries after make a second determination, we may by the rule of proportion take an estimate of the whole time wherein the water would acquire the degree of saltness we at present find in it."

To Hear the Fly Tramp

The inferiority of the human sense organs to the instruments of science is pointed out by Dr. Carl Snyder. He says that whereas the human eye can see but little more than 3,000 stars in the heavens on the clearest of nights, the photographic plate and the telescope can discover countless millions. It is difficult for the eye to distinguish divisions of the inch if they are smaller than 1-200 of that unit of measure, yet a powerful microscope will make an object 1-10,000 of an inch in diameter look comparatively large. It would be a delicate ear which could hear the tramp of a fly, yet the microphone magnifies this sound until it sounds like the tramp of cavalry. The most sensitive skin cannot detect a change in temperature less than 1-5 of a degree, but the bolometer will register on a scale an increase or decrease of temperature of 1-1,000,000 of a degree, and can easily note the difference in temperature caused in a room when a match is lighted one mile away.

Rather Burn Than Pay

Mr. Lindsey Laring, a millionaire Boston sportsman, has just burned his yacht Eelin rather than pay the new annual tonnage tax on foreign-built yachts. Mr Laring, who is very fond of yachting, bought the Eelin years ago, but as she was built in England, she came under the law passed two years ago providing for an annual tax of seven dollars per gross ton on foreign-built yachts. The tax amounted to 511 dollars per year, and Mr. Laring declined to pay it. The tonnage tax on American-built yachts is only one dollar, and yachtsmen have been fighting the law as unconstitutional, being in fact nothing less than class legislation. Alternatively they claimed that the Act should not apply to yachts purchased abroad by Americans before the passage of the bill. The Courts, however, held that the Act was retrospective, and applied to foreign-built yachts regularly used in American waters, and Mr. Laring was one of those who lost their cases. Mr. Laring ordered his yacht to be burned, after removing the keel, masts, and rigging.

Almost any man is a match for the fellow who has money to burn.

Great Underground River

According to geologists, the greatest underground river in the world flows from the Rocky Mountains underneath New Mexico and Texas emptying itself in the Gulf of Mexico. This river is thought to be in places several miles wide, and it is believed that it feeds rivers that flow upon the surface. The artesian well-belt of Texas is pointed to as the uplifting of the water from this river often from eight hundred feet below.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

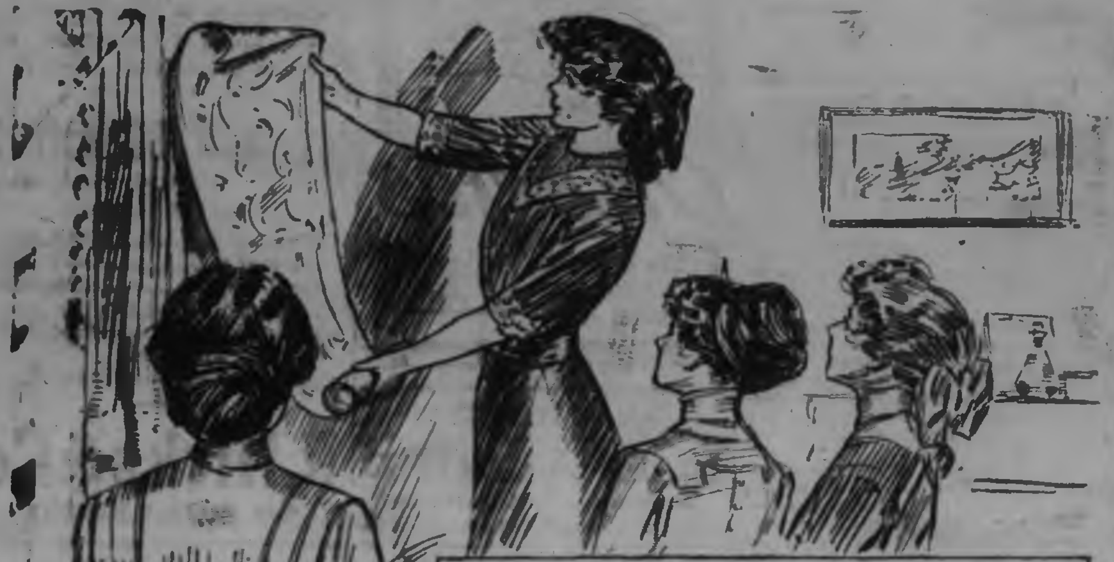
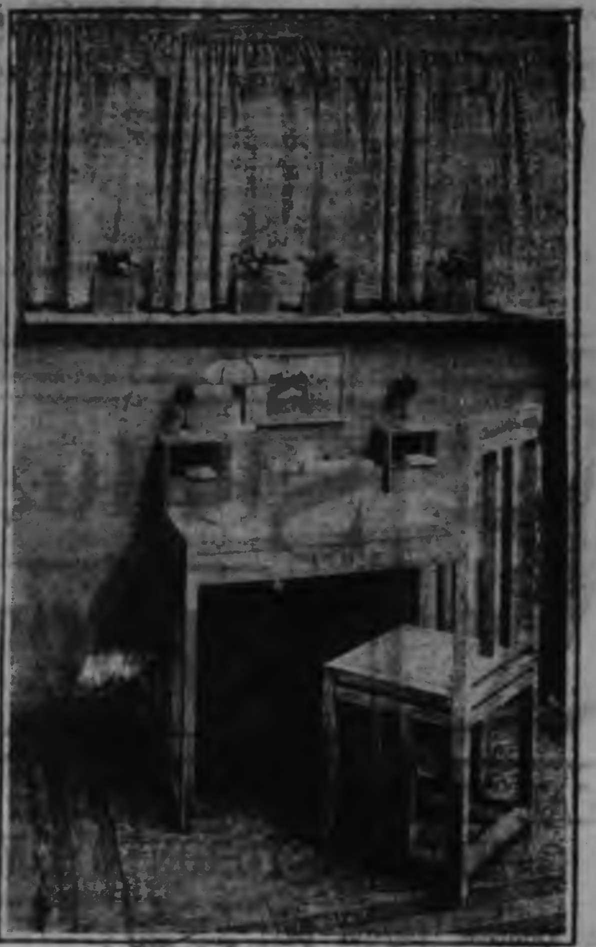
The Artistic Decoration of the Home--Interesting to Women Readers

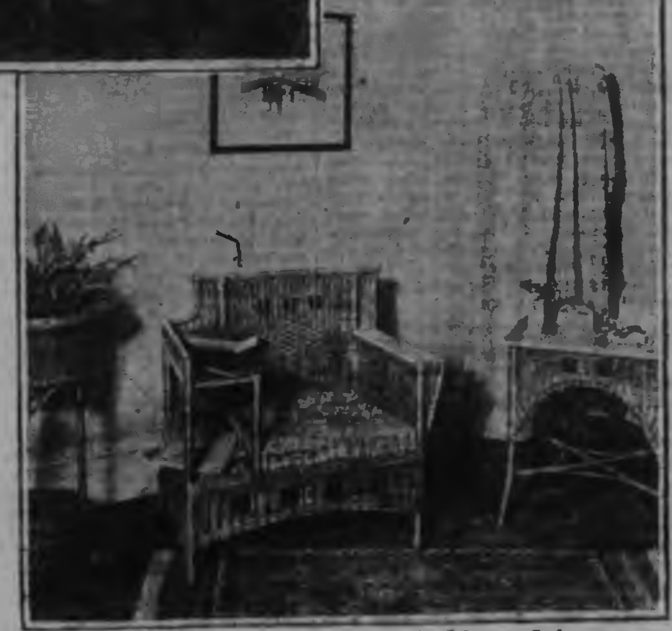


Showing Artistic Treatment of Walls with Stencil Designs

Decorative Window Treatment for a Girl's Boudoir



An Artistic Corner for a Girl's Den



Rattan Furniture of Special Design Is Often a Substitute for Wood

TO work out artistic color schemes for her own room, to study house decoration from a truly artistic standpoint, is the aim of any number of New York girls this season, and in one studio at least—that of two young women art workers in upper Fifth avenue—a class has been started for this very purpose. The girls are all from homes of luxury and the suggestion of the commercial has no part in their intention to become initiated into the mysteries of color harmony and all its attendant details.

The desire to know color values, the combination of materials, the style of furniture which different schemes demand, its proper placing in the general arrangement and the thousand and one details, for every one of which there is a reason and a rule, is the immediate cause of this sudden determination on the part of girls whose main diversion in life is, or will be, society, once they are fully launched for entering this new and untried field.

Back of their decision is the influence which the arts and crafts movement has exerted on the country. In addition there is the more intimate study of the home, which has been brought about by the classes for home makers started in nearly every one of the women's colleges in the country.

As the girl is essentially the homemaker in embryo, one of the really important things—quite as important as sanitation—is the beautification of the home, the ability to work out for herself a color scheme that will enable her not only to decorate her own rooms, those which come more nearly under her own control, but be able to detect discordant notes in the furnishings of the rest of the house.

In discussing the value of such a course for girls the art instructor said:—"A girl can work wonders in the home by cultivating her taste so as to be able to discriminate as to what is worthless and what is good. These young girls will before long have the supervision of their own homes, so that by studying the subject, by closely observing the harmony of color, for one color is a complement of another; by studying the proper arrangement of furniture, the right use of pictures, correct wall coverings, the most suitable treatment for different apartments with reference to their use, lighting and location and the pros and cons of every other important detail, she will be saved at least from making the faux pas that other homemakers, and it may be her very mother, made before her.

"NEARLY every one has a sense of color values, though generally speaking it has to be cultivated. The experience of every one of us, I am sure, is the agony we suffered in some homes we have entered by reason of the discordant element in the furnishings. It may be the pattern of the carpet, the designs of the wall paper or the gaudy colors in the upholstering that have set our teeth on edge, or it may be a thousand and one other things of lesser note. It is to correct just such tendencies as these that I am taking these girls in hand.

"I shall start first by giving them certain materials and having them work out color schemes according to their own notion, then show them where they have erred. I think I can give you no better idea of the sort of drilling they will receive than in making suggestions which will serve to illustrate the danger marks they will encounter. Take wall covering for example. In choosing a paper the use for which the room is to be put is to be taken into consideration, the lighting, and whether the draperies are to be rich in quality or simple in texture.

"As tapestries would be out of place in a simple home, so would a light, characterless paper be undesirable in a room hung with rich damask. Burlap is one of the wall coverings which are safe to use for either a handsome home or a simple cottage. Bear in mind that it is quite possible to combine comfort and artistic effect in furnishing a house, and this applies to wall paper as to everything else.

"In buying furniture one must naturally be governed by the size of the room, and not use furniture that is obviously out of proportion. While it is not necessary to keep wholly to one style of furniture, it is inadvisable to combine articles of different woods in the same room. One suggestion not out of place here is not to buy furniture finished with varnish. It is inartistic and impracticable, as it scratches easily. Buy nothing that is not useful or beautiful.

"When it comes to floor-coverings, there should be a decided harmony between the floors and the walls, though the carpets or rugs should be stronger in tone than the former. The floors, walls and ceiling should show a gradation of shades of the same color from darkest up to light.

"LARGE patterns either in wall paper or carpets should be rigorously eschewed. Turkish rugs are not only sanitary but, as a rule, safe floor coverings, though in buying them it is well to appeal to the wisdom of an expert in the line, since nowadays so much fakism is charged up to the account of a good many persons who deal in rugs. One woman in New York is a rug broker and spends all her time in selecting fine rugs for her clients, who come or send to her from all over the country. She has visited the great rug centres and has written a number of books on rugs, so that her advice is to be respected.

"In selecting the colors for an apartment reference should be had to the lighting, whether the aspect is north or south. A north rooms calls for warm coloring, while the southern exposure needs cool tones. Then care should be exercised in the selection of colors. Get those that are restful. It is a well known fact nowadays that certain colors exert definite effect upon certain people, causing more or less annoyance and discomfort.

"To many persons yellow is a constant tonic, the effect of its radiance being like that exerted by the caloric rays of the sun, which cheers one up in spite of oneself. One young girl has made this discovery, and whenever she feels herself likely to have an attack of the 'blues' hies herself to the guest room and stays until it wears off. Red is probably the most abused color of all, for it is overpowering in a small room and at night absorbs the light to such an extent that it is difficult to light the apartment attractively.

"A rich deep red might be used in a large, spacious apartment, like a hall or a library, but, generally speaking, it is a color best left out of one's calculations in furnishing a house. In the brighter tones it has even been known to cause insanity in highly nervous persons.

"In furnishing any room it is always best to study out the color scheme first for restful ensemble. In these days of strenuous living nothing will be more greatly appreciated than restful surroundings. Don't have things around that are not used and have no real beauty in themselves. Feel the need and then fill the need, and all who enter the room will be constrained to remark, 'What a comfortable room!' whether they appreciate the underlying reason or not.

"DON'T overcrowd the apartment. The entire beauty of a room is lost when there is a hodgepodge of furniture and knick-knacks in it. Good furniture needs proper space to show it off. In arranging a room it is always well to consider the aspect of the adjoining apartment. Study the outlook from every quarter where it is visible and create pleasing pictures wherever possible. Figure each piece of furniture out, the place where it should go. If there happens to be a window with a good reading light, then place a chair where the light will fall properly over the reader's shoulder. For night reading have comfortable chairs where one can see without straining one's eyes. Have a reason for everything.

"Hanging pictures is another difficulty that many women have to contend with. A picture appropriately hung should be on a level with the eye and not up under the picture rail where it is entirely out of one's line of vision. One law that is very frequently violated in our home is the law of contrast. Plain backgrounds are much to be preferred for pictures to those that show a decided pattern. Dull gold grass cloth makes charming backgrounds, and as this comes in green gold, copper lustre and a silvery tone, there is a pleasing variety to select from.

"Proper window draping is one of the most difficult details of housefurnishing—at least difficult for the average woman and wholly hopeless in the hands of the average house decorator. There is no individuality in having lace hangings at one's windows nowadays and frequently they are wholly out of place. To think up some artistic materials in a shade that harmonizes with the color scheme of the room is one of the delights of the artist in this line, and this feature lends greater individuality to the home than almost any other except, perhaps, attractive methods of using artifical light.

"Cream net curtains are always in good taste, and with the addition of some soft silk to soften the glare inside one can not go far astray or depart a great ways from the tenets of good taste. These are only a few suggestions to show how much there is to learn, and of the immediate value of such knowledge to the average girl, who, generally speaking, has never before given the matter a thought. I am enthusiastic over my new class and am expecting great things of them in the future. At any rate I mean to instil in their minds the difference between good and bad art in house decoration, and there is no doubt in my mind that it will have a lasting effect on their lives."

There is still another studio in Thirty-third street where girls study house decoration, and where the artists carry the work on in a little different way, in that they are themselves designers of furniture and are constantly bringing out stunning pieces of woodcraft to illustrate certain points in artistic construction or to create a piece of furniture for some special spot. Oak stained gray is largely used, and the effect is delightful combined with the soft gray hangings and wall paper of the same shade, which is now so much used. The work here will constitute a sort of post graduate course in the art of furniture design, so that between the two schools of instruction the pupils will have a foundation which would, if need be, suffice for a commercial career, though in every case the girls are studying for their own pleasure or to supplement an art course.

Glove Modes and Glove Care.

MANY varieties of smart looking gloves have been brought out for autumn and winter service. A sort that is easily drawn on and perfectly adapted to the requirements of the girl who attends a city day school is the piqué sewed one clasp mocha in black, slate or tan.

Equally serviceable and certain to give satisfactory wear are the natural colored washable chamois and doeskin gloves fastening with several large self-covered buttons, the one clasp tan or black castor and the dogskin of mannish cut in oak shades. Exceptionally smart for walking as well as for riding and driving are the English hand sewn cape gloves, which fasten with a single big brass button, have spear embroidered backs and come in brown tones as well as white and black. For a girl approaching the débutante period there is no driving glove quite so dainty as that of heavily stitched white glace gauntleted with black kid.

Dress gloves of lambskin and French kid vary in length from two to eight buttons and some of them fasten with three or four pearl clasps. It is possible to obtain these gloves in a shade matching almost any costume and it is best not to chose those with elaborately embroidered back, as that sort of ornamentation draws attention to the size of the hands. If a girl has not the exclusive services of a maid and not much time to devote to the care of her wardrobe, she would do well to buy mousquetaires whenever possible, since nothing looks quite so untidy as a glove from which one or more buttons are missing.

Best of all for motoring are the lined lambskin gloves of eight button length in mousquetaire style, and for very cold weather there is nothing to equal the comfort of knitted worsted gauntlets.

This season more light gloves than ever are to be worn at the theatre. For a short time it seemed as though the omnipresent long white glace had run its fashionable course and that darker hues would be adopted, but just now the tans most in favor are decidedly of a yellow tone and the grays verge closely upon the pearl tints. White glace gloves of elbow or twenty-four button length are good style with all evening frocks of delicate hue, and next in favor are the very palest shades of straw, ciel and rose. These tints are worn only with costumes which they precisely match.

The life of a glove, as every girl doubtless knows, depends largely upon the care bestowed upon it. To lay away, no matter how smoothly, a pair of gloves that are damp with perspiration is to invite that speedy decay which causes the kid to suddenly split. Moreover, the odor of the perspiration lingers and is liable to contaminate the entire contents of the glove case.

Gloves that have been continuously worn for several hours should be hung in some place where the air can fumigate them, and before putting them away a little talcum powder should be shaken inside them. This rule specially applies to evening gloves, which, being of thinner kind, are more easily decayed, and for the same reason they should not be permitted to get badly soiled, as in that case the professional cleaner can scarcely avoid tearing them.

It is far more economical to have the expensive long gloves cleaned after each wearing than to use them several times and run the risk of having them destroyed by hard rubbing.

To roll the gloves in a ball after removing them does more damage than any other sort of maltreatment. Another bad habit is that of jerking at the tips, which strains both the seams and the base of the fingers.

Every girl should have one of the little glove darners of celluloid, mother of pearl, or hard wood, so that when repairing a rip the fingers need not be drawn out of shape or puckered. She should also provide herself with thread of every requisite shade, in order that she may always be prepared to make repairs, and if wise she will cut the buttons from all discarded gloves and preserve them against the time when they certainly will be needed. All these little rules are simple and their observation will go far toward preserving a ladylike appearance.

SOCIAL AMENITIES FOR THE SCHOOL GIRL

EVERY living being, young or old, rich or in humblest surroundings, has some influence over some one, and directly or indirectly over every one with whom he or she comes in contact.

The average normal girl if she dwells on the subject at all places the idea of influence as an attribute belonging exclusively to her parents or her school teachers, it is something which goes with age and consequent wisdom. But there is no theory a girl can have that is so astray as this one.

From the tiniest baby whose cry will disturb a household to the unreasonable old men or women whom nothing pleases now, because all through life the first thought has been of self, there is no age at which the influence of a human person is not felt. What a different atmosphere there is in the home when the baby is a lovely thing of smiles and happiness, and what a delight it is to meet dear old ladies or gentlemen who at the last turning point in their lives are still pleased at the least courtesy that is shown to them; contented with their lot in life and as interested as ever in all the doings and happenings of the young people about them.

There are lessons to be learned from both ages. In many households the daughter of the family is required to take the place of a small child—she is petted and indulged and her every wish gratified, as only an only daughter can be. In return surely the least she can do is to show appreciation of this affection and generosity by always being in a good humor, always trying to shed an atmosphere of happiness and love in her home. This is what the little baby does, and even though she may have attained full sixteen years or more it is a pity if she has lost the power to smile and laugh when smiles and laughs are needed, or to make all those around love her at a time when perhaps an atmosphere of love can accomplish a world of good.

Until she marries and often until she dies a daughter will always be but a lovable baby in the hearts of her fond mother and father, and if she will make them truly happy she will keep alive that picture to the extent of her power.

The old people, too, have many lessons to teach the daughter of the house. If she is the eldest of many sisters and brothers her place is clearly there as helper and adviser.

Like the dear old people who have lived their life, yet still are interested in all that exists for a younger generation, she can be a real help to the small sister with her first problems to worry over at kindergarten or the younger brothers with their first real lessons, which at first always seem so hard.

These times are still within recent memory for her and she should be able to give great help through her own experience. But even if she has not yet reached the pinnacle where she is sought out as a counsellor and help by her brothers and sisters, her influence is there just as strong as ever. If she allows herself to become lazy and shirk what incentive is there for the younger sister? If she is cross and says unkind words when the day has not gone well what example is there for the young brothers in the practice of restraint.

It is not only within the boundaries of her home that a girl's influence or example is felt. Often and often an entire clique of girls is made to bear the reputation of one of its members. If there is one girl especially charming her friends inevitably rise in the estimation of outsiders, just as a girl who makes herself conspicuous for her bad manners or hoydenish ways is sure to cast some slur likewise upon her companions.

While this outside opinion is often unfair, it is inevitable that every one is influenced to some extent by a friend with whom much time is spent. Be the example for good or ill, each character is bound to feel the effect of a friend's nature, the finer and stronger personality not so much but just as surely as the weaker.

It is a pity, too, that young girls should not realise this fact more—they should look for the weak points in their friends and take care that they do not develop like tendencies. They should down the undesirable qualities as much for their own sake as the others, for perhaps the friend will try to follow their example of never making an unkind criticism, of being always gracious, of firm loyalty to other friends or whatever the trait in question may be.

But even beyond the realm of one's intimate friends the power of influence is exerted. The girls in any particular class are sure to be spurred on to greater efforts if there is one girl who is especially conscientious and does better work than they, but the entire school, all ages and all grades also, receives an impetus when, at the monthly or yearly reading of reports, the names are given of those whose work is excellent.

Even the persons whom one passes in the streets are cheered by a bright and cheerful face and unconsciously depressed by a countenance that is cross and ill humored.

How much more is the acquaintance influenced who receives a warm handshake, as from an interested friend, instead of a curt nod. Just a few words and questions to show a genuine good will will do more toward winning a reputation for good manners and charm combined than any amount of stiff and studied politeness.

Two Automobile Conveniences.

TO thoroughly enjoy motoring one wants to be entirely comfortable physically, and the girl who expects to spend many days in an automobile will have much more pleasure if she has everything ready for that particular form of amusement.

The proper kind of hat, veil, &c., is a very important part of one's equipment, but most necessary of all is plenty of warm clothing, especially as the weather grows colder.

A great help in this matter of keeping warm is an Angora wool waistcoat. The fine soft Angora wool, which is generally used for making babies' caps, makes the warmest kind of a waistcoat and is so deliciously soft and pliable that it does not give one any feeling of being bundled up. With one of these waistcoats on under it, the outer coat need not be especially thick; indeed a girl can wear her summer pongee coat and be quite comfortable.

The waistcoat can be bought, but not everywhere, and the girl who wants one will not find it much trouble to knit it for herself. If she does not know how to knit, her mother will probably do it for her and the wool can always be bought with no trouble.

One of the small drawbacks to the pleasure of motoring is the jar caused by the motion of the machine, especially when going fast. This jarring can be lessened by using a pneumatic footstool. These footstools have recently been made especially for automobiles and are a great comfort. A footstool of any kind is desirable for most girls, for automobiles generally seem to be planned for very tall persons, but the pneumatic stool is far better than any other and lessens very much the feeling of being shaken up.

LOCAL TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE; GAME WITH TORONTO Y.M.C.A.

Good Contest Should be Witnessed at Riverside Park Tomorrow Afternoon

The W.E.A.C. pigskin chasers had a grand workout against the Collegiate Institute team last-night, which helped Manager Oldham and Captain Denison, size-up the result of their labors. Though the Collegiate boys were very much lighter than the Petes, they gave the city representatives a hrd run. Hogan, Elliott, Turner and Minorgan were not out and substitutes had to be used, while the students were without Gilbert, who played with Captain Denison's fourteen.

The boys from Central Park, tackled like fiends, and it was hard for the Petes to get away for much of a gain. There were not many sensational plays during the contest, though Eastwood, captain of the school team made a nice forty yard run, through a broken field and over the Petes' line. He got clear away again but could not stand the pace, and was overtaken by Denison and Craig.

The Petes are getting their signals down to perfection and will be in the best of shape for the game to-morrow. Langley and Gilbert were a little overanxious last night and lost yards several times by getting away too fast When there is a signal called for a punt they are right down the field in short order waiting for any fumbles and ready to stop their opponents running the ball back. The remainder of the wing line has the weight and the players know their signals fairly well. The back division with the addition of Minorgan, will be fast though light. They were not very sure with their hands last night, only Denison and Craig being able to take a punt or pass without fumbling. The lack of daylight practice was very much in evidence in this respect.

The Y.M.C.A. team will be working like a machine after a hard training and the locals are not taking any chances on presenting a weak line-up. No doubt a large number of fans will find their way to Riverside to-morrow to see the battle. There will only be two games in this group, points to count, and the Petes have their work cut out for them to attain a sufficient lead to make it impossible for the Torontos to overcome it at Scarboro Beach.

The line-up for to-morrow's game will be as follows—

Fullback—Craig
Halves—Denison, Minorgan, Corkery or Eastwood.
Quarter—Johnston.
Scrimmage—Bearss, Hill, Ecclestone,
Inside Wings—Thompson, Turner.
Middle Wings—Hogan, Davidson.
Outside Wings—Gilbert, Langley.
Spares—Leahy, Stewart, Wallis, Elliott, Caniff and Kirn.

WILL THE GIANTS REPEAT ?

In the world's series of 1905, the New York Giants took four wins while the Athletics had to be content with one. Will the McGraw machine repeat in the 1911 series? No one can tell despite all the dope which the fans have fed on for the past few weeks in particular.

The indications are that new records will be made in attendances, and with fine weather at the Polo grounds to-morrow the sight will be a wonderful one in many respects. Locally, interest is high, and the results of the first game will be awaited eagerly. These will be given as soon as the wires can tell by the Review. The list of winners in previous world's series as given below will be interesting:

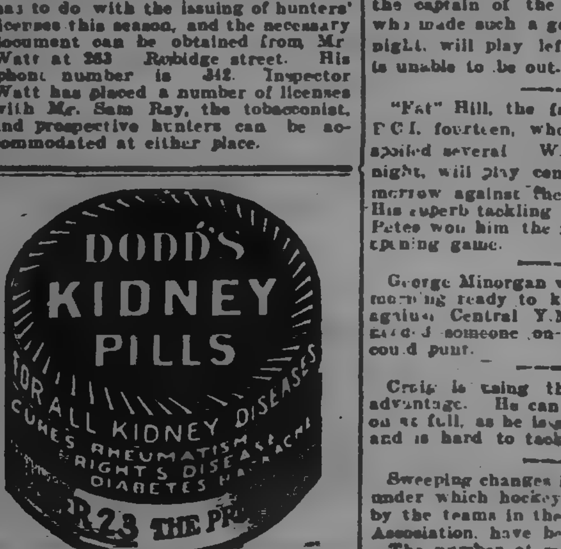
GOLF

The match for the president's prize between mixed foursomes will take place to-morrow, (Saturday) afternoon. Contestants are requested to be at the club house not later than 1.45 p.m. This will enable the draw to be made early. The players are invited to tea as the guest of the president, after the match. This is a handicap match.

HUNTERS' LICENSES

Game and Fishery Inspector Watt has to do with the issuing of hunters' licenses this season, and the necessary document can be obtained from Mr Watt at 263 Rubidge street. His phone number is 342. Inspector Watt has placed a number of licenses with Mr. Sam Ray, the tobacconist, and prospective hunters can be accommodated at either place.



SPORT TALK

Corkery wrenched some ligaments in his leg last night and may not be able to play to-morrow. Eastwood the captain of the Collegiate team, who made such a good showing last night, will play left half if Corkery is unable to be out.

"Fat" Hill, the fast quarter of the P.C.I. fourteen, whose flying tackles spoiled several W.E.A.C. gains last night, will play centre scrimmage to-morrow against the Toronto team. His superb tackling against the heavy Petes won him the right to play the opening game.

George Minorgan will be here in the morning ready to kick for the locals against Central Y.M.C.A. The Petes need someone on centre half who could punt.

Craig is using the "short-arm" to advantage. He can be depended upon at full, as he is sure with his hands and is hard to tackle.

Sweeping changes in the regulations under which hockey has been played by the teams in the National Hockey Association, have been made.

The number of men constituting a team, is to reduced from seven men to six, the position of rover being abolished. The reasons for this change were not made public. In addition, every player is to be numbered, so that spectators may the more easily follow the progress of the game. Further, each team must have a uniform of distinctive color, several of the teams last year being attired in costumes very similar. Fresh players will be permitted to be substituted at any period during the game.

Ben Simpson will officiate in the Argo-Montreal game with George Kingston to-morrow in Montreal.

If Pete Campbell, the Varsity quarter ever gets the ball in an openfield to-morrow, it will be "Good Night!"

Young Verney Hayes, the Peterborough boy surely has the goods in his little bundle of bone and muscle. Although the footing was somewhat treacherous last night on account of the rain the kid put on a nice kicking show. With a little more coaching by Father Stanton and some experience the youngster should develop into one of the best men in the college league. —Ottawa Free Press.

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT

The duke invited Sir Charles and Lady Fitzpatrick, Col. Sherwood, Col. Gladen and one or two others to dinner with him on board ship.

At 11 o'clock Premier Borden arrived in Quebec with the members of the Cabinet. They went to the Chateau Frontenac, where an impromptu reception was held in the lobby.

Everything is in readiness for the swearing in and reception yesterday. The city is in gala attire, the stores, the stations, the wharves, being covered with bunting. The City Hall has been especially decorated with colored lights, and altogether the ancient capital has an appearance worthy of the momentous occasion.

There was a well-defined rumor that Earl Grey had dined with the Duke of Connaught on board the Empress of Britain. The statement of the secretary was that, according to etiquette and custom, the two Governor-Generals are not supposed to be on colonial territory at the same time. This rule was not broken. It is claimed that until the Duke of Connaught leaves the steamer and puts foot on land, he is still theoretically at sea, and to avoid criticism, however, the visit was made as secret as possible.

Don't limp about in pain when you slip on the sidewalk and get a sprain, or get a bad twist at your recreation. Rub in Zam-Buk. It eases pain.

Mr Clarence D. Black, Legal Department, Transcontinental Railway, Ottawa, writes: "I have used Zam-Buk, with very satisfactory results, but I did not know its full value until just recently when I fell from a street car and badly sprained my ankle. I immediately applied Zam-Buk, and am pleased to say that it has proved invaluable to me. The sprain was soon cured."

Bear in mind that Zam-Buk is used by all the famous football teams, all the best trainers, and all the leading athletes. Men who are at sport all the time—whose living depends upon their keeping "fit," find Zam-Buk the surest way to fitness. They are the best judges. Mothers! use it when the children get hurt!

In addition to its use for sprains, stiffness, rheumatism and sciatica, Zam-Buk is eminently useful for skin injuries and diseases. Blood-poison, festering sores and ulcers, etc., it quickly cures. Also cures cuts, burns, scalds, chapped hands, cold sores, varicose veins, bad leg, eczema, ringworm, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Sudden Death.

Canfield, Ont., Oct. 13.—William Thornton, a retired farmer, who lived alone close to the village, died very suddenly at noon Wednesday. He walked to the field to inform a man who was plowing of a severe pain in his chest, returned to the house, where he was found lifeless half an hour later. Heart failure is supposed to be the cause.

BEEN SNEEZING LATELY?

Hay Fever Blamed But Few People Get Sneezes From Hay, and There's No Immediate Death Danger.

The alleged "hay fever" season is now operating on full time and sneezing is general in the land, notwithstanding the more or less earnest efforts of the members of the Hay Fever Association which is alleged to have been in operation on the American Continent for close on forty years.

Hay fever is never "caught", we are told. A victim must have the tendency to develop the sneezing habit. He may develop it at seven and he may develop it at twenty-seven; but if it is in him, he will develop it, sooner or later, depend on that. There is something so dreadfully certain about hay fever. It comes, and nothing can turn it away. Doctors may claim to cure it. The man who has had hay fever thinks they deceive him. Their assertions are delusions, and their cures are snares. They may banish the awful explosions in one's bronchial tubes—corresponding to the explosions in the carbureter of a gasoline engine—for a brief time. But as for permanent relief — never.

Still, there are some consolations in hay fever. It seldom gets worse with age and few people have ever been known to die of it. Now and then you hear of some stout person of apoplectic tendencies being overcome by a paroxysm of sneezes, but after all, that kind of person is apt to explode with fatal consequences, one way or another.

The facts of the matter are that people who have hay fever or asthma, which is often confounded with hay fever generally live to a ripe old age. They may sneeze on their death beds, to be sure; but the sneeze will not kill them. Some doctors are even disposed to the possibly cynical belief that hay fever is an indication of longevity.

One might go on through an almost endless list of remedies. Injections of alcohol, cocaine, menthol, adrenalin and margol, air heated by electric lamps, these and many other queer means of relief are all seriously considered, weighed, and endorsed or found wanting, according to the individual experiences of individual sufferers. For the queerest thing of all about hay fever, is the fact that it never affects any two persons in the same way, and no relief, no matter how good it is, has ever proved anything like unanimous in its operation.

But, after all, hay fever any way you look at it, is not what it pretends to be, nine times out of ten. Very few people get the sneezes from hay, and as a conclusive and final indictment of hay fever, the worst that can be said against it is that it is not a native product. It slipped in long ago and it has propagated like the English sparrows. To be exact, in the days when this country was covered by forests, the hay fever particular sneeze was unknown. The red men never did it, and the first generation of colonists probably escaped it. Not because they were "hardy pioneers." The hardy pioneers have always escaped hay fever, not because they were hardy, but because they were pioneers. But with the pioneers came cultivation, and wtih cultivation came the introduction of the poisonous gases, plants, flowers, and weeds, the pollen of which started the disease, and roads which gave off dust. And then.

Sherlock Out-Holmes'd

A short time ago a large factory fitted with the most modern appliances, including electric light, caught fire, and, despite the most strenuous efforts of the fire brigade, was almost demolished.

The following morning a newly appointed member of the police force was despatched to the shop to see how the fire originated. After closely questioning the manager of the factory, he asked to see the man who was responsible for the electric light.

The manager stated that the electric switches were under his sole control.

"Then you are the man that lights up the electric affair?" said the policeman.

Manager—"That is so."

Policeman, bubbling over with excitement.—"Now, be careful how you answer my next question, 'cos if it ain't satisfactory, it will be took as evidence against ye. When you lighted the electric light last night, where did you throw the match?"

Breaking the Hat-Pin

Berlin's Chief Constable is dealing with the hat-pin danger in a very pointed manner. Some months ago he issued a courteous appeal to the fair inhabitants of the city requesting them not to wear dangerously long needles in their headdress without covering the points with protecting sheaths. This appeal, however, does not appear to have met with the desired compliance, and the Chief has now proceeded to stronger measures. A woman whose unprotected hat-pin inflicts a wound on another person is now liable to a fine of $220 and to a term of imprisonment not exceeding two years, in addition to which the injured party may claim damages up to $1,500.

Blind Shorthand Writers

A Jewish contemporary puts on record the remarkable feat of Mr. Maurice Myers, who reported the whole of the discussions at the recent conference at Exeter, Eng. on the treatment of the blind, and adds the interesting fact that his notes were recorded on a narrow strip of paper which extended to a length of two and a quarter miles. The idea of shorthand note taking by the blind is, of course, not new to Britain, for it is well known as one of the principal subjects taught to the sightless at the Birmingham Royal Institution for the Blind. Mr. Myers was trained at the Birmingham institution, and his speed is 158 words a minute — rather above the average speed of the seeing stenographer.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

THE SOUND OF OUR VOICE

Experiments Support Contention That Everyone Hears His Own Voice Differently From Others.

That a man does not hear his own voice as all the rest of the world hears it is shown by an interesting experiment described by Dr. L. Laloy in La Nature (Paris). Says this writer:

"If a person records on a phonograph a few sentences pronounced by himself, together with others by his friends, and causes the machine to reproduce these at the end of a brief period, it generally happens that he easily recognizes his friends' voices, but not his own. On the other hand, the friends recognize his voice perfectly. This singular fact proves that every one hears his own voice differently from others.

"As is remarked by Professor Exner, the difference must lie in the quality of tone. It must be remembered that one hears his own voice not only through the air, as do his auditors, but across the solid parts situated between the organs of speech and those of hearing. The sound thus produced has a different timbre from that conducted to the ear by air alone.

"We may show this as follows: Take the end of a wooden rod between the teeth and pronounce a vowel continuously. Let the other end be alternately taken between the teeth and released by another person, who at the same time stops his ears. The latter will find that every time he seizes the rod in his teeth the sound becomes stronger than when it reaches his ear through air alone, and has a different quality. The experiment may be varied by applying a wooden rod to the larynx of the person observed and touching it, from time to time, to the observer's own larynx. As in the preceding case, it will be found that its passage through a solid body augments the itensity of the sound and modifies its quality."

SOUND IN THE UNIVERSE.

We live and move at the bottom of an ocean of air, the earth's atmosphere. One consequence of this is that every mechanical disturbance starts waves of compression and rarefaction, which radiate out from the source, and, striking the drum of our ear, may (if of the right strength and quality) cause in us the sensation of "sound." Among such sensations some affect us merely as "noises"; in others we recognize a more or less well-defined "musical pitch," and "tone quality." Physically the "noise" differs from the "musical note" in that the former is an irregular disturbance, while the latter is periodic and of definite frequency. Not that there is any hard and fast line of demarkation; a rapid succession of impulses, which separately would be mere noises, may impress the ear with a definite sense of pitch. Thus the teeth of a saw, cutting in rapid sequence through a wooden board, produce a sound of definite pitch, though lacking perhaps in musical quality. Or, again, a sharp noise of brief duration, proceeding from a point in the neighbourhood of a series of equidistant obstacles, such as a line of fence-rails, or a flight of stone steps, produces upon the observer a sensation in which a more or less well-defined pitch can be recognized. The explanation of this phenomena is that the sound is reflected back from each fence-rail in turn, and since it takes time to travel, each echo reachs the observer a trifle later than that from the neighbouring rail.

To Make Light in a Bottle.

A safe light for going about at night or where there are inflammable materials, as into a store-room, may be made as follows: Take a long glass bottle and put into it a piece of phosphorus the size of a pea; upon this pour pure olive oil heated to the boiling point until this bottle is about one-third full and cork tightly. When light is needed take the cork out and allow the air to enter, subsequently recorking. The empty space in the bottle will then become luminous and give quite an effective light. If it becomes dim it can easily be revived by uncorking the bottle for a few seconds. One bottle will last a whole winter. Small bottles may also be prepared in this way and carried in the pocket.

Small but Strong.

The Katydid, which is closely allied to the grasshopper family, is something of a hauler for its avoirdupois. Recently, an average looking specimen was harnessed to a kind of sledge made by folding a piece of ordinary notepaper, and then loaded the sledge with various articles. The insect proved able to draw, in addition to the original paper, twelve paper sheets each three by four and a half inches, a large screw, two steel pens, a stone weighing two ounces, and three and a half lead pencils. When the weight became too heavy to draw otherwise the katydid got its fore feet over the edge of the table for a better hold, and on addition of another weight it increased the adhesive power of its feet by moistening them in its mouth.

How Deserts are Formed

There is a popular idea that deserts like the Sahara are the bottoms of ancient seas which have been lifted above their original elevation by geological forces. This notion is an erroneous one. It is absolutely certain, high authorities contend, that the sands of all the great deserts have been formed on the spot by the disintegration of the solid rocks on which they rest. Desert sands correspond in all respects, so far as their mode of origin is concerned, to the dust and sand that accumulates on our high roads in summer. All deserts are situated where the winds from the ocean, before reaching them, are exhausted of their moisture by passing over mountains or across extensive tracts of land.

THE LIBERAL LEADERSHIP

Those who are in a position to know are greatly amused at the effort being made to create the impression that Mr. Stratton will enter the provincial contest as the opponent of Mr. Peck. As a matter of fact, an astute politician like Mr. Stratton usually sees farther than his nose, and in the present case, prospects of future benefit through such a candidature are so slim that it is scarcely likely that he would entertain the proposition.

The amusing part of the affair is that these boosters of Mr. Stratton's candidature believe that, if elected, he could get the leadership of the Ontario opposition. While of course, the leading of a forlorn hope of a score of members, against nearly eighty government members, might be a desirable post, we are inclined to doubt it. If A. G. Mackay is sick of the post, the position would sicken any man. The Liberal party in Ontario is disorganized, but even at that, it is doubtful if it would be willing to be lead by Mr. Stratton, in view of the fact that he was a member of the discredited Ross government.

What the Liberal part in Ontario wants, and must have before it attains to power, is not a politician with twenty-five years record behind him, but a new man, who can regenerate the party, who is bright enough and strong enough to break away from the reactionary Toryism of the Toronto Globe and Toronto Star in regard to public policies, and can swing into line the discouraged and discredited sections of once great Liberalism.

This will not be accomplished while the Whitney government maintains its present strength and progressiveness. The regeneration of the Liberals in Ontario must be a slow and substantial building, as the Montreal Witness (Liberal) points out, and without in the least trying to make a political point, we do not believe that the Liberal party would be well advised in seeking a politician past his prime, as a leader. Mr. Mackay has done all that can be done, under the circumstances.

It is not to be regarded as probable that Mr. Stratton would like to sit in opposition with a handful of discouraged Liberals in the Ontario house. The Liberals need strength from young and progressive sources, not from those whose political careers have passed their zenith.

ROYALISTS IN PORTUGAL ARE DEFEATED, BUT RECEIVE HELP

Monarchists Reported to Have Retreated Into Spain—Manuel is Willing to Let His Claim to Throne Rest on Result of an Election.

Lisbon, (via frontier) Oct. 14.—It is reported here that a part of the Royalist command left Serra da Corda and retreated across the border into Spain, where they were reinforced and again re-entered Portugal. The reinforced column aggregates about 2,500 men. A newspaper here says the Royalists are armed with Kropatschek, Mauser and Remington rifles, and that there are about 4,000 of them along the Spanish-Portuguese frontier. The newspaper says, however, that they seem greatly disheartened.

It is rumored that a fight took place Thursday night in which the Royalists sustained heavy losses and were forced to retreat. Details of this engagement are not yet obtainable here.

The Republicans have four batteries of heavy artillery at Serra da Pilar, and much surprise has been caused by their never being brought into action against the Monarchists. The newspaper Novivades says a document has been discovered which shows that the Monarchists distributed $80,000 among the artillerymen with the proviso that they should not be fired upon. This statement has caused a sensation here and the Government has started an enquiry.

It has been ascertaned that Captain Couciere, the leader of the Royalists, has made another appeal to the Brazilian Monarchists for $2,500,000 which he says is necessary for the purchase of additional arms, ammunition and provisions.

It is now known that a secret arrangement exists between ex-King Manuel and the pretender of the throne, Dom Miguel of Braganza, whereby, if the Monarchists are victorious, general elections shall be held throughout Portugal to decide whether Manuel or Dom Miguel shall be king. In case Manuel is chosen, the decree banishing Dom Miguel's family will be revoked and his entire family will return to Portugal as royal princes and receive an aggregate of $100,000 annually.

Moreover, in case of the death of Manuel, it has been agreed that his uncle, the Duke of Oporto, being childless, the eldest son of Dom Miguel, Prince Miguel of Braganza, who married Anita Stewart of New York, shall succeed to the throne. A further provision of the agreement is that if Dom Miguel is elected king, a heavy indemnity shall be paid to Manuel.

According to the latest advices, however, neither party to the agreement apparently has much chance of success, as the Republican form of government seems firmly implanted in Portugal.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT IS SWORN IN AS THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Duke Rides Through Gaily Decorated Streets of Old Quebec---Entertained by Dominion Government at Luncheon---Cheers of Thousands En Route.

Quebec, Oct. 14.—Amid the cheering of the hospitably minded citizens of the ancient capital, Canada's royal Governor-General, the Duke of Connaught, accompanied by the duchess, landed yesterday at the King's Wharf, and, preceded by a mounted guard, passed through bunting bedecked streets to the Parliament buildings, where the ceremony of administering the oath of office to His Royal Highness was held.

The scene was an impressive one.

Seated round the table in the Legislative Council Chamber were Hon. R. L. Borden and the members of the Dominion Cabinet. On the right of the dias was seated the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, and on the other side were the judges of the Supreme Court in their robes of office.

On the entry of Their Royal Highnesses, Mrs. Borden advanced and presented the duchess with a magnificent bouquet.

The commission of appointment was read by Lieut.-Col. Lowther.

At the completion of the installation, the guns of the citadel thundered out a royal salute, and the band played the National Anthem.

Addresses of welcome were read by the Lieutenant-Governor, and the mayor of Quebec, the duke replying briefly.

The duke's message to the people was brief. He said:

"For myself personally I have only one wish, and that is to serve Canada, to make myself at home in this country, and to do all I can to promote its best interests, and also to promote that connection to the Empire which I think of such importance to Canada."

An unfortunate accident occurred as Their Royal Highnesses were driving from the Parliament Buildings to the Citadel after the installation. Turning the corner just through the St. Louis gate, the horse of Trooper George Snape of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, who formed the escort, slipped on the inclined pavement and fell, throwing Snape to the ground. The horse next him also fell. Snape was picked up and carried into the Garrison Club. These were the horses immediately in front of the carriage bearing the duke and duchess. The quick action of Captain Douglas Young, who commanded the escort, and who rode up and helped to get them out of the way prevented Their Royal Highnesses' carriage being delayed.

Then the royal party passed to the Chateau Frontenac, where they were entertained at luncheon by the Dominion Government.

In the evening a dinner at Government House was followed by a reception at the Parliament Buildings, after which, preceded by a mounted escort, the duke and duchess left for the C.P.R. station, where they boarded the special train that is to bear them to the capital of the Dominion.

As Their Royal Highnesses passed down the street to the station, there were displays of fireworks and crowds of people assembled all along the route to give the vice-regal party a greeting.

Canada Made an Offer.

Manchester, Oct. 14.—Prof. Hewins, an ardent tariff reformer, says that the opponents of tariff reform have constantly said that the colonies made no offer. Well, now, there was an offer, in the voice of the Canadian people, and the present Government had no authority to reject reciprocal preference because the subject was not before the electors of Britain at the last election.

The Guardian, anent this declaration, asks Hewins, when and where did the victorious Canadians make the offer and asks what Hewins thinks of the inclusion in the Canadian Government of a statesman opposed to Borden's Imperial policy, and also of Laurier's modified policy?

Barrie, Oct. 14.—Charlotte E. Schell, Collingwood, yesterday was given a verdict of $1,200 in default of her suit for breach of promise against Joseph J. Redmond of Collingwood. No defence was offered.

Edward Chapman, Allandale, charged on two indictments for assault on Delia Doran, a girl of 14 years of age, was acquitted.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS

Friday, Oct. 13, Disastrous Day in Toronto

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Yesterday was Friday, the 13th, and it preserved its reputation for calamity with a long list of deaths from misadventure and several serious accidents were tallied during the day.

Baby Dick, aged 2 1-2 years, was playing in the roadway on Manning avenue, near Barton street, and ran in front of a newspaper delivery motor car. He was struck down and instantly killed. His father is J. Dick, of 778 Manning avenue. His parents and other witnesses of the accident joined in saying that the driver was blameless in the matter, and could in no way have prevented the accident.

Despite the plucky efforts of her fourteen-year-old son to save her when her clothing caught fire from the explosion of a can of coil oil with which she was trying to liven a fire in her home at 168 Christie street early yesterday morning, Mrs. Esther Fish died at three o'clock in the afternoon at the Western Hospital, where she had been taken in the police ambulance. When the mother, who was clad only in her night robe, found that the garment was in flames, the lad rushed out and poured a quantity of water over her, but by this time it was almost consumed and the woman's body was so severely burned that she died.

Andrew Culverwell, who was struck by a Dupont street car in Yonge street, near Agnes street, Wednesday evening, sustaining a fracture of the skull, died at St. Michael's Hospital last night. An inquest will be opened this afternoon.

The body of a man believed to be that of J. G. Galbraith of Port Hope, Ont, was picked up on a pile of earth on the bay shore at the foot of John street early yesterday morning. He wore a masonic emblem in his coat.

Regular First Sacker is Out of First Game

Special To The Review.

New York, Oct. 14.—Ten thousand fans waited all night in line for the opening of the sale of bleacher tickets this morning for the first game in the world's series. Sharpers made large sums, by selling bogus tickets for which fancy prices were paid.

McInnes, the regular first baseman of the champion Athletics, is suffering from a sore wrist and will be replaced at the first corner by Davis. As a result of the change, the Mackmen will be somewhat weakened. The weather conditions are ideal for the game.

FIRST ELECTION PROTEST FILED; NORFOLK IS RIDING

Thrown From Wagon.

Hamilton, Oct. 14.—Instant death from a broken neck was the fate which befell Edward Cooper when the team which he was driving ran away and threw him from his wagon at the corner of Burlington street and Ferguson avenue, about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. Cooper was driving along Ferguson avenue when his horses became frightened, and in their mad flight caused the empty wagon to collide with the fountain at the corner of Burlington street. The unfortunate man was hurled violently to the ground, and was dead when picked up.

SUPREME COURT JUDGE IS DEAD

Justice John M. Harlan Succumbs After Brief Illness

Washington, D.C., Oct. 14. — Justice John M. Harlan, senior member of the Supreme Court of the United States died this morning after a brief illness. He was 78 years of age.

Alexander McCall Files Petition Alleging Bribery and Corruption Against W. A. Charlton.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—At one o'clock yesterday afternoon the first protest arising from the elections of Sept. 21st was filed with the Senior Registrar at Osgoode Hall by E. B Ryckman, K.C.

The petition is that of Alexander McCall, lumberman, of Simcoe, the defeated Conservative candidate in Norfolk, and it is lodged against William A. Charlton, lumberman, of Toronto, his successful opponent.

With the usual circumlocution of election petitions under the Controverted Elections Act, Mr. McCall insinuates that the return of Mr. Charlton was not the expression of the free and untrammelled voice of the independent electors. In fact he goes further, and charges Mr. Charlton and his agents with bribery, treating, personation, intimidation, undue influence, and corrupt practices. He insinuates that the result of the election was not won by the merits of reciprocity, but by the promise of money, office, and such inducements to the voters to vote or refrain from voting.

CHINESE IN REVOLUTION

Crisis Becomes Acute in some Districts

Garrisons Honeycombed with Rebellious Sentiment

Pekin, Oct. 14.—China to-day faces an unprecedented crisis. With the spread of revolutionary activity the opinion is gaining ground that the fate of the ruling dynasty hangs in the balance. The revolution is no longer confined to the central provinces, a thousand miles away from the capital. Pekin itself is threatened. Members of the Cabinet admitted yesterday that the garrison here are known to be honeycombed with the revolutionary sentiment The same condition exists in the two great military posts which guard the capital, Pao Ting Fu and Tien Tsin

Yesterday's news included reports that Chung King was in danger, that I-Chang had been taken, that Yo-Chow had fallen, and that communication between Hankow and Chang-Sha, the capital of Hunan Province, was interrupted.

The revolutionary army is strongly entrenched in Wu Chang and Han Yang with guns mounted in commanding positions.

Eight train loads of troops yesterday started from Pas-Ting-Fu, Province of Chi-Li, for the affected district.

The revolutionists have informed the mission schools at Hankow that they will respect all treaties and loans and indemnities contracted by the Chinese Government.

All the available railway cars are carrying to the south troops who will be used first to guard the line and thereafter in an attempt to recapture the towns taken by the revolutionists.

It is reported that the rebels yesterday allowed the weekly express to leave Hankow crowded with refugees. It is believed the rebels found over a million dollars of Mexican money when they raided the treasury at Hankow, and also obtained half a million dollars in the same coin from the Hankow merchants.

A well-informed revolutionary sympathizer told the Associated Press last night that the rebels probably would leave the capture of Pekin and Shanghai to the last, because of the danger of foreign complications. He said the utmost confidence seems to prevail among the rebels. It is stated that they have been two years in perfecting their negotiations and now have members in all the Government offices.

The National Assembly showed revolutionary tendencies last winter, and the reassembling of that body in a fortnight is regarded with anxiety. The provincial assemblies almost without exception are anti-government.

Rebels Unable to Keep Order.

Hankow, Oct. 14.—The rebels have been unable to maintain order, and business has been completely suspended here and at Hank-Yang and Wu Chang The working classes are without employment and are attempting to plunder. Fully a half-million persons have fled to the countryside.

It is reliably reported that rebels are proceeding northward to meet the imperial troops and that a thousand troops in the Province of Honan, adjoining the disaffected Province of Hu-Peh, on the north, also are prepared to resist the imperials.

Horse Distemper

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly Declares "Nerviline" Is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanston, who lives near Wellington, P. E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

Nerviline CURES QUICKLY

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic, distemper, coughs, and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottles 50c, trial size 25c, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE POSTOFFICE

The Toronto Globe says it desires investigation into the post-office charges brought by the Toronto News. But it still steps around the point of the question, which is:—Did it not refuse to pay the excess postage, intimating to the post-office officials that everything would be made right after the election—that the post-office would be prefected for a violation of the regulations! - It is now shown that the Flying Post, the early train on the Grand Trunk, which takes the Toronto morning newspapers to western Ontario, and which costs the country something like $40,000 a year, was put on by the postal department, for the benefit of the Globe. The Globe wanted an increase in its circulation, to spread its influence through western Ontario. Therefore, the obliging postmaster-general, Mr. Lemieux, spent thousands of dollars to gratify the Globe.

NOT MUCH HOPE

The Montreal Witness does not see much hope for the strengthening of the Liberal part in Ontario, for the present at least. It says that Sir James Whitney's party has just swept the province, and would be certain, just now, to do it again. And also, it might be noticed the Witness says that it doesn't know that there can be anything against the Whitney Government made out of the marriage ary.

Coming from a Liberal newspaper of standing, outside the province, the following remarks are of real interest.

"Sir James Whitney gives a number of reasons for dissolving the Ontario Legislature. There are ten vacant seats, and the present Legislature has lived longer than its predecessor, and so on. There is one other reason which he might as well have said right out, as it is the real one. His party has just swept the province and would be certain, just now, to do it again. He does not wish to have the Liberals think he would take them by surprise; so he gives them two months' warning, that the elections will take place in December, as soon as the voters' lists can be got ready. So the Ontario Liberals are to have two months in which to rally their shattered and despondent forces and to determine on their wareries. For making a policy and laying it before the people, the time is very brief. The strongest point of Opposition criticism has been the three-fifths clause in the local option law. Against that is the improved administration of that law under the Whitney Government. We should prefer if the Opposition could adopt a positive advance in temperance legislation, extending prohibition to the province as a whole. Two months is a short time in which to preach a new crusade of any kind, but, assuming that they may fail now it is of the utmost importance to them that they should in their struggle sow robust seed for future victory. An anti-liquor policy would secure against them, the solid liquor interest. But in that one might better, as the saying is, be hanged as a sheep than as a lamb. If they denounce the three-fifths clause they have nothing to look for in that direction any way, and they have much more to gain by a strong policy than by a weak one. The question of marriage is very much to the fore just now, but we do not know that there is anything in that for a cry against the Whitney Government."

AS TO MR. McKAY

If the leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature is eloquent he is also sometimes amusing. He has a fatal faculty for "getting in wrong" and for making futile frontal attacks. Thinking he saw in reciprocity a chance to ingratiate himself with the farming population, he was early in the field working hard and long. The result and its effect upon his reputation for political sagacity we know. Mr. MacKay's initial complaint to-day is that the Government has taken him unawares by anouncing a December election. How was it then that he was able the moment the news reached him to hand a lengthy election address already prepared to the press!

The leader will not make much of his personal attack upon the Premier. In calling Sir James Whitney's action "cowardly" and in casting doubt upon his honesty, he only flies in the face of the indubitable facts. If the first minister possesses any characteristic whatever, it is that of downright uprightness. If he is noted for anything it is for his absolute freedom from petty partisan devices. The election could have been fixed for a much earlier date, or the announcement could have been delayed for some time, but the head of the Government scorns such means of outwitting his opponents. He gives them plenty of leisure in which to get their arguments before the electors. He leaves ample time or the completion and revision of the voters' lists, even in new unorganized districts. Thus another portion of Mr. MacKay's arraignment falls to the ground. Nor was there any tacit understanding that another session of the Legislature would be held. So far is this from the truth that at the last session money was actually voted to meet the expenses of the pending general election.

On behalf of oppressed parents and guardians Mr. MacKay demands "the square deal" in educational matters This from the member of a former Government which was the slavish tool of the famous book ring! Parents know that through its text book reform the Whitney Ministry have saved them hundreds of thousands of dollars in the aggregate by giving their children superior books at amazingly reduced prices. A scarcity of rural teachers is complained of, but the present Administration has done more than all its predecessors to advance school salaries and to render the teaching profession attractive. Mr. MacKay deplores the lack of progress in specialized training, but the Department as at present organized has introduced agricultural in the schools. The results of Dr. Seath's investigations in Europe have appeared in a comprehensive report on technical education, which will be acted upon at an early date. Lastly the University has been rescued from the inertia in which the old Government's penuriousness left it.

With curious ineptitude the Opposition leader condemns the Hydro-Electric policy of which his newspaper supporters have been the steady champions. He attacks the conduct of the Provincial Railway though it is managed by a commission that is the envy of other Provinces and other countries. He says that the Whitney Government, like its predecessor, has neglected Northern Ontario, and, even while he does so, the Liberal press announces an expansive plan under which the Provincial and Federal Governments are to unite in extending the Temiscaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and in developing and peopling the Great Clay Belt on the Hudson Bay slope. It will thus be seen that the Opposition forces persist in assailing invulnerable points in the Ministry's armor. That of course is partly because the Cabinet's position is so strong that it leaves the enemy no real opening for a successful assault.—Toronto News.

EDITORIAL NOTES

This is the day of all days for Bytown.

Judging by the row in The Ottawa newspapers over some of the billboards in that town, the Duke's coming has at least succeeded in advertising the advertising.

So they are talking of Mr. Stratton as the leader of the opposition in Ontario. If that is the case, it isn't much wonder the Toronto Star publishes rumors that R. R. Gamey is going to be a member of the government.

The McNamara trial at San Francisco is already assuming the shape of a battle between capital and labor. The lawyers on each side are busy talking to the newspapers, trying to swing public opinion into line. Such conduct in Canada would not be tolerated for a moment.

On the very first day of his arrival in Ottawa, the Duke of Connaught had to make five speeches. These were in reply to addresses from the various societies and bodies of Ottawa. Probably it would be well for the Duke to carry a phonograph around with him, and save him the trouble of replying, with expressions as to his pleasure, appreciation, best wishes, etc.

Fierce Language

Mr. R. H. Baird, a Belfast newspaper man, has allowed himself to be interviewed by a Montreal reporter, and his comments on Canada and Canadian ways have excited the ire of the Peterborough Review. One of Mr. Baird's complaints is the lack of civility met with by a stranger, and this charge the Review particularly resents, albeit in language calculated to suggest that if good manners are to be found in Canada they have not yet reached Peterborough.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Borden as a Home Ruler.

London, Oct. 14.—The Westminster Gazette wonders if the English Unionists' enthusiasm for Mr. Borden and his Cabinet will be modified on discovering that they are all convinced supporters of Irish Home Rule.

"The average Tory believes that to be a home ruler is to be a traitor. He will begin to think that Borden is as disloyal as the much reviled Laurier."

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

At the sight of him there rose up all at once in their recollection that scene upon the Shell road; the Texan vividly recalling how he had ducked the caitiff in the ditch, how he looked after crawling out upon the bank—mud bedraggled and covered with the viscuous scum—in strange contrast to his splendid apeparance now! And Kearney well remembered the same, noting in addition a scar on Santander's cheek—he had himself given—which the latter vainly sought to conceal beneath whiskers since permittd to grow their full length and breadth.

These remembrances were enough to make the heart of the captive Irishman beat quickly, if it did not quail, while that of the Texan had like reason to throb apprehensively.

Nor could they draw any comfort from the expression on Santander's face. And his presence explained what had hitherto been a puzzle to them—why they two were being made an exception among their captive comrades and thrown into such strange fellowship. It must have been to humiliate them; as, indeed, they could now tell by a certain speech which the jail governor addressed to Santander, as the cell door turned back upon its hinges.

"There they are Senor Colonel! As you see, I've had them coupled according to orders. What a well-matched pair!" he added, ironically, as his eyes fell upon Cris Rock and the hunchback. "Ay Dios! It's a sight to draw laughter from the most sober-sided recluse that ever lodged within these walls. Ha! ha! ha!"

It drew this from Carlos Santander, who, relishing the jest, joined in the "ha! ha!" till the old convent rang with their enjoyment.

CHAPTER XII.

Old Acquaintances.

During all this time—only a few seconds it was—the four men within the cell preserved silence; the dwarf alone, as the door was drawn open, having said to the jail governor: "Good day, excellency! you're coming to set us free, aren't you?"

His question was neither answered nor himself taken notice of; the attention of those outside being now directed upon the other occupants of the cell. Of these only two had their faces so that they could be seen. The third, who was the reputed robber, kept his turned toward the wall, the opened door being behind his back, and this attitude he preserved, not being called upon to change it till Santander had closed his conversation with Cris Rock and Kearney. He had opened it in a jaunty, jeering tone, saying:

"Well, my brave filibusters! Is this where you are? Wonderful! In a queer place and queer company, too! Not so nice, Senor Don Florencio, as that you used to keep in the Crescent city. And you, my Texan Colossus! I take it you don't find the atmosphere of the Acordada quite so pleasant as the fresh breezes of prairie, eh?"

He paused, as if to note the effect of his irony; then continued:

"So this is the ending of the grand Mier expedition, with the further invasion of Mexico! Well, you've found your way to it's capital, anyhow, if you haven't fought it. And now you're here, what do you expect, pray?"

"You can do your darndest," rejoined Rock in the same sullen tone. "We don't look for mercy at your hands nosomever. It ain't in ye; an' if't war, Cris Rock 'ud scorn to claim it. So ye may do your crowing on a dunghill whar there be cocks like to be scared at it. Thar ain't nary a one o' that sort here."

"Oh! very well," he returned, making light of what Rock had sad. "If you won't accept favors from an old and, as you know tried friend, I must leave you without them. But," he added, addressing himself more directly to Kearney:

"You, Senor Irlandes—surely you wont' be so unreasonable?"

"Carlos Santander," said the young Irishman, looking him full in the face, "as I proved you not worth thrusting with my sword, I now pronounce you not worth words—even to call you coward—though that you are from the crown of your head to the soles of your feet. Not even brave when your body is incased in armor. Dastard! I defy you."

Though manifestly stung by the reminuer, Santander preserved his coolness. He had this, if not courage—at least a knack of feigning it. But again foiled in the attempt to humble the enemy, and, moreover, dreading exposure in the eyes of the jail governor—an old militario should the story of the steel shirt come out in the conversation, he desisted questioning the Texans. Luckily for him none of the others there understood English—the language he and the Texans had used in their brief, but sharp exchange of words. Now addressing himself to the governor, he said:

"As you perceive, Senor Don Pedro, these two gentlemen are old acquaintances of mine, whose present unfortunate position I regret and would gladly relieve. Alas! I fear the law will take its course."

During all this interlude the robber had maintained his position and silence, his face turned to the blank wall of the cloister, his back upon all the others. What his motive for this was neither of the Texans could tell, and in all likelihood Santander knew not himself any more who the man was. But his behavior, from its very strangeness, courted inquiry, and seemingly struck with it, the staff colonel, addressing himself to the jailor, said:

"By the way, Don Pedro, who is your prisoner, who makes the fourth in this curious quartet? He seems shy about showng his face, which would argue it an ugly one like my own."

A bit of bandage in which Carlos Santander oft indulged. He knew that he was anything but ill favored as far as face went.

"Only a gentleman of the road—a salteador," responded the governor.

"An interesting sort of individual then," said Santander. "Let me scan his countenance and see whether it be of the true brigand type—a Mazaroni or Diavolo."

So saying, he stepped inside the cell and passed on till he could see over the robber's shoulder, who now slightly turning his head, faced towards him. Not a word was exchanged between the two, but from the looks it was clear they were old acquaintances, Santander starting as he recognizd the other; while his glance betrayed a hostility strong and fierce as that felt for either Florence Kearney or the Texan. A slight exclamation, involuntary, but telling of anger, was all that passed his lips as his eyes met a pair of other eyes which seemed to pierce his very heart.

He stayed not far more, but turning upon his heel, made direct for the door. Not to reach it, however, without interruption. In his hurry to be gone, he stumbled over the legs of the Texan, that stretched across the cell, nearly from side to side. Angered by the obstruction, he gave them a spiteful kick, then passed on outward. By good fortune fast and far out of reach, otherwise Cris Rock, who sprang to his feet and on for the outrance, jerking the dwarf after, would in all probability there and then have taken his life.

As it was, the jailer, seeing the danger, suddenly shut the cloister door, so saving it.

"Jest as I've been tellin' ye all along, cap," coolly remarked Rock, as the slammed door ceased to make resonance, "we should ha' hanged the skunk, or shot him on the Shell road. Twas a foolish thing lettin' him out o' that ditch when I had him in it. Darn the luck o' my not drownin' him outright! We're like to sup sorrow for it now."

CHAPTER XIII.

The Exiles Returned.

Of the dramatis personae of our tale, already known to our reader Carlos Santander, Florence Kearney and Cris Rock were not the only ones who had shifted residence from the city of New Orleans to that of Mexico. Within the months intervening two others had done the same—these Don Ignacio Valverde and his daughter. The banished exile had not only returned to his native land but his property had been restored to him and he was reinstated in the favor of the dictator.

More still, he had now higher rank than ever before; since he had been appointed a minister of state.

For the first upward step on this progressive ladder of prosperity Don Ignacio owed all to Carlos Santander. The handsome aid-de-camp, having the ear of his chief, found little difficulty in getting the ban removed with leave given the refugee—criminal only in a political sense—to come back to his country.

The motive will easily be guessed. Nothing of either friendship or humanity actuated Santander. Alone the passion of love; which had to do not with Don Ignacio—but his daughter. In New Orleans he himself dared no longer live, and so could no more see Luisa Valverde there. Purely personal then; a selfish love, such as he could feel, was the motive for his intercession with the political chief of Mexico to pardon the political criminal. But if he had been the means of rstoring Don Ignacio to his country, that was all. True, there was the restitution of the exile's estates, but this followed as a consequence on reinstatement in his political rights. The after honors and emoluments—with the appointment to a seat in the cabinet—came from the chief of the state, Santa Anna himself. And his motive for thus favoring a man who had lately, and for long, been his political foe, was precisely the same as that which actuated Carlos Santander. The dictator of Mexico, as famed for his gallantries in love as his gallantry in war—and indeed somewhat more—had looked upon Luisa Valverde and "saw that she was fair."

Thus stood things in the City of Mexico at the time the Mier prisoners entered it, as relates to the persons who have so far found place in our story—Carlos Santander, a colonel on the staff of the dictator; Don Ignacio Valverde, a minister of state; his daughter, a reigning belle of society, with no aspirations therefor, but solely on account of her beauty; Florence Kearney, late captain of the Texan filibusters, with Cris Rock, guide, scout and general skirmisher of the same—these last shut up in a loathsome prison, one linked leg to leg with a robber, the other sharing the chain of a murderer, alike crooked in soul as in body!

That for the Texan prisoners there was yet greater degradation in store—one of them, Kearney, was made aware the moment after the jailer had so unceremoniously shut the door of their cell. The teaching of Don Ignacio in New Orleans had not been thrown away upon him, and this, with the practice since accruing through conversation with the soldiers of their escort, had made him almost a master of the Spanish tongue.

TEETHING TIME WORRY

Baby's teething time was once a source of worry to all mothers—it is yet a time of worry to many, though there are thousands of mothers who have learned the secret which banishes this worry. Mothers who worry, who see their little ones suffering from difficult teething, who are worn out by day and kept awake at night by the cries of the baby in distress, should follow the example of the thousands and give their little ones Baby's Own Tablets—the remedy for worry—the never failing banisher of baby's pains. Concerning them Mrs. H. Monette, Jr., Rapide de l'Orignal, Que., says:—"My baby cried day and night and suffered from his teeth. A few doses of Baby's Own Tablets made him healthy and happy and his teething easy and painless. I would not be without them. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—The report cabled from London that the Canadian Pacific Railway will operate a steamship service between Rotterdam and Boston was absolutely denied yesterday by Mr. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the C.P.R. Mr. Bosworth said. "I have no knowledge whatsoever of any such service." He was asked: "Has this any bearing on an Antwerp-Boston line?" He said: "I say officially I have never heard of it."

Side of Island Blows Off.

Seward, Alaska, Oct. 14.—There have been three different eruptions of Bogoslof, the celebrated Aleutian volcano, this season. Deputy U. S. Marshal Hastings of Unalaska, who arrived here yesterday, passed Bogoslof on Sept. 10. Bogoslof is noticed to have completely changed its physical appearance. There was no longer a boiling lake in the centre. Its place was a bay of cold water, the side of the island having been blown off.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

A QUICK FREIGHT HANDLER

Easy and Inexpensive Method of Handling Goods to and from Storage Flats.

Some more expeditious means of handling goods in warehouses, whether they be crates, boxes, bales, or what not, has long been necessary to supplant the slow, antiquated methods of doing this by manual labour, especially in regard to transit between building and street. This has been found in a new type of simple conveyer that has recently been devised, and which is now in successful operation. It comprises a number of trestles supporting a continuous series of wheels or rollers, carried on two rails like a light, narrow-gauge railway. The wheels are employed when boxes have to be handled, and the rollers for bales and crates. The system works entirely by gravitation, a fall of about thirty inches in one hundred feet being advocated. Demonstrations with this simple appliance have sufficed to prove that goods can be expeditiously and safely transported by this means, and that sharp curves can be negotiated successfully. In a lofty building where goods have to be discharged from different levels the same system is adopted spirally, the gradient being so arranged that the descending goods do not acquire an unnecessary downward impetus. The conveyer has been adopted on one of the wharves of Thames-side, and another larger installation is in operation at a Belfast factory, this latter plant handling packages weighing up to five hundredweight. The system is stated to be far cheaper and more efficient than the ordinary belt conveyer, the cost of installation being very low.

THE GLOW-WORM'S LIGHT

Learned Men Differ in Opinoin as to the Source and Nature of the Light.

French entomologists have been just lately devoting much attention to the study of the glow-worm, particularly with reference to the source and nature of its light. It is found that both male and female are luminous, although in the former the light is much feebler. Even the eggs and larvae are faintly luminous. The light is produced on the last three segments of the abdomen. It may perhaps be worth pointing out that the glow-worm is not a worm, but an insect belonging to the great order of beetles the Coleoptera. Luminosity among insects indeed is chiefly found in the beetle order. The Mexican fireflies Pyrophorus, for example, are beetles. Some of them give out sufficient light to read by. Waterton sometimes used them in this way to write up his diary when wandering in the South American forests.

In adult life the glow-worm is a vegetarian, feeding on tender leaves of plants, but while a grub it is carnivorous, feeding on snails and slugs. The light of the glow-worm and fireflies has been called phosphorescent and attributed to phosphorus. Jousset de Bellesme has stated his conviction that it is phosphoretted hydrogen gas stored up in the cellular tissues and in communication with the nervous and respiratory systems.

Fabre finds that phosphorus does not enter into the composition of the luminous substance of the glow-worm. Under the microscope it is seen to be a sort of white plaster covering the epidermis and full of branching tubes.

The Manchurian Bean.

The "Japan Herald" has drawn attention to the fact that Manchurian beans were formerly used only to make tofu, miso, and soy. About fifty years ago Chinese near Tiehling and Kaiyuan first produced oil from them by a process similar to that employed for sesame and linseed. This oil was used for fuel and for cooking, and the residual for bean-cake fodder. In the winter of 1908 it began to be exported into Europe, where it was found to be better than cotton-seed for fuel, soap-making, and feeding cattle. This success has marvellously increased the area devoted to the growing of the beans, and has caused the farmers in the north of Manchuria to give up wheat-raising. The Shantung farmers discovered that bean-cake was a first-rate fertiliser, and after the war with China this bean-cake was largely exported to Japan. The oil is used in Manchuria for lighting, lubricating, and cooking, and in south China in making waterproof cloth, paper umbrellas, and lanterns, and is often mixed with lacquer for making varnish and printing-ink. The Chinese hit upon the principle of rotation of leguminous with cereal crops quite accidentally, without knowing anything of the scientific explanation.

Vibration-Proof Electric Lamp

One of the drawbacks to the metallic filament incandescent electric lamp is the extreme fragility of the filament. The average lamp, if submitted to a jar or vibration such as occurs in a large manufactory where machinery is running, is apt to break down. This disadvantage counteracts the many attractive features which the lamp possesses. A recent invention seeks to obviate this defect. In this case the strands of the filament, instead of being looped over hooks, as is the usual practice, are passed through small rings which are carried on the hooks, but in such a manner as to have a little free-play. By this arrangement the filaments are not held so rigidly, and the effect of vibration is not so forcibly conveyed thereto. It may be pointed out that a lamp which suddenly gives out can often be given a little longer life by turning on the switch and giving the bulb a few taps to cause the broken ends to come together or fall across another strand, when, immediately lighting up and becoming incandescent, they fuse together.

Acute Dyspepsia

Restoration of Stomach Power Comes Quickly With the Right Medicine.

"My food seemed to decompose in my stomach," writes Mr. Ralph Clemmons, of Newbridge, P.O. "I had a stomach that failed in some way to perform its work. Digestion seemed more or less arrested and I grew thin, yellow, nervous. The stomach became distended and impeded apparently the action of the heart, for often at night it would do great stunts. At times I would vomit a mucous mass, and at these times my head ached most terribly. A friend, who had been cured of a similar condition, advised me to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills regularly, which I did. The result in my case was simply marvelous. Dr. Hamilton's Pills removed the cause, strengthened the stomach, excited the liver to normal action, the kidneys were released of excessive work. Health soon glowed within me. I can now eat, sleep, and live like a live man."

Be advised—Use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they are sure to do you good. 25c per box, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

IF YOU ARE SICK
YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST
WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

SHE HAD CONSTANT PAIN

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N.Y.—"Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered nearly all the time with headaches, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick if I tried to walk much, and my back was so weak that I was obliged to wear corsets all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. A. A. GILES, Route 44, Dewittville, N.Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

FATHER PHELAN TO SAY FAREWELL

Leaving Northern Parish on Account of Ill Health

Rev. Father Phelan, who has had charge of the parish of Lakefield and Young's Point for the last ten years, has decided, with the permission of the Bishop, to resign his duties, and leave Lakefield, owing to ill-health. For the past year Father Phelan's health has been failing, and a short time ago he decided to give up his parish and take a trip to the southern States to see if his health would not be benefited by the change. Next Sunday he will bid farewell to his congregation. Rev. Father John O'Brien, of Peterborough, has been appointed as his successor.

TO THE SCOTCHMEN

Friends,—I have so many friends amongst you that anything and everything that looks good for you interests me intensely. Now, something real good is doing to-night at Coleman Bros.' rooms on George street. There will be a big Scotch gathering of lassies and lads at 8 o'clock, and plenty of harmony as well. Best of all, a society just for you Scotch is to be formed. I gather it will be called "St. Andrew's Society" and will be run something like the Caledonian Society. Briefly it is to help all Scotch lassies and lads in the city and to hold meetings for mutual benefit. This does really deserve your support and sympathy. Rally round and do your best to make it a splendid success. You know, you can if you will. There's enough of ye to do it. It is just what is wanted here, and I wish it and you every success and the best of good luck. Now come to-night and get in touch with it all. It will do you good.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL G. S. WEBB.

ALL SAINTS' W. A. NEW ENGLAND TEA

Was Well Patronized and Everybody Had Good Time

The ladies of All Saints' W. A., proved themselves to be splendid last-night at the parish hall, when they held their New England Tea, which was in every particular, a decided success. The choice repast, provided, won the approval of the large attendance, both as to its quality and quantity.

The gathering sat down to tea in the basement and the spread was followed with a concert, under the direction of Mr. Geo. Chambers, choirmaster. Master Cyril Devey presided at the piano.

The program follows—

Piano Solo—Il Trovatore and Melody in F., Mr. Cyril Devey.

Quartette—"The Banks of Allin Water," Messrs. Larling, Downes, Brown and Chandler.

Solo—Mr. Herb. Rush.

Solo—Mr. Geo. Brown.

Solo—Mr. H. Rush.

Quartette—"Banish O Maiden."

One of the features of the evening was the quartet rendered by four male members of the choir, each being given in good voice. Canon Davidson was chairman, assisted by Mr. F. Dawson. Rev. Mr. Davidson was well received. He spoke of the good work of the Women's Auxiliary in the past and commented on their effort of the evening, the proceeds of which would be used to pay for the choir surplices. Mr. Chandler made a few remarks, after which the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

YOUR SUNDAY STROLL

Despite rain probabilities for to-morrow, the weather man may take it in his head to look cheerful and smile his sweetest. Such being the case, those who sauntered along the river front last Sunday to have a look at the changes being made, can take a northerly direction to-morrow, and by following the car tracks, find their way to the scene of operations at the new Auburn power house.

Citizens, and there are no doubt many, who have not visited the north end of the city lately, will find something interesting before them. The new Protestant Home, under construction, can be seen from this vicinity, and by strolling further north on Water street a good view of the Queen Mary Hospital can be had.

Pie social by George-st. Ep., League, Tuesday night. Two tickets 25c. Good program.

The distinguished English comedian, Mr. James Bancroft, and his admirable company, will appear at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, Oct. 21st, matinee and evening, in that well-known and popular comedy, "The Private Secretary." This company appeared in Ottawa last week at the Russell, and were very highly commended by Earl and Lady Grey, who were present at two of the performances. The Peerless Peninsular a cast-iron range with modern oven and equipment

A wealthy mustard manufacturer once said that he made his profit not out of what people ate, but what they left on their plates.

The coal dealer might say about the same thing.

It's not the coal you use that buys his six-cylinder car, but the coal that goes up the chimney.

You might as well save some of that coal.

Building ranges to do good cooking and at the same time to save coal has kept us thinking and working over in Preston for upwards of 50 years. Every year improvements in range construction have been made. The flues have been widened here; a wall made thicker there; weight reduced in one spot and added to another. But every change has made the oven heat with less fuel and the construction of the range strong and durable. The perfect range which these years of study have produced is called "Peninsular."

Nickel ornaments, the number of lids, the special features or the size do not affect the internal construction or honest materials and workmanship that go into the "Peninsular." So that when buying one, a housewife may feel free to consult her own tastes as regards finish and appearance. If the range is "Peninsular" she will know that it will give her good bakings for the least amount of coal.

The Peerless

The PEERLESS Peninsular is a modern cast-iron range. Modern, because it has all the advantages of cast-iron and none of its disadvantages. In fact, it should be called a combination range—a combination of cast-iron steel. It has the firm close-fitting parts, the durable everlasting frame and the cosy home-like appearance, dear to all women; but—and here it differs from other cast-iron ranges—it also has a quick oven—an oven that heats evenly on every side, top and bottom—a square oven big enough to cook four pies at once; and it has a drop-oven door, which is not usual on a cast-iron range.

The PEERLESS Peninsular may be had with a steel warming closet and hot water reservoir and with a low closet under the oven for pots, pans and irons.

The PEERLESS is a perfect beauty and has many a convenience not found on other ranges.

Take the top of the Peerless Peninsular.

It is made in three separate sections which are interchangeable and which slide along or lift out whenever you want to clean the flues.

In most ranges the oven is either "on" or "off." That is, it is getting full heat or none at all. The Peerless Peninsular oven is regulated by means of a sliding damper so as to get just as much heat as you need. This is another way you save fuel.

Get "The Cost"

"THE COST of a Range" tells more about these Peninsular Ranges—not a list of pictures and prices, but a book showing that the after-cost is the big cost and how the "Peninsular" cuts it down. Yours, for the asking.

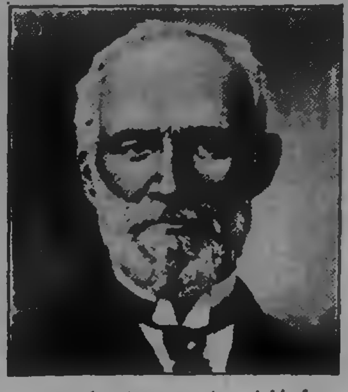
EFFECTS WERE MARVELLOUS

When I Tried "Fruit-a-tives"

HARDWICKE, N.B., Jan. 17th, 1910.

"I feel it my duty to give you a statement in respect to the wonderful cure I received by taking 'Fruit-a-tives'. Chronic Constipation was the complaint I suffered from for years. My general health was miserable as a result of this disease, and I became depressed and alarmed. I was treated by physicians without the slightest permanent benefit, and I tried all kinds of pills and tablets.



"I saw the strong testimonial in favor of 'Fruit-a-tives' by New Brunswick's 'Grand Old Man' Senator Costigan, and I knew that anything he stated was honest and true and given only to help his fellow-men. I tried 'Fruit-a-tives' and the effects were most marvellous, and now I am entirely well from all my Chronic Constipation that I suffered with for years." A. G. WILLISTON.

"Fruit-a-tives" will cure you, just as they cured Mr. Williston. Get a box today—take them—and begin to feel better. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

S. MONAGHAN OCTOGENARIAN CELEBRATING BIRTHDAY

Mr. Joseph Clarke has Resided in Monaghan for 76 Years.

Mr. Joseph Clarke, of South Monaghan, while in the city to-day, gave the Review a short call. Mr. Clarke is celebrating his 85th birthday. For the past 76 years he has resided in South Monaghan, having come from the county of Monaghan, Ireland, an orphan, in the year 1835. At the age of eight years he made his passage across the ocean, which took eight weeks, and on this trip was the first of the passengers to be stricken with small pox. The boat was quarantined on arrival at Quebec for three weeks. Mr. Clarke well remembers this terrible journey, as he also does the death of his mother when he was but three years of age. One year ago to-day he cut down what was said to be the biggest maple in the county of Peterborough. It measured 44 feet at the butt, and the distance to the front limb was 57 feet. Something like two thousand feet of lumber was secured.

Mr. Clarke is still hale and hearty and looks forward to many more years of residence with his many friends in South Monaghan.

ALBERT STREET ELDERLY LADY MAY BE FATALLY BURNED

Her Clothes Caught Fire While She Used Coal Oil To Start Fire In Stove—Terrible Injuries To Mrs. Peter Gifford.

An aged woman named Mrs. Peter Gifford, who resided alone at 555 Albert street, was so severely burned shortly after noon, when lighting a fire in a cook stove with the aid of coal oil, that little hopes are entertained for her recovery.

She is at the time of writing in Nichols Hospital, whither she was conveyed in Comstock's ambulance. Drs. Cameron and Young are in attendance. The victim's flesh was literally burned off her body and her sufferings are excruciating.

WAS ALONE IN HOUSE

No one else was in the house when the accident occurred and neighbors who were alarmed by the smell of smoke and later by the cries of the sufferer hurriedly entered, to find her clothes on fire, and a coal oil can beside her on the floor. The quickly extinguished the flames with pails of water, but an alarm of fire was sent in, and the brigade was quickly on the spot. The damage to the rooms will be slight, perhaps $20.

Mrs. Gifford is over 85 years of age and comparatively well-to-do, although living alone. Chief Howard, with two of the neighbors, Mrs. Shepherd and Mrs. Theobald, searched her house thoroughly for money. They discovered her bank book and a small amount of money in cash, which are in the chief's possession at the fire hall. A son is known to be living in New York, and a daughter in Port Hope. They will be communicated with.

Inquiry at the hospital this afternoon reported the sufferer's chances for recovery to be very doubtful.

BOARD OF WORKS DECIDES AGAINST SECOND SEWER GANG

All Available Help Will Be Given To Present Operations

There will be no sewer gang No. 2, the Board of Works having decided that as men are so scarce, it is more advisable to secure any help obtainable for Mr. Wade's gang at work on the pumping station sewer, and also for the present street sewer and sidewalk gang. The sidewalk foreman will soon have to cease operations on account of the frost, and the men who desire such can find employment with Foreman Ball on sewer work. Then sewer operations can go on with a rush. Mr. Wade is greatly in need of men.

The board decided on this question at a meeting yesterday afternoon, and last night Mr. Bartlett approached the chairman, stating that he could get a gang and proceed with the work. He refused to start operations when given the opportunity before, and the board's afternoon decision has cut him off altogether, and any men whom Mr. Bartlett may have had in view can find work with Mr. Wade, Mr. Ball, or with the sidewalk foreman. The board is of the opinion that matters will be facilitated as a result of the step they have taken. Meanwhile, Mr. Wade is progressing with his sewer work, so the Review is informed.

MATRICULATION AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Good Opportunity for Young Men to Better Themselves

In this Matriculation Class a splendid opportunity is presented to the young men of Peterborough who are engaged in business to prepare for college. This year the subjects will be English literature, composition, physics and algebra. If the class is started at once it will be possible for the candidates to write papers in these subjects at the July examinations and failing that the papers can be written in the fall of 1912. The candidate will receive credit for a subject or subjects on obtaining 40 per cent in each paper and an aggregate of 60 per cent. of the total marks assigned to such subject or subjects.

There will be four lessons each week and forty weeks in the term, making 160 lessons for $10.00. It will not matter where a young man stands now, provided he has passed his entrance.

The next meeting of the class will be held next Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. and if the required number is present, that will be a regular class night.

METHODISTS AND WORK OF WOMEN

Ecumenical Delegates Talk of Their Labors

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Yesterday afternoon was indeed women's day with the Methodist Ecumenical Conference, and the able manner in which Mrs. W. T. Haven of the Methodist Episcopal Church presided, indicated the power which is possible in women of Methodism when put to the test. The firmness with which Mrs. Haven rapped the delegates down when out of order and the tact she used in recognizing those entitled to speak on the topic of the afternoon, "Woman's Claims and Responsibilities," won admiration.

In speaking on "Methodism and the Woman's Movement," Mrs. J. Johnson of London, England, maintained that men and women were still in the process of making, and they were far from perfect. She said the talk of women not occupying important places in the world's affairs was nonsense.

"Men cannot advance without women," she said, "neither can women advance without men."

She said there was a wind coming up in the west, whistling woman's suffrage, and it would eventually sweep everything before it. The speaker said women were superior to men in detecting emotion and character in church work, which was invaluable in saving souls.

Mrs. T. J. Copeland, speaking on behalf of Miss Belle Bennett, on "Woman and Missions," said: "We women of the Methodist Episcopal Church are looking towards the rising sun. It is in the eastern uncivilised countries, where women are showing their worth in church work as missionaries."

On the subject of "Deaconesses and Sisterhoods, Mrs. Lucy Rider Meyer of the Methodist Episcopal Church, told of the great work of the deaconesses nurses. Last year, according to Mrs. Meyer, 16,461 sick and maimed persons unable to help themselves were taken care of by the nurses."

Regarding any addition to the already strong fleet of steamers, for next year, manager "Jerry" Young would not make any definite statement this morning.

RETURN FROM TRIP TO CANADIAN WEST

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy Had Fine Holiday

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy are being welcomed back to the city, after a five weeks' absence, which was spent in a trip to the Canadian West and Western States.

Mr. Kennedy speaks in glowing terms of Canada's western provinces and says they are far superior to the territory visited by him across the border.

He is very much impressed with Edmonton, where under a single tax system, the city owns and operates its own exhibition, owns street railway, electric light plant, and telephone system. This with a tax rate of only 13 mills.

Asked regarding his rumored removal to Toronto to take up residence Mr. Kennedy replied that he was not prepared at present to make any announcement.

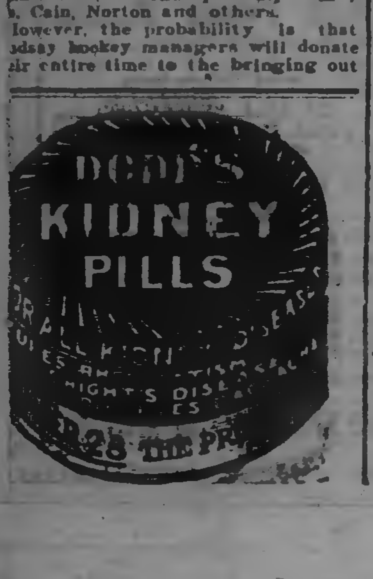
ndsay Still Has Some of the Old Guard

The Lindsay Junior Midgets are al-ady getting down to business and aining will commence in the course a few days. Manager Gamble in-nds to have the players in good trim the time the first thin layer of ice peais on the rain barrel and with e end in view will have the play-s do various gymnasium stunts and ercise their long legs on the high-ys.

Ther eis some talk of organizing intermediate hockey team as well. t whether this plan will be car-d out, is merely a conjecture. The lowing players are still available intermediate hockey and they uld be reinforced by several fast niors if necessary; Peter Spratt, of famous St. Michael's College sev-; Bill Stoddard, of championship ne; Alf. Gamble, who figured on junior team which landed the mpionship for Port Hope and on Lindsay intermediate team as well ank Cote, of championship fame; . Cain, Norton and others.

lowever, the probability is that ndsay hockey managers will donate eir entire time to the bringing out of a fast junior seven, one which will make the district teams travel at their liveliest pace.—Warder.



HOCKEY

Waterloo, Oct. 13.—"Unless we hear from Berlin that they will place a team in the pro. league by October 20th, you can say there will be no pro. hockey in Waterloo this year," answered Eddie Seagram in reply to a query respecting the hockey situation in Waterloo yesterday morning.

"Last year we were compelled to collect together a team after all the other clubs were practically ready to get into the game and the money expended for all star players was 'too much,'" he went on. "This is a definite announcement," he finally stated.

This practically means that Waterloo fans will be without the salaried pastime for at least one season as it has been learned authentically from authorative sources that Berlin will rest a year at the pro game.

Mr. Seagram's reason for placing the time limit is because he and others who were interested in the club last year will leave on the 28th of the month on a hunting expedition and he wants eight days at least to notify the respective players.

So its up to the amateurs to get their skates sharpened and talk O.H.A. hockey.

SEASONABLE SPORT

According to the Ontario game and fishery laws of 1911, any grouse, pheasants, prairie fowl or partridge may be hunted from the 15th day of October to the 15th day of November, both days inclusive.

Therefore, the partridge season will open on Monday next. Doubtless several local huntsmen will be in their favorite stamping ground at sunrise Sunday morning, ready to bag a few birds. There are a number in camp already in full swing.

Paris has a belt railroad following the perimeter of the city. This connects the various railroad stations, and both freight and passenger traffic are facilitated.

MAGRATH AS THE LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Westerner's Name Talked of in New Brunswick

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The office of Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick becomes vacant on March 1 next, and it is now certain that the appointment will go either to Dr. Daniel or Senator Wood.

Dr. Daniel steps aside to provide Hon. J. D. Hazen a seat in St. John, and in the event of Senator Wood accepting the position, he will go to the Red Chamber. There is also some talk of appointing Mr. C. A. Magrath Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta when the present occupant, Hon. Mr. Bulyea, steps out. Mr. Magrath was defeated in the constituency of Medicine Hat at the recent elections, and would undoubtedly have found a seat in the Cabinet had he been successful.

There may be a meeting of the Cabinet after the ceremonies to-day in connection with the arrival of the Duke of Connaught, but it is likely to go over until Monday. The Treasury Board is to meet on Monday, and one of the matters to be dealt with is the issue of the certificate giving running rights to the Banque Internationale du Canada.

Shock of Earthquake Slight.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—The earthquake which occurred last night in the Gulf of Mexico began at 10.03 o'clock, according to the local observatory record, and gave only a slight shock at this distance. The disturbance took place underneath the water of the Gulf and caused a tidal wave which rolled up 20 feet high and destroyed the towns of San Jose, Guaymas, Eeyoalama and Iratiz. Seventeen ships in Guaymas were also destroyed with nearly all the inhabitants.

Spanish Losses In Morocco.

Madrid, Oct. 14.—The Moors in the Riff country are attacking the Spaniards at every opportunity, usually sustaining losses greatly in excess of those inflicted. The Moors assaulted the camps at Imarufen, and Izhafen on the night of Oct. 10. They left 30 dead on the field. Two of the Spanish soldiers were wounded.

El Correo, however, publishes a letter from its correspondent at Melilla, Morocco, in which the losses to the Spaniards in the fight of Oct. 7, are estimated at 400 dead and wounded.

Not Dead Yet.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—While being carried into an undertaking establishment on the west side, David Easley, 35 years of age, of La Grange, Ill., who was thought to be dead, suddenly regained consciousness and shouted, "Take me out of here, I'm not going to die yet." He was taken to a hospital for treatment and may recover from injuries received when he was struck on the head with a rifle while quarreling with Roscoe Holtz over a woman, to whom both men had been showing attention.

Lost Both Feet.

Ridgetown, Oct. 14.—Clarence Bishop, son of William Bishop, had both feet amputated Thursday when, while standing on top of a threshing machine near Palmyra he slipped and was caught in the machinery. One foot was torn off at the ankle and the other was badly mutilated. Bishop's condition is very serious.

Noted Hunter Dead.

Windsor, Oct. 13.—Nicholas Nantais, aged 96, a veteran hunter and trapper of this section, died at his home on Tecumser road Thursday.

No Jurors Selected Yet.

Los Angeles, Oct. 14.—After two days of court session in the trial of James B. McNamara for the murder of Charles J. Haggerty, a victim of The Los Angeles Times' explosion and fire on Oct. 1, 1910, no juror had been selected even tentatively last night and no decision had been reached as to the eligibility of the first talesman examined. Although court proceedings moved forward without interruption, the magnitude of issues involved in the examination of Z. T. Nelson, the first talesman, made proceedings deliberate.

At sunset, when court adjourned, arguments on Mr. Nelson's status remained unfinished.

A provision of the constitution of the state, differing somewhat from the constitution of the United States, sections of the penal code regarding the qualifications of jurors, and a contest over the meaning of the record of Nelson's examination, combined to furnish points of contact which affect not alone the talesman under examination but every prospective juror, and for this reason were stubbornly contested.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

THE ORIGIN OF MAN

Recent Research is Held to Support Theory that the Human Race had Tail-Less Ape Ancestors.

Since Darwin first suggested the theory of evolution, scientists galore have been studying along the same lines, and man's origin is being gradually pushed further and further into the remote ages. Reviewing the remarkable discoveries of the last ten years in Western Europe, Professor McCurdy shows that it is being gradually proved that the human race is as old as any of the tailless apes, and probably had the same ancestors. The oldest undisputed flint implements date from the Upper Miocene period of geology; the oldest human bone, the jaw of "Homo heidelbergensis, from near the beginning of the Quarternary. Primitive man, therefore, must have lived in Western Europe during the entire Glacial period, and developed into "Homo primigenius," low in stature and robust, with short, stout arms and legs — much like the Eskimo of today. A more intellectual race, probably from the East, appeared in the Upper Quarternary, or at least 30,000 years ago. This people, "Homo aurignacensis," sculptured and frescoed the walls of the caverns and their own implements, and their descendants, who must have flourished more than 10,000 years ago, introduced the rudiments of writing. The negroid people probably came into Western Europe soon after. Professor Klaatsch finds "Home primigenius" to be closely related to the gorilla of Africa, and "Homo aurignacensis" to resemble more nearly the chimpanzee of Asia.

Concrete Fence Posts

The increasing cost of timber has resulted in more spirited search for efficient substitutes. One inventor, realising the growing popularity of ferro-concrete, has turned his endeavours into this channel with a view to effecting the desired result, and has achieved distinct success. The posts made from this material are stated to be extremely durable and far superior to those of wood. The cost averages about forty cents per yard; but in this connection it is as well to point out that the cost is governed by geographical situation, inasmuch as the transportation charges for posts of this description, or for manufacturing them on the spot after the materials have been brought in, are heavier than for those of wood under certain conditions. At the same time, if the materials are obtainable on the spot the fence can be built exceedingly cheaply; and when it is pointed out that the durability of a ferro-concrete post is from five to ten times that of timber, according as the wood is preserved with creosote or otherwise, it will be seen that the former has overwhelming advantages in those districts where wood is not readily obtainable. Three of the great British railway companies have erected fence-posts of this material, and are stated to be eminently satisfied with the same; while it has also been used for gradient-posts and gate-posts to crossings.

Teletypographing

Great activity is being evinced by numerous inventors in the field of telegraphic science for the purpose of increasing the advantages of this system of communication, a result no doubt due to the powerful competition that has been offered by the wide-spread use of the telephone. A Continental inventor has perfected an appliance which he describes as the 'teletypograph.' The idea is to enable messages to be telegraphed to an addressee and immediately written down, a kind of typewriter being employed for the purpose. The inventor has submitted his apparatus to the French Government postal officials, who have expressed a desire to see the invention in actual operation, and who propose to introduce it on lines of lesser importance at first where the telegraph operators are not very expert in handling the Morse code. Should the system prove commercially successful under these conditions its application will be extended to first-class lines, and possibly adopted throughout the whole French telegraphic system.

THE COLOR OF ANIMALS

The Influence of Surroundings on the Coloring of Animals and Birds.

That colour may be influenced in some cases by the taking of special kinds of food is well known, but little is understood as yet of the extent to which pigmentary colour in animals is related to the particular kind of food they eat. Writing upon the subject of this question in his work upon "The Colour-Sense," Mr. Grant Allen draws attention to the fact, as of probable significance, that the two most beautiful classes of animals in the world, as far as colour is concerned — butterflies and humming-birds — are, perhaps, the most exclusively flower-hauting of all invertebrate or vertebrate creatures respectively, and the parrots and their allies, which possess equally beautiful colouring, are fruit-eaters. Indeed, a correspondence with, if not a direct relationship to, the colour and nature of food, as well as of habitual surroundings, may be traced, with few contradictions, and many of these but seeming; and the general rule emerges that animals that possess conspicuous colouring themselves are those, also, which live upon the essence of flowers, or fruits, and are guided, in the search for food, by their "eye for colour." The inverse of this rule is found equally to correspond, on the whole, with facts, for the raptorial birds, which live mostly in the air, and whose senses are more attuned to discriminate sound and movement, are generally, themselves wanting in bright colours. The whiter-plumaged birds in a flock of pigeons, for instance, are nearly always the first to be destroyed by hawks on land, and on the coast where there are sea-eagles, black pigeons are at an equal disadvantage.

Nine-tenths of the things people quarrel over do not make any difference, one way or the other.

FELL FROM A HAY LOFT

Suffered Tortures With His Kidneys Until He Tried Gin Pills

You might think that Mr. Baker needed a surgeon more than GIN PILLS. But there were no bones broken. His back was strained, which was harder to cure because nothing seemed to do any good. It is the same with a sprained ankle and broken leg. You can set the fracture and it will be well in six weeks—but the sprain may take months to get well.

However, Mr. Baker found the quick way to get relief from the pain—here are his own words.

A BAD FALL

AULTSVILLE, ONT.

"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney Trouble from an injury to my back caused by falling from a hay loft about six years ago. This left my kidneys weak, so that every cold I got would settle in my kidneys and cause intense suffering. I was advised to try GIN PILLS. I found, to my surprise, after taking two boxes, that the pains were relieved and I began to feel better. I am still taking GIN PILLS and feel sure I will be completely cured. I recommend GIN PILLS to all who suffer from any Kidney Trouble". C. BAKER.

You see, the fall had strained the kidneys and they were affected by the slightest chill. GIN PILLS immediately strengthened the kidneys—soothed any irritation and thus enabled the kidneys to overcome the effects of the fall.

If you are having pain in the back—or trouble with kidneys or bladder through accident or overwork—do just as Mr. Baker did—take GIN PILLS. They will help you—cure you—or we will promptly refund your money. Buy six boxes at your dealer's. If, after taking them, you feel that Gin Pills have not helped you, return the empty boxes and get your money. We will take your word for it. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. Sample box sent free if you write National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Dept. B Toronto.

HE COULD NOT SLEEP AT NIGHTS

Till He Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills

Fred Swanson, of Saskatchewan, sends a message of cheer to those who feel the weariness and discouragement that comes from broken Rest

Macklin, Sask., Oct. 13, (Special)—Those who suffer from sleepless nights and get up in the morning feeling tired and discouraged, will find renewed hope in the statement made by Fred Swanson of this place. He could not sleep at nights. He discovered the cause. It was Kidney trouble. He discovered the cure. It is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Yes," Mr. Swanson says in an interview regarding his case. "I was troubled with my Kidneys for over a year, so bad that I could not sleep at nights. After using one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills I found great relief. Four boxes removed all my pain and now I sleep well and I am as strong in my kidneys as any man."

If the kidneys are wrong the blood becomes clogged with impurities and natural rest is an impossibility. Strong, healthy Kidneys mean pure blood, new life all over the body and that delightful rest that is the sweetest thing in life. Dodd's Kidney Pills always make strong healthy kidneys.

Died While Out Hunting.

North Bay, Oct. 14.—Gerald G. Thompson, a prominent young merchant of North Bay, died suddenly from peritonitis, while hunting at the west arm of Lake Nipissing yesterday. The hunting camp was practically isolated, so that when Mr Thompson was taken ill no medical attention was available in time to save his life. He leaves a wife and two children.

Re-open the Mines.

Lethbridge, Alta., Oct. 14.—It has leaked out through what is considered an authoritative source that the Miners' convention Thursday passed a resolution authorizing the executive to make arrangements to meet President Stockett of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association to negotiate for the re-opening of the mines.

MacLaren, major of "A" Squadron of the Mississauga Light Horse, was thrown from his horse on his way in from attending a gathering at Major Sneath's in Vespra, about 1.30 Thursday night. WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. WM. TEMPLEMAN,

Hon. William Templeman, P.C., M.P., Minister of Inland Revenue for Canada under the administration which recently came to a close down, is an Ontario man, having first seen the light in Packenham village, on 28 September 1844. Educated at the public school there his early aims and ambitions carried him to the ranks of journalism, and at the comparatively early age of 23 he launched out as newspaper proprietor with the Almonte Gazette, which he held and managed for seventeen years, developing a journal of considerable local influence, and with some financial results. The year 1884 found Mr. Templeman on the westward trek, and in that year appeared the "Times" of Victoria B.C., a newspaper that has, under his experienced guiding hand continued to grow in importance and in prosperity.

HON. W. TEMPLEMAN

Minister of Inland Revenue.

With his journal well established Mr. Templeman, as has been the case with so many Canadian journalists, let his mind run in the direction of parliamentary honors. His three initial efforts to enter the House of Commons were failures however, being unsuccessful in 1891 and on two occasions in 1896. The following year Mr. Templeman was called to the Senate and in February 1902 sworn of the Privy Council and entered the Government without portfolio. Elected to the Commons as representative of Victoria, B.C., his worth was promptly recognized in the appointment of Minister of the Inland Revenue Department, and on the creation of a Department of Mines in May 1907 Mr. Templeman was assigned the Ministerial duties. At the 1908 election, however, there came a reverse, but only to be followed soon afterwards, by an acclamation return as representative for Comox-Atlin.

LOUIS-JOSEPH TARTE

One of the prominent leaders in French Canadian journalism, Mr. Tarte was born at L'Assomption, Que., on Christmas Day 1872, his father being another Canadian leader J. Israel Tarte. Louis had a well grounded education in the Quebec Commercial Academy, and progressed to journalistic stage in early life, and is today president and general manager of "La Patrie", Montreal.

L. J. TARTE

ALPHONSE VERVILLE, Canada's Only Labor M.P.

To the island of Montreal belongs the honor of being the birthplace of the only labor member of the late lamented Government, and, moreover, to have as part of her royal territory the constituency which sent him to help steer the country's legislative bark in the track it ought to go. The Maisonneuve electors selected him on February 1906 to fill the vacancy resulting from the death of the Hon. R. Prefontaine, he was re-elected in 1908 and the men of Maisonneuve claim they made no kind of an error in their choice. Mr. Verville was born at Cote St. Paul in 1864, and his bustling fellow townsmen by the banks of the canal are not a little proud to claim him as a man and brother. He was educated at Sault-au-Recollet and made an unsuccessful effort to reach a chair in the provincial assembly in 1904.

Nearly a score are reported drowned, the result of a storm at Nogales, Arizona.

If you are subject to throat irritation or have a tendency to consumption you should use the "Medicine that is breathed."

Thousands who have used it tell of its merit.

Air which you breathe through the Catarrhozone inhaler carries healing to the very spot affected, and there is no chance of failure by going to the wrong place. That is why it cures.

Catarrhozone

Suffragists Jubilant.

New York, Oct. 14.—The National headquarters of the Woman's Suffrage organizations are in gala dress over the news of the victory in California.

Unquestionably the strongest element in San Francisco and Oakland, which gave a majority of 16,000 against suffrage, in opposition to suffrage was the saloon. In the country, granges and other farmers' organizations endorsed suffrage, and much to the surprise of the politicians the farmers went to the polls. Instead of the light vote that was expected the vote in the country was heavier than in the city.

Flemming Is Premier.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 14.—Hon. James Kidd Flemming, the new Provincial Premier, will announce his Cabinet on Monday.

The new Premier is 43 years of age, and was once a school teacher. For a number of years he was a manufacturer and dealer in lumber. He was first elected to the Legislature in 1900, and entered the Cabinet in 1908.

Will Get Salaries Soon.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The Government will get the Governor-General's warrants signed on Monday, and will on Tuesday be able to pay the salaries which have been held up. Among the services which have suffered is the grain inspection branch of the Trade and Commerce Department. The money for this will be telegraphed west the moment the authorization is obtained. The Government telegraph service is in the same position, and the outside service of the Department of Agriculture is short of salaries to the extent of $400,000.

Could Not Deliver Supplies.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—Word has been received by the comptroller of the mounted police that the schooner "Laddie," which had been chartered to deliver stores to the Hudson Bay ports of the police, has been driven back. The vessel discharge her freight for Churchill, but on endeavoring to make Fullerton encountered bad weather, and had to leave Hudson Bay. The goods, which will have to wait delivery until next year, comprise coal and similar stores. Fullerton has supplies for the winter, however.

Rail Commissioners Met.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The National Association of Railway Commissioners yesterday adopted a resolution inviting the Railway Commission of Canada to participate in the association's annual convention here next year. Reports on railway rate-making and railway capitalization were discussed at yesterday's closing session.

Woman Sentenced as Spy.

Leipsic, Germany, Oct. 14.—Mademoiselle Renee Thiron, a French teacher, who was arrested as a spy, charged with having obtained from a German army officer the secret mobilization plans of the German army, was yesterday convicted of spying and sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

KING WILL RIDE THROUGH THE SACRED GATE

King-Emperor to be at Delhi on December 7.

Delhi, India, Oct. 13.—The arrival of the King-Emperor in Delhi on December 7, will be marked by an incident of almost dramatic interest. The specially constructed station where his majesty will alight is almost in the fort. The king's horse and the whole of the officials will wait in the citadel. When his majesty is mounted the king's gate will be opened.

A peculiar significance is attached to this gate. Only the King of Delhi was permitted to pass through, when he went to the Jumma Musjid to worship. A cloth used to be laid from the inside of the fort through this gate to the great mosque. Not even the king's sons were allowed to pass through these portals, only a solitary figure in white glowing robes his head bowed in solemn respect as he issued from the portal with stockinged feet and approached the Musjid where thousands stood waiting his presence to commence prayer.

FIRST TIME IN 54 YEARS

It is said that the last time this gate was used was during the Ramzan Id in 1857, when the King of Delhi worshipped publicly. Only now does it open once more when the Emperor of India enters the city of the Moguls. With the exception of Calcutta and Bombay every city and village of the Indian empire, is by government resolution requested to hold its rejoicings in honor of the Durbar, on December 12, the actual date of the ceremony. That day and Dec. 7, on which his majesty enters Delhi, are made public holidays.

The royal proclamation which will be read at the imperial Durbar at Delhi, is directed to be publicly read out only at the headquarters of each local government and administration and of each district and sub-division and in the vernacular by the 'patwari' or headmen of the village to be selected in this behalf by the local authorities.

SKIN TROUBLES GROW WORSE

Eczema, Psoriasis, and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years and years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

It is quite a simple matter for you to find out for yourself whether or not D.D.D. will cure you. Simply send your name and address to the D.D.D. Laboratories, Department P.R., 49 Colborne street, Toronto, and get by return mail a free trial bottle of the remedy. It will give you instant relief at the very first application.

The Age of Fish.

Until within recent years there had been ascertained no trustworthy way of finding out the age of fish. It has been shown that mere size does not indicate the age. Reibisch, Heincke, and others have discovered that many of the bones, scales, and otoliths of fishes have annual age-rings, resembling those in tree trunks, and by means of these Professor Wallace and others have now determined the rate of growth of plaice, showing that some specimens attain the age of 25, or even as much as 29 years. Age can now be correlated with size and weight, although, it appears that the sexes have a different rate of growth

Some people think they work hard because they get easily worked up about other people's work.

LOCAL YOUTH IN RUNAWAY MISHAP

Norwood Register—A mishap occurred outside the grounds of Alma st. A surrey containing four young men from Peterborough and as many women was leaving the grounds to go to Hastings, when the horses became frightened and a strap broke and let the end of the neckyoke fall. The frightened steeds ran down the street at a rapid pace, and at the corner of Queen street, the vehicle was overturned and the occupants thrown out. One of the women was rendered unconscious by the fall, and for a time it was thought had sustained some serious injury. Drs. Ford, Pettigrew and Sutton were hurried to the scene in Mr W. A. Richardson's automobile which was a short distance ahead but upon examination it was found that the woman was only slightly injured. In the upset several bottles of liquor rolled out of the rig. The liquor was taken in charge by Constable Johnston and afterwards the men were also taken in charge by the officers but were afterwards liberated after depositing what cash they possessed with the authorities and promising to appear when wanted. The vehicle and harness suffered considerable damage in the upset and the horses were cut by falling on the pavement. The steeds, after getting free of the vehicle, ran along Queen st. and down the Hastings Road but were caught by some parties near Mr. John Doherty's residence.

When a woman is a little given to flirting, it is a great shock to her to find a man who will not return the ball when she throws it to him.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—There are so many reckless assertions made through the public press relative to what is called modernism, that I trust you will allow me a space in your columns to draw the attention of the reading and thinking public to several misleading and contradictory statements, especially in reference to public schools, all tending to show that modernism, or modern "thought," is simply agnosticism. A man wise in his own conceits, knowing a little, thinking he knows everything and finding no evidence satisfactory to his reason, with reference to the inspiration of the scriptures, the personality of the Supreme Being and a future state of rewards and punishment, declares that he does not know about these matters, whether they are absolutely true or not, hence it does not matter what he believes, and holds aloof in an attitude of cynical and supercilious egotism from all religious communities and beliefs.

1. Is the doctrine of the divinity of Christ, which separates, say, the Methodist denomination from the Unitarian a minor point of belief?

2. The Mormonites have already made a settlement in Toronto, that fact is vouched for, by a leading Presbyterian minister sounding a warning against what he calls the immorality of this sect in regard to their polygamy. Well, let us suppose one little girl saying to her schoolmate, how many wives has your pa? Why, one, of course. My pa has four wives, and my ma is the 4th. Oh, say, teacher, this girl says her pa has 4 wives; isn't it awful. Oh, that's nothing, that is only one of those minor points of belief that separate one denomination from another. You must beware of religious prejudice, that may narrow your views, when you come to years of maturity and wisdom.

Sale of Remedies for Headache!

There are more ZUTOO tablets for headache sold in this country than all other remedies combined. Think how good these tablets must be to have such an immense sale.

Dealers could not sell them nor would people buy ZUTOO tablets in such large quantities, were they not what all users say they are, that is, a perfectly harmless and reliable cure for headache.

Do YOU use these tablets which so many people have chosen as best? If you do not, it is your next move. 25c at dealers

3. What is the "broad gospel of man's salvation" which is to be exclusively the religious teaching imparted to youthful minds? If it is the gospel of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, they must be taught that "the Word was God, that all minds were made by Him, that His Word was made flesh and dwelt among us"; "And they called His name Jesus"; "that He bore our sins in His own body on the cross"; "that in the same body He rose from the dead"; "handle me and see for a spirit was not flesh and bones as you see me have." In that body He ascended into heaven and the angel testified, "This same Jesus shall so come at the day of judgment as ye have seen Him go into heaven." If this be so, then the doctrines of the divinity of Christ, the atonement, the resurrection and the last judgment are divine and infallible truths that are believed and taught by Anglicans, Romanists and the four leading Protestant denominations, not as speculative opinions, which any one may believe or not as he pleases, but that any one who shall wilfully reject them, he shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord.

4. It must be borne in mind that the same objections that are urged against teaching the "fullness of the gospel of Christ" in the public school applies equally to the Sunday school, for leading a child to believe in these doctrines that I have mentioned will "narrow his mind and prejudice him" against Unitarians and agnostics, and a good job, too.

ST. VITUS DANCE

Cured Through the Use of Dr Williams' Pink Pills

Chorea, or as it is more generally known St. Vitus dance, is a disease that usually attacks the young children, though older persons may be afflicted with it. Its most common symptoms are a twitching of the muscles of the face and limbs. As the disease progresses this twitching takes the form of spasms in which the jerking motion may be confined to the head, or all the limbs may be affected. The patient is frequently unable to hold anything in the hands or to walk steadily, and in severe cases even the speech is affected. The disease is due to debility of the nerves and is always cured by Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which enrich the blood, tone and strengthen the nerves and thus restore the sufferer to good health. The following is a striking instance of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do in this trouble. Mrs. Chas. Phipps, Pelee Island, Ont., says:—"At the age of fourteen my eldest daughter, Edith, became much run down and the trouble developed into St. Vitus dance. First her left arm became affected, then the left leg and entire left side. She grew so bad that she actually could not hold anything in her hand, and could only go about with a sliding, jerking motion. Notwithstanding that we were giving her medicine, she seemed to be growing worse, and finally her speech became much affected. We became so much alarmed about her that finally her father got a supply Dr Williams Pink Pills, and we began giving her these. In the course of a few weeks she was much better, and before all the pills were gone she was again enjoying perfect health. This was in 1906, and as she has not had a symptom of the trouble since I feel justified in saying the cure is permanent."

Be sure you get the genuine pills which are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Least Fuel. The Most Satisfaction

When You Burn the Coal See That You Get the Value

It requires no argument to prove that the range you can use every part of, at the same time, is the range that will give you the full return for the fuel you burn. On the

HAPPY THOUGHT

Range you can use the oven and the top of the stove at the same time. While ironing you can have a batch of biscuits in the oven, and when baking you can prepare dinner without cooling the oven. This is the only way to keep down fuel bills and the only true range economy. The Patent Damper regulates the heat so that it can be used on any part of the range or on all the range.

Everywhere the Happy Thought, by its many labor-saving devices, is lightening the work of the housekeepers. Its efficiency is the result of the care taken to construct it and it amply justifies anything said in its favor by those who have used it.

More than a quarter of a million "Happy Thoughts" are in daily use in Canada.

DUKE AND DUCHESS ARRIVE AT OTTAWA ; A ROYAL WELCOME

Their Royal Highness's Coming Sets the Capital in a Furore—Duke Drives in His Own Carriage—Decorations Were a Wonder to Behold—Many Addresses.

Ottawa, Oct. 16—Ottawa Saturday afternoon gave a great welcome to the Duke of Connaught. Parliament Hill was resplendent in red, white and blue flags, bannerets and bunting. The weather was ideal and an immense crowd witnessed the reception.

His Royal Highness arrived by special train from Quebec at 2.15, the special having been held at Buckingham in order that the civic arrangements might not be upset. The journey was made by way of the north shore, the train crossing through Hull and pulling into the Broad street station.

A military band at the station played the National Anthem as the train came in, while a royal salute was fired from Primrose Hill. The vice-regal party were met by Hon. R. L. Borden and members of the Dominion Government.

The duke's own carriage, a gorgeous vehicle, in black and red and gold, drawn by four horses, was waiting for him, with a guard of the Princess Louise Dragoons. Two big motor cars from Rideau Hall took the duke's suite and the procession started for Parliament Hill.

The reception took place immediately in front of the main block of the Parliament Buildings, on a platform erected on the main walk.

At 2.30 the cheering of the crowd announced the approach of His Royal Highness. The band played the National Anthem and a guard of the 43rd Regiment presented arms. The duke, attended by his staff, inspected the guard and then proceeded to the platform, where addresses of welcome were presented by the City of Ottawa, St. George's Society, St. Andrew's Society, St. Jean Baptiste, St. Patrick, Overseas Club, and others.

On the platform with the Governor-Genearl and staff were: The Prime Minister, Hon. R. L. Borden, and his colleagues; Sir Wilfrid Laurier and several members of the former Government; Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick and judges of the Supreme Court, and a host of lesser officials.

In replying to the address of the City Council, His Royal Highness said:

"Gentlemen: In the name of the duchess, as well as my own, I thank you for your loyal address of welcome. In coming once more to make my home among you, I am inspired by a feeling of pleasure at renewing the associations of my youth, as well as with one of wonder at the great development which has been achieved since my last visit to Canada, twenty-one years ago. I take this opportunity of making reference to my predecessor, Earl Grey, and of saying how fully I realize the difficulty of succeeding one who had so completely identified himself with your joys and sorrows and by his long residence amongst you had become a most enthusiastic Canadian. I know with what regret he left you, and how his sympathy and affection will remain with Canada till the end of his days.

"You have referred to my having taken part in military operations within the Dominion some forty years ago. I congratulate you on the fact that ever since then a succession of wise and thoughtful Governments have as the result of their deliberations here in Ottawa kept this great Dominion clear of any similar menace to peace and progress.

"You have recently passed through the throes of a general election, in which both sides have been animated by a common desire for the benefit of their country and a momentous decision has been arrived at by the electorate I pray that this decision and such others, as may from time to time be made by the nation, may all—under the blessing of Providence—be to the advantage of Canada and the British Empire. That your progress may continue throughout this your twentieth century, is my most heartfelt wish and hope."

In replying to the address of St. George's Society, the duke said:

"I thank you in the name of the Duchess of Connaught, as well as in my own, for your loyal address of welcome. It is a real pleasure to me to be welcomed here by so great and important a branch of your famous society. Such a society as yours has the very gratest value, not only to those permanently resident in the Dominion, for whom it presents a means of maintaining their connection with the old country, but also to the settler, the newcomer. Many of these are indebted to you for the valuable advice and discreet help which you dispense so wisely, and it is my earnest wish that you may continue to flourish in the future as you have in the past."

In replying to the address given by the officials of the St. Patrick's Literary and Scientific Association, His Royal Highness said:

"I thank you for your address of welcome, the graceful terms of which are characteristic of the Irish race, and I shall have the greatest pleasure in informing the King of your loyal expressions of devotion to his person and crown.

"I congratulate you on the progress of your association, and on your ideal of fostering the national spirit in a people, which has given so many noble sons to the Empire.

"As your association said ten years ago in an address presented His Majesty: 'Each visit from a member of the royal family finds our people more numerous and prosperous.'

"True as the statement then was, it is doubly true to-day and with this constant augmentation of the population, the self-imposed duties of societies such as yours are heavily increased. Your services, freely given, are deeply valued and appreciated by those who benefit thereby.

"I am glad, in replying to your address to renew here on Canadian soil my relations with Ireland and the Irish, with whom I have been so constantly, and so intimately associated, and for whom I retain such a warm corner in my heart."

SIX DEAD FROM GAS

Asphyxiation in Toronto Hotel.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Six bodies are lying in the morgue, the life of each having been snuffed out through suffocation by gas. Five men were asphyxiated early Sunday morning in the Occidental Hotel, Dundas street, West Toronto. The other body is that of a woman who was found dead in her bed at 13 Walton street, on Saturday evening, she having been a victim of the deadly fumes.

George H. Knowles, aged 40, single, employed by Gurney Foundry Co.

Samuel Eadie, aged 30, single, employed by Heintzman Piano Co.

George Williams, aged 45, single, employed by Heintzman Piano Co.

William Downes, aged 26, single, employed by Canada Cycle & Motor Co.

William Allan, aged 60, married, harnessmaker.

Mrs. Mary Maddens, aged 50, 13 Walton street.

The bodies of Knowles, Eadie and Williams were found within a few feet of each other, the two first named being discovered lifeless on a bed, while Downs was lying in a heap near the door. They were fully dressed and apparently had dropped off to sleep while in a state of stupor. It is believed that Downes had come to his senses for a moment and tried to make exit, but was over come before he could reach the door.

Allan was in the next room and in bed. The two rooms were separated by a short hall, from which a door led into the main hall. Allan had left his door open when he went to bed at 10.30 p.m. The others came in after midnight, lit a lamp in Allan's room and the two jets in their own apartment, and, somehow, a third nipple, which was for the purpose of running a tube to a gas heater, was also turned on, but not lighted.

That the men had been drinking appears certain, as they had received their pay on Friday night and had not afterwards been seen around the hotel until their lifeless forms were discovered yesterday morning.

At midnight on Saturday Fred. McKewan, the proprietor, made his last round and found everything in proper order. When on the top flat he noticed Allan's door open, and looking in to see it all was right, noticed the elderly gentleman sleeping. He turned the gas in the hall out and retired.

Later the four other men returned and at three o'clock Bert Patterson, whose room is on the opposite side of the hall and directly opposite where the bodies were found, smelled gas and rose from his bed and went into the hall to see if by any chance the gas jet there had been turned on. He found the gas in the hall properly turned off and would have opened the door leading to the room occupied by the five men, but heard them talking in a tone, which, he said, betrayed their intoxicated condition and not wishing to thrust himself into their company, went back to bed, but first opened his dormitory window.

About seven o'clock Geo. Williams was washing in the main hall.

About seven o'clock William Vancey, a C.P.R. fireman, returned to the hotel from his work and on reaching the top flat at once perceived gas.

With that he started in search of the leak. In a moment he thrust open the door leading to the hall connecting the two rooms. Bruce followed. Turning to their right they opened another door and Vancey took a step forward, but stumbled over the dead body of Downes, who was lying in a heap a foot from the entrance.

Had it not been that James Moon was picked up by a policeman and taken into No. 6 station for drunkenness, he, too, would probably have been added to the number of dead. He was also closely attached to the other men, and occupied the room next to Allan's. It was customary for him to spend his evenings with the others, and had it not been for his arrest would most likely have been with them on Sunday morning.

The sixth victim of asphyxiation was Mrs. Mary Madden, 13 Walton street, whose body was found on Saturday evening by Mrs. McGuire, 28 St. Patrick street.

There was a strong smell of gas in the room, but the jet had been nearly turned off and there was not apparently sufficient fumes in the room to kill the woman. Others in the house had not noticed the gas.

STONE AWARDED $6,000 FOR THE LOSS OF ARM IN ACCIDENT

JOHN STANFIELD, M.P.,
Of Colchester, N.S., who will be the new Conservative whip.

ADVERTISE IN THE REVIEW.

C.P.R. Will Probably Appeal Against Jury's Finding.

Barrie, Oct. 16.—The closing case before Sir John Boyd in the assize court here Saturday was an action for $10,000 damages by Roy Stone of Barrie against the C.P.R. for the loss of his right arm on March 8 of this year, while in the company's service. Plaintiff, while trying to open the knuckles of a car in motion at Bolton, Ont., fell between the cars, one going over his right arm. The company at the time of the accident offered to have plaintiff removed to a hospital in Toronto and pay for amputation of the limb, but the family thought the limb might be saved and sent their own physician to the city to bring the injured man to his home town, where amputation finally took place.

The jury rendered a verdict of $6,000 damages for the plaintiff, each party paying their own costs. It is understood that the C.P.R. had previously made an offer of settlement, in which they agreed to give the plaintiff $1,250 and a position as station agent at Baxter at a salary of $50 per month with free light and fuel, but he was to pay $5 per month rent for the house. This the plaintiff refused to consider on the ground that it was not a permanent guarantee of his position for life.

It is understood that the C.P.R. will appeal the case.

HOUSE OF COMMONS MAY SIT UNTIL CHRISTMAS ; BUSY TIME

Long Adjournment Then Until Fall of 1912—Cabinet Announcement as to Date of Sitting is Expected Shortly—The Speakership.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—It is more than likely that there will be a short session commencing on or about November 15, and ending before Christmas, Parliament being prorogued then until next autumn.

It had been expected that there would be a session lasting only a month this fall and then another after the holidays. The Cabinet is considering at present crowding all the work into one term.

The new Ministers believe that even a session called after Christmas would hardly give them time to outline a comprehensive legislation program. Of course, with a session lasting only until Christmas, a number of important measures, such as the Banking Act, would have to stand over. The present act would likely be extended again for a year without amendment.

The date of the opening of Parliament and whether there will be one or two sessions will be decided upon next week.

Dr. Roche, the new Secretary of State, left Saturday night for Winnipeg.

Date of Bye-Elections.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—Within half an hour of attending the reception in his honor on Parliament Hill on Saturday afternoon, the Duke of Connaught signed his first order-in-council at Rideau Hall, fixing the date of the Ministerial bye-elections. Nominations will be on Oct. 27, and polling, if any, on Nov. 3. The outlook is that all the Ministers will be returned without opposition.

At the council meeting held on Saturday, after the return of the Cabinet from Quebec, the change in dates was decided upon.

It's a Toss-Up.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—Hon. Josiah Wood of Sackville, N.B., was here yesterday, and the question as to whether he or Dr. John Daniel of St. John is to be the new Leutenant-Governor of New Brunswick is under consideration. If Senator Woods is to be Lieutenant-Governor, Dr. Daniel, who is giving up his seat to Hon. J. D. Hazen, will go to the Upper House.

French-Canadian Speaker.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—According to custom, the retiring speakers of both houses, Hon. J. K. Kerr and Hon Charles Marcil, have been gazetted Privy Councillors. It is expected that the new Speaker of the Senate will be Hon. John N. Kirchoffer of Brandon, which will necessitate the selection of a French-Canadian for the Speakership of the Commons.

C.P.R. Boat Wrecked.

Walla Walla, Wash., Oct. 16.—Following is the copy of a wireless message picked up last night in Walla Walla:

"The Triangle Island, 7.40 p.m. Captain B. W. Troupe, Victoria:

"Princess Beatrice ashore at Noble Island; passengers transferred to Ventura. Badly damaged."

The Princess Beatrice is a steamship in the Canadian Pacific British Columbia coast service.

DYNAMITE USED TO FIND GIRL

FIGHT IT THROUGH

Lloyd George to Force Insurance Issue.

London, Oct. 16.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd-George has returned to town, and Saturday started what promises to be the hottest and most arduous fight of his political career. This is his campaign in favor of his national insurance bill, which he himself described as "a measure which would do more to hinder or dissuade human misery than any bill carried by the Legislature since the abolition of the corn laws."

His regular political opponents, who, at the outset, professed to regard the insurance bill as a non-partisan measure, the principle of which was admitted by both sides in Parliament, are utilizing the dissatisfaction, which is undoubtedly widespread, with the details of the bill, to serve their political ends.

The returns issued this week regarding the working of Mr. Lloyd-George's land taxes have provided his opponents with excellent material for attacks on the new bill. Fifteen hundred new officials were appointed to make valuations of landed property. Eleven million valuations were required, of which only 369,000 have been made in the first year. The Unionists ask when will Mr. Lloyd-George's "hen-roosting" at this rate of progress, pay for the cost of collection, and point with triumph to the fact that the undeveloped land tax has so far produced the impressive sum of £1,162. One criticism, which, is backed by the approval of both the Labor and Unionist M.P.'s, is that the benefits of the bill provides could be obtained for 5d. from any well-managed friendly society, whereas under the new bill they cost 9d.

The recount in Shefford Co., Quebec, only reduced the Liberal majority from 30 to 24.

ABUSING THE ITALIANS ?

Reports of Insults on Turkish Grounds Reach Rome.

Cholera Has Broken Out at Tripoli.

Rome, Oct. 16.—Reports from distant regions of the Turkish Empire are causing considerable excitement here. These reports describe the authorities as abusing members of the Italian colonies and sequestering their private correspondence. It is asserted that the telegrams of Italian consuls despatched before war was declared, were seized and that Italians who later wished to leave the country were held as hostages and released only recently through the intervention of Germany and after they had been subjected to gross indignities.

Cholera Outbreak at Tripoli.

Malta, Oct. 16.—It is reported that several cases of cholera have developed among the soldiers taking part in the Italian expedition to Tripoli. The stricken men have been isolated and other energetic measures adopted to prevent a spread of the disease.

Was Is a Farce.

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 16.—Sydney has a distinguished visitor in His Highness Prince Ghako of Roumania, who, with his friend and aide, Capt. Radcliffe, is en route to Newfoundland. Prince Ghaki and Capt. Radcliffe are keen sportsmen, and have visited a number of the principal hunting centres in America. This is their first trip to Newfoundland.

In regard to the Turko-Italian war, the prince stated that in his opinion it was simply a pre-arranged matter between the great powers of Europe that Italy eventually would get Tripoli.

"It is only a sham fight, and there will be no more bloodshed. The Turkish Government is too clever to continue a war of this sort when she knows that having so much seaboard and practically no navy, she cannot possibly prevail."

TURKEY TALKS DEFIANCE TO ITALY ; SPEECH FROM THRONE

Will Defend its Rights and Privileges Against Aggression—Accusations Against Italy.

Constantinople, Oct. 16.—The Turkish Parliament was opened yesterday afternoon. The Sultan's speech from the throne was read, according to custom, by the Grand Vizier in the presence of the sultan, the eldest Turkish princes, the foreign diplomats and the heads of the foreign banks.

Profound silence marked the reading by Said Pasha of the throne speech, at the conclusion of which applause broke out. Sultan Mahommed V. appeared to be deeply affected.

The speech from the throne dealt mostly with the action of Italy in declaring war over Tripoli, and with the steps taken by the powers looking to mediation.

"In the meanwhile," the Grand Vizier read, "the Turkish Government continues to have recourse to measures to defend its rights and legitimate interests."

The speech declared that Italy's ultimatum was presented while the Turkish Government was engrossed in developing the country industrially and repairing the errors of the past regime. It accused Italy of opening hostilities before the expiration of twenty-four hours after the ultimatum was given, and with firing upon torpedo boats in the Adriatic when they were saluting, ignorant that hostilities had broken out.

Italy's Difficulties.

Rome, (via frontier), Oct. 16.—The landing of the Italian expeditionary force in Tripoli was more eventful than was at first known. Owing to the difficulties caused by a rough sea and a hard shore, the Italian commanders found themselves confronted by a serious problem. The great fleet of coral boats from the Islands of Lampeduse, Lampidone, Linosa and others in the Mediterranean, came to the rescue of the transports and helped in the speedy landing of the troops. The gravity of the situation is indicated by fact that the torpedo boat Precia was wrecked on the rocks, although the crew was saved.

Cholera was reported likely to prove a worse enemy than the Turks. Already 20 or 30 cases have occurred, with a 75 per cent. mortality.

Another cause of apprehension to the Government is the position of Italian residents in Ottoman territory, which is considered extremely dangerous. An exchange of communications on this subject has taken place between Rome and Berlin. Germany is using all her influence to prevent excesses and is endeavoring to convince Turkey that reprisals against Italians now in that country would only serve to make her position still more difficult.

OVER-WORKED KIDNEYS

Cause. Rush of Blood, Fullness, Dizziness.

J. T. Chetland, the well-known railway engineer of Hamilton, found the strain always resting upon men of his occupation vastly intensified by a tendency of the blood to rush to his head, and often at times when clearness of vision and great steadiness were demanded. Finding some difficulty in bending—a stiffness with pain having settled in his back, it occurred to him that his kidneys might be at fault. "This was a happy idea, for by it I not only got rid of the pain but many other troubles as well. I took a full dose of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and was glad to note that some obstruction of the kidneys, which I had lately noticed, was at once relieved. The flushed appearance of my face gave way to a more rational color and there was a perceptible improvement in my appetite. Dr. Hamilton's Pills certainly act splendidly upon the blood, removing heat and fulness and that sort of dizziness that makes a man at the throttle wish when it sieges him that he were elsewhere."

No medicine gives such unquestionably good results for stomach, liver, and blood troubles as Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild, certain, and always curative. Refuse any substitute. All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE GRAHAM CLIQUE

From the indications, it is quite evident that Sir Hugh Graham feels considerably disappointed and piqued over not being able to dictate to Mr. Borden what he should do and what he should not do in regard to the cabinet. The tone of the Montreal Star's utterances is rather acrid on the subject of the Conservative leader choices. In fact, Mr. Borden's actions have been supremely certain to prick the hot-air balloon which the Star has been making itself, imagining that it was the whole thing around Canada. That is what is most annoying about these Montreal people.

As far as the Graham section of the Conservative party is concerned, we do not know the failure of Mr. Borden to please it will exactly lower him in the public esteem. There is a possibility that he might be raised considerably. When any one man, or any one section of men imagine, in this broad country, that they are born to rule by divine right, it is time they got a bump where they feel it most. It will be a good thing for Conservatism in Canada if no sectionalism is allowed to have undue weight in the party's counsels. The Graham section of high financiers may support the Conservative party if they like—they won't become Liberals in any event—but they should not make the all too common mistake of thinking they are running the country, or the party either. It was not so very long ago that Sir Hugh Graham was behind the movement to oust Mr. Borden from the Conservative leadership.

THE RAILWAY BOARD

There is a row on between Chairman Leitch, of the Ontario Railway Board, and his two lay associates, A. B. Ingram and H. N. Kittson. Mr. Leitch feels so strongly over the trouble that he has issued a statement that is next door to being uncivil, and is apparently the result of rancor. We think that it is time the constitution of the board was somewhat changed; the powers of the board should be enlarged and its number added to. The act governing the board gives to the chairman almost autocratic power, over the other two members of the board, and it is not to be wondered at, that the two lay members should finally decide to assert themselves. The act says that all legal questions, or questions which the chairman deems to be of legal import, shall be decided by him alone, as the only legal man on the board.

Chairman Leitch evidently construes this to mean that because the other members are not members of the legal fraternity, their judgment on railway matters is not worth much. Being merely business men, they could not be expected to understand the intricate question of switches, and railway sidings, nor see what is best for a municipality in street railway matters. Chairman Leitch, in his statement, accuses his fellow-members of "misconstruing their functions"—of butting in, in plainer English—and says that they are not railway experts. "Mr. Ingram cannot be said to be an expert in any sense of the term. The position in which he was employed over twenty years ago, on a steam railway, do not entitle him to speak with the authority of an expert on electric railway operation, traffic requirements or equipment."

No one has yet suggested that Chairman Leitch, being a lawyer, has any right to be termed a railway expert, either steam or electric. His attitude toward his associates seems to arise from personal animus, and in such a case, the board needs some reconstruction. It has not been the success hoped for, because of its limited powers, and because of the fact that where a legal question enters—and there is a question of law in almost everything that comes before the board—there is only one man entitled to a say. What we object to, is the apparent attitude of the chairman, who seems to think that first-class business men are not as well qualified to judge of practical, everyday problems of railway switching, as he—a disciple of musty Crankshaw.

PATRONAGE

The following strong article from the Toronto News indicates the trend of sentiment with regard to the distribution of patronage under the Conservative regime at Ottawa. That the tone of the utterance will have complete approval from the people in the mass, there is no doubt; for the policy proposed is one of common honesty, and a desire for the welfare of the country. Is it impossible? There is no reason why it should be. Think it over.

"Looseness of any kind in Federal administration is inexcusable. Surely the time has come for us to make an end of it. The new Ministers are sworn to give true allegiance to the King. They will stultify themselves and make their word of none effect if they conduct the King's business loosely or inefficiently. They should understand at the beginning that the country owes nothing to any individual or clique of individuals. When a Minister of the Crown begins to use public favors or public moneys for the payment of political debts, he fails utterly to appreciate the rudimentary principles of public morals. The Borden Ministry was formed to govern Canada not to coddle any party.

The whole system of patronage giving is a Babel of rottenness. Once a Cabinet Minister permits his course to be dictated or even effected by patronage considerations he has opened the door to a host of evils. Every administrative scandal can be traced back to the activity of patronage-seekers, to the ardor of political-heelers who demand and receive special treatment at the expense of the treasury.

Fifteen years ago the Laurier administration came to power. It was a government of great promise. The Ministers were men of good records. Yet that government became the most corrupt since confederation. Its slightest act was dictated by considerations of patronage. Contractors of all kinds, middlemen and heelers, fattened at the treasury. Millions of dollars were wasted every year. Not only were the camp followers fed fat, but the government used the whole public departments as engines of bribery. Several Cabinet Ministers were under suspicion. The electors have spoken. The Liberal party to-day is a pile of wreckage—not overly clean. Patronage or party jobbery was the cause of the debacle.

The new Ministers should clearly understand that they are not at Ottawa to play the political game, no matter how fascinating that gentle pastime may appear. They are there to govern the country as true liegemen of the Crown. It is not of national importance that John Smith should get a contract for dredging because he assisted in the Honorable A. B.'s organisation. The question for the country is: Will John Smith do the work better than any one else, and at a fair and reasonable price? If a Cabinet Minister dabbles with patronage at all he will be so busy with it that he will have no time to do the business for which the country pays him—and which, incidentally, he is sworn to do.

But the long-eared may say that honest government is a Utopian ideal, that we cannot expect an administration free from the influence of patronage-hunters and patronage-mongers. Why not? A Cabinet Minister can be honest in his own business. He would resent any imputation of crooked dealing in his personal affairs. He must have some strength of character to command preferment to office. Let him use it to resist the politicians for revenue only. He will not lose influence. Indeed he will be enormously strengthened. The hangers-on are noisy, but their influence does not count in the country. If a general has an important battle to fight he will not seek the advice of the sutlers and camp-followers, who, perhaps, are his most vocal critics. He will do the job himself.

We have a new Cabinet. The slate is clean. The Ministers are men of force and distinction. The country is anxious for an improvement in administration. The best way to strengthen the Conservative party and to maintain the government in power is to kick patronage out of doors and let the heelers howl. Governing Canada is a man's job. Nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of its efficient accomplishment.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Liberal executive has met, but the name of the lamb is not yet ready for publication.

It will be a matter of regret to the people of Peterborough that Mr. Stratton has decided to dispose of his fine show horses and turn-outs. They were a credit to Peterborough, and an advertisement for the city wherever they were shown.

Well, at all events, those who dislike the presence of Messrs. Monk, Pelletier and Nantel in the cabinet can gain not a little consolation from the fact that Col. Sam Hughes is on the job.

There are no bi-lingual schools in Ontario, insofar as any constitutional provision for them is made. The teaching of French is permitted by and subject to regulations of the education department, and any abuses thereof are blameable upon the department. It would be well if some of the shouters against bi-lingual schools would get this into their heads, in the first place.

A few days ago a motorist was fined $1,000 by a Toronto judge for running amuck with his automobile. He was able to pay it, and the fine was balanced against six months' imprisonment. That is a wrong principle, in our opinion. If the offence deserved a jail term, the jail sentence should have been given, and not the option of a heavy fine provided. This is making one law for the rich and another for the poor.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 14.—There was a steady undertone at opening, and values were barely ⅛d higher, and, following the opening, there was a decline of ⅛d to ¼d, with selling to realise. The firmness in Winnipeg at the close yesterday, and the firmness of Australian and Plate offerings, together with expected lighter American shipments this week, as shown by Bradstreet's, were offset here by a forecast of liberal shipments to the United Kingdom and a quiet demand for spot, and less demand for both cargoes and parcels. Advices from Argentine are favorable, with the weather warmer, and this was reflected in the comparative heaviness in the distant months here. At the close the market was dull, ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower than yesterday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Prospects of another big increase of the visible supply made the wheat market to-day turn weak. The close was 1-8c to 1-4c and 3-8c under last night. Corn declined 3-8c to 1-2c and 1-2c net, and oats 1-8c to 1-4c. The end of the day left provisions varying from unchanged figures to 5c advance.

St. Lawrence Sugar

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

Montreal, 22nd February, 1909.

I Hereby Certify that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

Carlos Santander either did not think c' this, or supposed the cloister door too thick to permit of speech in the ordinary tone passing through it. It did, notwithstanding; what be said outside to the governor reaching the Irishman's ear, and giving him a yet closer view to the reason he and Cris Rock had been cast into a common jail among the veriest and vilest of malefactors.

The words of Santander were:

"As you see, Senor Don Pedro, the two Tejanos are old acquaintances of mine. I met them not in Texas, but the United States—New Orleans—where we had certain relations; I need not particularize to you. Only to say that both the gentlemen left me very much in their debt, and I now wish, above all things, to wipe out the score. I hope I may count upon you to help me!"

There could be no mistaking what he meant. It was anything but a repayal of friendly services, in the way of gratitude; instead, an appeal to the jail governor to assist him in some scheme of vengeance. So the latter understood it, as evinced by his rejoinder:

"Of course you can, Senor Colonel. Only say what you wish done. Your commands are sufficient authority for me."

"Well," said Santander, after an interval apparently spent in considering, "as a first step, I wish you to give these gentlemen an airing in the street; not alone the Tejanos, but all four."

"Caspita!" exclaimed the governor, with a look of feigned surprise. "They ought to be thankful for that."

"They won't, however. Not likely; seeing their company and the occupation I want them put at."

"Which is?"

"A little job in the ditches!"

"In which street?"

"The Calle de Plateros. I observe that its stones are up."

"And when?"

"To-morrow—at midday. Have them there before noon and let them be kept until night, or, at all events till the procession has passed. Do you quite understand me?"

"I think I do, Senor Colonel. About their jewelry—is that to be on?"

"Every link of it. I want them to be coupled, just as they are now—dwarf to giant and the two grand gentlemen together."

"Bueno! It shall be done."

So closed the curious dialogue, or, if continued, what came after it did not reach the ears of Florence Kearney; they who conversed having sauntered off beyond his hearing. When he had translated what he heard to Cris Rock, the latter, like himself, was uncertain as to what it meant. Not so either of their prison companions, who had likewise listened to the conversation outside—both better comprehending it.

CHAPTER XIV.

On the Azotea.

In the City of Mexico the houses are flat-roofed, the roof bearing the name of azotea. A parapeted wall, some three or four feet in height, runs all round to separate those of the adjacent houses from one another when they chance to be on the same level and also prevent falling off. Privacy, besides, has to do with this protective screen; the azotea being a place of almost daily resort, if the weather be fine, and a favorite lounging place, where visitors are frequently received.

It would be difficul to find landscape more lovely, or more interesting, than that which surrounds the City of Mexico. Look in what direction one will, the eye is furished with a feast. Surveying it from any roof in the city itself, the scene is one to delight the eye and gladden the heart. And yet on the azotea of a certain house, or rather in the balcony above it, stood a young lady, who looked over it without delight in her eye or gladness in her heart.

As a rule, people of melancholy temperament, or with a sorrow at the heart, give way to it within doors in the privacy of their own apartments. The daughter of Don Ignacio had been more often taught to assuage hers upon the house-top, to which she was accustomed to ascend daily, staying there for hours alone. For this she had opportunity; her father, busied with state affairs, spending most of his time—at least during the diurnal hours—at government headquarters in the palace.

On this day, however, Luisa Valverde mounted up to the azotea with feelings and under an impulse very different from that hitherto actuating her. Her behavior, too, was different. When she made her way up and took stand inside the mirador, or balcony, her eyes, instead of wandering dreamily on the landscape, with no care for its attractions, were turned in a particular direction, and became fixed upon a single point. This was where the road, running from the city to Tacubaya, alongside the acqueduct of Chapultepec, parts from the latter, diverging abruptly to the left. Beyond this point the causeway, carried on among maguey plants and Peruvian peppers, cannot be seen from the highest house-top in the city.

Why on this day, more than any other, did the young lady direct her glance to the bend in the road, there keeping it steadfast? For what reason was the expresion upon her countenance so different from that of other days? No listless look now; instead, an earnest, eager gaze, as though she expected to see some one whose advent was of the greatest interest to her. It could only be the coming of some one, as one going would have been long since visible by the side of the aqueduct.

And one she did expect to come that way; no grand cavalier on prancing steed, but a simple pedestrian—in short, her own servant. She had sent him on an errand to Tacubaya and was now watching for and awaiting his return. It was the nature of his errand which caused her to look for him so earnestly.

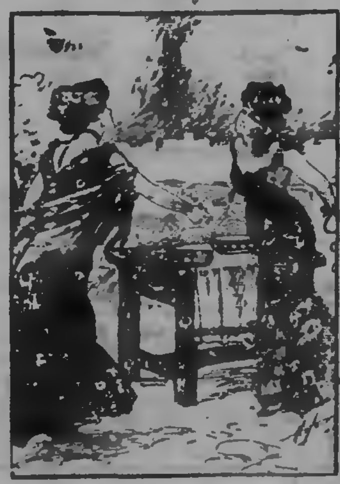
On no common business had he been dispatched, but one of a confidential character, and requiring tact in its execution. But Jose, a mestizo whom she had commissioned, possesed this, besides having her confidence, and she had no fear of his betraying her. Not that it was a life or death matter; only a question of delicacy. For his errand was to inquire, whether among the Texan prisoners taken to Tacubaya one was called Florence Kearney.

CHAPTER XV.

Waiting and Watching.

As it was now the third day after their arrival in Mexico, it may be wondered why the young lady had not sought this information before. The explanation is easy. Her father owned a country house in the environs of San Augustine, some 10 miles from the city, and there staying she had only the day before heard that the captive train, long looked for, had at length arrived. Soon as hearing it, she had hastened her return to town and was now taking steps to ascertain whether her lover still lived.

She did not think of making inquiry at the Acordada, though a rumor had reached her that some of the prisoners were there. But surely not Don Florencio! If alive, it was not likely he would be thus disgraced; at least she could not believe it. Little she dreamed of the malice that was moving, and secret, to degrade in her eyes the man who was uppermost in her thoughts.



"FORGIVE ME, ISABEL!" SAID HER FRIEND.

And as little she suspected when one of the house domestics came upon the azotea and handed her a large ornamental envelope, bearing the state arms, that it was part of the malignant scheme.

Breaking it open she drew out an embossed and gilded card—a ticket it came from the dictator, inviting Dona Luisa Valverde to be present in a grand procession, which was to take place on the following day; intimating, moreover, that one of the state carriages would be at the disposal of herself and party.

There were but few ladies in the City of Mexico who would not have been flattered by such an invitation; all the more from the card bearing the name, Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna, signed by himself, with the added phrase "con estima particular."

But little cared she for the flattery. Rather did it cause her a feeling of disgust, with something akin to fear. It was not the first time the ruler of Mexico had paid compliments and presed his attentions upon her.

Soon as glanced over, she let the despised thing fall, almost flinging it at her feet, and once more bent her eyes upon the Tacubaya road and continued to watch impatiently; the invitation to ride in the state carriage being as much out of her mind as though she had never received it.

Not many minutes longer before she was intruded upon. This time, however, by no domestic; instead a lady—like herself, young and beautiful, but beauty of an altogether different style. Though of pure Spanish descent, Luisa Valverde was a blond; her complexion bright, with hair of sunny hue.

She who now appeared upon the azotea was dark; her skin showing a tinge of golden brown, with a profusion of black hair plaited and coiled as a coronet around her head. The red upon her cheeks was of the deep tint of a damask rose. The tones, however, were in perfect harmony, and distributed over features of the finest mold produced a face in which soft feminine beauty vied with a sort of savage picturesqueness, making it piquantly attractive and bewitching.

The young lady was the Countess Almonte—descended from one of the Conquistadors who had wedded an Aztec princess—the beautiful Isabel Almonte, whose charms were at the time the toast of every circle in Mexico.

THE GOLDEN RULE

Not Too Much Strict Letter of the Law, but Do to Others What Will Bring Most Happiness.

The Golden Rule should not be interpreted too literally, for at times to do to another what you would like him to do to you is to incur his undying enmity. The spirit of the law breeds happiness but the strict letter of it has the power to cause trouble of no trivial sort.

It is told of a man who for a whole winter took a girl every week to see a vaudeville show and prided himself on being a most generous and attentive cavalier. He was fond of vaudeville himself and presumed that she ought to be, for he turned a deaf ear to any suggestion that they go to see any good things in legitimate drama, of which he knew she was fond.

In the narrow confines of domestic life one sees it often, this too literal translation of the Golden Rule. One sees the wife work and toil over meals and the keeping of the house, all for her husband's good as she fondly believes, when what he really wants most is a smile and a song. Again the husband thinks he is doing all in his power to make his wife happy when he provides well for her and gives her presents of as great value as he can afford. He cannot comprehend that what she wants is to be teased and kissed, and when he is away from home a letter every day is of far more worth than if he brings home a Paris frock or a pearl necklace. Do unto others what will give them the most happiness even if it looks like foolishness.

Togo and the Suffragettes

Admiral Togo recently gave his views on the Suffragist question to a woman interviewer. "I am not a Suffragist,' he said. "I believe woman is harmed by any movement that takes her mind off her home and children. I believe in the higher education of women, but to me the highest education a woman can have is that which makes her believe that her greatest usefulness is at home and her greatest duty towards the States is the giving to the nation children — the future citizens. What does a woman [illegible] given to men? In our country women have a lower grade of education than men — that is, where the outside, political, and practical things are considered — but she gets all the education she needs. The women of my country send their husbands, and brothers and sons out to the battlefield with a courage as great as that possessed by the soldiers themselves. That is where woman shows her strength and splendid citizenship and patriotism."

A Sudden Change!

"Florida in the late winter and early spring is a delightful place to visit," said John Jacob Astor, at tea beneath a palm at Palm Beach.

"But," said Mr. Astor, "some people think that in any Florida town for $1.50 a day they will get the luxury that we find here, or in St. Augustine, or in Miami.

"I know a man who, arriving at a kind of 'busted boom' resort in the hammock lands of Orange County, said to the hotel clerk with a sarcastic smile:

"'It's wonderful what havoc time makes.'

"'Yes?' said the clerk, politely.

"'Yes, I was thinking,' explained my friend, 'what a magnificent building this hotel was in the circular I saw before leaving New York yesterday—and, alas! look at it now.'"

Realism in Art

Actors frequently receive unexpected proof of the realism of their art. Not long ago, on the occasion of the performance of "Hamlet" by a distinguished English player, there were no more interested and absorbed spectators than two newsies in the gallery.

The boys had been watching the performance with breathless interest. The last act was drawing to a close. The duel almost dragged the lads from their seats.

Before their eyes the Queen was poisoned, Laertes killed, the King killed, Hamlet killed. On the final tragedy the curtain started down. The audience was spellbound.

In the gallery there was a clatter and a crash as one of the boys mentioned started for the door.

"Come on, Tommy," he shouted back to his companion. "Hustle! Dere'll be extras out on dis!"

You hear of such things, but I don't believe there ever was a girl who married a man she disliked, to please her parents.

OPEN SORE BAFFLES DOCTORS.

Morriscy's No. 4 Eczema Ointment Healed Like Magic.

Nauwigewauk, N.B., Oct. 3, 1910

"I can gladly recommend dear Dr. Morriscy's Eczema Ointment because it cured me of a sore which I had on my ear for over 8 years. I did everything to have it cured, and had the most skillful doctors treating it, but it would not heal up. I went under treatment with Father Morriscy's Ointment, and in a short while it was cured. That was 3 years ago, and I am sure the cure is permanent. When I think how quickly No. 4 Eczema Ointment cured me it seems wonderful indeed, because you know I doctored with several skilled physicians who could not help me. You surely must have a big demand for this wonderful Salve. My only regret is that I did not use it at first, as it would have saved me over 8 years of pain, to say nothing of an unsightly ear and expensive doctor bills." John Ryan.

The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine. Dr. Morriscy prescribed it for 44 years, and it cured thousands after other doctors failed.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

HON. A. P. McNAB

When the Saskatchewan Government decided there was work sufficient for five cabinet ministers, the portfolio went to Hon. A. P. McNab, a Glengarry native who had migrated westward some years previously, and become one of Saskatoon's strong business men and represented that constituency in Parliament. The Hon. gentleman saw the light in the year 1864 and has followed the grain and milling industry since his youth, and is now president of the Saskatoon Milling and Elevator Co., a concern of very considerable standing in the West. First elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature at the general election in 1908 he was appointed to the Cabinet as Municipal Commissioner on 8 December 1908, and re-elected by acclamation on 30 December of the same year. His appointment as Minister of Public Works came in the following month and experience has demonstrated the fact that he is a man in every way qualified for the post. Not only so but indications are not wanting that further, and greater honors are in store for the Glengarry Scot.

HON. A. P. McNAB,
A Glengarry Success.

MISS ELLEN KNOX,

Candian women have taught successfully in such large numbers that the story of the Canadian woman teacher has become a commonplace. No one apparently has recognized what an interesting part has been taken in the development of Canada by the Canadian woman who has taught. Many interesting types of women teachers have been evolved in the short history of the teaching profession in Canada. Toronto's population is considerably increased about the middle of September every year by the incoming of hundreds of girls from all over Canada to attend one of the ten or fifteen successful schools for girls; none of which are more successful than Havergal College which to a large extent owes its progress to the respect in which Miss Ellen Knox, the principal, is held by scholars and parents. Born in Surrey England, she after a splendid education came to Canada to assume the principalship of Havergal which is now one of the largest schools in Canada.

Miss Knox comes of a clever family, her two brothers being the Dr. E. Knox, Bishop of Manchester and Sir George Knox, of the Supreme Court India.

Thoughts for Every Day

Some roosters do almost as much crowing as some men.

The man who always follows the dictation of his conscience must have pretty sharp ears.

A fellow is generally broke when a girl drops him.

There is no lack of opporunities to do the things we shouldn't.

Almost any man is a match for the fellow who has money to burn.

There are times when you don't have to be an acrobat to take a tumble to yourself.

Deathly Cramps, Stomach was Bloated

A Bad Case That Proves Cramps and Stomach Disorders are Cured Fast by Nerviline.

"The distress I suffered from cramps last summer was so severe I thought it meant death," writes P. R. Emerson, of Guys Hill, P. O. "I was doubled up with pain and in such bad shape I couldn't walk a hundred feet. I remembered having Nerviline on hand and took half a teaspoonful in sweetened water. In five minutes I was well and my stomach derangements disappeared entirely."

NERVILINE AN INSTANT RELIEF

For cramps, flatulence, diarrhoea and disorders of the stomach and bowels, Nerviline knows no equal—one million bottles used every year—fifty years on the market, that's proof enough of its merit. Large bottles, 50c., trial size, 25c. All dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Well-Known Printer Dead.

Hamilton, Oct. 16.—The body of William A. Winfield, one of the best-known printers in this city, was found in a area at the rear of The Spectator building yesterday morning about eight, by the caretaker of the building. When found, the body was cold and stiff, and it is thought the man had been dead since early Saturday night. It is supposed that death was caused by a broken neck, or fractured skull, resulting from Winfield's fall into the areaway. Coroner McNicholl was immediately notified of the fatality, and ordered the body taken to the city morgue, whence it was subsequently removed to Blachford's undertaking parlors. After investigating the cause, the coroner decided an inquest was not necessary.

Justice Champagne Dead.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The death occurred here yesterday, after a brief illness, of Justice L. N. Champagne of the Superior Court, Hull. The deceased, who was born in 1860, leaves a widow and family. The widow is a sister of the late Senator Chevrier of St. Boniface.

THE GATEWAY TO THE CARIBOO

The Grand Trunk Pacific Will Open a New Supply Route To The North

For years "The Gateway to the Cariboo" has been through Ashcroft, where freight and passenger traffic has had to be hauled by waggon and stage.

With the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific this condition will be entirely changed next spring when the probabilities are that a steamer service will be operated between Tete Jaune Cache, that will be the end of steel at the time, and Fort George during the construction of the line between these two points. Ashcroft will lose its Northern trade with startling suddenness. By the same token Edmonton will replace Vancouver at the same time as the supply point for British Columbia's Central Interior. Freight will be carried west from Edmonton by rail to the Cache, and barged down river to Fort George, Quesnel and Soda Creek much more cheaply than it can be waggoned from Ashcroft to Soda Creek, a distance of 167 long miles. It is a simple matter of economics.

Pie social by George-st. Ep.' League, Tuesday night. Two tickets 25c. Good program.

AGED COUPLE SAVED BY THE FAMILY CAT

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Irwin, Parnell St., Awoke to Find Their Home in Flames---House and Contents Destroyed.

A family cat was probably the means of saving the lives of an aged couple early this morning in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. James Irwin, Parnell street, when it alarmed the occupants of the burning house by its meows and scratches at the door of their room. The house was gutted and the furnishings completely wrecked, the damage amounting to about $500.

STARTED IN PANTRY

Apparently the fire started in the pantry. Though the occupants could not give any definite information as to what they were doing the previous evening before they retired owing to their advanced ages and general confusion, it is thought that Mr. Irwin has been smoking and the fire started in that way. The family cat was the first of the occupants that scented danger, and Mrs. Irwin got up let it in when she heard it meowing, as she opened the door she was met by the flames.

Miss Thompson, a neighbor living across the street from the burned building, was preparing breakfast for her brother, Mr. James Thompson, who works for the Allin Lee Co., and goes to work early, and having occasion to go into her back yard, she looked across the street on hearing the screams of Mrs. Irwin. Mr. Thompson ran over to rescue the old people, while his sister went to inform other neighbors.

Mr. Thompson found them in the kitchen and undoubtedly they could not have found their way out, if he had not gone to their aid. As it was Mr. Irwin's whiskers were burned and the only clothes he rescued was a pair of trousers and a vest, while Mrs. Irwin was compelled to leave in her night-robes.

FIREMEN HAD TROUBLES

At 5 a.m. the fire department was called by Mr. Libby, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin. He had been aroused by the noise on the street, and upon going to the fire found that no one had sent for the firemen. He ran to box 14, corner Wescott and Aylmer streets, and when the firemen responded, they first hitched to a hydrant which was out of commission and by the time a second hitch was made they could not do more than leave the walls of the house standing. The house which was a frame structure burned rapidly and it was an impossibility for the firemen to save anything.

26 YEARS ON THE STREET

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin, who came from Scotland about 60 years ago, have resided on Parnell street for twenty six years coming to the city from Port Hope. They have well-to-do sons and daughters but had preferred living alone. Aged eighty-eight and eighty six years respectively, they are beginning to feel the effects of their advanced age. Mr. Irwin is practically blind and their other faculties are becoming dimmed.

PITIFUL SIGHT

It was a pitiful sight this morning to see the old couple start off for the ruins of their home, forgetting that it would shelter them no longer. They are staying with their daughter, Mrs Libby at present.

THEIR SECOND FIRE

A couple of years ago, the same house was afire, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage resulted.

PROF. FERNOW'S VISIT TO THE NORTH "BACK COUNTRY" MADE

What the Forestry Expert Found—An Effort to be Made to Get Government Assistance in Reclaiming Lands by Re-foresting—What the Expedition Found.

Prof. Fernow, perhaps the most eminent forestry expert in the world, left yesterday for Toronto after completing a 230 mile trip through the northern part of Peterborough County and into Haliburton to the head waters of the River Otonabee. The trip was undertaken by request of Mr. J. H. Burnham, who is anxious that something shall be done to reclaim extensive stretches of country to the north rapidly becoming a useless waste. The question of water conservation is also involved. The party went up to the Burnt River side and returned by the Gull River side following those waters to where they join Balsam Lake at Coboconk. Mr. Burnham and superintendent McCallum of the T.V.C., escorted Prof. Fernow. The party journeyed by motor, by boat and on foot. They first motored to Buckhorn then up the Cavendish road then back to the Harvey road then across to the Kinmount road and then with occasional inspection of the country to Kinmount to which they returned for the night after a side trip in to White Lake on the Cavendish and Snowdon boundaries. The next morning at seven o'clock the party started for the upper waters, the Burnt River being on the right. It rises properly speaking at Kosh Lake and Devil's Lake. The other main source of water supply from the height of land, viz., Gull River, flows farther west, but in a parallel direction to Burnt River. It rises in 12-mile lake and flowing through Moore, Gull Mountain and Horseshoe Lakes (a forty foot falls here) reaches Balsam Lake at Coboconk, while the Burnt River flows into Cameron Lake farther east. Numerous smaller streams flow into these two lakes also. But some of this upper water has to supply the canal to the west and the power house at Kirkfield. This water is drawn off in the opposite direction to that in which it formerly flowed, going ultimately into Lake Simcoe. This trip into northern Peterborough and Haliburton may perhaps be properly called a forester's first reconnaissance or birds' eye view, to determine what ought to be done with large portions of the public lands in such a country, whether to rescue or to abandon them. To abandon them to fire and sterility is ultimately to drive out the settler, to depopulate the "back country" and to deprive Peterborough and Lindsay of a source of revenue. The country will not rescue itself. It would take 5000 years for it to crawl back to a state of nature. It would take not more than 60 years, however, if the government took up the work on its own lands and bought out those of the settlers, also, which are otherwise quite useless and hopeless. In Galway over three-quarters of the land of the township is not assessed to anyone. It has been left worthless after lumbering and has gone out of commission altogether. In Harvey there are thousands of acres in the same state. Mr. Burnham's idea is that the governments should co-operate with each other in reclaiming this land and that the National Conservation Commission should take the matter up also and acquire lands and assist in reclaiming them. In Germany, forestry and reclamation is as much a branch of government as finance or public works and what is it but public works? There are in addition to the general scheme of reclamation small patches of struggling second growth pine that ought to be conserved. But what will happen to them if left to their fate as usual? They will be swept away again by fire along with the aspen and birch and the soil. The whole matter is one of farming. Are farms to be tilled, farmed dry and then left to become weeds and sand dunes and a prey to flames? This fate of sterility is overtaking many a township at the front, the back is going the same way. Prof. Fernow will report upon his visit and Mr. Burnham will bring the report before both governments. If our water also, and waterpowers are to be maintained in proper quantities something must be done to protect them. Ten years growth would very greatly help the water sources and land moisture. Fifty years would restore the land and the woods, except where the soil is burned off. The "back country" may with care of forestry well be, again, the scene of industry and value, but not if neglected and despised as at present. Let the newspapers support the movement and then the governments will have to do something. They will have to adopt the enlightened policies of our countries in this respect. In no other way can the vast reaches of our back country be made again to contribute to the general prosperity of the townships, the counties, the province and the dominion. Peterborough county is worse in this respect than Victoria. Haliburton is picturesque, but the dense growth of woods there is nearly valueless. Forest weeds are the same as farm weeds. As well expect a farm to sow its own wheat and oats as a forest to recrop itself. The streams and lakes are in most cases but poorly stocked with fish. With this attended to and a good healthy growth of pine, cedar, etc., begun over the entire face of the land where possible, it would become at once a sportsman's paradise and an immediate source of revenue to the settlers and of supply to the cities and with a future before it. As Prof. Fernow quietly remarked, "This forlorn condition of sterility and abandonment could not happen in Germany." Slash and fire have done their work and governments must now do their best to remedy it.

SMALL FLOOD ON GEORGE STREET

Caused by Bursting of Twelve Inch Water Main

Through the bursting of a 12 inch water main at the corner of Hunter and George streets, this morning about three o'clock, George street, south of Hunter street, resembled the diminutive stream which flows south of the Cereal dam. A few stray logs and the similarity would be almost complete. Police Sergeant Adams heard the break and reported. The force of the water tore a large hole to the surface of the road. The responsibility of the break cannot exactly be placed. Some time ago the whole waterworks system was tested, the 12 inch mains at 120 lbs to the square inch. The pressure is 30 lbs. more than prevails in a case of fire. The normal pressure is 80 lbs to the square inch.

Such a mishap as occurred this morning could be brought about by the turning on of water at the pump house too rapidly or by shutting off a fire hydrant too quickly.

Engineer Wainwright is too experienced a man to take any chance in the first case, and this morning's fire did not take place until after the pipe was broken.

The happy couple were attended by Miss Edith Theobald and Mr Walter W Withers. Mr. and Mrs. Withers will reside at 617 Bethune street.

MARK HAMBOURG TO PLAY LISZT

At the Recital To-morrow Night at the Grand Opera House A Treat in Store for All Who Love Music

That the music loving people of Peterborough appreciate the opportunity that is offered them of hearing one of the greatest artists of the present day, is evidenced by the interest that is being taken in the appearance of Mark Hambourg at the Grand to-morrow evening.

It is not often that we have a chance of hearing such a well known artist as Mark Hambourg in our own city, and it is to be hoped that a large audience will greet this famous pianist. Amongst the selections that he will give, are some by Liszt, the celebrated composer.

In writing of the latter, Saint Saens says: "The richness of melody in the works which now occupy us is balanced by as great a richness of harmony. In this bold search in the world of new harmony Liszt has far surpassed all that was done before him. Wagner himself has not attained the audacity shown in the prelude to 'Faust' written in a hitherto unknown tonality, yet containing nothing to wound the ear, and in which it is impossible to change a single note.

"Liszt has the inestimable advantage of having typified a people; Schumann is the soul of Germany; Chopin of Poland; Liszt of the Magyar. He is a delightful combination of pride, native elegance, and wild, tameless energy.

"It is certain that Liszt's prodigious technique was only one of the factors of his talent. It was not his fingers alone which made him such a marvellous performer but the qualities of the great musician and the great poet which he possessed, his large heart and his beautiful soul—above all the soul of his race."

All indications at present point to this event being a notable success.

There has already been a large advance sale and many parties are being arranged for to-morrow night's appearance of Mark Hambourg. The prices are $1.50, $1.00 and 75 cents. A portion of the upper gallery will be reserved for ladies if desired.

POLICE ROUND UP BAD GANG OF SIX YOUNGSTERS

They Are Charged With Breaking Into Schools and Petty Thieving.

Through the diligence of the police, six boys, none over fifteen years of age, have been rounded up, on a charge of committing a series of depredations and petty thieving in the south end of the city. Their efforts seemed to be directed at the two schools principally, the Lake street school, and the King Edward, and also St. James' Methodist church. The boys are attendants at school, but by their actions evidently are not kindly disposed towards the halls of learning.

The police discovered that the Lake street school was entered three times at night, first on the night of Sept. 24th, the second time on the 27th and again on the following week.

The King Edward school was broken into on Oct. 4th, then a week later on Friday night. The boys are also alleged to have stolen from St. James' church from the clothes of the football team $5 in cash and a gold watch; on Sept. 9th For some time the police authorities have had wind of these breaches of the law and have vigorously pursued the suspected offenders The six youths will all come up before the magistrate one week from to-day.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED FOR PETERBORO' BRANCH OF W.A.A.

Exhibition of Art Work in November is Proposed—Reports of President and Secretary.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Women's Art Association was held on Friday evening, Oct. 13th, at 8 o'clock, in the Y.W.C.A. parlor. The president, Mrs. Morris, was in the chair, and Miss Helen Denison acted as secretary pro tem, in the absence of Miss Aylmer.

The president read the minutes of the last meeting, and the secretary's report was read by Mrs. Frederick. The treasurer's report showed: Receipts, $289.96; expenditures, $209.60; balance in bank, $80.36.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The president, in her address, spoke of the increased interest in the work of the Association and the necessity of trying to secure new members. It is proposed to open the season by an exhibition to be held in November, consisting mainly of the work of Mr. Waring, the English artist, and of Miss Jack, whose work has recently been exhibited in Halifax under the auspices of the National Council of Women.

The use of the Public Library auditorium has been promised to the Association for the future, for any exhibitions they may wish to hold. It is hoped that the Library Board may make arrangements by which they will be able to set apart one room in the library building for a permanent home for the association. This will obviate one serious difficulty with which we have had to contend, namely, the securing of a suitable room for various work. It was owing to this obstacle that it was found impossible to carry out the course of lectures planned for members, as was intended last year.

The matter of the prize given by the Association at the Industrial Exhibition to any resident in the county of Peterborough, was also mentioned, and the question was raised as to whether the prize may be given to the same person two years in succession. This competition should be made more generally known so that more work may be submitted.

The prizes this year in the public schools are to be in the form of medals, the making of the die being an extra expense, which will not have to be incurred again. These prizes have not yet been awarded, owing to the fact that the exhibition in the schools have not been held up to the present.

The president also brought up the question of sending notices of the Association's work, with application form attached, to newcomers to the city. This was afterwards put to a vote and carried.

It was decided that it would be considered advisable to procure stationery with proper headlines for the branch.

A scheme was outlined by which the Association might work for the formation of a Town Improvement Society, as is done in other places.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Mrs. Dignum, Toronto.
President—Miss Bennet.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. W. R. Morris.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. R. R. Hall.
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. Rush.
Cor.-Sec.—Mrs. A. E. Sherwood.
Rec.-Sec.—Miss Flora Collins.
Treas.—Miss Maude Rush.
Archivist—Mrs. McDermid.

CONVENORS OF COMMITTEES.

Social—Mrs. Burnett.
Twilight Musicale—Mrs. Gliddon.
Arts and Crafts—Mrs. Fred Roy.
Lecture—Miss Belle Morrow.
Exhibition—Miss Bennet.
Public School Prize—Mrs. Arthur Stevenson.
Reading Club—The appointment is left to the executive.
Honorary Members Representatives—Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs McDermid, Mrs. W. H. Coulthard, Mrs. Goodwill, Miss Helen Denison, Miss Linden Hall.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Rush, seconded by Mrs. Gliddon, to the retiring president, Mrs. W. R. Morris, who has done most effective work throughout the past year.

A vote of thanks to all retiring officers was moved by Miss Helen Denison, seconded by Mrs. Palmer.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

In looking back at the work of the past year we find that the Peterborough branch of the W.A.A. has been indeed prosperous.

Your executive meetings have been held, at which there was a very good attendance. The financial statement is good; the membership has greatly increased, and although we have had no foreign exhibition, as in former years, yet there were many new and interesting entertainments given.

Perhaps the Twilight Musicales were the chief features of the year. Mrs. Gliddon very kindly gave us the use of the Conservatory Music Hall, and saw to the arrangement and carrying out of the programs. These twilight musicales were a new form of entertainment for Peterborough, and they proved very successful.

On the evening of the 24th of January Mrs. Sidney Dunn gave readings from "David Copperfield," and she had a large and appreciative audience.

Our exhibition was held in February, consisting of local work, and the "Members' Exhibit" from Toronto. It was a great disappointment to the members that they were unable to obtain pictures from the leading artists of Canada, as it would have added greatly to the interest of the exhibition. The exhibit lasted for four days. The opening evening Judge Huycke very kindly gave an address

In March Mr. Dobbin delivered a very interesting lecture on furniture, but unfortunately to a very small audience.

It was decided this year that the prizes awarded to the schools should be in form of medals instead of pins, as formerly. The prizes have not been awarded owing to the postponement of Miss McCrea's exhibit.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICE IN ANGLICAN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Large Attendances of Young People for Annual Service—A Floral Cross at St. John's.

Children's Day was celebrated at St. John's church yesterday, all the services Holy Communion at 8.30 matin at 11, (with special sermon on Sunday school work by the Rev. Mr. Sawers of St. Luke's) children's service at 3 p.m. and evensong at 7 p.m. all brought before large congregations the importance of a larger interest in this great work At the services, children's hymns were used and during the offering in the morning and evening, the solo work was given by the choir boys. The most noteworthy items were numbers by three of the boys, Arthur Johnson, age 11, Harold Conway, age 7, and John Turner, age 7. The intonation and words were well defined and clear and Mr. Devey may well be proud of his boys.

At the children's service at 3 p.m. Rev. Canon Davidson gave a talk on the construction of the church, divine and human, showing how Anglican church buildings are arranged according to the ancient Jewish Tabernacle. The decoration of the cross by the scholars was a beautiful ceremony. The cross was reared by Cyril Devey, and Arthur Horsfield and Mrs. Devey and Miss Maud Rush took charge of its decoration, leading by inserting in the centre, beautiful tube roses. The white-robed choristers followed and then commencing with the baby class every scholar marched up to the altar rail and inserted their floral offering. The cross was then taken into the nave and the pretty electric bulbs, half concealed among the beautiful flowers and foliage, burst forth with a flash, making a truly beautiful sight.

AT ALL SAINTS.

At the service at All Saints, Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A., M.P., gave a special address to the Sunday school for which there was a large attendance of members and friends. The program of the afternoon proved to be very interesting.

AT ST. LUKE'S.

The Children's Day service held at St. Luke's was largely attended. The children occupied the pews in the middle of the church, while the parents and friends sat on either side. Special children's hymns were sung and the offering taken was for the Sunday school commission. The pastor, Rev. F. J. Sawers, gave an appropriate address on the subject of Christ's attitude to the children.

ST. JAMES BEAT BAPTISTS 2 TO 1

In Good Soccer Game at the Driving Park

A large number of fans went to the exhibition grounds on Saturday afternoon to see the game between St. James' and Park street in the Church Football League, which resulted in a win for the Methodists by a 2—1 score.

The game was evenly contested, as the score will indicate, and honors were about divided. Tarte drew first blood when he found the Baptists' goal with a well placed shot. There was no further scoring during the first half.

Williams, of Park street, evened up near the last of the second half, and the spectators expected a draw, but Simonite and Jackson, of the Methodists, put their team ahead in the last minute of play, when after a piece rush the latter tallied.

St. James' team is coming into its own again. It started off badly this season and dropped a game to Park street and All Saints', but the Methodists have beaten them both once, and are now tied with the Baptists for second place, All Saints' being in the lead. St. James' still have a chance for the Burnham trophy.

CURLING

At the annual meeting of the Fenelon Falls curling club Dr. and Mrs. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brandon were appointed patrons and patronesses; Mr. Thos. Robson, honorary president; and Mr. Wm. Campbell, honorary vice-president. Mr. Thos. Cashore, who retires as president, with a good record, gives place to Mr. M. H. McCallum; Dr. Johnstone is vice-president, Mr. M. Rieve, secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. R. M. Hamilton and A. J. Gould delegates to the O.C.A. The Managing Committee are Messrs. Thos. Graham, Thos. Cashore and Dayman. A motion was unanimously carried tendering the hearty thanks of the club to the retiring secretary, Mr. W. A. Bishop, for his faithful service in the past.

The annual meeting of the local curlers is called for Thursday evening in the Dominion Bank Chambers.

COULDN'T STAND THAT

At a "mum sociable" the other evening all artifices, plans, dodges, subterfuges, and tricks were resorted to by the ladies to make a young man speak failed—all but one.

He had previously offered to forfeit a sovereign "for the good of the cause" if they could induce him to speak a word within half an hour.

The time had all but expired when a young lady stole up behind him, and, in a masculine tone of voice, whispered:

"Fred, let's go out and have a drink!"

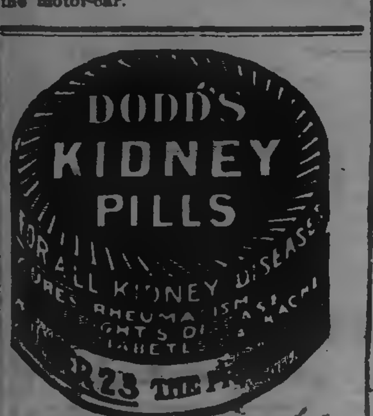
"All right—"

And then he checked himself; but it was too late.

THE ELOPEMENT

"They eloped, didn't they?"

"Yes, it was considered an elopement, but the young man learned afterwards that the girl's father furnished the motor-car."



DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

SET FIRE TO SON'S BARNS?

Arrest of Centreville Man Near Berlin.

Berlin, Ont., Oct. 16.—Herman Affeldt, living at Centreville, three miles from here, was taken into custody at midnight Saturday by Detectives Huber and Chief of Police O'Neill, charged with arson. It is alleged that he fired the barns of his son, who lives on the homestead, and caused a loss of $3,000.

The fire was discovered between eight and nine o'clock, and by great effort some of the stock was saved, but otherwise the barns and contents are a total loss. They were partly insured.

Affeldt had been to town during the day and had come home the worse of liquor. He called at the house, where the family lived, and made threats concerning the home and that they would not have it long to live in. This was after six o'clock, the same evening as the fire, and he neglected to go to his house. This is what leads the family to suspect the father, as they, thinking he was at home, tried to rouse him, but got no response. They then telephoned for the police, who after interviewing the members of the family, decided to arrest Affeldt. They found him at his home, but he declared he knew nothing of the fire.

Affeldt has a police court record, the latest was that he was bound over to keep the peace for a year, which expired the other day.

Want Stagni Sent Back.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—There is a report coming from Quebec that a move is now on foot with a view to having Monsignor Stagni, the papal delegate at Ottawa to return to Rome.

After the return of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to power in 1896 all the Liberal Catholic members, as well as the Senators, petitioned Rome for a delegate, claiming that the Quebec bishops had supported the Conservative party and the statement has been made that the prelates have been ever against such a nomination as a delegate to this country.

Be this as it may, the report has it that now that Laurier is out of the way the Quebec bishops at least will be favorable to treating directly with Rome, instead of with a delegate. Hence the move in question.

Emperor Bill's Motive.

Paranaqua, Brasil, Oct. 16.—The promptness of Emperor William in sending a donation of $2,500 to aid the flood sufferers in the State of Santa Catharina is regarded with such significance here. The gift was the subject of a discourse on the Germanisation of South Brazil. The speaker was Deputy Correia Freitas who said that Brazil had had disasters in other states without exciting Emperor William's generosity.

Republic Declared.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The rapid spread of the revolution in China has led to an informal exchange of views on the situation among the Powers. Representatives at the embassies and legations here have talked the matter over in a preliminary fashion, and while no action is expected, the European and American nations interested in Chinese developments, and having citizens in the danger zone, will keep in touch with each other.

The request of the revolutionary leaders for recognition at the hands of foreign consuls is of course regarded as premature, though it is usual in such cases for consuls to be instructed to deal unofficially with the insurrectionists for the protection of lives and property and the facilitation of trade. It is considered that in the near future consuls will be so instructed, unless their general orders cover contingencies of this nature.

Shanghai, Oct. 16.—It is understood that Yuan Shih Kai has refused to become viceroy of the central provinces unless he is guaranteed full power by the Imperial Government.

The rebels have declared a republic.

I longed for a certain thing twenty years. Finally I got it; as good as I had dreamed of, and better. Was I satisfied? No; I at once began looking for something else.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

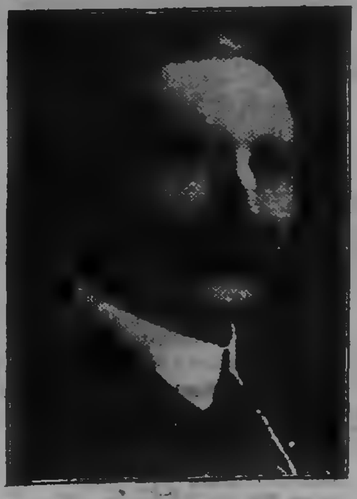
TALKING BY SUN RAYS

Heliograph, It is Claimed, Was Operated in a Rude Way by the Red Man Ages Ago.

A recent writer on the subject of talking by sun rays concludes that the civilised world is probably indebted to the North American Indian for the idea of making use of sun rays, reflected from a looking glass, as a means of transmitting messages or signals.

Science has taken the idea, modified and improved upon it, and the now almost perfect means used by all prominent nations to transmit messages by means of a mirror and sun rays are but the outgrowth of the idea of the "untutored savage," who many, many years ago conceived the idea of making the flashes of sun rays from a small piece of glass held in the hand the medium of conveying signals and messages from point to point. Some authorities maintain that the idea came from a period as far back as the time of Alexander, as some histories record the fact that he piloted his fleets by signals made by the rays of the sun reflected from some bright surface.

The Indian with his small piece of shining material could send signal flashes a distance of over twenty-five miles. Today the civilised world, with the idea improved upon, and with fine instruments made for the purpose, is able to transmit long messages over seven times as far. The instrument used is called a heliograph or sun writer.



SENATOR CASGRAIN,
Surveyor and Engineer, Montreal

The heliograph may be described as an instrument by which rays of light are reflected from a highly polished mirror, mounted on a tripod so as to throw the resulting flash on any desired point within the field of vision. The signals are produced by causing the reflected rays to appear and disappear or be obscured, the intervals of appearance and obscuration being varied in length so as to produce the combinations of long and short flashes.

WIRELESS TELEPHONY ON TRAINS.

A phase of human activity which has occupied the attention of many inventors is the devising of a simple system for maintaining wireless telegraphic and telephonic communication with moving trains. Numerous experiments have been made in the United States, Belgium, and Germany, as well as in Britain; but the success hitherto achieved has not been sufficiently convincing to warrant commercial exploitation. An inventor in the Midlands, however, appears to have solved the difficulty, judging from the eminently satisfactory results of tests made. In this invention the method is adopted of encircling a railway carriage with two frames of wires for sending and receiving messages. Along the side of the track is carried a continuous wire, similar to that used for telegraphing purposes, which may be buried or carried on low posts, and which links up with stations and signal-boxes, as well as with the trunk telephone and telegraph systems of the country. In the carriage an ordinary telephonic instrument is installed, and the electric oscillations are transmitted or received by either of the above-mentioned wire frames carried beneath the coach. The system is described as wireless inductive, so that the pulsations produced in the sending wire frame are reproduced by induction in the wire running parallel with the track, and vice versa for inward messages.

Boat in a Suit-Case.

A Parisian inventor has devised a craft for getting over the water, which is still so light and compact that it can be folded up and packed into a box no bigger than an ordinary suit case. The case part unfolds and joins together to form the main framework or hull of the boat, which is of the catamaran order. The two cigar-shaped flots are made of waterproof canvas. When packed up they occupy little space, and when in use they are blown up with a bicycle pump. The framework is fastened between them by means of ribs and straps, and when you have fixed a three-jointed, double-bladed paddle together and put a folding seat in place you are all ready to set out on your marine travels.

Overcrowded Ant-Hills

A marvel of scientific research has been accomplished by Professor Yemg, who has been investigating the interior condition of anthills. By dint of patient observation, Professor Yemg discovered that an anthill two feet in height was inhabited by 93,750 ants. Other anthills of almost the same size were found to contain 67,500 53,000 and 48,000 ants respectively. These observations and the counting of the tiny insects occupied two years.

You no doubt have tried many "remedies." Ever find one that was a remedy?

CONQUEST OF THE AIR

Discovery and Progress of Airman's Art has Wonderful Possibilities in Connection with Public Services and Work of Exploration

The fundamental principles of aerostatics was discovered by Archimedes and formulated as follows: "Everybody plunged into a fluid is subjected by this fluid to a pressure from below to above which is equal to the weight displaced by that body." The first application of this principle was to balloons, care being taken to produce a body whose total weight was less than that of the volume of air it displaced.

But although the principle was thus applied as far back as 1783, it was not until 1884 that the first balloon capable of being steered was produced by Col. Renard, who accomplished a circular flight in what deserved the title of a dirigible. The reason for this was that in order to steer a body floating in a fluid it is absolutely essential that this body should possess an independent speed, to permit it to move in the fluid of its own accord. In 1885 Col. Renard succeeded in obtaining an electric motor of 8 horse-power, weighing only forty kilogrammes a horse-power and capable of great endurance.

To-day mechanicians have succeeded in perfecting motors especially designed for aviation of the almost incredibly light weight of two kilogrammes a horse-power and of such perfect action that they can start in an instant without preliminary preparation. Professor Berget explains clearly and briefly the mechanical difficulty of the problem and the scientific reasons why it took a century to discover how to guide the machine which the brothers Montgolfier launched into the air in 1783.

Next came the problems connected with the resistance of the air, which determine the shape of the envelope for a dirigible balloon. A spherical balloon cannot be propelled. So long ago as the beginning of the nineteenth century Marey-Monge predicted the necessity of adopting a shape, should an attempt be made to propel aerostats, which should have "the head of a cod and the tail of a mackerel."

The applications in civil life of locomotion in the air will be numerous and varied, and it will doubtless be possible to travel by public service or by private vehicles. The special use of the highway of the air which Prof. Berget foresees is by the post office with aeroplane messengers from city to city every hour, the service, interrupted only by heavy storms. The exploration of unknown regions in such difficult countries as Africa, the heart of Asia, Australia and South America, with accurate maps, is one of the important scientific uses to which the new ships may be put. The whole of Central Africa, for example, could be mapped from airships, acting under international sanction, with a ship over Timbuctu and the shores of Lake Tchad, in French territory; Leopoldville, for the Belgian Congo; Dongola and Lake Albert for the English stations.

Progress Comes by Death

One of the straight facts about living beings is that so far as this earth is concerned, they die, and the question is whether we can hope to find that this fact of death has a use for life. That would be a great discovery, for we are apt to think that death is useless and cruel.

Well, death certainly has a value for life — not for the life of the creature that dies, but for the lives of others. If there were no death there would be no parenthood and childhood, for plainly there would soon be no room for the introduction of new beings if those already there did not make room for them. Without parenthood and childhood, and all that they mean, no kind of life—human, animal, or vegetable — would be anything like what we know; and there would be no more progress, for that depends on new and higher kinds of life being born in the world. Thus, without death, mankind could never have been produced.

The Parnell Monument

The elaborate Parnell monument in Dublin, which has been in course of construction for a long time past, at a cost of about $45,000, is now complete, and the unveiling will take place on October 1, when the ceremony will be performed by Mr. John Redmond, M.P. Parnell is represented standing in oratorical attitude, with his left hand resting on a table. The inscription, an extract from one of Parnell's own speeches, reads as follows:—"To Charles Stewart Parnell. 'No man has a right to fix a boundary to the march of a nation. No man has a right to say to his country, 'Thus far thou shalt go and no further.' We have never attempted to fix a ne plus ultra to the progress of Ireland's nationhood, and we never shall.'"

A Salutary Lesson

An artist, a barrister, and a doctor, motoring from Dijon to Chalon-sur-Saone together, devised a novel method of punishing an unprovoked act of aggression by a peasant who, out of sheer prejudice against motor cars, threw a large stone, which struck the artist on the chest. The occupants of the car pursued and captured their assailant, took him into the car, quietly divested him of his coat, watch, and money, and then, after proceeding at full speed for over 30 miles, set him down on a lonely roadside to walk home in the broiling sun. His clothes and other property they sent back to him subsequently.

As Long as it Lasted

She (whose sliced brassie shot has hit her partner, who has fallen)—"Oh, Laurie, dear—speak; do speak." (Kisses him.) "Don't say I've hurt you badly." (Kisses him again.) "Oh! are you dead are you dead?" (Shower of kisses.)

He (to himself)—"You go right on. You can bet your hairpins I'm dead as long as this lasts."

Any man who believes that in a few years people will travel everywhere in airships, is generally regarded as a Progressive.

WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

LOUIS D. TAYLOR

Although he first saw the light in Michigan U.S.A., Mr. L. D. Taylor may be included in this page without any attempt at excuse. He has been on the northern side of the line for quite a long time, and indications are that he is a permanenty, a fact which his fellow citizens of Vancouver doubtless felt assured when they elevated him to the position of mayor.

On crossing into Canada in the nineties, Mr. Taylor lost no time in getting down to business, and in 1897 joined the office staff of the Vancouver Daily Province. But this seems to have been only of the nature of a stepping stone of experience intended to lead to a higher sphere, and in 1905 he passed up to be proprietor and editor of the Daily World of the same city. That the journal in question has been in good hands is shewn by its position in the newspaper world of today, a great influence for public usefulness. Mr. Taylor has occupied the civic seat of honor during the past two years, and one of the outstanding works to his credit is the inauguration of the Single Tax system. In politics he is an independent liberal.

LOUIS D. TAYLOR
Journalist and Mayor of Vancouver

HENRI BOURASSA, M.L.A.

The "Nationalist" Leader

Recent events have brought the leader of the "Nationalist" party more prominently to the front than before and the average Canadian citizen will be ready to acknowledge that throughout the past number of years he has contrived to keep fairly well in the limelight.

The entry of Mr Bourassa into this material world dates from 1868, his entry into the political world come while yet he was a young man.

The son of Napoleon Bourassa, author and poet of some note, in Montreal, and born in 1868, young Henri was educated privately in that city until the age of 18, when residential transfer was made to Montebello, where a few years later he had the mayoralty honor conferred upon him, holding the position for four years. He has also been mayor of Papineauville. Always inclined to politics, and with a fluent tongue that drew to him a large following of the French-Canadian Section of Canada's well mixed family, Mr Bourassa came out for parliamentary honors in 1896. When the Canadian Government undertook the despatch of troops to join their Colonial brethern in support of the motherland on the South-African battlefields, Mr. Bourassa was amongst the most violent in denunciation of the proceedings, and by way of vindication for his attitude he resigned his seat in October 1899 and appealed to his constituents. That the latter were in accord with the views of their representative on this, and doubtless on all other points, was evident, and it was considered a losing battle to fight his return, and beginning of 1900 he was sent back to parliament unopposed. Conditions were similar in the elections of 1900 and 1904. Mr Bourassa was returned to the Quebec Legislature at the general election of 1908, and the years have not in the slightest abated his ardor as an opponent to soldiers and navies that might be called to battle alongside contingents from other portions of the British Empire.

He has done very considerable work as writer for and editor of newspapers, and his present holding in that connection is the "Nationalist" 'Le Devoir' founded in Montreal last year.

SENATOR DAVIS

Senator Thomas Osborne Davis though he has for many years been a prominent figure in the life of the West, is a native of Quebec province, having been born at Sherrington in 1856. He was educated privately and when yet little more than a boy went westward, taking up his residence at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. Here he soon came to the front as a public man and was elected a town councillor and afterwards, successively, mayor, president of the Board of Trade, and Chairman of the School Board. At the general election of 1896 when Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who had represented Saskatchewan in the House of Commons, resigned that seat to contest Quebec East, Mr. Davis was elected in his stead. The next general election, that of 1900, witnessed his re-election, and the following year saw him appointed Whip for the West. In September 1904 he was appointed to the Senate of Canada.

Students Have Riot.

Montreal, Oct. 16.—The class of 1915 brought the annual McGill theatre night to an abrupt and premature but altogether welcome conclusion on Saturday night at His Majesty's Theatre. Half way through the last act of "The Fair Co.," George Ade's musical comedy, a dozen freshmen, tiring of the monotony of riot which had been incessant from the raising of the curtain, clambered upon the stage and started a snake dance in front of the footlights. A swarm of indignant sophomores followed them and the curtain was rung down and the lights snapped off, leaving the representatives of the rival classes fighting for the possession of the stage.

The orchestra struck up the National Anthem and the audience took the hint and left the theatre. A little furniture was broken.

Won't Sit at Trial.

NEW YORK WOMEN AND HOTELITIS

IN This City of the Homeless Home the Fascination of the Glittering Hotel Has Overcome Even the Most Staid, and at the Present Outlook Nothing Can Take Its Place

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.)

NEW YORK, Saturday.

TELL me where she eats and I will tell you who she is.

Eating is one of the most thoroughly approved pastimes of all within the gates of New York. With an ever increasing number it comes close to being an occupation.

Now that woman refuses to stay at home and cook meals for the men as in those good days of yore she "admires to eat hotel victuals," as an elderly transplanted New England woman phrased it. You behold her thus engaged in the gorgeous dining rooms of the famed hotels of the metropolis and in the obscure restaurants which boast foods of foreign flavor and atmosphere.

After all, it is atmosphere that woman is seeking. It is the lure that summons Eve's daughters from the familiar shelter of their homes to the more or less emblazoned caravansaries.

A man goes where he can get the best food or the most of it for his money. With a woman these are minor considerations. To be sure, she may "love" a certain kind of decorative salad or be "crazy about" a frozen sweet concoction to be found at one place or another, but it is less the gustatory pleasure that she craves than the joy of eating something bearing the hall mark of popularity in a place so crowded that the chances of her getting a table seem hopeless.

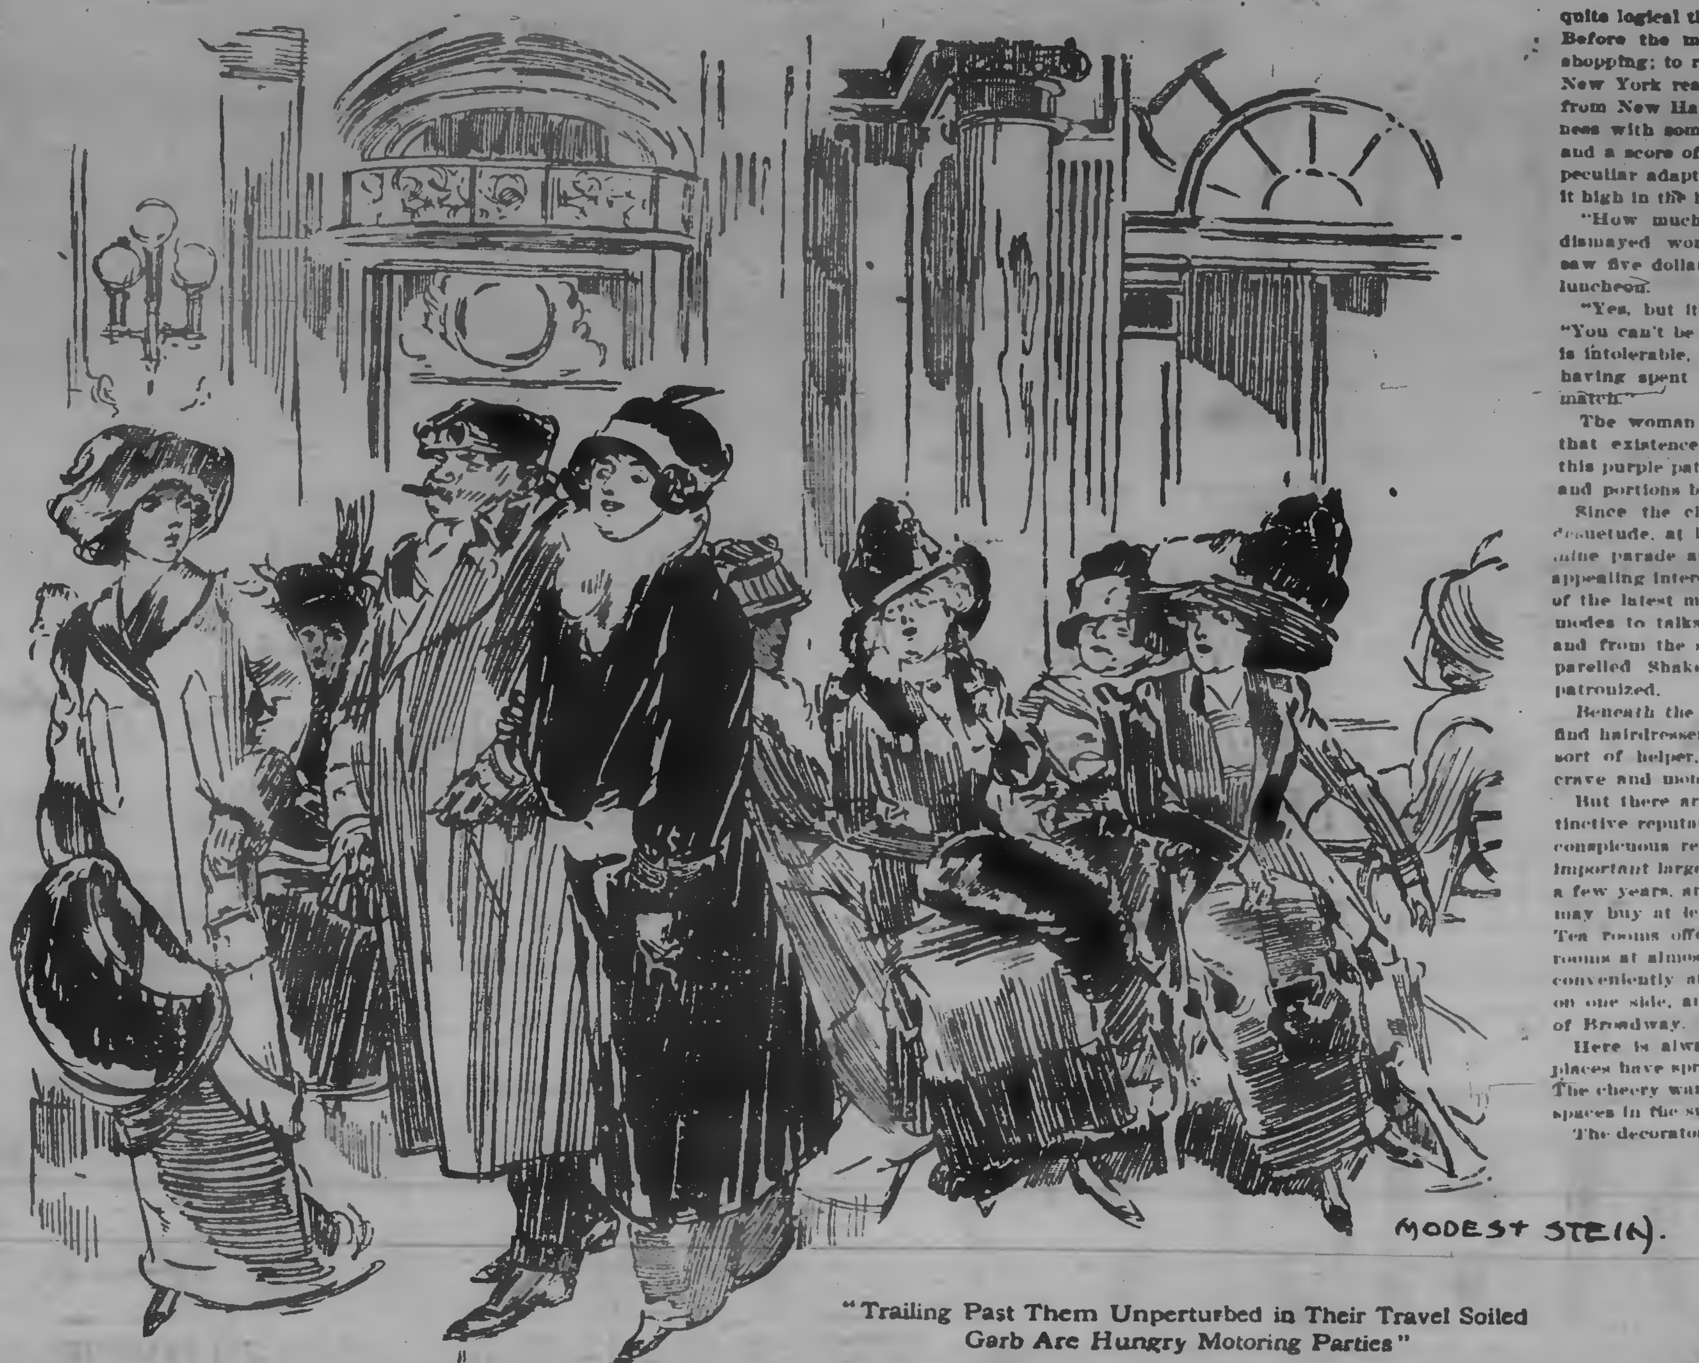
But, on the whole, the food is a trivial incident to the woman who frequents hotels. Her delight in them is a part of her emancipation. The flunkey who turns the heavy plate glass revolving doors admits her to a world until recently denied her, by the proprieties, at least. The warm air, heavy with the mingled odors of toilet perfumes and of viands, is pleasant to her nostrils. She is stimulated to accentuate her own attractions by contact with women for whom fashion has done its utmost.

The receding halls invite her to banquets, exhibitions, polite entertainment and the soulful exchange of ideas on politics, literature and dress. Name your dearest fad and the hotel will yield up something bearing upon it.

There are still a few women so hopelessly attached to the fading notion that it is a little vulgar for well bred members of their sex to mingle on terms of equality with strangers in public places that they strongly decry "hotelitis." But it's a hopeless protest, growing constantly weaker. What's the use? If women have adopted the hotel, that's all there is to it. Just as when they really want the ballot or anything else they will have it, man asserts.

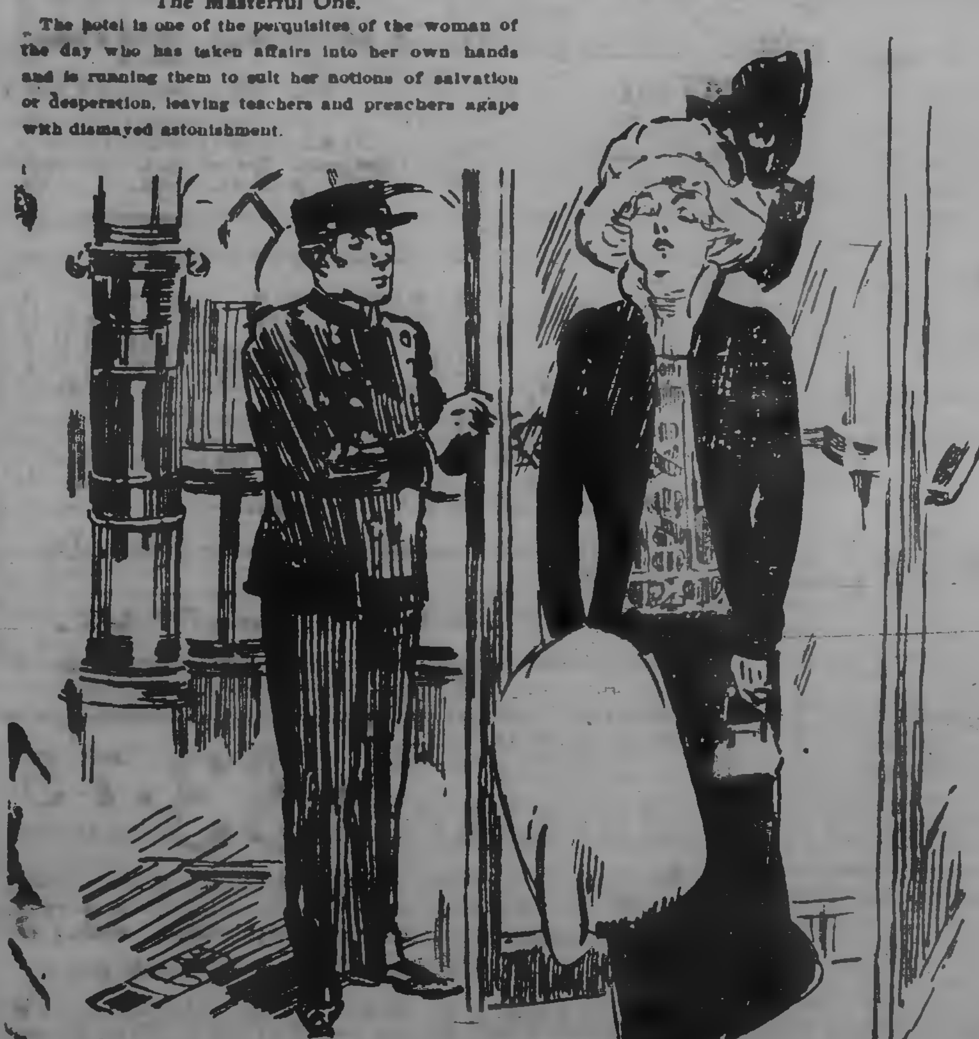
The Masterful One.

The hotel is one of the perquisites of the woman of the day who has taken affairs into her own hands and is running them to suit her notions of salvation or desperation, leaving teachers and preachers agape with dismayed astonishment.



MODEST STEIN.

"Trailing Past Them Unperturbed in Their Travel Soiled Garb Are Hungry Motoring Parties"



"Admits Her to a World Until Recently Denied to Her"

The hotel offers her one of the most appreciated instruments for breaking traditional bonds without losing caste or courting discredit. Its influences are as varied as they are numerous. Even the most timid and conservative of dames finds nothing objectionable in attending meetings in a private room of a reputable hotel for sweet charity's sake, for school reunions or for civic betterment councils. A sedate luncheon may form a part of these mild affairs, and the toasts—without wine—are as decorous as the most prudish could prescribe.

The hotel is vastly convenient in these days of cramped quarters and widely scattered unhomelike homes. That is its primal insinuating plea. When the woman's club began to be a force the house to house meetings held in its first stages became impracticable, and the hotel offered facilities not otherwise obtainable. Its attractions, added to those inherent in the club, drew new members.

There was an element of excitement in the setting of such a meeting that the club per se could not furnish. Yet there was safety in numbers. Members who had never as individuals ventured inside Sherry's, Delmonico's, the Waldorf-Astoria and other places about whose names there was a peculiar glamour were emboldened to enjoy their privileges under the protecting aegis of the club's shield. Something of the retiring habits of the home keeping woman for a time still clung to these hotel club meetings. The members of one complacent organization, for instance, were shocked and angered at the public criticism of their best bonnets—an outrage on their privacy and their taste.

But the hotel environment began to have its effect. Or, perhaps, it was only co-incident with other liberalizing influences. In any case, rumors of indulgence in the wicked cocktail and the frank discussion of forbidden subjects reached the ears of scandalized husbands and came near to disrupting certain clubs.

People were more squeamish then. It would be hard to make a sensation out of such doings in the hotels to-day.

What organized women could do it followed that the individual might take up, sooner or later. Having tested the convenience and the pleasures of dalliance in the luxury of hotels, women of varying fortunes and positions swarmed into them, defying criticism.

Another contributing element to this end has been the elimination of housekeeping, in the old time sense. Neither the responsibility nor the charm of the house has a hold upon the mistress in Manhattan. At best there is an apartment, and even the strain of keeping it up is too severe for thousands who won't work and can't get servants.

The next step is the hotel, if you can afford it. Perhaps the most discontented women in the world are those who live in hotels, but they are ruined for leading any other sort of life.

Moths That Flutter.

But it is the outside moths that flutter most conspicuously about the many candled power glitter of the hotel. Where do they get the price and the time? The sober minded and the casual visitors who ask these question receive no answer, but the extreme of fashion and its imitators continue to parade and loiter, to shimmer and glitter, and to spend money madly and gladly. "Whither" and "whence" are questions for the caustic observer, not for the woman with the well filled, gold meshed purse—seldom for the man who fills it.

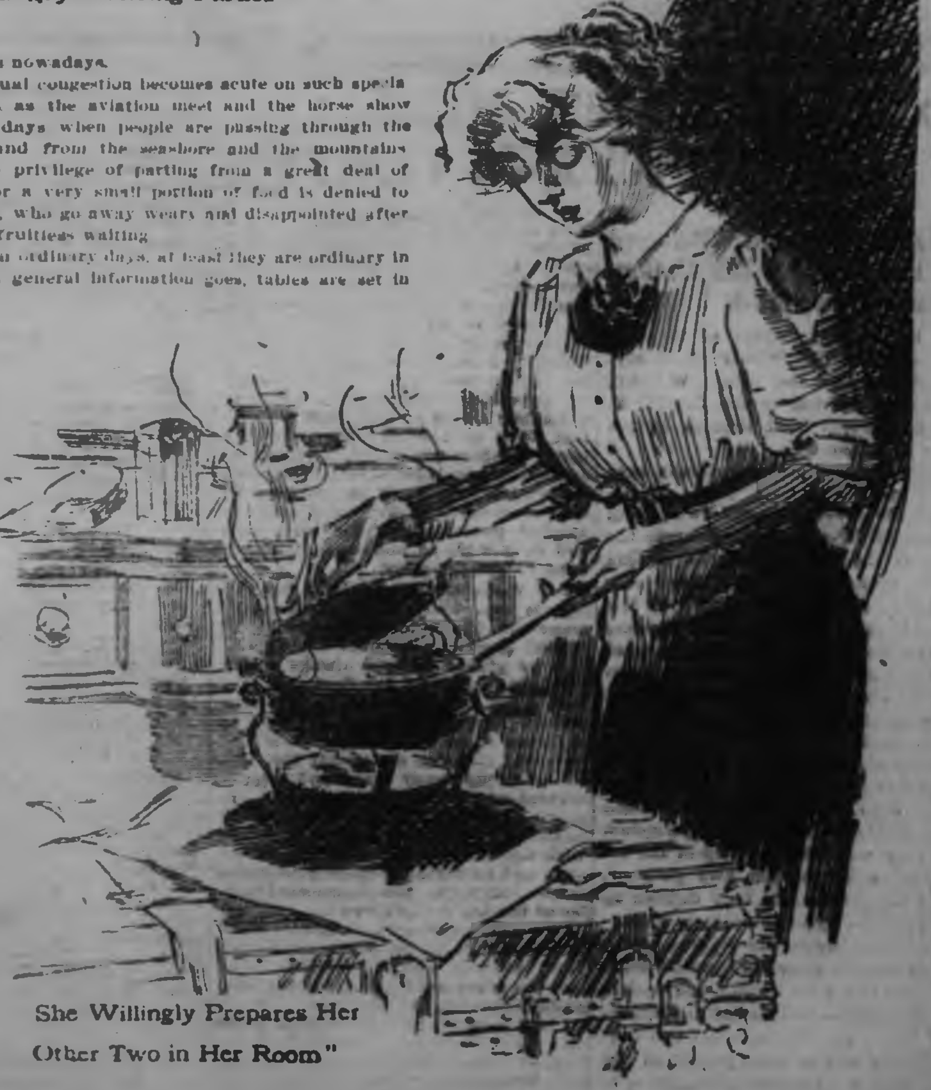
There are women who enjoy the privileges of the hotels at comparatively small expense. It is they who most freely use the gilt stamped stationery, engage the services of the hotel maids and utilize the free dressing rooms. Their luncheons or their teas are carefully thought out with an eye to the prices on the menu even at a sacrifice of preference in regard to dishes. Better the least expensive entrée and a demitasse in the luxury of a hotel of class than the cycle of a table d'hôte i[illegible] place cheapness of the ordinary restaurant. Women are not greedy in the matter of food when they pay for it themselves, but they are "finicky."

There cannot be any direct profit to the hotels in this class of patrons, but it would be impolitic as well as cruel on the part of the management to cold-shoulder them, for they are the hotel's most insistent advertisers.

Sitting at ease among the well groomed, finely clad loungers of the hotels or trailing past them unperturbed in their graceless, travel soiled garb are hungry motoring parties—a large addition to the patronage of the hotels nowadays.

The usual congestion becomes acute on such special occasions as the aviation meet and the horse show and the days when people are passing through the city to and from the seashore and the mountains. Then the privilege of parting from a great deal of money for a very small portion of food is denied to hundreds, who go away weary and disappointed after hours of fruitless waiting.

Even on ordinary days, at least they are ordinary in so far as general information goes, tables are set in the lobby and in the reading room to catch so much of the overflow from the dining rooms and the palm rooms as it is possible to accommodate. As the last flower is fastened in the big centrepiece by the hurried florist the final ornate mayonnaise and gelée placed upon the cold board and the first note of Broadway's favorite music of the hour struck by the orchestra, the head waiter and his assistants deftly guide one lunch party after another and now and then a solitary person, first to the tables by the windows, then to the others, until even the least desirable places are filled—and the crowd stands, many deep, waiting a favorable nod.



She Willingly Prepares Her Other Two in Her Room"

In general you will count five or six, often many more women for every man. And that man would not be there, especially if he had to wait, unless a woman's wish compelled him.

Place for Meeting.

The hotel is the great meeting place. If one comes from Summit and another from Oyster Bay it is quite logical that they should plan to meet at a hotel. Before the matinee, or after it; to join forces for shopping; to rest up after the dentist; to show what New York really is to a kinswoman from Kansas or from New Hampshire; to talk over a matter of business with some one whose time is limited—for these and a score of other purposes the hotel serves with a peculiar adaptation to the day's conditions that ranks it high in the hearts of women.

"How much it all costs!" exclaimed a somewhat dismayed woman, unaccustomed to hotels, as she saw five dollars fade away over an extremely simple luncheon.

"Yes, but it's worth it," quoted her friend gayly. "You can't be economical at a hotel, and to be mean is intolerable, but you have a glow of satisfaction in having spent your money here which it is hard to match."

The woman who has formed the hotel habit feels that existence would be unendurably drab without this purple patch, and however much prices may soar and portions be reduced she clings to it.

Since the club meetings have fallen, if not into desuetude, at least into the background, in the feminine parade at the hotels there are scores of other appealing interests, from Blabette's showing and sale of the latest millinery creations and Mme. Suprême's modes to talks on "The Last Days of the Empire," and from the sale of the wares of the demurely apparelled Shakers to musical mornings, fashionably patronized.

Beneath the generous shelter of the roof one may find hairdressers, manicures, stenographers and every sort of helper, attendant and servant that moderns crave and money pays for.

But there are hotels and hotels, each with its distinctive reputation and its following. About the most conspicuous retail shops have pressed—some of the important large ones that have moved up town within a few years, and little specialty shops where the rich may buy at least with a belief in exclusive quality. Tea rooms offer, to supplement the big hotel dining rooms at almost the same prices. Beauty parlors are conveniently at hand. The charm of the avenue is on one side, and the other extends toward the blare of Broadway.

Here is always the greatest hotel crowd. Newer places have sprung up, rivalling the older in splendor. The cheery warmth on winter days and the large, cool spaces in the summer have an unrivalled attraction.

The decorators were not afraid of being too gorgeous and the public has approved their generosity. A select few may affect contempt for its overpopularity, but they are never missed in the gladsome throng from the city and beyond that seek its comfort and luxury. "It is so typical of New York," sneered a Bostonian. "Truly," was the prompt reply, "and see how Boston and Philadelphia and Chicago flock to it."

Where They Crowd.

Up the avenue new hotels have invited women who complained of the too great popularity of the big place to take refuge in their semi secluded elegance. These have their tea and luncheon crowds, although not comparable to those of their established magnificent rival. To find a second in popularity one must cross Broadway.

Here is a hotel hospitable to women's clubs, their public meetings and occasional banquets. In its dining rooms there are as many women as men. In the halls one meets them, wearing the air of being on their own territory.

LOCALS COULD NOT SCORE AGAINST TORONTO CENTRALS

Only Small Crowd Witnessed First Junior O.R.F.U. Contest—Score 22-0.

In the opening fixture of the O.R.F.U. series on Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon the local W.E.A.C. team was defeated by the Central Y.M.C.A fourteen from Toronto by the score of 22 to 0.

The game was played before a very small number of fans. Though on paper the score looks overwhelming, it does not by any means indicate the play, as the locals gave the visitors a strenuous argument and they worked hard all the way. Two of the touch-downs were secured on fumbles by the local back division. Lack of condition on the part of the locals can also be counted as a feature against them as nearly every man was about all in, when the final whistle blew. The visiting team was of about the same weight as Manager Oldham's men, but they were in the pink of condition from steady training in the gmnasiom and they were able to keep in the offensive during the last two quarters, while the locals could only tighten up for an extra spurt once in a while.

Unfortunately for the welfare of the Petes, Gilbert, their fast outside wing man, was injured during the second quarter and he had to retire. Copping was moved up from left half and Corkery, who was to have played on the back line, was pressed into service in spite of his sore leg which he had hurt in a practice. In the third quarter Johnson was injured when a couple of Central men tackled him, one of whom went to the side-line for five minutes for some suspicious work. Denison, the doughty captain, went up to quarter. Copping went back to the half and Stewart was delegated to hold down the wing position. Though the Collegiate boy worked well he is not an outside wing man and Gilbert was missed when it came to breaking through and intercepting passes, getting down after a punt, etc.

George Minorgan was almost invaluable at centre half, where he did some fine punting, saving many interesting situations by a long drive up the field. He caught well and was able to run back a punt as well as return it. Though they all did their utmost to even up the rather one-sided score, Minorgan was probably the best player on the team. He divided the honors with Duke, who punted with a vengeance for the Torontonians and kept the local backs busy to keep from rouging oftener than they did. Had the locals opened by kicking for points they could have kept the score within narrow bounds, as with Gilbert, Langley and Hill down under every punt it would be necessary for the opposing back division to have carried horse-shoes to keep from muffing anything during the game. The visiting general started a kicking game at the first and his fast wing men made good use of the many fumbles of the locals, who lacked daylight practice, necessary to make them sure with their hands. The "Y" men seemed to be especially lucky in gaining possession of the loose balls and they were so numerous that they counted considerably.

The work of Holland Hill, the Collegiate boy, who played centre scrimmage for the Petes, is deserving of special mention. In spite of the position he played he was always one of the first men down the field under the ball, after a kick. When the opposing players had the ball he was used as a flying wing and by his persistent breaking through and stellar tackling, he broke up many plays and stopped several gains. He won the right to play Saturday by his good work against the Petes when they practiced with the Collegians on Thursday afternoon and he certainly made good in the faster company. His phenomenal tackles of the big fellows won the applause of the spectators several times. Bearss and Ecclestone, the other scrimmage men, added in weight that Hill lacked and the three averaged about the same as the opposing scrimmagers. Turner at inside wing, played a stellar game and with Thompson, a son of England, broke through quite often and Thompson brought into play a couple of times his soccer abilities, dribbling the ball for several yards, at times when he could not drop on it.

Hogan and Davidson the middle wing men stopped several attempts at bucks and Langley was on the job all the time as was Gilbert, until he was injured.

Next to Minorgan, Craig at full back was the most effective man. He caught well and got some nice onside kicks which he advanced with good runs. Denison tore off a couple of good dashes and tackled well. Copping an Argonaut brew, has not had much practice this season, only turning out here once before the game, and he was not at all sure with his hands. He did not have the signals down very well and could not be utilized in pulling off many plays. He could tackle however, and made good at that.

The visitors' back division worked like a machine. They could run, punt and tackle and were always in the game. They never made much headway with their bucks, but their long passes out, often gained them considerable ground. A couple of times they had the locals guessing when they lined up as if to buck and when the first man secured the ball he would start for the end of the line, and as he was about to be tackled he would ship it back to the man in the rear and so on. By the time the quarter-back had the ball again he would be near the other side of the field with a splendid chance to make a run.

THEATRICAL

"THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY"

The merry comedy success, "The Arrival of Kitty," with its funny complications played to a bumper house at the Grand, Saturday matinee and evening, and delighted all. Although the company has played here before, its returned was welcomed and well received, and as a real live budget of fun, "The Arrival of Kitty" is in a distinct class of its own. The story of the play is familiar, and the clever impersonation by Louise Marlow of Kitty Benders, a New York vaudeville artist provoked probably the greatest share of the laughter.

During the action of the comedy musical numbers were introduced by, Billy LeMaire, Evelyn Grey, and, Miss Rogers.

The performance won rounds of applause and can be heartily recommended as a thorough clean and enjoyable comedy.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

VOL. LXIII., No 90. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

CHINESE REVOLUTIONISTS HAVE THE SYMPATHY OF THE ORDINARY PEOPLE

Probability of Disaffection Among the Government Troops Causing a Lot of Worry.

Pekin, Oct. 17—Simultaneously with the acceptance yesterday by Yuan Shi Kai of the post of viceroy of Hu-Peh and Hunan Provinces, to which he is directed to proceed and immediately re-establish the imperial authority, the Government is showing remarkable activity, even in the face of a depleted treasury. The Government seems to realise at last the necessity of crushing the rebellion promptly, and is now despatching the army to the scene of the revolt as hastily as preparations can be made.

A few messages are beginning to arrive from the south, where several days previously was entirely cut off from telegraph communication. But the telegraph lines are open, few details of the situation in the affected provinces are filtering in. It is believed, however, that a certain measure of order is being maintained at Wu-Chang and Hankow. Outside of the foreign concessions in Hankow, these two cities are in the hands of the revolutionists, and the fact that all the women and children have left or are leaving Hankow indicates that the forces under the insurgent leaders, well armed and well ammunitioned from the arsenal store, are preparing to resist the Chinese army, several divisions of which are either on the road to Hankow or are being rapidly fitted out for the expedition.

The re-inforcement of the American legation guard by a hundred men, who are proceeding from Manila, while not significant of danger, is nevertheless indicative of the seriousness of the situation even in Pekin. Chinese respect for foreigners, which is often cringing, still continues up to the customary standard. This is due largely to the lesson of 1900, and it is not believed that the legation quarter will be subjected to more than inconveniences, owing to the rise in the prices of foodstuffs and possible disorders in the native city.

An indication of the activity being displayed by the Government is given in the despatch from Pao-Ting-Fu of twenty-four army trains in the last four days. Twelve trains will be despatched from Pekin, and the sixth division, which is now quartered at Pao-Ting-Fu, will leave as soon as conditions quiet down there. After the departure of a single passenger train to-day, the railway between Pekin and Tien Tsin was closed to all but troop traffic.

Gen. Yin Tchang, the Minister of War, who will have chief command of the Government troops, is a small, thin, queueless Manchu. The German and Austrian officers who hold the general's greatest confidence, report that he has not entire faith in the Chinese troops. According to the Chinese people generally, the Manchus were tolerable when they protected the country, but are now worthless. The vast body of Chinese sympathize with the revolutionists and a significant saying of the soldiers, who are proceeding to the south, is: "An ordinary rebellion would be all right, but we must now fight against our trained brothers."

The situation depends on money, and it is admitted that the ready funds of the Chinese Government are low. Further loans by foreign bankers have been refused. If the pay of the troops is increased and is regularly forthcoming, and if the men are well fed, they may not desert or rebel. The feeling in Pekin is, not which army is the stronger, but which is the less feeble, the less disorganized.

Yuan Shi Kai yesterday accepted the vice-royalty of Huan and Hu-Peh Provinces to the great joy of the Foreign Board, and in other official circles, among whom the belief is strong that the name of Yuan will be sufficient to strike terror in the hearts of the revolutionists and cause them to surrender.

Pessimism, however, dominates among the general public and Chinese officials as well as others are sending their families away from the capital. Yesterday morning's train to Tien Tsin was crowded.

An edict issued yesterday orders the distribution of rice among the poor, and the opening of the Pekin granaries for the sale of grain at low prices.

Disabled Government Gunboats.

San Francisco, Oct. 17.—News of the first engagement between the Chinese revolutionists and the imperial forces was received here yesterday. A cablegram to The Chinese Free Press, published here, gives an account of the disabling of three Government gunboats by the revolutionists near Hankow Sunday.

Two other boats of the flotilla, one of which carried Sui Ching, viceroy of the Hu-Peh Province, escaped. It is reported at the local headquarters of the Revolutionary Government, that the 1,300 men under Gen. Ching Piao revolted and joined the revolutionists. From Hang Weng, it was reported that 10,000 troops came over to join Li Yuen Hung, commander of the revolutionary army.

China Wants Money.

Pekin, Oct. 17.—The Government appears to have sufficient ready money for a campaign of six weeks or two months, but, anxious for a reserve fund in view of the possibility of a more extended conflict with the revolutionists, yesterday applied formally for a loan of $3,000,000, to the international bankers, who arranged the $50,000,000 currency reform loan. The group of financiers who represent four nations, the United States, Great Britain, Germany and France, were unable to agree to do this, and the loan was refused.

FOR BI LINGUAL SCHOOLS

Regina, Sask., Oct. 16.—The German-speaking Catholic Society held a special meeting in St Mary's Hall last evening to discuss the advisability of taking steps to have the bilingual system introduced in the schools of the Province. Father Bour, who came to Regina recently from Winnipeg, was one of the principal speakers, he advised the gathering to move cautiously, as the system had not been an entire success in Manitoba, where it had been given a good trial. The outcome of the discussion was that it was decided to institute the bilingual system in St. Mary's school of this city, where 300 of the 375 pupils are Germans. For the time being Father Bour has undertaken to instruct each class for one hour a day until a proper teacher can be secured. It is understood that similar steps will be taken in other districts of the Province where there is a preponderance of students of German nationality.

ITALIAN PEASANTS START A RIOT, BUILDINGS ARE BURNED

Disorders at Segni, Half an Hour From Rome—Hospitals Attacked and Cholera Patients Brought Into the Street

Rome, (via frontier) Oct. 17.—Very grave disorders occurred yesterday at Segni, a town of 7,000 population, one-half hour by railway from Rome, and the centre of a district in which is Carpineto, the birthplace of Pope Leo XIII., still surrounded with the ruins of towers erected in the middle ages for protection against the Saracens.

The rioting was caused, as was the case in Calabria recently, by the action of the municipality in adopting measures to stamp out the cholera. There are five patients at the hospitals, and four suspects are quarantined in a house. The inhabitants believed that the Government intended to poison the cholera patients and a great crowd marching to the City Hall demanded their release.

There were only four carabineers in the place, and when they attempted to defend the building, they were stoned, wounded and put to flight. Later they returned only to be again routed. They did not use their weapons, as they would have been of little avail against the mob, which by that time had been swollen until it numbered several thousand, practically the entire population.

The mob broke in the doors of the municipal buildings seeking the mayor, whom they held primarily responsible. However, the mayor and his clerks had made good their escape, and found refuge with friends in a house where they could not be found.

Failing to lay hold of the mayor, the mob sacked the building and then burned it.

The sight of the flames appeared to add to the frenzy of the rioters, and when a woman, seizing the municipal flag from the burning structure, cried: "To the hospital, to the hospital; death to the doctors," the suggestion caught the fancy of the crowd, and in another moment the thousands of shrieking and gesticulating men, women and children were bearing down on the hospital. The doors were forced, the attendants swept aside, and the cholera patients lifted from their cots and carried to the street.

Meantime others broke into the house where the suspects were quarantined, and took them from the place. Something like a procession was then formed, and the sick were borne in triumph to their homes. Of the nine stricken persons two were on the point of death, and it was a ghastly exhibition as they were passed from hand to hand, embraced, kissed and fondled by their half-mad friends.

While this was going on some of the local authorities managed to send a message to Rome, and troops were hurriedly sent from the capital.

The soldiers restored order after many of the mob had been placed under arrest.

PATHETIC CAREER OF CLEVER ACCOUNTANT, COULDN'T BE GOOD

Forged Names of Friends and Goes Back to Jail for Seven Years.

Chatham, Oct. 17.—Richard P. Canning, convicted of uttering about $2,000 worth of forged checks on the local branch of the Dominion Bank, was yesterday afternoon sentenced to seven years in Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate Houston.

Canning's career is one of pathetic interest. An accountant and mathematician, with an international reputation, he twice previously served long terms in Sing Sing Prison for forgery. On both occasions he had his terms shortened for good behaviour, and he established a system of bookkeeping in Sing Sing that is in existence in that institution to-day. It was while in Sing Sing that he conceived the idea of coming to Canada and making a clean start in life.

Walking the streets of Hamilton, Ont., without a dollar in his pockets the ex-convict got a menial job in one of the largest factories in the Ambitious City, where his ability was at once recognized, and he was promoted to one of the highest positions of trust in the factory office. Later he came to Chatham, where he acted as accountant for the Bent Goods Co.

It was here he met his third Waterloo. On the eve of accepting a high position with the biggest manufacturing institution in the western peninsula, he ran short of funds and forged the names of friends.

Canning blames the cards, fascinating women and the racetracks for his downfall.

TRIED TO BLOW UP TAFT'S SPECIAL WITH DYNAMITE

Section Foreman Frustrates a Plot in California—Discovered 36 Sticks on The Bridge.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—A report received here yesterday by officials of the Southern Pacific Railway from C. C. Brown, section foreman for the road at Naples, Cal., gave details of the discovery of thirty-six sticks of dynamite under the Cairton viaduct, 20 miles north of Santa Barbara, several hours before President Taft's special train passed over the bridge en route to Los Angeles yesterday morning. The dynamite was found after the watchman engaged in a revolver battle with two men, who escaped.

The dynamite was discovered at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The President's train passed over the bridge at 5.51. The nightwatchman saw two men on the bridge shortly before 2 o'clock. They were at the opposite end of the 1,000 foot span and ran when ordered to halt. The watchman hurried across the bridge, firing several shots, which were returned.

After the pair had escaped in the darkness, the watchman returned to the bridge and began an investigation. Near the centre of the span, lodged in one of the supports of the viaduct, he found the thirty-six sticks of dynamite with a ten-foot fuse attached to one of the sticks. He left the find untouched, going immediately to Santa Barbara and notifying the officials.

Sheriff Wines of Santa Barbara County went immediately to the bridge with several deputies and removed the dynamite. A general search is being made for the men.

The scare story published by an evening contemporary about a black hand affair on Olive Avenue should be taken with a "grain of salt." The boy did not admit writing the letter, as stated, neither was a police officer stationed at the house in question.

Adjournment Now Expected to Come Sometime in February—Col. Sam Hughes Plans House-cleaning for Militia Department.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—The new Parliament will be called for the despatch of business on Nov. 15. This date was fixed by the Cabinet-in-Council yesterday afternoon and announced later by Premier Borden.

The session will not be unduly prolonged. After a brief adjournment at Christmas prorogation will be sought by the end of January or first week in February. These, it is learned, are the plans of the Government. The Ministers will set about the work of preparing their estimates for the fiscal year, which commences on April 1 next.

The length of the session naturally depends largely upon the activity of the Opposition, but it is not expected that any stumbling block will be laid by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his supporters to the speedy transaction of the first term of the new Parliament.

There is something coming to the farfamed headquarters' staff of the Canadian militia under the Hughes administration. The new Minister proposes to bridge the gap dividing the Department from the militia itself. For this purpose he has in preparation a plan for holding a gathering of senior officers of the militia at Ottawa in a very short time.

According to the present shape in which the project is, the meeting will be convened on Thursday, Nov. 16, the day of the formal reading of the speech from the throne to the new Parliament, the discussion can thus run over Thursday and Friday, and if necessary on Saturday; while in addition there will be a specially large and representative gathering of militia officers for the first drawing-room of the soldier duke.

An agenda paper, is being drawn up; it will include organization matters, questions as to training, interior economy, recruiting, the bringing of military training into more sympathetic touch with the country, etc.

The roster of the new Government was completed when Hon. Martin Burrell, the new Minister of Agriculture, arrived in Ottawa yesterday morning, and was sworn in by His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, at 11 o'clock. The ceremony took place in the office of the Governor-General in the east block of the Parliament Buildings, over which is hoisted the duke's standard. Premier Borden was present.

The duke congratulated Mr. Burrell and expressed a warm feeling for the province of British Columbia, from which he had received more messages of welcome than from any of the other provinces of Canada. The Governor-General spent most of the morning in his office.

The first deputation to wait on the Duke of Connaught at Government House was one of several members of the Veterans' Association of 1866 Edward Kidd, M.P.-elect for Carleton, was among the number. The duke himself is a veteran, and was pleased to receive their greetings and congratulations.

Hon. Mr. Burrell will return to British Columbia almost immediately, in case there is to be a bye-election. The chances for the contest are, however, remote, for the new Minister's majority on Sept. 21st was something like two thousand.

Warrants for the payment of the inside and outside civil service were put through at a Cabinet Council held yesterday afternoon.

The amount raised will be sufficient to carry the service on from Sept. 1st to the meeting of Parliament, when further supplies will be voted.

Eugene Dahne, of Rio Janeiro, has been appointed to be commissioner for Brazil to Canada.

Monk Calls a Halt.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—Mayor Hopewell, and City Treasurer Ellis yesterday morning had an interview with Hon. Mr. Monk, Minister of Public Works, regarding the Chatts Falls water power question. After the conference the mayor said:

"I called upon the honorable the Minister of Public Works this morning, and in an interview we showed the Minister a plan of the Chatts Falls, and extracts of a grant of part of Victoria Island and a number of other islands, made some years ago by the Ontario (Liberal) Government for a few hundred dollars. The hon. Minister agreed that it was simply an outrage, and that when the matter had come to his attention he had promptly ordered that no further action be taken until he had had an opportunity to look into the matter."

LUNG TROUBLE

Mrs. Siny Brown, of Tenecape, N.S., Was Cured by Catarrhozone of Lung Trouble and Catarrh, After Hundreds of Other Remedies Failed

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh, and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to poultices, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold, or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler, the local symptoms, such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets which are taken after each meal purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons, and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

RAILWAY BY-LAWS

The Toronto Globe, in trying to shape itself for the provincial campaign, takes up the question of the clause in the Ontario statutes (chapter 30, clause 247, 1906) which allows railway companies to formulate by-laws for the conduct of the public in using the railway, and makes those wilfully or negligently violating such regulations liable on summary conviction to a fine, not to exceed an amount to be fixed in the regulations. This reads, as follows:

> "Every person who wilfully or negligently violates any lawful by-law, rule, or regulation of the company is liable on summary conviction for such offence to a penalty not exceeding the amount therein prescribed, or, if no amount is so prescribed, to a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars."

That regulation has been in effect some five years. Has anyone ever heard of anyone of the great public losing a dollar in fines, or being inconvenienced by the clause? The Globe innocently inquires whether a citizen must be made to pay his fine by civil action or in the police court. The very words "summary conviction" would be taken to mean the police court. But the test of the regulation should be in what has been its effect in working out. There has been no effect, and the Globe is pumping away at an old bellows when it tries to raise some dust on this subject. It is quite true that if there has been no actual result from the operation of this clause, there is no need for its existence. The theoretical question as to whether a railway company should make by-laws governing the conduct of passengers is a different thing; and we think can be answered affirmatively. Some regulations for running the traffic are necessary. The only sensible and feasible scheme is to allow each company or board or directors to outline such regulations as are necessary for the proper conduct of the railway, with the right of an appeal by any dissatisfied person to a governmental body such as the railway board. But to urge against corporation rule in this respect is to merely to put up a straw man in order to knock him down.

CORPORATION INFLUENCE

In the Mail and Empire yesterday morning appeared an advertisement by a man who wanted to secure a position as a publicity man with a large corporation. He told in the advertisement of a corporation head whom he had interviewed. This corporation head had wanted a man who could not only handle all the concern's publicity work, but also influence editorial comment on matters in which the firm's interests were concerned. That will be rather surprising information for the editors of many newspapers. Who was this firm that wished to influence editorial comment? Fortunately the Canadian newspapers have been practically free from this menace to right dealing; in fact, the editorial policy of the newspapers is usually carried out without reference to corporation interests at all—especially with the smaller newspapers. The United States has been honey-combed with this corporation "influence" until there is coming between the people and the big interests, a fight that will last for decades. Canada cannot too soon start in to wrestle with this growing giant of [illegible] domination. By all means give the legitimate business interests of the country every encouragement and fair play, but this insidious octopus that threatens to lay its tentacles on the life of this young country needs careful watching.

THE BRITISH PREFERENCE

With the advent of the Conservatives to power, it is not at all likely that there will be any effort made to increase the British preference. This action will, we believe, meet with the approval of most of the sane, thinking people of the country, because Canadian industries in some lines need protection from European competition as much as from American.

The British preference was the result, primarily, of a desire by the Laurier government to spite the Americans for a rejection of a reciprocity proposal; and being fanned by patriotic British sentiment, was played up for all it was worth. The British preference is all right. It is a sacrifice by Canada of something tangible, to show her attachment and loyalty to the motherland. To increase the British preference would not demonstrate our loyalty or attachment one whit more, but would indicate that we were ready to sacrifice some of our own industries for the sake of a superfluous display of imperial feeling. That is not at all necessary. Canadians voted in the last election against reciprocity because it would endanger the British connection, and they voted against partial free trade with the United States. No stronger intimation to the world could have been given than the result of the late election, as to where Canada stands in the matter of imperial connection.

Even with the British preference standing at thirty-three per cent, some Canadian industries are feeling the pinch of British competition very severely. In Peterborough the Lock works is one, and there is no doubt whatever but that the good Liberals who are connected with that concern would be only too glad to support the Borden government in refusing to make a total sacrifice of the industry as a lamb on the altar of our loyalty. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association feels the same way about industries in other lines of business, and the C.M.A. is right in this.

There are some articles, however, which could stand reduction of duty, or increase of preference, and one is cement. There is no earthly reason why Canadians should be compelled to submit to the exactions of a cement combination under a protectionist duty of nearly 50 per cent., taking hundreds of thousands of dollars out of the consumer to pay dividends on millions of watered stock. The new tariff commission, it is hoped, will regulate these matters so that the worthy and needful industry will get the necessary protection, while the overgrown industrial combinations, such as the cement combine, will get hit with the tariff axe until they are on their proper level.

The excitement increases. The Muckmen have beaten the McGrawmen. For further information, please look at the sports rubbering.

Judging by the news about the revolution in China, it will not be long before the trouble will spread to Chefoo. And then the famous Chefoo liar will have his innings again. At present his activities seem to be concentrated around Tripoli.

The troubles of the members of the Ontario railway board about agreeing are so pronounced that it might not be a bad idea to take the matter up, Sir James. The present unseemly squabbles detract very much from the usefulness and dignity of the august body.

They say that Mr. R. R. Hall will be selected by the Liberal convention Saturday afternoon, as the candidate for the Ontario house. Seeing that by not being nominated for the East Peterborough Dominion convention, he escaped a sound beating—Mr. Kerr having undertaken that pleasureable job—Mr. Hall is still supposed to be a live one politically.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Altho to-day, for the first time since 1901, the visible supply of wheat in the United States went beyond sixty million bushels, the prices of the cereal made a net gain of 1-4c to 1-2c. The chief reason for the advance was that world shipments for the week were much less than expected. Corn finished a shade to 1-4c higher, but oats at 1-16c to 1-4c decline. At the end of trading hog products varied from 5c off to 15c increase in cost.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛d to ⅝d higher than on Saturday; corn, ⅛d to ¼d lower. Berlin, closed ⅛c lower on wheat. Buda Pest, ⅝c lower; Paris, unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 16.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending October 14, were 2750 cattle, 3375 sheep and lambs, 2700 hogs and 875 calves. The offerings on the market this morning amounted to 1800 cattle, 2475 sheep and lambs, 1200 hogs and 350 calves.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for cattle, prices for butchers' stock being steady, owing to the fact that supplies of such were not in excess of the requirements as a large percentage of the offerings were only suitable for canning purposes, which met with a good demand from packers at prices ranging from 2¼c to 3½c per lb. Of the above number of cattle on the market there were twenty loads of ranch and domestic cattle from the northwest.

The demand from butchers was fairly good and the market on the whole was moderately active with sales of choice steers at 5¾c to 6c, good at 5½c, fairly good at 5c to 5¼c, fair at 4½c to 4¾c, and common, at 4c to 4¼c per lb. Good cows brought from 4c to 5c, and bulls 4½c to 5c per lb.

A steadier feeling prevailed in the market for hogs this morning and prices were practically unchanged from last Wednesday. The supply was not so large, for which the demand was good from packers, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt., weighed off the cars, and a few lots were delivered on contracts made last week at $6.75.

The trade in small meats was fairly active, there being a good demand from butchers for supplies and prices ruled steady. Lambs sold at 5¼c to 5½c, and sheep, at 3¼c to 3¾c per lb. The demand for calves was good at prices ranging from $3 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

CHAPTER XVI.

A Fatal Misapprehension.

Luisa Valverde and Isabel Almonte were such fast friends that scarcely a day passed without their seeing one another and exchanging confidences. They lived in the same street, the condesa having a house of her own, though nominally owned by her grandaunt and guardian. For, besides being beautiful and possessed of a title—one of the few still found in Mexico, relics of the old regime—Isabel Almonte was immensely rich; had houses in the city, villas in the country, property everywhere. She had a will of her own as well and spent her wealth according to her inclinations, which were all on the side of generosity, even to caprice. By nature a lighthearted, joyous creature, gay and merry, as one of the bright birds of her country, it was a rare thing to see sadness upon her face. And yet Luisa Valverde, looking down from the mirador, now saw troubled expression upon it, excitement in her eyes, quick pulsations. True, she had run up the escalera—a stair of four flights—without pause or rest, and that might account for her labored breathing, but not for the flush on her cheeks and the sparkle in her eyes. These came from a different cause, though the same one which had carried her up the long stairway without pausing to take breath.

She had not enough now left to declare it, but stood panting and speechless.

"What is it, Isabel?" asked her friend in an accent of alarm.

"Oh, Luisita! what do you think?" gasped the condesa.

"What?"

"They've taken him—they have him in prison!"

"He lives then—still lives!"

"Still lives!" echoed the condesa, with a look of mingled surprise and perplexity. "Of course he does; surely you did not think he was dead!"

"Indeed I knew not what to think—so long since I saw or heard of him. Oh, I'm so glad he's here, even though in a prison; for while there's life there's hope."

By this time the Condesa had recovered breath, though not composure of countenance. Her expression was changed from the look of trouble to one of blank astonishment. What could her friend mean? Why glad of his being in a prison?

"Hope!" she ejaculated again as an echo, then remained silent and looked dazed.

"Yes, Isabel; I had almost despaired of him. But are you sure they have him 'ere in prison? I was in fear that he had been killed in battle or died upon the march somewhere in those great prairies of Texas——"

"Caramba!" interrupted the young countess, who, free of speech, was accustomed to interlarding it with her country forms of exclamation. "What's all this about prairies and Texas? So far as I know, Ruperto was never there in his life."

"Ruperto!" echoed the other, the joy which had so suddenly lit up her features as suddenly returning to shadow. "I thought you were speaking of Florencio."

They understood each other now. Long since had their love secrets been mutually confessed, and Luisa Valverde needed no telling who Ruperto was. Independent of what she had lately learned from the condesa, she knew him to be a gentleman of good family, a soldier of some reputation; but who—as once her own father—had the misfortune to belong to the party now out of power; many of them in exile or retired upon their estates in the country—for the time taking no part in politics. As for himself, he had not been lately in the City of Mexico, though it was said he was still in the country; as rumor had it, hiding away somewhere among the mountains. And rumor went further, even to the defiling of his fair name.

"Forgive me, Isabel!" said her friend, opening her arms and receiving the countess in sympathetic embrace, "forgive me for the mistake I have made."

"Nay, 'tis I who should ask forgiveness," returned the other, seeing the misapprehension her words had caused, with their distressing effect. "I ought to have spoken plainer. But you know how much my thoughts have been dwelling on Ruperto."

"But, Isabel, you say they made him a prisoner! Who has done that and why?"

"The soldiers of the state. As to why, you can easily guess. Because he belongs to the party of Liberals. That's why, and nothing else. But they don't say so. I've something more to tell you. Would you believe it, Luisita, that they accuse him of being a salteador?"

You remember we were acquainted with Don Ruperto before that sad time when we were compelled to leave the country. I should say he would be the last man to stain his character by becoming a robber."

"The very last man! Robber indeed! My noble Ruperto the purest of patriots, purer than any in this degenerate land. Ay-de-mi!"

"And where is he now, Isabel?"

"In prison, as I told you."

"But what prison?"

"That's just what I'm longing to know. All I've heard is that he's in a prison under the accusation of being a highwayman. "But," she added, angrily stamping her tiny foot, "they who accuse him shall rue it. He shall be revenged on them. I'll see justice done him myself. Ah! that will I, though it costs me all I'm worth. Only to think—Ruperto a robber! My Ruperto!"

Beyond what she had already said, the condesa had little more to communicate and in her turn became the questioner.

"I can understand now, my dear, why you spoke of Don Florencio. The Texan prisoners have arrived and you are thinking he's amongst them? That's so, is it not?"

"Not thinking, but hoping it, Isabel."

"Have you taken any steps to ascertain?"

"I have."

"In what way?"

"I've sent a messenger to Tacubaya, where I'm told they've been taken."

"Not all. Some of them have been sent elsewhere. One party, I believe, is shut up in the Acordada."

"What! in that fearful place? Among those horrid wretches—the worst criminals we have! The Texans are soldiers—prisoners of war. Surely they do not deserve such treatment?"

"Deserve it or not, some of them are receiving it. That grand gentleman, Col. Carlos Santander—your friend by the way—told me so."

The mention of Santander's name produced a visible effect on Luisa Valverde. Her cheek seemed to pale and suddenly flashed red again. Well she remembered, and vividly recalled the old enmity between him and Don Florencio. Too well, and a circumstance of most sinister recollection as matters stood now. She had thought of it before; was thinking of it all the time, and therefore the words of the condesa started no new train of reflection. They but intensified the fear she had already felt, for a time holding her speechless.

Not noticing this, and without waiting a rejoinder, the other ran on, still interrogating:

"Whom have you trusted with this delicate mission, may I ask?"

"Only Jose."

"Well; Jose, from what I've seen of him, is worthy of the trust. That is so far as honesty is concerned and possibly cleverness. But, my dear he's only a humble servitor, and out there in Tacubaya, among the garrison soldiers, or if it be in any of the prisons, he may experience a little difficulty in obtaining the information you seek. Did you give him any money to make matters easy?"

"He has my purse with him with permission to use it as he may see best."

"Ah! then you may safely expect him bringing back a good account, or at all events one that will settle the question you wish to have settled. Your purse should be a key to Don Florencio's prison—if he be inside one anywhere in Mexico."

"Oh! I hope he is."

"Ah, dearest! How much our doings this day have been alike. I, too have dispatched a messenger to find out all about Ruperto and am now awaiting his return. I ran across to tell you of it. And now that we're together let us stay till we know the worst or the best. Heaven help us both; for we're 'both in the same boat.' What is this?" she added, stooping and taking up the gilded card which had been all the while lying upon the floor. "Oh, indeed! Invitation to an airing in one of the state carriages—with such a pretty compliment appended! How free his excellency is with his flattery. For myself I detest both him and it. You'll go, won't you?"

"I don't wish it."

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

TO ECZEMA SUFFERERS

If you are suffering from skin troubles of any kind you should be very careful not to let them grow worse. Some of the most dreadful and disfiguring diseases began with a simple rash which might have been cured very easily. IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

REMARKABLE TIME PIECES

Men Who Have Exercised Their Genius in the Production of Queer Clocks and Watches.

A most extraordinary chronometer is the result of the patience and ingenuity of a French clock-maker. The construction of this time-piece, which contains nine hundred and seventy-seven parts and cost about $4,000, consumed the maker's time for a number of years.

On the case are shown the signs of the zodiac. On the main dial, in addition to the usual characters to indicate hours, minutes and seconds, are seen divisions with reference to time in years, months, and days, not to speak of features to indicate the phases of the moon, the seasons, solestices, equinoxes, and other astronomical records.

Then, too, there are large and small gongs, together with a diminutive carillon of three notes for sounding purposes. On the lesser minute dial are 226 stars of the Boreal and 200 of the southern hemisphere; time at 125 different cities of the world, times of sunrise and sunset, and a thermometer and barometer.

Since first men began to construct time-pieces there have almost always been those delighting to exercise their genius in the making of queer clocks and watches. In China they tell of such an inventor who lived forty-five centuries ago. This was Hwang-Ti, who is said to have devised the water-clock. The Chinese honor the name of Hwang-Ti as that of the greatest mechanical genius that ever lived. There was a Chinese emperor, too, who excelled in the clock-making line. This royal inventor, who is rather vaguely assigned to the fourteenth century, is said to have constructed an extraordinary time-piece, for which three toy temples served as bases. At the top of these temples there was placed a box of works. In the middle temple were shown figures of fairies, each carrying the sign of one of the hours.

It appears that the side temples were dedicated to the sun and moon, respectively, and that they were given over to miniature genii, whose dwelling-places were connected with the central structure by bridges. Without the temple were placed the images of two gods standing before drums.

On the hour the quiet of the temple was broken by the action of the gods striking the drums, and there appeared a fairy with her hour sign. At the same time from the temples of the sun and moon genii wended their way across the bridges, for the purpose, apparently, of ascertaining the time from the fairies, after which proceeding they returned to report to their fellows. Chinese say that the name of the emperor who devised the characteristic conceit was Shun-te.

World's Deepest Hole.

The deepest hole in the world, up to date, is the boring begun ten years ago at Cunchow, Silesia, with the object of attaining a depth of 2500 metres, and which has now reached a depth of 2240 metres (7349 feet). The bore is 44 centimetres in diameter at the top, and diminishes progressively to 5 centimetres. Measurements of temperature have been made regularly. At 2220 meters the temperature is 83.4 degrees C. (182 degrees F.). This gives a "geothermic degree" (amount of descent corresponding to a rise of temperature of 1 degree C.) of 31.8 metres. The change of temperature does not proceed uniformly. In fact an interesting "temperature inversion" occurs between the depths of 640 and 730 metres, where the temperature actually falls, with descent, about 2 degrees.

Giants Among Insects.

While the study of entomology (science of insects) will lead one to observe many minute and microscopical objects, all insects are not small. In size the Hercules beetle is probably one of the largest insects in existence, being about seven inches long, including his snout. He is a native of the West Indies, where he must look a most formidable foe to the insect world, though his prominent proboscis seems to be used chiefly to "lock horns" with the male adversaries of his own order only. Among insects are found many instances of structures present in males and wanting in the female of the same species. Many of them have enlarged jaws, some with horns, and some antler-like projections with which to combat their foe, and probably many a desperate battle has been fought in insect life that would be worthy of record by some Homeric bard.

When children think their mother is the greatest and smartest woman in the world, she usually is.

SAFE FROM TYPHOID

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" THE BEST PREVENTATIVE

There is practically no danger of Typhoid Fever as long as you keep the bowels regular with "Fruit-a-tives."

Typhoid is an inflammation of the bowels, due to a germ. This germ enters the body in milk, water or food. If the bowels are constipated, the germ remains in the body long enough to attack the delicate lining and thus Typhoid begins.

"Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the liver, kidneys and skin, and cleans the system of all impurities. "Fruit-a-tives" will not cure Typhoid — but it will cure Constipation, assist Digestion and tone up the system — thus preventing Typhoid.

Four Days In Folding Bed.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 17.—Miss Mary Elizabeth Graham, 70 years old, of Kenton, Del., will die as the result of a queer accident. She was found caught in a folding bed in her home, where she lived all alone.

While sitting on the edge of the collapsible bed it gave way under her weight. She became entangled in the bed clothing, and could not free herself. Finally the bed closed. She was too weak to extricate herself or to cry for help. She remained a prisoner for four days, when neighbors who had missed her, broke into the house and discovered her a captive. She had been paralyzed by her strange imprisonment.

Left Threatening Letters.

Peterboro, Oct. 17.—In rounding up a gang of six youths, the police found the writer of a letter addressed to Mr. Philox Kearney, Olive avenue, demanding $400. The letter was placed in the front door, and read: "If you don't leave $400 in front of your door to-night, we will blow out your brains in a short while."

IF YOU ARE SICK YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

MANY APPLICATIONS TO CHILDREN'S AID

J. E. L. Goodwill, secretary of the Children's Aid Society reports that at present there are twelve children in the shelter, which is somewhat below the usual number. On an average there are fifteen children, as wards of the shelter. These figures by no means indicate the number of applications which are submitted to have children placed in the institution. Only recently ten applications were made to Mr. Goodwill.

NORMALITES WARMLY WELCOMED

Students Given the Glad Hand by Charlotte Street Church Epworth Leaguers.

The Epworth League of Charlotte street Methodist church tendered a most enjoyable and greatly appreciated reception last evening to the students of the Normal school, and if the pleasure and harmony with which the proceedings were replete could be viewed as indexes of the success of the affair, then certainly nothing was lacking in the evening's program.

The glad hand of good-fellowship, and welcome was prominent throughout, and it is doubtful if warmer or more genuine expressions of good-will could have been exhibited, than were extended to the future teachers at last night's function. Everybody departed happy, and pleased with their sincere welcome, describes the affair most aptly.

The students turned out in large numbers, and it was estimated that the attendance bordered on one hundred and seventy-five. The league members were also present in large numbers. Under the combined management of the literary and social departments of the organization, a most pleasing and varied program had been prepared, and every number elicited hearty applause. Nobody was backward in bestowing, and evidencing their approval of the musical bill-of-fare.

On entering the lecture hall each person was presented with a tag on which they wrote their names and pinned it on themselves in a conspicuous place. An autograph card bearing a highly artistic sketch of a Jack-o-lantern on one side and a black cat on the other corner, was also handed to each one present.

The latter were used in the autograph contest which took place after the musical program had been given. To the party securing the largest list of names of those present on his or her card, the prize of a box of bon-bons was awarded, and the winner last evening was Miss Lizzie Grady, the victory evidently being a popular one, if the applause could be regarded as a criterion. She secured 63 names on her card.

A criticism of the merits of the musical program would be difficult as every selection was in a distinctly superior class of its own. The milk-maids chorus by seven pretty young ladies of Charlotte street league captured perhaps the premier portion of the applause. Each young lady was attired in the regulation milk-maid's charming apparel.

The male quartet was also warmly received in their rendition of the ludicrous selection "Oh Lucky Jim." An encore was demanded and given. Each of the other individual numbers were well given and well received.

On behalf of the Sunday school and the church, Rev. G. W. Henderson and R. J. Kidd spoke brief but hearty words of welcome to the visiting students, assuring them of the pleasure of their presence, and of the hearty manner in which they would be welcomed at the church.

Refreshments were served by a capable staff of budding waiters, and the evening of sociability closed with the hearty singing of the National Anthem.

The committee in charge of the entertainment worked faithfully and energetically for its successful outcome, and to them, and the president, R. F. Downey and all who assisted in any way, credit and thanks are due.

The following was the program;

Instrumental duet—Misses Smith and Storey.
Address—Rev. G. W. Henderson.
Vocal solo—Miss Dickson.

Quartet—Messrs Lee, Fleming, Downey, Skitch.
Reading—Miss Thomas.

Rev. G. W. Henderson was chairman and the Misses Pringle, Clarry and Campbell presided at the piano, also Miss Sophie Elliott.

CITY ENGINEER RECOMMENDS NEW ROUTE FOR EXTENSIONS

Albert and Alfred Streets Streets Preferable to the Route Suggested by the Street Railway Co.

There were present at the meeting of the city Board of Works last night Ald Metheral, chairman, Duncan, Buller and Anderson, the Mayor, acting secretary Adams, and City Engineer, Hayes.

The meeting was called with regard to the paving question. There was only one communication in answer to the city's notice in the Contract Record and that was from Mr. W. H. Lyttle

He could not consider it however, if the work was to be done this year.

It was decided that the chairman confer with Mr. Reid of Windsor, asking what he could do in the matter. His firm is supplying the asphalt blocks.

Mr. James Brody, of Grenville, Quebec, offered a quotation in a letter to the chairman for granite blocks. No action was taken.

As the crossing at Monaghan Road and Romaine street is not satisfactory the chairman, City Solicitor and City Engineer will confer with the C.P.R. officials.

A report from the City Engineer on the proposed route of the extensions of the Peterboro Radial Railway, advised that Albert street and Alfred street be the route instead of via Lafayette Ave., and Chamberlain st.

Lafayette Ave, is only forty feet wide, and Albert is sixty-six feet. The grade on Albert street is almost right.

Mr. Munro, for the Peterboro Radial Railway Company, addressed the meeting in regard to a communication about the proposed extensions. He explained that as it would be necessary to put a foot of gravel on Chamberlain street to make it the necessary level, the company would haul the filling if the city would supply it the city to load and unload the cars excepting that which was to fill between the tracks.

The committee thought it was advisable to lay the track on Lafayette Avenue.

Mr. Munro is to confer with his company and meet with the Board of Works at a later date.

A letter was read from Mr. P. J. Lynch, of the G.T.R. offering that if the culvert on Concession street be built of cement under the supervision of, and to the entire satisfaction of the G.T.R., at a cost of $775 the company would bear half the expense. The City Engineer and chairman were instructed to go ahead and see about having the work done.

The report of the City Engineer with regard to a petition received asking for some filling and laying of 640 feet of pipe on Park street, was received.

The Board recommended that the improvements asked for at the Isolation Hospital be made this season.

MR. JAMES BANCROFT.

Since then however, the city has extended in the direction and during the past few months Mr. Schneider has received about twenty-five offers to sell. A recent offer of $650 if he would sell, was received by wire by Mr. Schneider from a real estate firm in Edmonton.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Wm. Franks

Mrs. William Franks, aged 36 years, passed away at an early hour this morning from tuberculosis

The late Mrs. Franks was born in Smith township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Deyell. She resided there until ten years ago, making many friends by her many estimable qualities. When she was married to Mr. Franks, she went with him to the Moosejaw district, Sask., where Mr. Franks engaged in farming until last spring when he sold their home and went to California to try and improve Mrs. Franks' health, but without avail. In August they came to Ontario again, going to the home of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Arthur Franks, Emily.

At one o'clock this morning the grim reaper came and called the sufferer home.

Those left to mourn her loss are her husband, Mr. Wm. Franks, five brothers, George, Robert and Samuel, Smith township; Fred and Wellington, Alameda, Sask.; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Franks, Emily, and Miss Liza Jane Deyell, Emily.

The funeral will take place, at one o'clock to-morrow from the residence of Mr. Arthur Franks, Emily, to Little Lake cemetery.

PETERBORO BOY IS MAKING HIS PILE

Seven Years Operations in the West Has Brought Success to Mr. Ed. Renton.

Every once in a while, from Western Canada comes the news of some fortunate individual having cleaned up tidy sums, as a result of real estate transactions, for which that part of the country has for some years past been famous.

Last night he stepped off onto the C.P.R. station platform, the good intentions having materialised to such a degree of success that he is now well to do and in a position to become in a few years, independent for life, and he is only a young man.

It took quite a while to get the start, but once he secured a firm footing, the rest was comparatively easy. Small deals were only the stepping stones to bigger investments which in turn brought lucrative returns.

SOLD SIGHT FOR THEATRE

A couple of years ago, Mr. Renton secured possession of a piece of property in Saskatoon for $4,500 and this summer parted with the same property for $15,000 to an English Theatrical Company, wishing to find a suitable site for a new theatre. He has several other good investments which promise to turn out on the saving side, in the near future.

In coming to the east for a visit Mr. Renton went around by New York, and witnessed the first game in the world's series on Saturday. The Athletics he calls to be twice world's champions, his opinion being that the Mack machine is the stronger organization and is better fortified with twirlers. He says they should have won the first game with any kind of luck.

Speaking of the big interest taken in the contest he remarked that on the houses surrounding the Polo grounds the owners had constructed platforms, for which fans paid fancy prices for seats.

Mr. Renton is on his way to Norwood to visit his parents. Meanwhile he is being kept busy renewing old acquaintances in the city.

After a short visit he will return to the west.

KINDLY WORDS OF PRAISE FOR THIS FAMOUS ARTIST

Mark Hambourg Who Appears at the Grand This Evening – Warmly Praised in Montreal – Notable Social and Musical Event.

In connection with the appearance of Mark Hambourg in the Grand Opera House this evening, the following item which appears in the Montreal Star concerning the great pianist's visit in Montreal last week will be of interest.

"The power, the ability to produce overwhelming masses of gorgeous tone, to pile climax upon climax until one feels the final climax will never come, the unique mastery of technique —all the qualities which stamped him great before are still prominent."

The Duke and Duchess of Connaught were present at his recital in Ottawa last night and it was a notable social event of the season in Ottawa.

BACK FROM THE S. A. CONFERENCE

Mrs, Booth Had Big Meeting at Massey Hall

Ensign and Mrs .Merritt, of the local Salvation Army corps, have returned from Toronto, where they attended meetings of the Salvation Army Conference being held there.

"Mrs. Booth is one of the greatest platform speakers I have ever listened to," said the Ensign to a Review reporter this morning, in speaking about the splendid success of the meetings.

Particularly interesting was the meeting Sunday afternoon at Massey Hall, when Mrs. Booth spoke of the social work of the Salvation Army. The Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Hon. J. M. Gibson, presided. So great was the interest displayed that an overflow meeting had to be held in the Temple hall on Albert street.

Reviewing the origin and growth of the social work of the Army, Mrs. Booth told of how she was commissioned by General Booth to do this work in the east end of London and the misgivings she had at first. The work was a great success, and she said that in London to-day there were 756 institutions with accommodation for over 30,000 people who were fallen, weak and needing care, morally and physically.

Other local members who attended the meeting were Bandmaster Peryer, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Brand, Mrs. Moynes, Band Secretary Hensley, and Bandsmen Gray and his son.

Don't forget the lecture by Rev. James Rollins on the "Prince of the Sea" at St. Andrew's to-night. Tickets 25 cents.

SHIP'S BUTCHER

Now Taking Hand at the Farming Game

Three husky arrivals from the Old Land, applied to G. H. Howson for employment yesterday morning. They all were placed with farmers, one going to Millbrook one to Fraserville and the other to a position near the city. One of the men and the biggest of the three, said he had been a ship's butcher and his appearance spoke the truth of his assertion. He was a big fellow, with extremely broad shoulders, and his frame gave an idea of great strength. He hails from Yorkshire and his talk was rather difficult to understand.

The other two were young men and the big fellow appeared to exercise a sort of guardianship over them.

LAUGHS ARE MANY IN PRIVATE SECRETARY

This Popular old Comedy at the Grand Saturday—Mr. James Bancroft Eminent English Actor in the Role of Secretary

In connection with the production of "The Private Secretary" in Montreal last week at His Majesty's Theatre there, the Star has the following to say;

With its delightful English humor and laughable English eccentricities, "The Private Secretary" has returned to Montreal at His Majesty's, as an old favorite, with Mr. C. James Bancroft, in the character of the timid curate, made famous in America by Mr. William Gillette's production of the play.

Mr. C. James Bancroft, in title role is himself responsible for a laugh almost every time he opens his mouth. There is little similarity between his portrayal of Rev. Robert Spaulding the eccentric curate and hesitating private secretary of the play, and that presented by Mr William Gillette, but there is no doubt that Mr. Bancroft is eminently fitted to carry out the humor of the role to the hearty entertainment of the audience.

Second only to the character of the curate in the piece is that of Mr. Cattermole, the cranky, overbearing uncle who reduces everybody to submission. In this role, Mr. Joseph Olancy's representation is sometimes even more humorous than that of the curate, probably because his role appeals a little more directly to the heart, because his dominating manners, which arouse so much mirth, never disguise his real admiration for manly youths, who can be a little bit sporty at times.

The characters themselves are the whole play, the vestige of a plot being built around the old uncles mistaken impression that the bashful curate is his nephew, and hence arise all the humorous tangles of the play.

Two other characters well represented in the play are those of Mr. Sydney Gibson, the Bond street tailor, represented by Mr. Shirley Braithwaite, and Miss Ashford, the spiritualist, played by Miss Nell Cave. The other roles are less humorous, but are as well played as their importance demands.

Mr. Bagrett had no hesitation in saying after he made the purchase that he was the best and fastest young horse he ever drove.

MR. R. E. McKEE LIKES THE WEST

He Has Returned From Visit of Three Months

After a three months' business and pleasure trip to the west, Mr. R. E. McKee, 405 Walton street, returned home Sunday afternoon, extremely enthusiastic over the glowing prospects that the western section of Canada holds out, and the inducements that are temptingly displayed for investors.

When seen to-day by a Review representative Mr. McKee expressed himself as highly delighted with his visit west. Most of his time was spent in the cities of Edmonton and Saskatoon. Both places are bound to be the coming cities of the west. Edmonton, Mr. McKee believes to be a much more preferable place for investment than Calgary, despite the recent location of the car shops there. The site of the city is much more advantageous and occupies a very commanding position. While Calgary is no doubt flourishing, its low, flat situation was not as inviting as Edmonton.

"Saskatoon is a thriving place," said Mr. McKee. "Only eight years years ago," he remarked, "the place had a population of about 113 odd people; to-day it is on the verge of 20,000, and its business and residential growth has kept pace with the increase of population."

Mr. McKee met scores of former local people, the majority of whom are doing well, and satisfied with their surroundings and occupations.

THEY ARE AFRAID OF PRESIDENTIAL YEAR

In a letter received here by J. J. McBain from a friend in business at Chicago, the following remarks are made regarding reciprocity;

"Your question as to reciprocity has been answered and I think in a satisfactory manner. It will show some of our politicians that they cannot present a fake proposition like the recent treaty and expect to have it accepted.

"Business conditions are very bad here in the States, and do not give much promise of much improvement. Everyone seems afraid of presidential year."

BENSFORT BRIEFS

Special Correspondence

Quite a number attended Norwood fair on Wednesday, amongst them being Mr. Edward Lovell, Messrs. Richmond and William Morrison, Mr. Thomas Armstrong, and Mr. Stewart Thompson and Miss Nettie Finkle.

The Agricultural Society held their annual exhibition on their grounds at Centreville on Wednesday and Thursday 11th and 12th. The weather was ideal but despite this favoritism, interest seemed lacking in many branches of exhibits and the exhibition could not be termed a success by any means despite the efforts put forth by the president and others in endeavoring to make it the best on record. One of our local young men, Mr. James Whittington, had the honor of carrying off a first and second on his handsome driver, 1st in gentleman's turnout class and 2nd, in single drivers' class.

Mr. Wm. Martin of Allandale, who has made many trips through this section in his peddling waggon, was renewing acquaintances a short time ago.

Mr. McCullough, the Conservative nominee for West Northumberland for the legislature was in the vicinity a few days ago, calling personally on some of the electors, and soliciting their support in the coming election. Mr. Whitney on becoming premier, changed our riding for provincial affairs, placing us in West Northumberland, instead of West Peterboro. While Peterboro is our main market, we believe the prime minister was influenced by the principle of representation by population and not by partisan advantage as South Monaghan used to give Mr. Stratton a majority in his day.

Mrs. John Whittington was taken suddenly ill a few days ago, but we are pleased to hear that he is recovering.

Mr. Louis Lunny and Mrs. Lunny had an encounter with an automobile a short time ago, while out driving and feel the effects of some of the injuries received by them yet, though no serious complication are known.

Mr. Collins of Bailsover has been renewing acquaintances in this neighborhood during the past week.

Mr. Wm. Dawson has returned from the North West where he has been harvesting during the past two months.

Apples Grown Ninety Miles East of Prince Rupert—Fine Outlook for Future Fruit Growers

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have procured samples of apples grown in the Kitsumkalum valley, ninety miles east of Prince Rupert. These apples are of different varieties, beautiful in their coloring, and the flavor is in every respect up to the perfect brands grown in Ontario and entirely unlike the interior flavored fruit grown under irrigation in the more southerly regions and in practically all of the Pacific Coast States.

The specimens came from the orchard of Mr. D. Stewart, who has about fifteen acres under cultivation and they represent the first grown in the operated line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In the valleys of the Kitsumkalum Lakelse and Copper rivers, with other areas along the Skeena River, there should be approximately 20,000 acres of ideal fruit lands placed under cultivation in comparatively few years, and much of this land can be procured by preemption in 160 acre lots, the only charge being $1.00 per acre in addition to the residence requirements of the law. It is confidently predicted that this territory will become the centre of a new and greater fruit district in British Columbia.

At Prince Rupert this summer strawberries grown along the Skeena River and in the valleys of the Kitsumkalum, Lakelse and Copper rivers came into the market for the first time in considerable quantities, and the fruit is reported to be superior to anything grown on this continent being extremely high colored, and as sweet and fine a flavor as wild strawberries: their size was remarkable, running as large as a good size crab-apple or a small snow apple.

There will no doubt be a class of settlers in this section of the country who are looking for and will get tremendous returns for their labour at comparatively small expense.

Coal Results

¶ We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact, and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

HON. W. S. FIELDING

The name of W. S. Fielding will ever be associated with tariff changes and above all with the big reciprocity fight of 1910-11. This veteran statesman who is regarded by thousands of admirers, especially in his native province of Nova Scotia, as the Lion of the Liberal Party, has been a remarkable and outstanding figure in Canadian public life for thirty years. After a successful career as a journalist he entered the political arena in 1882, when he was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislatre. Two years later he became Premier of the province and much of the credit for re-organizing its finances is attributed to him. Mr. Fielding continued to hold the Premiership as well as the portfolio of Provincial Secretary till the great landslide of 1896 which put the Liberals in power when he was returned to the Federal House and was chosen Minister of Finance by the new administration.

Immediately on his appointment to his new office Hon. Mr. Fielding determined to revise the existing tarrif and with this end in view made a tour of the Dominion. The British preferential tarriff was the result. Eight or ten years later he made another tour which was followed by a further revision of the tarriff including an increase in the British preference.

HON. W. S. FIELDING
Lion of the Liberal Party

Mr. Fielding has now been in charge of Canada's finances continuously for fifteen years. During that period many remarkable changes have come about and several big loans have been successfully negotiated and a Canadian Mint established. Mr. Fielding also had a big hand in the agreement for the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway and was in fact acting as Minister of Railways when the agreement was signed. He was one of the plenipotentiaries appointed by His Majesty to negotiate a commercial treaty between Canada and France in 1907 and was a member of the British Royal Commission to enquire into trade relations between Canada and the West Indies in 1909.

But it was in the recent negotiations for a tarriff treaty between this country and the United States that Mr. Fielding came most prominently before the world. When the American delegation to Ottawa proved unsuccessful representatives of the Canadian Government were invited to Washington. As all the world knows, Mr. Fielding who was the leader of the deputation, came back with a draft reciprocity agreement in his pocket and has since been the stoutest champion of this now famous pact.

Hon. Mr. Fielding is no longer young, but the vigor of his earlier years does not seem in the least impaired by the strenuous life he has led, and he is as active as ever in advocating any cause he has at heart. In a recent editorial a Nova Scotia Liberal newspaper referred to him as 'the Greatest Canadian Statesmen of them all', which shows the hold his commanding personality has on his followers in the Maritime Provinces.

Canada is credited with production of about two hundred daily newspapers and fully a thousand weeklies, and Sir Hugh Graham ranks amongst the very few who have made an enormous fortune out of the business. Today he is busy building his pile still higher, or cutting down some of its towers, in an effort to convince his fellow countrymen that in seeking closer trade relationship with Canada, the United States is merely seeking to provide trade for its many thousands of unemployed men to the detriment of those on this side the line. Sir Hugh, who is an L.L.D. of Glasgow, Scotland, and also a Knight Bachelor of the United Kingdom, is a native of Athelston, Que., where he was born in 1848, and took on board a load of education at Huntingdon a remarkable achievement when one considers that there is no other man known who matriculated from that seat of learning. He is founder and proprietor of the Daily and Weekly Star of Montreal, and has besides found time to devote in many directions, personal, political and occasionally philanthropic. In this latter connection he initiated a Fresh air Fund in Montreal, single handed suppressed the smallpox epidemic in 1885; insured for $1,000 each man of the first Canadian contingent that went to South Africa, and organised a Children's Patriotic Fund for families of British Soldiers. It was not, however, as recognition of these that he was knighted by King Edward in 1898, but for some political deal in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Montreal La Presse, David Russell, and some others had a hand.

Any man who believes that in a few years people will travel everywhere in airships, is generally regarded as a Progressive.

CANADIAN WOMEN AND THEIR WORK

By Marjory MacMurchy

(Copyright by Publishers Press Limited, Montreal)

It used to be said, and is said still, that Nova Scotia and New Brunswick head the other Canadian provinces in the making of poets. One province does not seem to be favored more than another in the work of Canadian women writers. Miss L. M. Montgomery of Prince Edward Island, who as Mrs. Ewan Macdonald, the wife of a Presbyterian minister, is changing her home this autumn to Leaskdale in Ontario, is the best representative we have of a Canadian woman writer whose native province by itself furnishes her with ample material for her charming stories. Miss Marshall Saunders has travelled much both in the Old world and the New, but she is as individual a citizen of Halifax and as characteristically a Nova Scotian as any Canadian loyalist. "Marian Keith", Mrs. MacGregor of Orillia, is as unmistakably an Ontarian as Miss Montgomery is native to Prince Edward Island and Miss Saunders to Nova Scotia. Mrs. Elisabeth Roberts Macdonald, sister to Charles G. D. Roberts, is a true New Brunswicker and her verses reflect Fredericton and the province round about as faithfully as a looking-glass. Mrs. McClung was born in Ontario, but she was taken as a child to the West, and her stories are completely, triumphantly Western. Mrs. Murphy, author of "Janey Canuck in the West" also a native of Ontario, would never have written in exactly the same vein as she does if she had not lived in Edmonton, Alberta. Mrs. Isabella Ecclestone MacKay, who was born in Woodstock, Ontario, is now a resident of Vancouver. Miss Agnes Deans Cameron is a native of Victoria, British Columbia, where she taught school for many years and where the style of "The New North" must have been formed; its author is now writing and lecturing in England, with head-quarters in London. Such a list as this should convince anyone that Canadian women writers are not to be reckoned last among the forces which are building Canadian nationality.

MARJORY MACMURCHY

Mrs. EWAN MACDONALD

The two best known Canadian women novelists are Mrs. Everard Cotes and Miss Lily Dougall. Mrs Cotes was born in Brantford, Ontario. She won her first recognition as a writer for The Toronto Globe, using the pen name, "Garth Grafton"; she went round the world when the journey was something of a novelty for a woman, and wrote a series of articles on her experiences for "The Queen." These articles appeared later in book form as "A Social Departure". The delicate clear style in which "A Social Departure" was written and its delightful humor have made it one of the most widely known and the best liked of all Mrs Cotes' writings. Shortly after its publication, its author Miss Sara Jeannette Duncan, married Mr Everard Cotes of the Indian Civil Service. Since then she has spent most of her time in India, with long visits to London and journeys to Canada every few years. Mrs. Cotes visited Canada this year after finishing an English political novel which is to appear serially in "The Queen." The best known of Mrs. Cotes' novels are: "An American Girl in London", "Those Delightful Americans", "A Daughter of To-Day", "The Crow's Nest", "The Pool in the Desert", "The Path of a Star", "The Imperialist", "Set in Authority", which appeared serially in The London Times, and "The Burnt Offering", an able novel dealing with East Indian affairs. Mrs. Cotes is a thorough workwoman. Her style is excellent. Her influence on the women writers of Canada who have begun to write since Mrs Cotes made her name as a novelist is all in the direction of perfecting what the writer at first may be prone to consider her best.

Miss Lily Dougall was born in Montreal and belongs to the well-nown Dougall family who have made The Witness a household journal throughout the Dominion. Miss Dougall's first success as a novelist was "Beggars All". From 1891, the year in which "Beggars All" was published, Miss Dougall lived in England until 1896 when she returned to Canada. In 1903, she was compelled to return to England on account of her health. Miss Dougall spent the present summer with her relatives in Canada and will this autumn change her residence in England from Exmouth to Oxford. Her best known novels are: "What Necessity Knows", "The Madonna of a Day", "The Mormon Prophet", "The Earthly Purgatory", "The Spanish Dowry", and "The Paths of the Righteous". "The Paths of the Righteous", which deals with the position of the Non-Conformists in England, contains a striking and beautiful portrait of an elderly Canadian who as the possessor of great wealth goes to England to discover the character of the relative whom he means to make his heir.

This novel is Miss Dougall's finest work so far and indicates that we have still much to expect from its author.

Miss Agnes Maule Machar, a native of Kingston, Ontario, has influenced tion of the study of Canadian history. Miss Laut once said that Miss Machar had given her an early impulse towards the study of history. Miss Machar has written both in prose and verse. Her "Lays of the True North" and "The Story of Old Kingston" are amongst her best known work. Miss Machar's father, The Rev. John Machar, D.D., was second Principal of Queen's University, Kingston. Miss Machar has had several notable friendships with people who have influenced Canadian character. Principal Grant of Queen's University, The Rev. D. J. Macdonnell of St. Andrews' Church, Toronto, and Professor Romanes of Oxford, have been among those who have received sympathy and counsel from Miss Machar.

VALANCE PATRIARCHE

Canadians apparently have a gift for the writing of verse, and in this gift Canadian women share equally with men. Miss Isabella Valancy Crawford was born in Ireland. She came to Canada with her people while she was still a child. For powerful imagination and genius of utterance, Miss Crawford's poetry has scarcely been equalled in Canadian literature since her death. Her work was almost unrecognized during her lifetime and she died as she had lived in poverty and obscurity. There is a grocery-store on the south-east corner of King and John Streets, Toronto, where in a single room up-stairs Miss Crawford lived with her mother. Here she died. She had published a small volume of poetry in 1884. About twenty years after her death, her Collected Poems were edited and published by Mr. J. W. Garvin.

ISABEL ECCLESTONE MACKAY

Among Canadian women writers who have published several volumes of verse are Miss Wetherald, Miss Coleman, Mrs. Blewett, Mrs. Harrison, Miss Pauline Johnson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts Macdonald. All but the last named of these verse writers belong to Ontario. Miss Wetherald lives near Fenwick, Ontario. Her father was a highly respected schoolmaster, principal of the Rockwood Academy. Miss Wetherald's books of verse include: "The House of Trees", "Tangled in Stars", "The Radiant Road" and "The Last Robin".

Miss Helena Coleman who lives in Toronto and whose brother is the Canadian geologist, Professor Arthur Coleman, has published one volume of poetry, "Songs and Sonnets", a publication which brought her immediate acknowledgement as a gifted writer. Mrs. Jean Blewett is a writer of verse which joins common sense and feeling in such a happy fashion as to have made her one of the most popular of Canadian poets. She also is a resident of Toronto and is a frequent contributor to such publications as The Toronto Globe. Her books of verse are "The Cornflower" and "Heart Songs". Mrs. Harrison published a good many years ago "Pine, Rose and Fleur de Lys", a volume of artistic verse in which The Habitant made what is possibly his first appearance in Canadian poetry. Mrs. Harrison is the author as well of a novel, "The Forest of Bourg Marie", a French Canadian romance. Mrs. Harrison is interested in music. Her husband is organist and choir master of St. Simon's Church, Toronto. Miss Pauline Johnson is an Indian poetess. Her "White Wampum" and "The Song My Paddle Sings" are likely to remain the most successful expression which the world possesses of the Indian's love of nature. Miss Johnson, who is a Mohawk and was born near Brantford, is now living in Vancouver. Canadians will regret to hear that this woman of genius is in extremely poor health. Reference has been made to Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts Macdonald's work. Her home is in Frederickton, New Brunswick. She shares the poetical gift of the Roberts family. Her earliest published work in poetry appeared along with verse written by two of her brothers. Since then she has published a book of her own work, "Dream Verses and Other Poems".

Mrs. McLUNG

Besides these writers, many Canadian women write charming verses which appear frequently in the best Canadian magazines and in the foremost magazines of the United States. Among these should be mentioned: Miss Marjorie Pickthall, who has a rare imaginative gift, Miss Warnock, whose work as book reviewer of The Mail-Empire, Toronto, is signed, "Katherine Hale," Mrs. Sheard, one of whose poems was published in a recent issue of Scribner's Magazine, and Mrs. MacKay of Vancouver who writes successfully in prose as well as in verse. Other writers might be named. But this list should serve to give an idea of how many Canadian women are visited frequently, if not constantly, by the magic vision of the poet.

ELIZABETH ROBERTS MACDONALD

Mrs. Traill and Mrs. Moodie should be named with the earliest women writers of Canada. Their connection with the famous Strickland family removed effectually any impression of the amateur from their writings. Several women have accomplished good work in the writing of Canadian history. Miss Agnes Laut has written several historical novels and a number of readable historical works which have appeared serially in Scribner's Magazine and other publications. Miss Jean McIlwraith, author of "The Curious Career of Roderick Campbell" wrote the volume on Haldimand in The Makers of Canada series. Miss Laut who was born in Sterling Ontario, and Miss McIlwraith, who is a native of Hamilton, Ontario, are now living in the United States. Miss Emily P. Weaver, who has written a child's history of Canada and several stories for young people does a good deal of magazine work in history. Miss Agnes Deans Cameron's work has already been mentioned. "The New North" is a cheerful, buoyant, and interesting account of a woman's travels in the north of Canada.

VERA SHEARD

Mrs. JOHN LANE

Miss Alice Jones, daughter of a Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, in "The Night Hawk", wrote one of the most readable and exciting of Canadian novels. It is a tale of the blockade runners at the time of the American Civil War. Miss Jones is the author of a number of other novels, all well written and dramatic. Mrs. Guy Carleton Jones of Ottawa, has written a number of excellent short stories which have appeared in The Atlantic Monthly under the pen name of "Guy Carleton". Mrs. Jones' novel, "Out of Drowning Valley" was published by Holt and Company in the spring of this year. For purely artistic merit, "Tales of Old Toronto", by "Suzanne Marny" is in the opinion of the present writer far ahead of other work in prose by Canadian women, at least of recent years. Mrs. Patriarche of Winnipeg has written a promising little book of humor, and "The Opinions of Mary" by Mrs. Townley of Vancouver is full of humor and common sense as well. The names of other women writers of Canada might readily be mentioned. Miss Adeline Teskey of Welland, Ontario, is the author of several studies in village and rural life, such as "Where the Sugar Maple Grows," and "The Village Artist".

AGNES DEANS CAMERON

If any Canadian wishes to offer proof of how sound and simple, wholesome and optimistic Canadian life is at its core, he should refer the inquirer to the work of a group of Canadian women. It is impossible not to be struck with the singular unanimity of feeling in such stories as "Anne of Green Gables", "Lizbeth of the Dale", "The Second Chance", and Mrs. Murphy's conversational book of Western experiences, "Janey Canuck in the West." Miss Montgomery, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. McClung and Mrs. Murphy, with Miss Marshall Saunders who began writing stories a good many years ago and who has written one story of apparently perennial popularity, are more gifted than the average Canadian woman, but their work reflects very faithfully the happy domestic life of Canada. They are all true patriots. They write of human nature with understanding, affection and gaiety. From the good use of such powers comes much wholesome enjoyment.

WARNING TO LOCAL CHAFFEURS

Regulations Regarding Automobiles Must be Observed

A serious accident was narrowly averted yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, and the circumstances illustrate the dangers which will inevitably ensue unless more precaution and care is exercised by owners and chauffeurs of motobiles. The case referred to was where two autos were being driven by parties under age. One auto was being backed out of the garage of J. J. Duffus on Charlotte street, while the other was being driven in. At the same moment another auto was speeding out Charlotte toward George street. To avoid the latter the youth in charge of the car endeavoring to enter the garage was forced to steer his machine onto the sidewalk, and had there been people in the vicinity most likely someone would have been injured. The circumstances of the mix-up were reported to the police authorities, and in future offenders against the rules and regulations of the Ontario statutes regarding automobiles will be strictly enforced.

Statute 52 of the regulations distinctly states that it is unlawful for any person under 17 years of age to drive a motor vehicle on a public street or highway.

Another clause relating to the rules for chaffeurs reads that the department of the province shall issue to each licensee, a metal badge bearing the words, "Ontario chaffeur," and the number of the license. Every licensee while driving a motor vehicle shall bear such badge in a conspicuous place on his person, and if any other than proper licensee shall be discovered bearing such badge and driving a motor vehicle the license will be cancelled.

The number of the license shall also be worn conspicuously shown in front of the auto.

No auto shall exceed a speed of 10 miles in the city limits, or 15 miles outside of city limits.

Chief of Police Thompson wishes the public to understand that such rules and regulations will hereafter be strictly enforced.

No motor vehicle shall pass or attempt to pass a street car, stationary, for the purpose of discharging or taking on passengers, at a greater speed than four miles an hour.

This is an important clause which is not generally understood by auto drivers. The majority of cars are not slackened as they pass a street car and in many cases persons leaving the car never look to see if a vehicle is approaching.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

COAL

VOL. LXIII., No 91. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1911 TEN CENTS PER WEEK.

PETERBORO'S GROWTH EXCEEDED BY ONLY SIX ONTARIO CITIES

GRATIFYING COMPARISON OF ADVANCE BY THIS CITY WITH THE PROGRESS MADE BY OTHER ONTARIO MUNICIPALITIES

CENSUS RETURNS GIVE CANADA POPULATION OF ONLY 7,081,869

Increase in the Last Decade of Only Two Million—West is the Great Gainer in Population—Cities and Towns Grow Rapidly—Western Centres Show Great Records.

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—The decennial census taken in June last under the direction of Hon. Sydney Fisher is sorely disappointing. The census of 1901 showed a total population of 5,371,315. The late Government promised that the count in June would give a total of eight millions. The total, with only four electoral districts to hear from is officially given by Hon. Martin Burrell last night as 7,081,869. The probable addition to this is only about 70,000.

In view of the revelations of wholesale negligence by census enumerators, as made prior to the dissolution of Parliament, the small total announced yesterday is significant.

Ontario is credited with an increase of 336,955. Quebec has an increase of 351,799. An enormous increase is credited to Saskatchewan, the 1901 total being 91,279 and the 1911 total 453,508.

The result on the Parliamentary representation appears to be that Prince Edward Island loses one member, Nova Scotia two, New Brunswick two, and Ontario four, while the western provinces gain five members each, making a House of 232 members.

Four electoral districts have not yet made complete returns, viz., Cumberland in Nova Scotia, Regina and Battleford in Saskatoon, and Yale-Cariboo in British Columbia which are estimated to give a population of 70,000.

The population of the cities and towns reported may be changed slightly on revision, but it is thought it may be accepted as correct.

The figures follow:

GAME IS CALLED OFF

Rain Prevents the Fourth World's Series Contest

Special to the Review.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Rain prevents the world's series game being played here to-day. The contest will be called to-morrow at Shribe Park, if weather conditions are favorable.

Ecumenical Conference Ends.

Toronto, Oct. 18.—The Ecumenical Conference of Methodism, which has been in daily session in Toronto since Oct. 4, dissolved yesterday at noon and many delegates prepared for an early departure to their homes in every civilized country from which they had come.

During the fourteen days in which the conference has been in session, 22 regular sessions have been held in addition to many special meetings and events.

At the morning session yesterday almost the entire time of the convention was taken up with the subject of church union, the discussion being closed by Dr. Carman.

HEBERT CASE DUE TO COME ON SHORTLY; MAY BE POSTPONED

If the Case Goes to Privy Council, Decisive Rule on Marriage Question Will be Given.

Montreal, Oct. 18.—The now famous Herbert marriage case, involving a decision as to the validity of the "ne temere" decree, is inscribed for trial and argument this month. The date of the hearing is not yet fixed, and it is quite possible that, in view of the very large number of cases on the roll, the trial may be postponed until sometime next month.

The pleadings in the case are now settled, and examination shows that this case, if carried to the Privy Council, will mean a decisive establishment of the law regarding the solemnization of marriage in this province, and, incidentally, a decision as to the rights of any religious body to make rules regarding marriage which have the effect of law.

PROBABILITIES

Thursday, westerly winds, local showers, but mostly fair with about the same temperature.

New Bank Opened.

Montreal, Oct. 18.—One of the most important developments that has occurred in Canadian banking circles for a number of years took place yesterday, when La Banque Internationale du Canada threw open its doors following on the receipt of its license from the Treasury Department at Ottawa.

The organization of the new bank, with its important Paris connections, has been under way for some time past, so that immediately on receipt of the license from Ottawa, it found itself prepared to proceed at once with its regular business, equipped with a permanent staff and banking connections established throughout the entire world.

BATTLE NOW ON

Rebels Shell and Disable Two Imperial Gun-Boats

Special to the Review.

Hankow Oct. 18.—The first real battle in the rebellion has been in progress just north of here, since dawn and many wounded soldiers are being brought in. The rebels also shelled the Imperial fleet in the river, and two gunboats were crippled. It is feared that the Imperial troops are in danger of annihilation as the revolutionists are vastly superior in number.

YALE-CARIBOO BYE-ELECTION

Writ Has Been Issued for Hon. Mr. Burrell's Return

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—At the Cabinet Council yesterday afternoon an order was passed for the issue of the writ for the bye-election in the constituency of Yale-Cariboo, rendered vacant by the acceptance of office of Minister of Agriculture by Mr. Martin Burrell.

Nomination day is November 4 and polling, if any, will take place on November 11.

Warrants were issued to be signed by the Governor-General for the payment of civil service salaries for September and October. The total amount authorized was $1,900,000. This will bring gladness to the hearts of many civil servants who have been without pay, owing to the failure of the late Government to ask for supply.

English Students For McGill.

London, Oct. 18.—The Cheshire Education Committee is asking McGill University to accept students holding Cheshire county scholarships for the latter portion of their training, to be undertaken at Montreal. The chairman said this would provide a better outlet for their scientifically educated students than this country offered. The spirit of Imperialism was linking the colonies and they wanted to do the best for their students.

Actress Ends Her Life.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Minnie St. Clair, an actress who was playing at a local vaudeville theatre under the name of Sue Simpson, killed herself by drinking a poisonous disinfectant in her dressing room Monday night. She is said to have been the wife of a well-known song writer and her recent separation from him is given as the reason for her act.

REPORT ON THE LOSS OF MARTIN

Disaster to Tug in Georgian Bay Investigated

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries has received the preliminary report of the inquiry into the loss of the Martin, the Georgian Bay tug which was lost with all hands.

According to Captain Dean, the master of the barge Albatross, who with his wife and one sailor, was examined by the investigating officer, Captain Coates, Captain Vert of the Martin, chartered the Albatross on August 20, and the two vessels left Midland in fine weather. Off Point au Baril a storm was encountered, and the vessels tied up at the wharf. Vert insisted on going out again. The decision was against Dean's judgment. Some distance out the barge sprang a leak and Dean notified Vert, who took no action. Later the barge, being in distress, Dean sent up a flare signal without any response. He then decided to save those on the Albatross if possible, and they put away in the yawl. The Martin was then visible, but was thought to be still towing.

Captain Coates speaks in high terms of Dean's work.

PILOTS OF BERLIN II. WHO ARE REPORTED MISSING.

LIEUTENANT HANS GERICKE
J. OTTO DUNKER

Much apprehension has been caused over the complete absence of report regarding the Berlin II., German entrant in the race for the Coupe Internationale de Aeronautics, which is manned by Hans Gericke and his aid, J. Otto Dunker. All the other entrants in the big race have landed.

SUICIDED AFTER MARRIAGE

New Britain, Conn., Oct. 17.—George Powers, 28 years old, is dead here after three attempts at suicide, all made since his marriage a week ago. Three days after his wedding he cut his throat with a pen knife; the next day he made a suicide attempt with his wife's hatpin, and Sunday night, in the presence of his bride, he slashed his throat with a razor.

He was rushed to a hospital, where the wound was sewed up. As he lay on the hospital cot last night, he was heard to mutter;—"I will do it anyway." Thereupon he dug his fingers into the wound in his throat and tore it open, bleeding to death before it could be closed again.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT LOOKS FOR COLLAPSE OF RISING

Story of Desertion of a Rebel General Said to be For Encouragement of Royal Troops—Revolutionists Not Making Much Headway.

Pekin, Oct. 18.—The desertion of Gen. Li Yuan Hang from the rebel leaders, is reported to be a Government story designed to encourage the imperialist troops. The legations are strongly of the opinion that the Chinese army will not risk a battle when the investment of Hankow is complete, but will open negotiations with the object of inducing the rank and file to surrender their leaders, on the promise of pardon and a reward for the rebel troops.

The Japanese legation declares that there is no foundation in the report that the Japanese flag will be raised over the Hanyang iron works.

Despatches from Shanghai say that owing to the publication by the native press of statements that the Japanese newspapers are belittling the revolution, describing it as a mere riot, the revolutionaries are circulating pamphlets urging the boycott of Japanese goods.

The Government, which is constantly on the lookout for Japanese machinations directed against Manchuria, is of the opinion that the present Chinese crisis wil prove that Japan's action and policy are entirely correct.

The Chinese Foreign Board has issued an optimistic comminique, announcing the arrival of the troops at Hankow, and anticipating the speedy recapture of Wuchang and Hanyang. Nine troop trains left Paotingfu yesterday. Late advices from Hankow say that 3,000 Government troops are encamped outside of Hankow.

So far as can be learned the situation at Wuchang for the past six days has remained absolutely unchanged. There are no indications that the rebels possess any allies at points elsewhere, and, considering all the circumstances connected with the rising in the Provinces of Hupeh and Hunan, the revolutionists appear not to be making much headway. It is now said that the insurgents number at the most 6,000 drilled men, together with a few armed auxiliaries.

Several detachments of troops from Honan have united with the Government troops from the north, and a joint naval and military bombardment of the city will probably occur on Saturday. This will be followed by an assault. It is predicted here that the collapse of the revolution is only a matter of days. It will, however, have had the effect of intensifying the agitation for the immediate assembling of a National Parliament and of radical reforms in the Provincial Association system, which the throne will be obliged to accept

Admiral Sahchenping, according to official announcement, arrived at Hankow yesterday with eight warships, and there are not less than a dozen foreign warships lying in the harbor. The British Vice-admiral, Sir Alfred L. Winsloe, commander of the British eastern fleet, arrived at noon yesterday on the British despatch boat Alacrity. As he is the ranking officer, he may assume command of the combined forces.

Announcement a Surprise.

London, Oct. 18.—The announcement from Berlin that Vice-Admiral Von Krosigk, commander of the German Asiatic squadron, was about to take command of the international forces at Hankow came as a surprise to the British officials. It was stated at the Foreign Office that there had been no arrangement made for the placing of these forces under the supreme command of any one. It also appears that Vice-Admiral Sir Alfred L. Winsloe, commander of the British Eastern fleet, who arrived at Hankow at noon yesterday, is considerably the senior of Vice-Admiral Von Krosigk.

South Essex Recount.

Windsor, Oct. 18.—After several days' work the recount of ballots for South Essex in the recent election was completed by Judge M. A. McHugh, here Monday. Only technical errors were discovered, and Mr. Clark's majority now stands at 201, instead of 212, as shown in the early figures. The general mistake noted throughout was the failure to detach the counterfoil from the ballot, but this Judge McHugh decided to be unintentional, and the ballots were allowed to stand.

Youthful Desperadoes Found.

Huntsville, Oct. 18.—Stowed carefully away in an unsealed box car, Harper and Gill, the Toronto youths who broke from the Huntsville jail on Sunday night, were arrested at Orillia Monday. They are now in the cells here awaiting their arraignment on the double charge of theft and jail-breaking.

Englishman Drowned.

Wiarton, Oct. 18.—An Englishman named Douglass, while engaged in unloading gravel at the cement company's dock about 10 o'clock Monday night fell from the scow into the water and was drowned. The deceased, who was about 35 years of age, leaves a wife and four children.

New Industry For Clinton.

Clinton, Oct. 18.—A bylaw to assist the Clinton Motor Car Co., which includes Toronto capitalists, carried Monday by 372.

Dead at 107.

Chatham, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Flora Burns, Dover Township, is dead, aged 107 years.

Trolley Cars Collide.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 18.—Slippery rails caused a head-on collision between two trolleys on Main street yesterday. The vestibules of both cars were demolished. Both motormen escaped injury by jumping. The passengers were badly shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

SMALL ISLANDS TO BE SEARCHED

For Trace of the Missing School Teacher

Special to the Review.

Dillonport, Oct. 18—For the purpose of searching the numerous small islands at Georgian Bay, a fleet of launches and rowboats is being organized, and it is hoped that some trace of Miss Violet Smith may be found. The belief is gaining ground that the girl is being held a prisoner or has been murdered on one of the islands.

SIX JURORS SELECTED IN THE McNAMARA TRIAL AT FRISCO

Counsel For the Defence Passes Half of the Required Number—Argument in Two Weeks.

Los Angeles, Oct. 18.—The defence in the McNamara murder trial has passed six talesmen; one had been excused by the court, and two excused because of challenge for cause, when court adjourned last night. This was the most rapid day's work so far.

Of the six talesmen passed at least one seemed virtually sure of rejection before the jury is completed to try James B. McNamara for the death of Charles J. Haggarty, who was killed in The Los Angeles Times' explosion and fire.

The line-up of the passed talesmen last night was as follows:

J. W. Roberts, real estate dealer.
Robert F. Bain, carpenter.
H. Y. Quackenbush, expressman.
A. R. McIntosh, baker.
T. W. Adams, grocer.
G. M. McKee, retired real estate dealer.

Yesterday's rejections were: Z. T. Hiatt, excused by the court because of scruples against capital punishment.

Samuel McCreary, challenged for bias after he had said he had a fixed opinion as to whether or not The Times' disaster was caused by a criminal act.

Edmund S. Johnson, challenged and excused. He said he was prejudiced against labor unions.

Talesman Quackenbush, it was thought last night, would not find himself on the final jury because he did not believe in capital punishment. Talesman Adams said he read as a rule The Los Angeles Times, The Social Democrat and The Appeal to Reason.

At this rate a jury may be obtained within two weeks.

The defence may offer an alibi for McNamara, or may rest solely upon the gas explosion theory, in support of which it has gone as far as Europe for expert evidence.

HON. DR. REID.
Of Grenville, the new Minister of Customs.

BRUTAL CRIME

Murder of Italian in the Parry Sound District

Special to The Review

Parry Sound, Oct. 18.—The murder of the Italian, last Friday night near Elmsdale, was a most brutal affair. He was knocked down while walking through the bush and his head was almost severed. His face was terribly slashed by the murderer, who is now under arrest. The unfortunate man cashed a money order in the presence of one of his countrymen, before proceeding through the woods.

Kennough Is Remanded.

Hamilton, Oct. 18.—George Kennough, whose name has been so closely connected with the $8,000 express robbery case, appeared before Judge Monck in the County Court yesterday morning, on the charge of stealing $15 from his former employers, the Canadian Express Co. His counsel, W. H. Wardrope, K.C., declined to elect, and the prisoner was remanded for an indefinite period. The date of his trial will be set probably by agreement between his counsel and the crown attorney.

It is said that Kennough's wife and child are in needy circumstances. They live in Dundas, Kennough's former home.

North Essex Liberals will hold a convention Oct. 28th.

President Taft, with a golden spade, broke ground on Saturday at Frisco for the world's fair of 1915.

HE WILL FORTIFY TOWN OF TRIPOLI

Gen. Caneva Has Troops Busy at Work Already

Holy War by the Desert Arabs is Feared

Rome (via frontier), Oct. 18.—The reports received by the Government from Gen. Caneva, commander of the Italian expedition in Tripoli, show that his attention has been directed chiefly to making the city of Tripoli an impregnable base from which will be provided the reinforcements and supplies necessary for the campaign in the interior.

Fortifications are being extended all about the city, making it a thoroughly entrenched camp. Posts will be established all along the line of the advance into the country in order to make it impossible for the enemy to cut off the invading column from its base of supplies.

News from the interior reaching the Italian commander through friendly natives, describes the Turks as making an active campaign among the Arabs to incite them against the Italians. The intentions of the Italians are misrepresented and their occupation of Tripoli is declared to be an infamous blot on the page of history. The Arabs are told that when Tripoli was taken, there was a general massacre and that those who were spared, suffered something worse than death. Men and women were made slaves and babes in arms were slaughtered. It was the intention of the Italians, the Turks said, to apply the sword and the torch to the whole country. Thus, it is said, it is sought to start a holy war against the invaders. The Turks are also said to hold out the promise of rich booty when the invaders are driven into the sea.

Attempted Suicide.

Leamington, Oct. 18.—A Southerner by the name of Abbott, who has been employed in the fruit belt during the last season, and who has been drinking heavily of late, took the contents of a two-ounce bottle of laudanum yesterday near Ruthven. Dr. Hillier was called and arrived just in time to save the man's life. He was brought to Leamington later by Officers Lamarsh and Wilkinson and locked up.

The officers say he has been engaged in the liquor traffic and is wanted in several places in the south riding.

Walkerton Man Missing.

London, Ont., Oct. 18.—A Walkerton despatch says that Rodolph Misch has been missing since Tuesday of last week. Scores of men have been searching for him in a nearby swamp. Misch had been showing signs of mental distress.

WATER IN THE ST. LAWRENCE HAS DROPPED OVER FIVE FEET

Bill Miner Out Again?

Millergeville, Ga., Oct. 18.—William Miner and two other prisoners at the State Farm here, overpowered a guard yesterday and escaped. A posse with dogs is on their trail. Miner, with Tom Moore, serving a life sentence, for murder, and John Watts, in for twenty years for murder, gagged the guard and with his revolver took to the woods.

Miner was the leader of the gang which on February 18 last, held and robbed a Southern Railway train at Gainesville, Ga. He was sentenced to twenty years. He was wanted in Washington State and British Columbia for train hold-ups and escaped from the penitentiary at New Westminster, B.C., where he had been sentenced for robbing a C. P. R. train.

Navigation Seriously Affected in the Thousand Islands—500 New Islands.

Kingston, Oct. 18.—The water in the St. Lawrence river has about reached the lowest point in its history. It is now 5 1-2 feet below the mark of three years ago.

Among the Thousand Islands navigation is quite seriously affected, and little motor boats have to move about with caution to avoid rocks. It is said that 500 or more new islands are now peeping above water.

Passenger steamers have quite a time in passing up and down, and wharves are being damaged by the decaying of wood, which heretofore has been under water.

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

LETTER NO. 4311

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline."

Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 50c., trial size, 25c. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

WESLEY'S ERROR

One of the most engrossing subjects of discussion at the Methodist ecumenical conference was the education and treatment of children, says the Hamilton Herald. It is interesting to to note the contrast between the views expressed by the various speakers and the views and methods of the founder of Methodism. It was generally conceded by these modern Methodists that the child mind is likely to be injured by the forcing process in education, and that children must have recreation and amusement if they are to be healthy in body and mind.

John Wesley had different opinions, and he put them in practice—more's the pity. He established a boarding school for the education of the children of his local preachers, and the monastic rules which were framed for this institution of learning were his handiwork. The pupils were required to rise at 4 a.m., and to spend one hour in private reading, singing, meditation and prayer. "From the age of six to twelve they were exercised in reading, writing, arithmetic, English, French, Latin, Greek, Hebrew, history, geography, chronology, rhetoric, logic, geometry, algebra, physics and music." No hours were allowed for recreation, and no holidays. Wesley's explanation of this harshness was that those who played when they were boys would play when they were men. This school, which was called Kingswood, had quite a vogue for many years. It was attended not only by English boys, but also by pupils from Sweden, Denmark and the West Indies.

But we are pleased to be able to add that the school was a failure. Wesley himself sadly admitted as much. His rules were too Spartan-like, and could not be successfully enforced "The children," he made pathetic admission, 'are not religious; they have not the power and hardly the form of religion. Neither do they improve in learning better than at other schools; no, nor yet so well. Insomuch that some of our friends have been obliged to remove their children to other schools And no wonder that they improve so little either in religion or learning, for the rules of the school are not observed at all; in consequence of which they run up and down the wood, and mix—yea, fight—with the colliers' children. They ought never to play, but they do every day—yea, in the school."

He was convinced that the failure of his educational enterprise was owing to the lax observance of his rules. Very probably, however, it was because of the endeavor to enforce his rules. The child-mind rebelled against the unnatural yoke, and there was no remedy for its passive resistance. The child mind was right, and the wise man was wrong. John Wesley was striving against nature and could not succeed. It is strange that a man with such broad sympathies and so profound a knowledge of human nature could have made such a huge blunder.

THE NE TEMERE DECREE

Toronto News

[illegible] Conference asserts that no church decree should override the civil law. There could be no argument on such a declaration. The case has only one side. In any British country the civil law is supreme and must be so maintained if our freedom is to continue. The Ne Temere decree promulgated by the head of the Roman Catholic Church clashes in many points with the civil law. It is mediaeval in its spirit, originated as it was by the Council of Trent, and it presumes the possession of supreme power by the Church. When any church or sect assumes the powers of a Revising Court over legislation enacted by the representatives of the people, it takes an objectionable, even an arrogant position.

The Provinces of Canada have enacted certain laws governing marriage. Ontario declares that any ordained clergyman of any recognised denomination has the power to perform marriage, that is to say, a Methodist clergyman may unite in wedlock any couple, provided no "just cause or impediment" is declared. The religious beliefs of the couple is not a matter for discussion. If they produce a marriage license—the special permission of the State, the clergyman is the delegate of the Crown to perform the marriage ceremony.

It is by virtue of Provincial, not ecclesiastical authority that even a parish priest in Ontario may officiate at a wedding. Marriage is first a question the validity of any marriage performed by Provincial authority. It is an assumption that must be opposed if we are to maintain the supremacy of our Parliamentary and British institutions.

There is no established church in Canada. The Roman Catholic bishops are on exactly the same footing as Anglicans, Methodists and Presbyterians. They have no power whatever that is not subject to the Legislature and the courts which are the interpreters of the Legislature. Canon law is effective in the Province of Quebec—not because it is Canon Law, but because it has been re-enacted by Provincial statute.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Even the great pitcher Matthewson could not stop the Athletic batters. In baseball, as well as in politics, the slugger usually gets away with the goods.

A Montreal newspaper uses a war-heading "Turkey is divided." It looked at first sight as if this heading had been in cold storage for Thanksgiving Day, and had got out prematurely.

It is not much wonder that the census gives Canada a population of not more than seven millions when one considers the way the census was taken. The fault is not in the population, but in the way it was counted.

The Stratford city council has decided to submit to the electors a proposal to have the city governed by a commission. Peterborough will also consider that, after Ald. Edgar gets through.

In September Peterborough building permits amounted to $86,000. In Brantford they amounted to $84,000; in Kingston, they amounted to $13,000; in Port Arthur, to $75,000, in St. Thomas to $44,000. Not so bad.

The Toronto Globe every few days, breaks out with some of the evidence in the Foster-Macdonald libel suit as if it were something to be continued in our next. The Globe should come out of its trance, and wake up to the fact that Canadians want something a little more modern.

Chairman Leitch of the Ontario Railway board, seems to have got himself in for a severe drubbing, by his remarks on his two colleagues. The truth of the matter is that Chairman Leitch imagines he is the whole board, and the other two members are more or less superfluous. In the words of a familiar election cry, "It is time for a change," in the constitution of the board.

Mr. Hall would seem to have a strong and coming rival in Mr. Gordon for the nomination for the Ontario house. It is not at all likely that Mr. Hall will let the East Peterborough trick be turned on him again, however. If he is settled on as the candidate, he will be the candidate, and not let an outsider come in and take it away from him.

Judge Orr, of Reno, Nev., has dismissed an application for divorce by a Mrs. Landers of Canada because she was accompanied by a man she intended to marry when the decree was granted.

General Ordenez, of the Spanish army, was killed in a fight with the Arabs, in Morocco, Sunday.

DANIEL F. FRASER.

Just think of it! Four boxes of Gin Pills cured Mr. Fraser—and he had suffered for twenty years and he had been treated by doctors, too. JERMYN NEWS

Mr. Hugh Fife Will Have Fine New Barn

Special Correspondence

Jermyn, Oct. 18—Mrs. Robert Evans and daughter have left the village are now living in Toronto.

The Jermyn blacksmith still rings the anvil but we never hear him singing unless he is in good humor.

Most of the people around Jermyn attended Norwood Fair last week and all report a very good time.

The large barn of Mr. Hugh Fife is nearly completed. A cement floor is now being laid for stables. Harry says "it is a lot of hard work but it must be done now or never."

Chinky Hicks attended Norwood Fair and Norwood thought that he really was a Chinaman.

The farmers are busy ploughing and threshing these days.

Some of the boys have been out coon hunting but we never hear tell of any luck yet.

The new hats of the season are now in full swing.

Mr. J. H. Pallim has shingled part of the roof of his barn.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The Rayo Lamp is the best and most serviceable lamp you can find for any part of your home.

It is in use in millions of families. Its strong white light has made it famous. And it never flickers.

In the dining-room or the parlor the Rayo gives just the light that is most effective. It is a becoming lamp—in itself and to you. Just the lamp, too, for bedroom or library, where a clear, steady light is needed.

The Rayo is made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes. Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick.

By D. Lewis

"But why do you want me?"

"Why, so that you may take me with you."

"I would rather wait till I hear what father says."

"That's all I ask, dear. I shall be contented with his dictum, now feeling sure——"

She was interrupted by the pattering of feet upon the stone stairway; two pairs of them, which told that two individuals were ascending. The heavy tread proclaiming them to be men. Presently their faces showed over the baluster rail and another step brought them upon the roof. Both ladies regarding them with looks of eager inquiry, glided down out of the mirador to meet them.

For they were the two messengers that had been dispatched separately though on errands so very similar.

Two and two they stood upon the roof—the men, hat in hand, stood in front of their respective mistresses, not so far apart, but that each mistress might have heard what the servant of the other said; for on their part there was no wish or reason for concealment.

"Senorita," reported Jose, "the gentleman you sent me to inquire about is not in Tacubaya."

Almost a cry came from Luisa Valverde's lips as with paled cheek she said:

"You've not heard of him, then?" But the color quickly returned at the answer:

"I have, senorita; more, I have seen him."

"Seen Don Florencio! Where? Speak, quick, Jose."

"In the Acordada!"

"In the Acordada!" was heard in still another voice—that of the countess. She, too, had just been told that her lover was in the prison.

"I saw him in a cell, my lady," continued the countess' man, now taking precedence. "They had him coupled to another prisoner—a Tejano."

"He was in one of the cells, senorita," spoke Jose, also continuing his report, "chained to a robber."

CHAPTER XVII.

To the Sewers.

In all cities there is a street favored by fashion. This in Mexico is the Calle de Plateros (street of the silversmiths), so called because there the workers in precious metals and dealers in jewelry "most do congregate."

In this street the gilded youth of modern Tenochtitlan strolled in tight-fitting patent leather boots, canary colored kid gloves, can in hand and quizzing glass to the eye. There, too the senoras and senoritas go shopping bareheaded, with but a shawl worn hood-fashion.

When out only for promenade, none of these linger in the street of the silversmiths. They but pass through it on their way to the Alamedo, a sort of half-park, half-garden, devoted to the public use and tastefully laid out in walks and terraces, with flowers and fountains, and grand old evergreen trees overshadowing all. For in that summery clime shade, not sun is the desideratum. Here the young dandies spent part of the afternoon sauntering along the arcaded walks or seated around the great fountain watching the play of its crystal waters. But with an eye to something besides—the senoritas, who are there, too, flirting the fans with a dexterity which speaks of much practice. In Mexico many a love tale is told, passion declared, jealous pang caused or alleviated, by the mute language of fans and fingers.

Though the Calle de Plateros terminates at the gate of the Alameda the same line of street is continued half a mile further on, to the fashionable drive of the Paseo Nuevo, and at a certain hour of the afternoon a stream of carriages, with strings of horsemen, may be seen tending towards it.

In the carriages, the senoras and senoritas are seen attired in their richest robes—full evening dress—bare-armed and bare-headed, their hair, usually black, ablaze with jewels or entwined with flowers fresh picked. Alongside ride the cavaliers, in high-peaked, stump-leather saddles, their steeds capering and prancing, each rider, to all appearances, requiring the full strength of his arms to control his mount, while insidiously using his spurs to render the animal uncontrollable. The more it pitches and plunges the better he is pleased, provided the occupants of the carriages have their eyes on him.

Every day in the year—except during the week of Lent, when capricious fashion takes him to the Paseo Viejo, on the opposite side of the city—can this brilliant procession be seen.

But in this same thoroughfare one may often witness a spectacle less resplendent. Midway along the street runs a deep drain or sewer, not as in European cities permanently covered up, but loosely flagged over, the flags removable at will. This is more of a stagnant sink than a drainage sewer; since from the city to the outside country there is scarce an inch of fall to carry off the sewage. As a consequence it accumulates in the drains till they are brimming full. All garbage goes there—all the refuse of household product is shot into them. At periodical intervals they are cleared out, else the city would soon be aflood in its own filth. When the scouring-out process is going on, the sights are most offensive and the smells, too. Then the flags are lifted and laid on one side of the drains, exposing all the impurity, while the contents are tossed to the other, there to lie for days, until dry enough to be more easily removed. For all it does not stop the circulation of the carriages. The grand dames seated in them pass on, now and then showing a slight contortion in their pretty noses, but they would not miss their airing in the Paseo were it 20 times worse. To them the afternoon drive is everything—to some, as report says, even more than meat or drink; since they deny themselves these for the keeping of the carriage.

It may be imagined that the scouring-out of the sewers is a job for which laborers are not readily obtained, for it is not only dirty, but is deemed degrading. It is, therefore, one of the duties which, as a matter of necessity, falls to the lot of the "jailbird." Convicts are the scavengers; criminals sentenced to long periods of imprisonment, of whom there are often enough in the prisons of Mexico to clean out all the sewers in the country. Even by these it is a task looked upon with repugnance and usually assigned to them as a punishment for prison derelictions.

To see them is a spectacle of a rather curious kind, though repulsive: coupled two and two—for the precaution is taken, and not unfrequently needed—to keep their leg-chains on; up in mud to the middle of their bodies and above bespattered with it, many of them with faces that, even when clean, are aught but nice to look at; their eyes now flashing fierce defiance, now bent down and sullen, they seem either at enmity or out of sorts with all mankind. Some among them, however, make light of it, bandy words with the passers-by, jest, laugh, sing, shout and swear, which to a sensitive mind but makes the spectacle more sad.

All this understood, it may well be conceived with what anxiety Florence Kearney listened to that snatch of dialogue between Santander and the jailer outside the cell. He did not even then quite comprehend the nature of what was intended for them. But the sharer of his chain did, who soon after made it all known to him, he passing the knowledge on to Cris Rock. So when, on the next morning, the governor again presented himself at the door of their cell, saying:

"Now, gentlemen, get ready to take a little exercise"—they knew what sort of exercise was meant.

He, however, believing them ignorant of it—for he was not aware they had overheard his outdoor speech with Santander, added ironically:

"It's a special favor I'm goinig to give you—at the request of Senor Col. Santander, who, as I've seen, takes a friendly interest in some of you. For your health's sake, he has asked me to give you a turn upon the streets, which I trust you wil enjoy and benefit by."

Don Pedro was a born joker and felt conceit in his powers as a satirist. In the present instance his irony was shaftless, being understood.

"Here, he directed, "take these two pairs and hand them over to the guard at the gate. You know what for, Dominguez?" The half interrogatory was addressed to a big, hulking fellow, chief of the turnkeys.

"Most certainly, Senor Governor," he rejoined with a significant look, after giving the prison salute to his superior. "I know all about it."

"See, moreover, that they be kept all day at it; that's my order."

"Sure will I, senor," was the compliant rejoinder.

"Now, gentlemen!" said the turnkey, stepping up to the door of the cell, "to the sewers!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

El Excellentissimo Illustrissimo General Don Jose Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna.

Such the name and title of him who at this time wielded the destinies of Mexico for more than a quarter of a century this man had been the curse of the young republic—its direst, deadliest bane. For although his rule was not continuous, its evil effects were. Unfortunately, the demoralization brought about by despotism extends beyond the reign or life of the despot, and Santa Anna had so debased the Mexican people, both socially and politically, as to render them unfitted for almost any form of constitutional government. They had become incapable of distinguishing between the friends of freedom and its foes, and in the intervals of Liberal administration, because the millennium did not immediately show itself, and make all rich, prosperous and happy, they leaped to the conclusion that its failure was due to the existing regime, making no account or allowance for the wounds of the body politic, the work of its wicked predecessor.

In the earlier days of the Mexican republic the baneful weed flourished with unusual vigor and rankness—to the benefit of Santa Anna and the blight of his country. Deposed and banished so many times that their number is not easily remembered, he was ever brought back again—to the wonder of the people then and the puzzle of historians now. The explanation, however, is simple enough. He reigned through corruption that he had himself been instrumental in creating; through militarism and an abominable Chauvinism—this last as effective an instrument as the oppressor can wield. "Divide and rule" is a maxim of despotic statecraft, old as despotism itself; "flatter and rule" is a method equally sure, and such Santa Anna practiced to its full. He let pass no opportunity of flattering the national vanity, which brought the Mexican nation to shame, with much humiliation, as it must every people that aims at no higher standard of honor than what may be derived from self adulation.

At the time I am writing of, the chief of the Mexican republic was aiming at imperial power—eager training for it. Its substance he already had, but the title he had not acquired. He yearned to wear the purple, and to be styled "imperador," and in order to prepare his subjects for the change, already kept a sort of imperial court, surrounding it with grand ceremonials. As a matter of course, these partook of a military character, being himself not only political head of the state, but commander-in-chief of its armies. As a consequence his official residence was beset with soldier guards, officers in gorgeous uniforms loitering about the gates, or going out and in, and in the Grand piazza, at all times exhibiting the spectacle of a veritable Champ de Mars. No one passing through the Mexican metropolis at this period would have supposed it the chief city of a republic.

BOUNCING BABY'S ECZEMA CURED

By Morriscy's No. 4. Prescription 47 Years Old.

Pictou, N. S., July 8, 1910.

"When my baby was only two weeks old I noticed a slight rash on his body, and the little fellow would cry and fret night and day. I was greatly worried about him, and tried everything to relieve him, but without any success. The rash kept getting worse and worse until his little face and body was a mass of scabs. When he was about six months old I was advised to try Father Morriscy's No. 4 Eczema medicine, which I did. In about two months time the scabs had disappeared, and the child is now healthy and strong. I most thankfully recommend it to anyone suffering from Eczema."

Mrs. F. Gratton.

The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine. Dr. Morriscy prescribed it for 44 years, and it cured thousands after other doctors failed.

Boys Caused Wreck.

Toronto, Oct. 18.—An enquiry held by the C. N. O. into the recent mishap at Grafton has revealed the fact that the open switch which caused the trouble had been tampered with by small boys. It appears that the lads had opened the switch, and, being unable to close it again, went away, and left it as it was.

An investigation will be held concerning the matter at Cobourg to-day, when the four boys who are implicated will give their evidence before the crown attorney.

Will Not Annex Egypt.

London, Oct. 18.—In official circles denial is given to the report circulated on the Berlin Bourse that the annexation of Egypt by England was imminent. It is believed, that when the Franco-German agreement with regard to Morocco is concluded, Great Britain may request the consent of the Powers to the abolition of the capitulations of the mixed tribunals. It is thought that the Powers will raise no objections to such a measure, which is calculated to improve the judicial administration.

A Short-Lived Strike.

The matter was adjusted at a conference yesterday afternoon, the company guaranteeing extra pay.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

SIR EDMUND B. WALKER

When at a somewhat tender age, Edmund Byron Walker set his foot on the bottom rung of the ladder, by engaging as general utility boy in the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Hamilton, not even the most sanguine of admiring relations were likely to have dreamt of the heaps of valuable work that he was destined to handle. For that small boy, who doubtless, after the manner of the good old fashioned days "polished the handle of the big front door", is today Sir Byron Edmund Walker, D.C.L., LL.D., C.V.O., and other things too numerous to set out in detail, so numerous that one is inclined to wonder just how he has contrived to handle all the honors and the accompanying multifarious duties and at the same time find a few hours to devote to his own personal affairs.

The appointment as agent for the Bank of Commerce came in 1881, and following on this preferment, honors showered fast and solidly, for, five years later, we find him occupying the General Manger's chair, a position held until 1906 when there came the further honor of a seat on the Board of Directors, of which body he became president in the following year. Sir Edmund was still in the prime of life. In his case it could not be said that honors had been deferred to the sere and yellow, for the reins of the presidency were taken over while he was yet on the rightside of the sixties.

SIR. E. B. WALKER
Canada's Most Prominent Banker

In connection with his own particular life's business Sir B E Walker has occupied many positions of honor, including chairmanship of the Bankers' Section of the Toronto Board of Trade and Vice-President and President of the Canadian Bankers Association, holding the latter office for two terms. For the meeting in Toronto in 1897 of the British Association for the advancement of science, he was chosen secretary! and when came the Universal Exposition at St. Louis in 1904, he was promptly recognized as the man who was preminently fitted to act as chairman of the Section of Money and Credia in the Department of Economics of the International Congress of Arts and Science.

For a number of years he has been a trustee and senator of the Toronto University and when in 1905 the Ontario Government appointed a Royal Commission to report upon the administration of that Institution he was selected a member, and under the reorganisation which resulted, was Government nominee to first Board of Governors, becoming chairman in 1910

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Wonderful Praise Accorded Peruna the Household Remedy

Mrs. Maria Goertz, Orienta, Oklahoma, writes:

"My husband, children and myself have used your medicines, and we always keep them in the house in case of necessity. I was restored to health by this medicine, and Dr. Hartman's invaluable advice and books. People ask about me from different places, and are surprised that I can do all of my housework alone, and that I was cured by the doctor of chronic catarrh. My husband was cured of asthma, my daughter of earache and catarrh of the stomach, and my son of catarrh of the throat. When I was sick I weighed 100 pounds; now I weigh 140.

"I have regained my health again, and I cannot thank you enough for your advice. May God give you a long life and bless your work."

HOW LOCAL CHINESE VIEW THE REBELLION

All Are Deeply Interested But Will Not Return To Take Part.

The Chinamen living in Peterborough are not in the least disposed to return to their birth-place and take their places in the ranks of their rebellious brothers who are agitating for the establishment of a republic in China. A Review reporter called upon several of the local celestials endeavoring to learn their feelings on the question, and while he found no lack of patriotism and interest among them, yet none felt like returning to China.

As one informant stated, there are so many people in China, that it was immaterial whether they went back to take part in the revolution or not.

"I would'nt fight," said Tom Lung, "if I did go back."

The parties interviewed stated that the cause of the revolution, as is generally known, is the desire of the Chinese to change their country into a republic, overthrowing the government of the Regent, who is ruling for the infant king, and install a president. One Chinaman remarked that the imperial government did not satisfy the people, and that its actions were oftentimes very displeasing to the country. By the establishment of a republic, they thought that more harmonious conditions would prevail.

"At present there is no danger to the missionaries," said one of the Chinamen. Orders have been issued that they shall be protected from harm and they have all been ordered to take shelter in the legations.

A Simcoe street Chinaman receives a copy of a Chinese newspaper from his home quite regularly and therefore keeps well informed on the proceedings in the land of his birth.

In Toronto the Chinamen are said to be raising funds to assist their brothers in arms.

THREE ADDRESSES WERE MADE TO REV. FATHER PHELAN

His Departure From Parishes of Lakefield and Young's Point Much Regretted.

After ten years labor in the parishes of Lakefield and Young's Point, Rev. Father Phelan said goodbye to his congregations on Sunday and left Peterborough this morning for a trip to Mount Clemens, Michigan, in the hope of recuperating his health, which has not been of the best for some time.

Three addresses couched in kindly terms, were made to Rev. Father Phelan on Sunday, the first from St. Mary's parish at Lakefield, the second from St. Paul's parish, Young's Point, and the third from the Catholic Order of Foresters at Lakefield, of which the reverend gentleman was the organizer. Accompanying the addresses were well filled purses, totaling a handsome gift of $250.

Each address spoke of the faithful and self-sacrificing care, which Father Phelan had taken of those left under his charge. Special reference was made to his interest in the children of the two parishes and also his never-failing regard for the welfare of the poor and afflected.

Residents of the two communities, irrespective of religious adherence, regret the departure of Father Phelan, and will hope that his trip will result in his being restored to the best of health.

MARK HAMBOURG A GREAT PIANIST

Bad Weather Interfered With the Concert Considerably

The piano concert given by Mark Hambourg, the famous pianist, last night, was a treat for the brave. Only the brave ventured out in the nasty storm but they were rewarded by some music that they might not have the opportunity of hearing again for years. Mark Hambourg has been before the musical public for many years, and while his name has not the drawing power of a Paderewski, he is a great favorite on this continent.

Mr. Hambourg was alone in his recital. It might have been a little brighter for the audience if his managers had carried a good vocalist as a relief to the heavy work which the pianist made his forte. But even at that, those who were sufficiently educated musically to enjoy the "inside football"—to use a sporting phrase—of his work, were really loud in their expressions of admiration for his work. Magnificent technique Mark Hambourg undoubtedly has. His fingers rolled up and down the keyboard with a precision and a power remarkable to behold. His lightness of touch and delicacy of expression in the pianissimo passages of some of the compositions were beautiful, while he of course did not lack at all in the power of dramatic expression. Had the weather been better and the audience larger, the sympathetic response of the audience would have been more spontaneous.

MARK HAMBOURG

(By the Office Boy)

Say, wasn't Mark a smasher! You bet if he had been playin' with the Athletics he would have beaten Baker all hollow for hittin. He just came on the stage so quiet, and meek-like one was expectin' him to play them soft, dreamy things that sister likes—somethin' like Star of the Sea. But he sat down on a kitchen chair—didn't even use a piano stool, and played over them keys like his fingers was runnin' away from him, and he was chasin' 'em to get 'em back.

I saw a lot of people clapping their dukes, after he stopped to catch his breath, and then he'd get up and bend over, to bow his pleasure at the clappin. I didn't see much music around, but everybody was holding his breath for fear somebody else would think he didn't know what a grand thing it was. There was not many vacant seats—only a few. I guess Mark got enough to buy him a hair-cut, anyway. If his ma doesn't look after him better'n that, its time she did. My ma wouldn't let my hair hang around like that. She'd get the scissors and a saucer, and do the cuttin-up herself.

Well say, do you know, I wud rather hear a nigger band play the Old Kentucky Home, and Wake me Honey and things like that. Mark made his fingers go, and he jumped from one end of the keys to the other as if they was hot, an' burned him. He didn't put his foot up on the piano either, and hit it a smash to make it like thunder. He just hit the keys with his hands like ma spanks me when she thinks I am doin' something I orter not to. He must a got tired pretty quick, because he quit, and didn't even play God Save the King. After he got up, and walked out, we all got up and went out too, and there was no orchestry. If Mark couldn't a played God Save the King, perhaps some of the musical people who clapped so hard could have done it for him.

Anyway, I rather see a football match, where the fellows kin tear up the ground, and eat pea-nuts.

CANNED GOODS ARE CLIMBING

Majority of Prices Show a Marked Increase

A Review representative interviewed a local wholesale grocer to-day inquiring about the prospects in prices of canned goods, corn, canned strawberries, raspberries and plums, for this year. He ascertained the information that practically everything would be higher in price than last year, and the main reason seemed to be the scarcity of this year's crops, caused by the dry spell which was encountered.

The tomato crop for instance was an unusually small one. Canned tomatoes are now being retailed at 15 cents a tin, compared with 2 for 25 cents last year.

Prunes will be a lot higher owing to the crop scarcity. What is causing the high price of California fruit is the fact that the weather has been terribly dry and harmful, literally burning the crop. More of these prunes are also being exported to France, thereby lessening the supply here. Another reason advanced was that the West is filling up rapidly and as tomatoes cannot be raised there, the canners' association must necessarily increase the prices to meet the demand of the consumers in the West and secure a profit. All the wholesalers get off their orders is just 40 p.c. Last year they secured 60 to 70 p.c. off their orders; so the difference is very evident. All that the wholesalers can do therefore, is to buy American tomatoes.

Canned corn has not yet been advanced in price still selling at 10 cts. retail.

Owing to the high price of canned salmon, it is expected that some new lines of kippered herring, and herring tomato sauce, will be big and popular sellers.

Canned plums are slightly cheaper last year being 2 for 25 cents, now a 10 cent article.

It is also thought by leading canners that pork and beans may be two for 25 cents, if the prices continue to go up.

BOARD HAD VISIT FROM CHEESE MAN FROM LIVERPOOL

Last Meeting of Season to be Held November 1 — Top Price To-day Was 13⅞.

At the regular meeting of the Peterboro Cheese Board this morning, it was decided that the last meeting of the season would be held on November 1st, when Mr. Ward of Toronto may address the salesmen and buyers.

The meeting this morning was addressed by Mr. Jones a cheese man from Liverpool. Mr. James said that it was eleven years since he had first attended a meeting of a Canadian Cheese Board and was delighted with the progress Canadian cheese makers were making. He stated that the cheese from this section stands particularly high with the English consumers. He explained how it was that the people here were getting such high prices. The English production this year was twenty-five per cent less than other years and there was greater demand for the Canadian brand. He did not think there would be as high price paid he said, next year.

Only 1949 cheese were boarded this morning. The highest price was paid by Mr. Kerr, when he selected at 13 7-8 cts.

Mr. W. B. Cook, the first buyer, called Keene, Shearer, Central Smith, Villiers, Westwood, Maple Leaf, and Lang at 13 13-16 cts. At 13 7-8, Mr. Kerr, took Oakdale, Daisy, Pine Grove Ormonde, Norwood and Killarney, and when he offered 13 13-16 for the balance of the Board, Warsaw, East Emily, Trewern and Fleetwood accepted: Warminster, Selwyn, Myrtle Young's Point, and Indian River refusing. When Mr. Cook offered the same price for the balance, Selwyn, Myrtle and Young's Point, sold while Warminster, Indian River, and North Dummer still refused, and 195 cheese remained unsold.

The factories boarded as follows—

Keene	75
Warminster	70
Shearer	80
Central Smith	71
Selwyn	92
Villiers	60
Warsaw	110
Westwood	115
Oakdale	70
Daisy D.	50
Pine Grove	60
Maple Leaf	65
Myrtle	140
Ormonde	100
Young's Point	66

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER

Question Being Considered by Town of Lindsay

The town of Lindsay has under consideration the appointment of an Industrial Commissioner.

The Seymour Power Company, which was recently given a franchise by Lindsay, is willing to contribute $100 monthly for one year and it is suggested that the town do the same. With this assistance and the co-operation of the merchants, it is felt that the project can be successfully launched with the result of much benefit to the town.

AUCTION SALE OF LOCAL PROPERTY

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, an auction sale of building lots will be inaugurated in Peterborough by the Eastern Improvement Company, whose headquarters are A. Brown & Co's Real Estate office, 406 George street. The public are offered some of the most advantageous and attractive opportunities to purchase building lots at practically their own prices, situated on Edison Ave., running off Park street, opposite the Exhibition grounds. These lots are located within easy distance to many of the factories, schools and churches, yet outside of the city, and therefore free of the city tax rate.

The sale promises to be a record-smasher in transactions of its nature, and the people of Peterborough would exercise commendable judgment if they grasped this opportunity of attending the auction and investing in the property offered.

At each sale many useful articles will be given away gratis, and a purchase is not even necessary to secure a present.

For the convenience of those living some distance away from the location of the property, a free street car will leave Central Park on each day of the sale at 1.30 and 2 p.m.

Be sure and read in another column the terms offered and other information relative to the remarkable realty offers.

A DELIGHTFUL COMEDY PRIVATE SECRETARY

Full of Typical Humor and Funny Situations — At the Grand Next Saturday—Matinee and Night

The Ottawa Citizen has the following to say of the appearance of "The Private Secretary" in that city last week. The company, which is an eminent English one, will be at the Grand Grand on Saturday next, matinee and night, the title role being taken by Mr. C James Bancroft;

Years do not make The Private Secretary old, and the audience that last evening greeted with laugh after laugh enjoyed it full as much as when this very funny comedy was first put on. It was a brilliant audience that filled the Russell Theatre, many doubtless going for the reason that it was to be the last Ottawa theatrical attraction Their Excellencies Earl and Countess Grey would grace. As they entered the orchestra played the national anthem. At the close, instead of the first bars being a signal for a hurried donning of wraps and a rush for the exits, the entire audience stood and faced the vice-regal box. The national anthem was followed by Auld Lang Syne, after which someone called for three cheers for Their Excellencies. The response was decidedly enthusiastic.

And yet, no matter why the people went, they were glad that they did so, for the merits of the production alone. It is a delightful comedy, with typical humor and eccentricities and with mirthful play on words. Mr. C. James Bancroft was again in the title role of the timid curate and was responsible for a laugh practically every time he did anything. His characterization caught the fancy of the audience from the first. Joseph Clancy, as the cranky old uncle, with a character that seemed to strike home to many, was a great favorite, while Mr. Shirley Braithwaite, as the tailor, also scored big. The ladies in the cast were all pleasing in their parts, Miss Nell Cave, as the spiritualist, being exceptionally good. The production was excellently staged.

The two sons of the late Mrs. Gifford, who succumbed at the Nicholls Hospital to burns received in her home on Saturday last, Messrs. Hall, solicitor for the estate, to hand over all the property of the deceased in his possession, to the elder son, who is to be one of the executors.

Lecture Postponed

The lecture by Rev. James Rollins which was to have been given last evening in St. Andrew's church, was postponed by the mutual consent of those who were present, owing to the inclement weather. Mr. A. C. Treneer the organist, favored those who did turn out, with a splendidly executed organ number in which he exhibited his wonderful musical ability to noticeable advantage. It is likely that the deferred lecture will be given on Friday evening of this week.

Algonquin National Park

The high altitude of the Algonquin National Park of Ontario, is one of the attractions and has much to do with the benefit derived from a visit to it. The elevation above sea level at Algonquin Park station, the objective point on the railway, is 1700 ft. There is tonic quality to the air which must be experienced to be understood. With prevailing winds from the north and the west, the air is purified by its journey over millions of square miles of forest land, much of which is palm and balsam. The "Highland Inn" offers exceptionally good accomodation to visitors and any season of the year is a good time to visit this territory. The Inn is open all the year round. Handsome publication and all information free on application to A. F. DUFF, District Passenger Agent, G.T. Ry., Toronto.

SPORT TALK

On the eve of the opening of the big game hunting season, Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Publisher, Woodstock, Ont., is to the fore with a plentiful supply of good game hunting stories, covering Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The Opening story by Mr. Bonnycastle Dale, is particularly good, consisting of a fine description of the gallant efforts of a little fawn to escape, its rescue by the sportsman whose best instincts were aroused by its hopeless struggle and its capture and revival by the petting showered upon it. The whole narrative makes an irresistible appeal to the highest ideals of sportsmanship and proves a capital opening for a number which includes hunting of many varieties and under widely different conditions.

Mr. Starrya's paper on Woodcock Shooting in Nova Scotia is another article which stands out prominently as one which canot fail to stir the feelings and the memories of fall bird hunters and make them live many of their experiences over again. Big game hunting, however, is given the pride of place in this number, and it is a foregone conclusion that in many a camp throughout this broad Dominion, Rod and Gun will prove not only an acceptable but an indispensable companion. Many an important article of the outfit would be less missed than this number. Those who have the arrangements for the hunting parties and camps so general next month throughout the Canadian notice. A wet day in camp can be passed most pleasantly with a copy of the big game hunting number of Rod and Gun in Canada.

CLERGYMAN SEES CANADIAN RUGBY

Toronto, Oct. 17—"I don't know whether clergymen go to football games in this country, but I went to the Varsity-McGill game on Saturday and I want to say that you Cadians can improve your sport," said Rev. L. Hudson, a New Zealand delegate to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference, speaking to a congregation that filled High Park Avenue Methodist church last night.

"When a game is stopped a dozen times in the course of two hours because of injuries to players, and when men are so seriously hurt that they have to be carried off the field, there is something wrong with Canadian Rugby, and you good people should see that the game is improved. I am a lover of sport, I have refereed football games at home, and I am vice-president of a New Zealand football league. Therefore I think what I have said will not be amiss."

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Robert Agnew placed her two babies in a crib Sunday and gave Elmer, 20 months old, the older, a nursing bottle.

ORIGIN OF LIFE

Swedish Professor Opines That Particles of Spontaneous Generation May Be Flown From Globe To Globe.

The old idea that life may have been spread from world to world by dust particles traversing space is being again discussed. Professor Svante Arrhenius, the Swedish physician, finds that spontaneous generation is probably no longer possible on the earth, but conceives that it may take place on some globe having more favourable physical and chemical conditions. From that globe life may be scattered to other habitable bodies on particles driven by the pressure of light. In recent experiments with bacteria, half of the dried organisms perished within three days at ordinary temperature, but others showed no impairment of vitality after four months at the temperature of liquid air, and it was concluded that the cold of space may so diminish vital activity that life may be sustained for millions of years. An objection to this theory, by M. Paul Becquerel, is that the ultra-violet rays from incandescent stars are constantly sterilising space. Even extreme dryness and cold cannot greatly lengthen resistance to these rays, and spores exposed in a vacuum to ultra-violet rays under conditions of extreme cold were destroyed within a few hours.

QUAINT JAP PILGRIMS

The Japanese peasants, when they get themselves up for the business of a pilgrimage, are the quaintest figures imaginable. The women generally tuck up their petticoats well above their knees, either leaving the legs bare or else swathing them in white bandages, which form a kind of leggings. Their hair is done in the usual elaborate Japanese style, and generally an artificial flower is stuck in at the top. It does look so comic to see the wizened face of an old woman with a large red rose bobbobbing over it. And this floral decoration is not confined to the women; when you meet a party of pilgrims you often see the old men also with a flower stuck coquettishly above the ear. It appears that many of the poor old dears from the country get so bewildered by the magnificence of the places they go to and the distractions, of shopping that they quite lose their heads, and consequently their way. So the ever thoughtful Japanese police have insisted that every party of pilgrims is to have a distinguishing badge. At Nagano it was the commonest thing possible to see some ancient dame rushing about wailing, "Where is my party? Where is the purple iris party?" or, "Where is the yellow-towel-round-the-neck party?" And then she would be told that the "yellow-towel-round-the-neck party" was on its way to the station, or that the "purple irises" were still saying their prayers in the temple.

They Set It Right!

Among "the good old ways" of "Merrie England" is the tendency to democracy prevailing in the great public schools. There there is no pampering, however exalted the boys' rank or great their possessions. A story is told of an Indian official of high rank, calling upon the house master in a famous public school, where a young prince, son of a rajah, was being educated. The official brought a special message from his master to the effect that he wanted no favours or exceptional treatment of any sort extended to his son on account of his exalted birth.

"You may set the mind of the rajah at rest on that score," said the house master, struggling to keep back his smile before the dignified anxiety of the Indian official. "If the authorities were inclined to discriminate in the prince's favour, the boys of the school would set the matter right. Among them generally the rajah's son answers to the name of 'Nigger,' and I understand that with his intimates he is familiarly known as 'Coal Scuttle.'"

Thos Griffin, of Peace River Landing tells how he got rid of his Rheumatism—Honestly Earned Popularity

Cold Springs, Peace River Landing, Alta., Oct 17. (Special.)—Just why Dodd's Kidney Pills retain their wonderful popularity is easily shown by a trip across the prairies. Griffin, of this place, add his statement to the hosts already published:

"Now I know that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine for Rheumatism and the Kidneys. I recommend them to every person I hear complaining of not feeling well."

THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

THE SOUND OF OUR VOICE

Experiments Support Contention That Everyone Hears His Own Voice Differently From Others.

That a man does not hear his own voice as all the rest of the world hears it is shown by an interesting experiment described by Dr. L. Laloy in La Nature (Paris). Says this writer:

"If a person records on a phonograph a few sentences pronounced by himself, together with others by his friends, and causes the machine to reproduce these at the end of a brief period, it generally happens that he easily recognizes his friends' voices, but not his own. On the other hand, the friends recognize his voice perfectly. This singular fact proves that every one hears his own voice differently from others.

"As is remarked by Professor Exner, the difference must lie in the quality of tone. It must be remembered that one hears his own voice not only through the air, as do his auditors, but across the solid parts situated between the organs of speech and those of hearing. The sound thus produced has a different timbre from that conducted to the ear by air alone.

"We may show this as follows: Take the end of a wooden rod between the teeth and pronounce a vowel continuously. Let the other end be alternately taken between the teeth and released by another person, who at the same time stops his ears. The latter will find that every time he seizes the rod in his teeth the sound becomes stronger than when it reaches his ear through air alone, and has a different quality. The experiment may be varied by applying a wooden rod to the larynx of the person observed and touching it, from time to time, to the observer's own larynx. As in the preceding case, it will be found that its passage through a solid body augments the intensity of the sound and modifies its quality."

SOUND IN THE UNIVERSE.

We live and move at the bottom of an ocean of air, the earth's atmosphere. One consequence of this is that every mechanical disturbance starts waves of compression and rarefaction, which radiate out from the source, and, striking the drum of our ear, may (if of the right strength and quality) cause in us the sensation of "sound." Among such sensations some affect us merely as "noises"; in others we recognize a more or less well-defined "musical pitch," and "tone quality." Physically the "noise" differs from the "musical note" in that the former is an irregular disturbance, while the latter is periodic and of definite frequency. Not that there is any hard and fast line of demarkation; a rapid succession of impulses, which separately would be mere noises, may impress the ear with a definite sense of pitch. Thus the teeth of a saw, cutting in rapid sequence through a wooden board, produce a sound of definite pitch, though lacking perhaps in musical quality. Or, again, a sharp noise of brief duration, proceeding from a point in the neighbourhood of a series of equidistant obstacles, such as a line of fence-rails, or a flight of stone steps, produces upon the observer a sensation in which a more or less well-defined pitch can be recognized. The explanation of this phenomena is that the sound is reflected back from each fence-rail in turn, and since it takes time to travel, each echo reachs the observer a trifle later than that from the neighbouring rail.

To Make Light in a Bottle.

A safe light for going about at night or where there are inflammable materials, as into a store-room, may be made as follows: Take a long glass bottle and put into it a piece of phosphorus the size of a pea; upon this pour pure olive oil heated to the boiling point until this bottle is about one-third full and cork tightly. When light is needed take the cork out and allow the air to enter, subsequently recorking. The empty space in the bottle will then become luminous and give quite an effective light. If it becomes dim it can easily be revived by uncorking the bottle for a few seconds. One bottle will last a whole winter. Small bottles may also be prepared in this way, and carried in the pocket.

Small but Strong.

The Katydid, which is closely allied to the grasshopper family, is something of a hauler for its avoirdupois. Recently, an average looking specimen was harnessed to a kind of sledge made by folding a piece of ordinary notepaper, and then loaded the sledge with various articles. The insect proved able to draw, in addition to the original paper, twelve paper sheets each three by four and a half inches, a large screw, two steel pens, a stone weighing two ounces, and three and a half lead pencils. When the weight became too heavy to draw otherwise the katydid got its fore feet over the edge of the table for a better hold, and on addition of another weight it increased the adhering power of its feet by moistening them in its mouth.

How Deserts are Formed

There is a popular idea that deserts like the Sahara are the bottoms of ancient seas which have been lifted above their original elevation by geological forces. This notion is an erroneous one. It is absolutely certain, high authorities contend, that the sands of all the great deserts have been formed on the spot by the disintegration of the solid rocks on which they rest. Desert sands correspond in all respects, so far as their mode of origin is concerned, to the dust and sand that accumulates on our high roads in summer. All deserts are situated where the winds from the ocean, before reaching them, are exhausted of their moisture by passing over mountains or across extensive tracts of land.

IT COSTS MORE TO DEVELOP BEAUTY THAN BRAINS

IN Other Words, the Education of the Modern Young Woman Is Much More Expensive Than That of Her Genius Brother

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.)

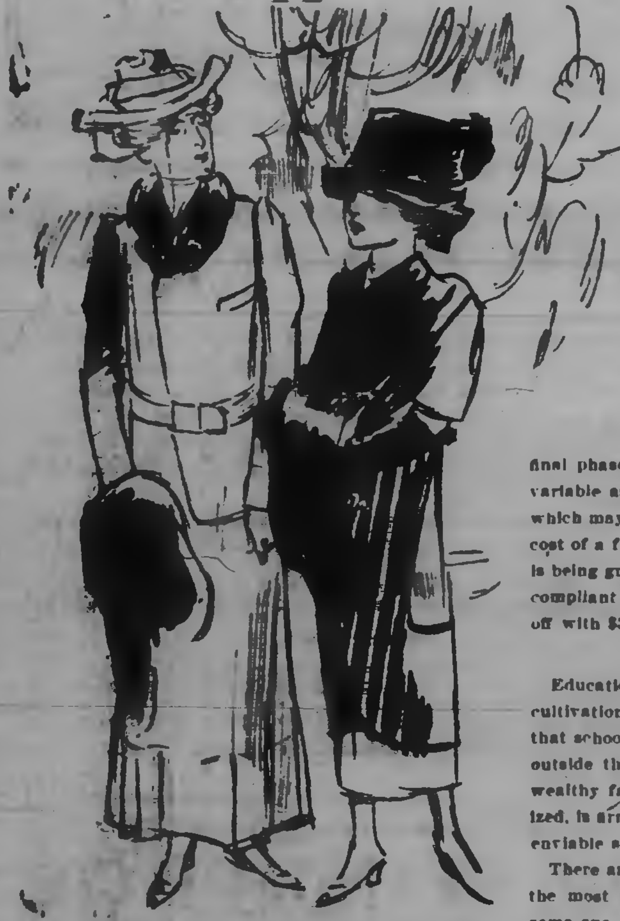
IT costs more to finish a fashionable girl's education nowadays than has been expended upon the entire university course and professional training of many a youth of talents or even of genius.

Of course, education may "take" more readily with a genius than with the carefully nurtured "bud," but, apart from that, it does cost enormously to give the last touches to the approved instruction of that charming young person, the daughter of wealthy and lavish parents.

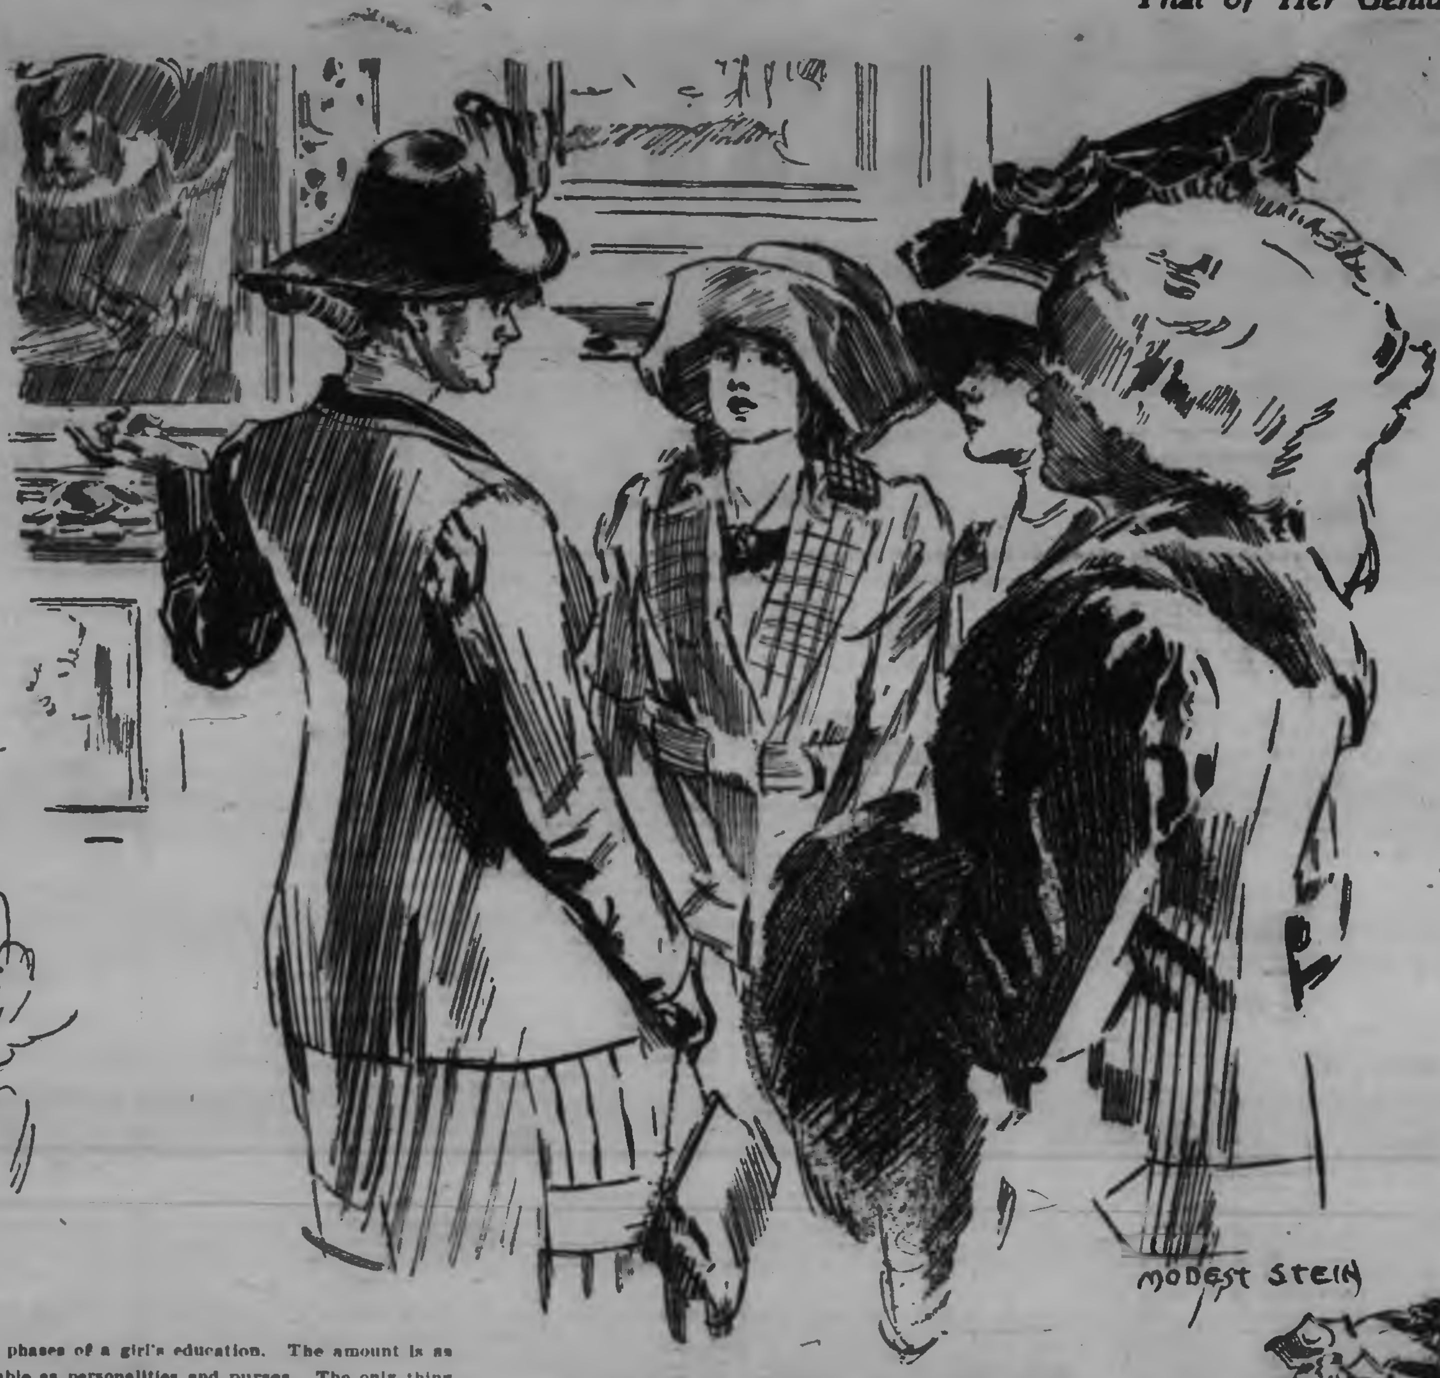
Why does it cost so much more to "finish" the education of Miss Fortunatus than that of her brother? Hardly a father who foots the bills knows why. Even the mother whose joyful privilege it is to contract for them and assure herself that they are not overtopped by the bills of any one in her set can go no further in explanation than a shrugged "Oh, everything for girls is so tremendously expensive!"

Perhaps lurking in the background of the maternal mind is the thought that her precious daughter may be called upon to wear a coronet, and that every grace and accomplishment should be hers to bear herself fitly in such circumstances, should fate, duly assisted, place her there. Even to be the wife of a desirably rich and socially prominent citizen of the republic it is necessary that a girl should have had the best equipment that can be bought.

Where there is no such definite scheming the indulgent parents still have the true American longing to give their darlings the best of everything. Isn't the American girl a princess in her own right? Isn't she "just as good" as any one on earth? Therefore, let money be unstinted for the adornment of her mind as well as of her person.



An English Governess Is Indispensable for the Accent.



The Art Teacher Conducts Her Pupils to Special Exhibitions.

No one can compute the exact sum required for the final phases of a girl's education. The amount is as variable as personalities and purses. The only thing which may be reckoned upon with certainty is that the cost of a fashionable education, like most other things, is being graded, always up, never down. The rich and compliant father may count himself in luck if he gets off with $5,000 a year.

Making Their Manners.

Education suggests school, but the last word on the cultivation of the young girl's mind and manners is that schools, even the most exclusive, are just a little outside the pale prescribed for ultra fashionable and wealthy families. Private tuition, very much specialized, is arranged for by mothers who follow where the enviable social leader leads.

There are insidious dangers in connection with even the most convention hedged school the danger that some one may presume upon acquaintance formed in the course of common pursuits, the peril of impairing the quality of the vowels, or perhaps that a daughter who is carefully trained for social distinction may acquire popular or even socialistic notions. It has been known to happen in the best referenced schools.

A bit of socialism is not to be discouraged. It is not only a safety valve, but, properly handled, it is rather smart; but it has to be dexterously handled, so that the young mind may never get over the border into the crass, crude conditions that are so offensive to well bred, well circumstanced persons.

Philanthropy, too, must be considered as an elegant attribute of the wealthy, and girls who are to have a surplus of money must be instructed in graceful and gracious ways of dispensing it without disturbing the equilibrium of polite society.

Girls are often asked to give money to a hospital in the neighborhood in which the school is located, or, rather the opportunity is given them to contribute. This they do without knowing anything about conditions or needs. Every school girl is sensitive about appearing mean in regard to money matters. If Dorothy and Janet give Muriel may not withhold her dole even if her father may not be so rich as theirs. A hospital and other means of directly giving alms are both safe and popular philanthropic appeals to make to the school girl of this class, and they are likely to be approved of in her home.

Another kind of giving is the bestowal of tributes upon teachers. There is an etiquette about this in many schools. For instance, in one school it is considered quite proper to give flowers, but seldom anything else. A teacher who was trying to send a brother through college and take care of an invalid father wept as soon as the girl had gone away who had given her a dozen roses. Lovely, they surely were, but they had cost at least $25, and how far $25 would have gone in solving her difficult problem.

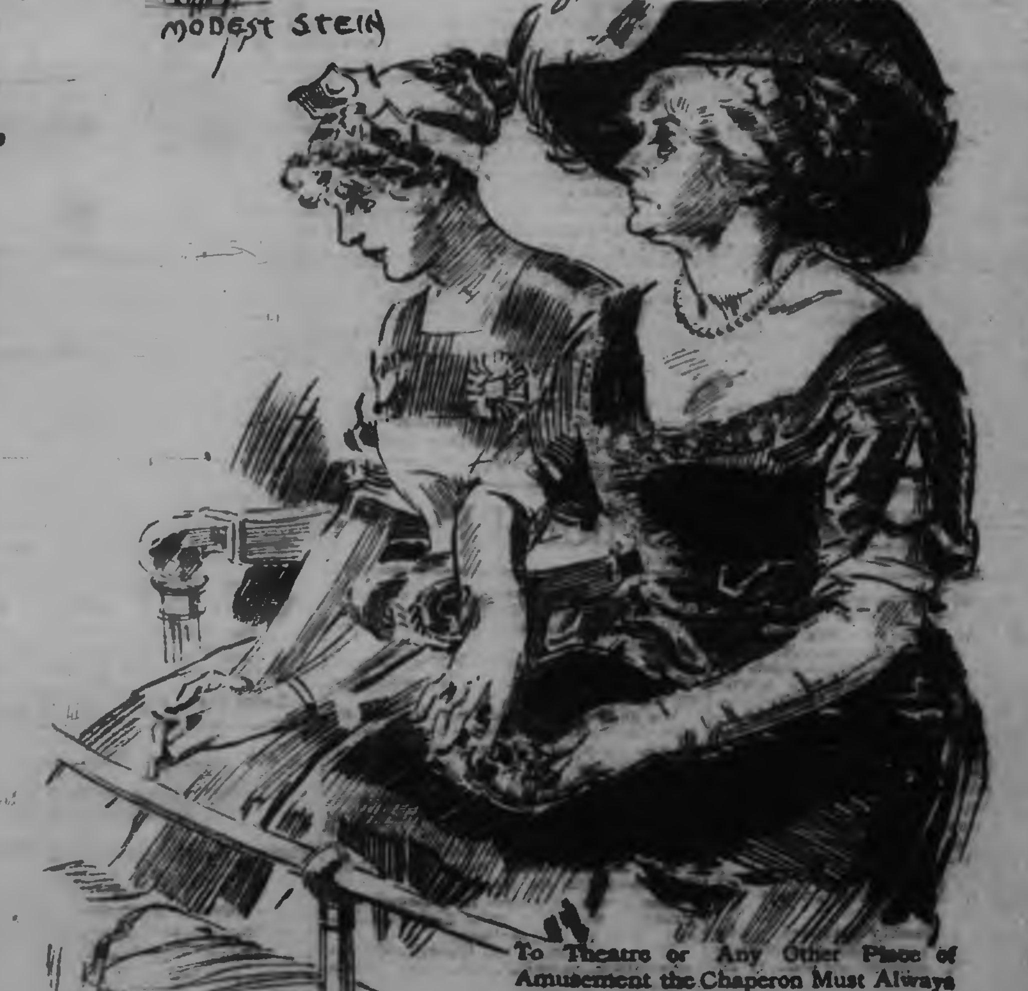
An English governess is indispensable for the accent. Although one should have all the learning of all the ages and could not pronounce the word "very" in the English manner, she would not be accepted as an instructor in the homes of families of first rank in the social register.

The blunder should not be made of inferring that no attention is paid to the subject matter of the fashionable girl's education. Ordinarily she is not bothered overmuch with such branches as higher mathematics, but excellent specialists, often college professors and tutors, are engaged to give instruction in literature, history and art. Modern languages are insisted upon, especially French, for which there is invariably a native teacher.

Nature Study Popular.

Pure science occupies little space in the curriculum, but nature study is popular and is undertaken with a special teacher, who accompanies her pupils to the Natural History Museum and takes them into the country for first hand knowledge of birds, flowers, trees, stones and running brooks.

The art teacher in like manner conducts her pupil to special exhibitions and on tours of the art museums, giving such information as will be of the greatest use in enabling her to hold her own in general conversation.



To Theatre or Any Other Place of Amusement the Chaperon Must Always Go.

The old time music lessons, all given in the same way to all pupils, have given place in large degree to instruction in the knowledge of music. A girl may play the piano if she has talent or sing if Heaven has given her a voice, but lacking these qualities she does not spend useless and painful hours in practising. She learns, however, if she has an ear that will bear cultivation, the story and motifs of the great operas and of other musical compositions, and her music teacher takes her to concerts and opera, where she may put to a practical test the knowledge that she has acquired. In some houses there is a large self-playing instrument on which the music may be reproduced until a girl is thoroughly familiar with it.

The head governess receives a good salary and the special tutors and instructors are all well paid, so that the total salary list runs into the thousands.

"But rich girls do go to school." Of course they do. How else could the handsome educational establishments in and about New York be supported and their owners and principals maintain unmistakable signs of prosperity?

If a daughter of a Croesus elects, or her parents permit her, to patronize a school there are institutions where one can spend quite as much money as by hiring a corps of private instructors. It does not seem so on the face of the plan, for in general the charge for board and tuition is only about $1,000 or $1,500 a year. In this case, however, it is not the first step that costs, but those that come after. It is only the meagre commonplaces of learning and the poorest room in the building that are included in that allotment. One of the newest schools provides a suite of private sitting room, bedroom and bath for each pupil, and the charges are advanced proportionately. Also there is maid service to be paid for as an extra.

Girls who live at home have their private automobiles to take them to and from the school and are, of course, always attended.

In All Its Phases.

Instruction in what corresponds in an elegant education to the "three R's" is covered by the first charges. After that everything is an extra—languages, music, art, physical culture and special lectures that vary from year to year. Some of these are given in the school, others outside, and to them the girls must be carefully chaperoned, as they are to the concerts and other entertainments which it is a part of their education to attend and at which the most expensive seats are especially reserved for them.

Every year there is something new, from cookery to psychic phenomena, to engage the attention of fashionable school girls and to excuse extra charges for lectures. The fads are carefully chosen by the astute school principals, but fads there must be. The fashionable girl demands them as avidly as her less guarded sisters.

Dancing is a highly important part of the school girl's education and is as expensive as anything in the curriculum. Lessons begin at about the kindergarten age and continue from year to year. Not only are these lessons depended upon to confer grace of movement and poise, but there are always new fancy dances to learn, which are prized as one of the most valuable accomplishments that a girl can possess.

Physical culture is another essential, especial attention being paid to individual cases in order to produce symmetrical development, grace of manner and proper carriage and gait.

Time, money and attention are given without stint to the training and care of the body. No blemish that skill or care can remove is permitted to appear. The hair is regularly and painstakingly washed and treated. The finger nails are systematically and carefully shaped.

Proper corseting is considered as important as exercise in insuring a good figure. The girls are carefully fitted by a corset maker of experience and reputation, and $25 for a pair of corsets is a moderate charge. By the use of finer materials they may be made to cost considerably more.

Shoes made to order to fit individual feet so that shapeliness may be emphasized without injury are of the first importance to the school girl, and their cost is disregarded.

It is not only outward appearances that are assiduously watched over, but the physical health of the school girl is jealously guarded. She is not permitted to eat nearly so many sweets or indigestible foods as the daughter of parents whose indulgence tends rather toward letting the daughter have her own way than toward the one purpose of fitting her to shine in the highest social circles.

Adenoids are watched for constantly and if detected a specialist and a nurse take charge of the school girl and a bill of $150 or $200 is sent to father, along with the others from the school.

The boarding school girl has to be treated by the most expensive dentist within reach and must pay for an attendant to go with her to his office, as well as to every other place she is called upon to visit. Even if she calls upon friends she must be taken to the door of their house and called for.

To the matinee or any other place of amusement or instruction the chaperon must always go. Carriages, luncheon, whatever of expense there is incident to any sort of errand is doubled.

Thus it happens that if father should happen to be a member of the Congress of the United States his salary would just about pay for his daughter's year at a fashionable school.

Disturbing Nations with a Baseball.

"YOU'D hardly think, to look at me, that I might fall under suspicion as a wild eyed plotter of portentous plots and a shag haired deviser of devious devices against the peace of governments, would you?" inquired a smiling young man of athletic build who was being welcomed after an extended trip abroad.

"Behold in me, however, the despair of star chambers and the bugbear of the secret service. Now that I am well off European soil foreign potentates sleep more soundly o' nights and remark a distinct relief as they sit upon their tottering thrones. You will find my name and description, together with a minute report of my comings and goings, in the portfolios of special agents, and I have no doubt that I have caused many a sleepless night for worthy police authorities in various parts of the Old World.

"Nihilist? Revolutionist? Nothing of the kind. The whole matter is neither more nor less than a question of baseball.

"You see, being away in the summer season I missed all the games, and when I fell in with another young chap from New York who had a baseball packed in his grip I let out a whoop and hugged him like a long lost brother. My hands fairly itched to feel the horsehide once more, and we agreed to finish our tour together so that we might enliven the way with a little practice.

"We turned out first at Florence. In the early morning we wandered out of the city through a suburb and found a meadow with a level strip of green. It was only pitch and catch, for we had no bat, but it was certainly good, sending the ball back and forth for imaginary strikes. We observed that the natives gave us a wide berth, watching us curiously from a distance or slinking by with fearful and furtive glances. But we had no idea how mysterious and sinister our employment seemed to persons who cannot conceive of physical exercise for its own sake.

"Next day we were out again, and this time there were several sleek, discreet, keen eyed persons on the job who observed us narrowly and followed us to the hotel. It was not long before we were aware of a systematic espionage. As we jogged on into the northern provinces they kept on our trail and we were always sure of a good attendance of note taking, camera snapping detectives during morning practice. We didn't mind; we rather enjoyed it.

"At last we put up for an extended stay at a little hotel in Pegli, just outside Genoa. Soon after our arrival there came to the hotel a man who talked English perfectly, seemed a good fellow in every way and struck up quite an intimacy with us. We had told him about all there was to tell of ourselves before we fell wise that this was another member of the secret police put upon our track. Finally we taxed him with it and he admitted the fact.

"'But what's the trouble?' I asked him. 'Can't two Americans toss a ball without having the sleuth hounds of the country set upon them?'

"'You don't understand,' he said. 'We watch every one, particularly strangers, and most of all strangers who do anything out of the way. You'd probably never guess what some of the other agents reported about you.'

"'What?'

"'They said that you were undoubtedly dangerous characters who were gaining proficiency in hurling a small sphere with a view to the accurate manipulation of bombs.'"

POOR POTATO CROP

The farmers have been taking advantage of the fine weather of the past two weeks and have been gathering in their crop. The yield in field roots will be well up to the average excepting the potato crop which is almost a failure. Very few people have more than half a crop and many have little more than the seed. As a consequence the price of the tubers is very high with practically none offering for sale.

Presentation of Purse and Address to Dr. Bell

Special Correspondence.

Apsley, Oct. 17.—A number of the citizens of Apsley and surrounding country called on Dr. Bell on Tuesday evening last and presented him with a purse of money. The following illuminated address was read by Mr. Pappin, and the presentation made by Mr. H. G. McIlmoyle:

Apsley, Oct. 9, 1911.

Dear Doctor Bell,—We, your friends and neighbors have assembled here this autumn evening to bid you a formal farewell. The word thrills us with sorrow as we realize that tonight heralds your separation from us.

During the past ten years which you have been amongst us, you have left the imprint of many pleasant remembrances upon our minds.

Socially we have always been pleased to meet you, as your unbounding good nature and unfailing kindness have endeared you to us, and we feel deeply this severance of your future presence.

As clerk of our municipality you have ever been anxious to promote our individual and mutual welfare.

As our doctor you have stood with us at the bedside of our loved ones, sharing our sorrow with us, and doing all for them that medical skill could avail.

We can but imperfectly express our regret at your departure in this short address. Words sound hollow and shrunk by usage, but rest assured that you carry away with you from each and all of us the warmest feelings of friendship.

As a slight token of esteem we ask you to accept this sum of money, hoping that you and Mrs. Bell may spend your riper years in comfort, contentment and happiness.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Apsley and surrounding country.

The doctor replied in a most feeling manner, thanking the people for their gift, and also for their kindness to him during the time he had lived amongst them. He said he had intended to spend the rest of his days here, but as he was getting up in years he found himself unable to respond to all calls, especially during the winter months. He hoped to come and see them all again next summer.

All joined in singing "For he's a jolly good fellow," and ended by giving three cheers for Dr. Bell.

The evening was spent in music and social intercourse.

GOVERNMENT GRANT FOR FALL FAIRS

Already fifty agricultural societies have made applications to the Department of Agriculture for their share of the $10,000 of the annual $70,000 Government grant for Fall Fairs, which was this year appropriated as a fund to insure societies against loss through bad weather. Each society gets one-half of their total receipts, the appropriation to each being based on the amount under the average receipts for the past three years. This is the first year such an insurance has been provided for, and it is also the worst year the societies have experienced. It is thought the whole amount of the money appropriated for weather insurances will be required for the claims.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk They care nothing for the science of the thing All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr Marsh, of 101 Delorimier avenue, Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Mr. A. G. Carruthers, Dominion Express Co. agent, has returned from the haunts of the Eagle Lake Hunt Club and is to-day congratulating himself that he made his return on Monday instead of yesterday, which would have been somewhat disagreeable for travelling on the highway for about twelve hours, that time being spent on the road during the trip on Monday.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

WESTERN CITIES FEELING SORE OVER THE POPULATION RETURNS OF THE CENSUS

Moosejaw and Saskatoon Feel Very Much Jealous of Regina—Census Short of the Civic Count.

Winnipeg, Oct. 19.—A feeling of disappointment is prevalent in the cities and towns of the west, arising from the low rate of population accorded them by the recent census. Regina alone is throwing bouquets at herself, her thirty thousand count boosting her percentake ahead of her provincial rivals. For many years the keenest rivalry has existed between Regina and Moosejaw, and when the latter learned that she had been altogether eclipsed, a sense of injustice was aroused.

Saskatoon also feels that she has been hardly dealt with, being placed lower in the list than Regina. Calgary and Edmonton are strong in their refutation of the accuracy of the figures, while other towns in the west also discredit their respective enumerations. Practically all, however, affirm that the census in their particular district was taken in an inefficient manner, and all credit themselves with a goodly number above the published figures. Vancouver, for instance, claims 30,000, while of the smaller towns Saskatoon claims an increase of 5,000 more, Port Arthur 3,000 and others in like manner affirm that the figures accredited to them should be swelled by an addition of 25 per cent. upwards.

Ottawa Disappointed.

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—That the population of Ottawa as estimated by the Dominion census-takers is far below the real population of the city is the contention of Assessment Commissioner Stewart.

The estimate given in the census returns is 86,340. Last year the estimate made by the assessment department of the city's population was 86,106, and this was really below the real figure at that.

Brantford Also.

Brantford, Oct. 19.—The census enumeration as given out from Ottawa is 1,000 short of the count made by the assessors. The population of the city was given at 23,046, and considering that the enumerators were not trained in the work, the result is favorably received.

And Woodstock.

Woodstock, Oct. 19.—Woodstock is disappointed at the figures given out in the official census report and the citizens are inclined to put more reliance in the figures of the city assessor than in those of the Dominion enumerators. The city assessor in his sworn report to the City Council gives Woodstock a population of 10,091, whereas the census report places the total at 9,321. That the assessor's figures are correct there is no reason to doubt.

PROBABILITIES

Moderate southerly winds; fine; a few local showers at night. Friday fair.

To Connect With Canada.

New York, Oct. 19.—Newman Erb, president of the Minneapolis and St. Louis and the Iowa Central Railway Companies, who returned yesterday from an inspection trip, said that preliminary arrangements had been made for extending the Minneapolis and St. Louis to the Canadian border.

Engineers were instructed to make a reconnaisance for two routes to the Canadian border, one from Minneapolis to Emerson, where a connection would be effected with the Canadian Northern, and another from Watertown to a point on the border, where a connection would be made with the Grand Trunk Pacific as well as with the Canadian Northern.

HAD A DEER LICENSE

Quincy, Mass., Oct. 18.—Aaron Sigelman and Miss Julia Bernstein had joined hands and were about to be pronounced man and wife last night when the clergyman glanced over the license. Then he noticed for the first time that the license permitted Sigelman to hunt deer, but said nothing regarding marriage.

The irate couple immediately departed for the headquarters of the city clerk in Boston, where the license had been procured, to demand an explanation. The clerk explained by telephone to the clergyman that Sigelman had gone to the desk where hunting licenses are issued and had not mentioned marriage.

THE CITY HALL LOCATION

The proposed location of the city hall on the Birdsall property at the corner of Brock and Water street, is open to criticism. True, it is comparatively central, and it faces a park, and the price for the property is not exorbitant, as properties go. A location on George street would have been preferable, but the price is apparently prohibitive. Property owners near the corners of Brock and George, where it is desirable that the city hall building should be placed, have asked prices for their properties three times, and nearly four times what their property is assessed at. It is a fact that the assessors might do well to note.

The policy of Peterborough in the matter of the acquisition of land for parks, or as a provision for future needs, has been very slow and dilatory. For instance, it would be a paying proposition for Peterborough to have on hand two or three buildings suitable for conversion into factories, as terms could be made with prospective factories frequently, securing their location here at very little cost. The policy of the city trust commissioners should be to acquire within their means and whenever a good chance presents itself, revenue-yielding property to hold for the city's future needs.

The city can borrow money at 4 per cent. It has a first class credit. If it can get property, even like the Birdsall property, that will yield six or seven per cent, at a carrying cost of four per cent., it is a good investment, because the city is getting the benefit of the "unearned increment," and providing for the day when that property will be needed for civic purposes.

While in the course of time, the location of the city hall on the Birdsall property might be desirable, we think that it is indeed a shame that sufficient land could not be secured at a reasonable price on a George street location. But there is no reason why the city should not acquire the Birdsall property at the price, anyway, and hold it pending developments. Even a city can afford occasionally to be a real estate speculator.

WIFE DEAD FOR FOUR DAYS; HUSBAND DRUNK IN SAME ROOM

Terrible Tragedy Enacted in Montreal House — Blood Stains on Woman's Body — An Investigation.

Montreal, Oct. 19.—Her face blue, her body swollen, bloodstains on her clothes and on the bed covers—this was the condition in which the police found Mrs. William Dooit, as she lay dead on the bed in a squalid little room on the third floor at No. 72 Inspector street.

His eyes bleary, his breath heavy, seated in the midst of whisky and beer bottles, dead drunk — this was the condition in which they found her husband, who sprawled on the floor at the foot of the bed.

The woman evidently died on Saturday or on Friday night. Every day the man passed in and out of the room as though nothing unusual had occurred. The fearful odor of the past two days caused the landlady, Mrs. Mary Hardy, to tell the man that he must leave at once. Tuesday night the occupants of the house heard him shaking his dead wife and telling her that she must get up, that they had to get out of the house at once. Those who heard did not know that the woman was dead. That was not discovered till yesterday morning.

The autopsy will decide whether William Dooit, who now lies in a cell in the police station, too drunk to murmur a word of explanation, shall be held on a more serious charge than drunkenness. The woman may have died of heart disease. But when she was examined at the morgue yesterday morning, merely a cursory examination, it was thought better not to wash the blood from what appeared to be a [illegible] cut in the head.

Will Put Up a Fight.

Berlin, Oct. 19.—It is said here on reliable authority that it is the intention of both the South and North Waterloo Liberal executives to put men in the field in the forthcoming Ontario general elections. It is known that a meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the Bowman House here, which was attended by leading Liberal workers in South and North Waterloo, at which it was decided to enter the fray. In North Waterloo there is a likelihood of a three-cornered fight, ex-Mayor Allan Huber yesterday afternoon announcing himself as a candidate.

BOUQUET ON THE WOLFE MONUMENT

Quebec, Oct. 19.—Yesterday morning Messrs. Bozanquet and Bourquet, the French delegates to the ceremonies attending the unveiling of the Montcalm monument, in company with Sir Louis Jette, Hon. A. Turgeon, Lieutenant-Colonel Wood, George Bellerive and M. Raymond, French vice-consul at Montreal, deposited on the base of the monument to Gen. Wolfe a beautiful crown of flowers. The crown bore the inscription: "Hommage des delegues du comite Francais du Monument a Montcalm, a la memoire du General Wolfe."

In depositing the crown, M. Bozanquet spoke of the distinguished honor which he felt rendering homage to the memory of the great British general.

Lieutenant-Colonel Wood made an appropriate reply thanking the French delegates on behalf of the English populace for their thoughtful act.

Rains Cause Drownings.

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—Heavy rains throughout eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania the last few days were responsible for the loss of five lives during Tuesday night.

Mrs. Robert Mejana, her eight-year-old daughter Elsie, and Mrs. Charles Mejana were drowned while attempting to ford a short creek near Rayland, Ohio, and Mrs. Edward Moher and her four-year-old daughter were drowned near Greenville, Pa., while crossing a creek near their home.

This Thriving City Shows Big Percentage Increase

In percentage increases of Ontario cities and towns, Cobalt makes the best showing in the census figures published to-day, for the reason that in 1901 Cobalt was not on the map.

Of the others, Port Arthur and Fort William show the most rapid percentage growth, the former with 249 per cent. increase, bringing it to 11,216, and the latter with a 354 per cent. increase bringing it to 16,498.

Following close are North Bay with 205 per cent., North Toronto with 190 per cent., and Welland with 185 per cent.

SLAVERY IS YET RAMPANT

Shocking Conditions Still Exist in Tripoli

Rome, Oct. 19.—Commandatore Simonetti, general secretary of the Italian Anti-Slavery Society, which has been working in Tripoli since 1899 gives an appalling description of the slavery still conducted there despite the efforts of the society to liberate those in bondage.

He says that the society provides the slaves with freedom papers which the Turkish officials have disregarded derisively, calling them "papers of the second slavery."

He tells of Turkish steamers engaged in the slave traffic and says that when the slave markets were closed in 1900 the slaves were brought within a day's march of Benghazi, from where they were secretly embarked or returned to the interior. A common trick of the Turkish officials was to declare freed slaves Ottoman subjects because they had come from Mussulmans' regions, and so keep them under an influence favorable to their return to slavery.

The greatest trade, he says, has been among the Bedouins, who sell negroes to the Senussi, who still have public markets at Abeshr in Wadai, State of Central Africa, in the French zone of influence, and at El-Fasher, the capital of Darfur, Egyptian Sudan, under British domination.

The younger of the women slaves, he says, were sent to Tobruk and the Gulf of Solum, Tripoli, and were destined for Turkish harems. These slaves were chained at night and acts of disobedience were punished with death. At Sliten, not far from the City of Tripoli, Simonetti says that a slave was killed in such a barbarous fashion that a woman who was present died of fright. He closes with a statement that he possesses a long list of so-called respectable Turks, who indulge in the traffic of human flesh simply for sport.

Tampered With Switch.

Cobourg, Oct. 19.—Two boys from Grafton, 9 and 10 years of age, appeared before Magistrate Boggs here yesterday charged with tampering with the C.N.R. switch at Grafton.

It will be remembered that the switch was opened and a special train on the C.N.R. ran into it on the day of the opening of the new Toronto to Trenton line, fortunately without loss of life.

The boys were let go and the case dismissed.

THE SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION

There is not likely to be much disapproval from the citizens with regard to the action of the school board in asking for $85,000 for new schools in the east and west, and the decision of the city council to pass the by-law without a reference to popular vote.

The schools are badly needed. They will have to come sooner or later, and if later, the cost will be that much more. It is good business sense on the part of the city to have the schools built now, to have the use of them as soon as possible, and to save money in addition.

The present school accommodation in both east and west is utterly inadequate. Children are crowded into badly lighted and ventilated rooms, and forced to endure conditions from which their elders would rebel. More accommodation, such as is proposed with twelve room schools, will equip the city in these quarters with splendid facilities, and the city will be free from the reproach that it has not done what is right by the rising generation.

The location of the east city school on the hill at the corner of Concession Street and Hunter is not as desirable as might have been wished—being on such a hill—but apparently it is the only property that can be secured which is suitable for the purpose. In the west, the building of the new school well out, is commendable, because the increase of school population will not be in the centre of the city, but in the outer districts, and to have the schools well placed is half the battle in coping with the problem of serving the needs of a growing city.

In deciding to have both schools built now, the school board is making up for the neglect and parsimony of boards years ago. Had there been adequate provision in the matter of sites made ten or fifteen years ago, the city would be to-day much better off financially: but, as it is, the city must now build for the future, having learned the lesson. There is no economy like a wise expenditure in providing for the needs of years to come.

KANSAS MAN SAID TO HAVE MURDERED PEOPLE BY DOZENS

It is Claimed He is the Slayer of at Least Fourteen- Five in One Family Are Murdered—Wife Says He Has Mania to Kill People.

Ellsworth, Kansas, Oct. 19.—That Charles Marzyek, ex-convict, sought by the county authorities in connection with the murder of the five members of the William Showman family here Saturday night, had been in Colorado Springs, where the six members of the Wayne and Burnham families were slain and was acquainted in Monmouth, Ill., where three persons were murdered recently, was the startling statement made to the authorities yesterday by Mrs. Minnie Vopat, Marzyek's divorced wife. All these fourteen victims were killed with an axe.

Samuel Showman, brother of William Showman, head of the murdered family, yesterday started at the head of a possee to search the county. Marzyek is believed to be hidden in the neighborhood. If he is found a battle is expected.

Marzyek not long ago served a term for stealing grain from James Vopat. Tuesday night Vopat, who is the husband of Marzyek's former wife, saw the ex-convict in a field near his house. Vopat and his family, terror-stricken, locked their house and fled to the home of a Slav fellow-countryman, five miles distant.

All the members of the Slav community who had any connection with the conviction of Marzyek went armed yesterday, for he is reported to have sworn vengeance on those responsible for his imprisonment.

Ira Lloyd, the attorney who defended Marzyek in the wheat stealing case, said yesterday:

"I believe Marzyek will remain in the neighborhood until he completes his vengeance. After his sentence he told me that when he was released he would come back and kill the people who were responsible for his conviction, and also their children. 'I will put them all in hell,' he said."

Evidence furnished by Mr. and Mrs. William Showman is said to have been largely responsible for Marzyek's conviction.

Nine persons remain here who fear his vengeance. These persons, all of the Slav's own race, are:

James Vopat, Mrs. Minnie Vopat, who obtained a divorce from Marzyek immediately after his sentence, and married Vopat nine months later; their two children; one ten months old and the other three years; John Katke, father of the murdered Mrs. Showman, who testified against Marzyek; Mrs. John Katke and the three Katke children, Emile, aged 17; Annie, aged 18, and Mary, aged 20.

As to a possible connection between the Ellsworth and other tragedies, Mrs. Vopat said her former husband was convicted of forgery in Colorado Springs a few months ago. She said it was not improbable that he had been in Monmouth lately. The same insane cruelty on the part of the slayer is evident in the Burnham and Wayne tragedies at Colorado Springs, in the murders of William E. Dawson, his wife and daughter in Monmouth, and the killing of the Showmans.

CARNEGIE MEDALS TO THREE CANADIANS FOR HEROIC ACTS

A Big Boat.

Duluth, Oct. 19.—The big steel ore carrier, Col. James M. Schoomaker, the largest bulk freighter on fresh water, cleared yesterday for her first trip down the lakes.

The Schoomaker is 617 feet long, 64 feet beam, 33 feet molded depth, and is said to have a maximum carrying capacity of 14,000 tons at a draught of 21 feet. At Messaba ore dock the Schoomaker took on 10,768 tons.

Rewards for Brave Deeds in Deserving Cases Given by the Trustees.

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—Edgar A. Current will receive a bronze medal and $2,000 in cash towards paying for his education, as a result of his heroism in saving a boy from drowning at Toronto on June 27, 1909. This was one of the interesting announcements made here yesterday by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. Forty-seven bronze and 12 silver medals were awarded at the fall meeting of the commission. Besides cash awards of $53,306, pensions amounting to $315 a month were left to survivors of men who had risked their lives to save others. Thirteen of the heroes paid with their lives their devotion to humanity.

Other Canadian participants in the awards of the commission are William H. Shaw's mother, who gets a silver medal and $1,000 to liquidate a mortgage on her property, as a result of the heroism of her son in trying to save a companion from drowning at Medicine Hat, July 18, 1909, and the father of Lars C. Risvold, who lost his life trying to save two well-diggers from suffocation at Aylesbury, Sask., Nov. 22, 1907. The father gets a bronze medal and $800 in cash.

USING CANADA AS POLITICAL PAWN

Sharp Criticism by a Manchester Paper of Meeting

London, Oct. 19.—The Manchester Guardian deals very sarcastically with Tuesday night's meeting at Chelsea, which was convened to celebrate Canada's rejection of reciprocity with the United States.

"With its aspersion upon a vast mass of loyal Canadians, with its criticism of the British Ambassador at Washington, with its sneers at the Unionist leader from his own followers and its endeavor to associate the Dominion Government with a rather coarse exhibition of party politics, this Chelsea meeting was a very pretty exhibition of how to consolidate the Empire."

The Westminster Gazette dubs it a "cock-a-doodle-do meeting."

There appears in the same paper a letter signed "Canadian Conservative," which says: "Those in Canada who, like myself, were opposed to reciprocity were actuated by two motives. First, through resentment to what seemed like American dictation and secondly through fear of drifting away from Britain. It was astounded to find at the meeting last night that we had been making an appeal to England to put a tax on wheat."

FIGHT ON IN CHINA

Drawn Battle is Fought Near Hankow

London, Oct. 19.—A special despatch from Hankow last night says that the Imperialists still hold the trenches, but they have lost several hundred men, killed and wounded. The fighting lasted all day. The revolutionaries after repeated but unavailing bayonet charges, fell back to Wuchang. Trainloads of wounded were brought into Hankow.

Victory Exaggerated.

Pekin, Oct. 19.—The Chinese Government claims to have won a great victory at Hankow, and it announces that the Government troops held the station, where troop trains are arriving rapidly. Although this appears to be an exaggeration of facts—the fight still continuing—the feeling prevails here that the Government has really achieved an important moral victory.

The belief has been held in Pekin that if the first encounter between the revolutionists and the loyal troops proved decisive, the supremacy would be settled there and then. Only a few unimportant towns outside of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang have taken part in the rising. Nanking, Changsha, Canton and other cities of known revolutionary tendencies, have not responded to the call of the insurgents, so far as can be learned. They are seemingly awaiting the result of the first encounter. Had the rebels overwhelmingly won the battle yesterday, it was expected that the provinces below the Yangtsekiang would be theirs. With other important cities in rebellion the Government would have been unable to concentrate its strength against the three Hupeh divisions.

The rebel leaders have shown the characteristic national weakness in not following up their early victories. During the past four days many miles of railway could have been taken under control by any really modern army.

No news was received yesterday from Szechuen province; even consular reports are lacking.

Acceptance of the office of viceroy of Hupeh makes Yuan Shi Kia's appointment a military one, his duty being to fight for possession of the provincial throne, and make it secure by restoring order in the two large provinces of Hupeh and Hunan. It is reliably stated that Yuan Shi Kai demanded permission to raise his own division of 10,000 troops, and also to cash a personal grant of 3,000,000 taels ($2,000,000). To this humiliation the regent agreed.

Many officials, previously dissatisfied with the progress of reform, are rallying to the support of the Government, as they now believe that the chances for securing reforms are greater by aiding the dynasty than by supporting the present rebellion.

Acceptance in the presence of the real emergency, which confronts the Government, is a vindication of Yuan Shi Kai's loyalty. He occupies a striking strategal position with respect to his old friends and supporters. Gen. Chao Ehr-Feng, who is combatting the rebellion in Sze-Chuen, supports his right flank and is the man who, by a military expedition to Lahassa in 1910, amazed foreign militarists. At his back he has Hsi-Liang in control of railways, and at his left and rear Yang Shiang, viceroy of Chihli.

Owing to the censorship, even the officials are unable to obtain reliable news, which they are eagerly seeking from the correspondents and the foreign legations. The British and Japanese reports fail to confirm the announcement that the situation at Nanking is critical.

The Russian troops have been ordered to suppress immediately any excesses by revolutionaries or bandits near the railway in Manchuria, without waiting for further instructions. A consular report says that several revolutionaries have been decapitated at Mukden. Except the Japanese there are few foreign consuls beyond Harbin and Vladivostok; hence reports of Russian activities depend entirely upon Russian sources. There are no newspapers represented in the outlying Manchurian districts, even along the railway.

From Hankow comes the report that detachments of Japanese and German infantry are expected to arrive there soon.

An edict has been issued forbidding the exportation of rice from Pekin. A division of the old style troops, which arrived here Tuesday, are quartered in camps and the temples around the various city gates, and in the city streets in which the high officials live.

GAME IS OFF

Weather Still Unfavorable for Fourth Contest

Special to the Review.

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—Another postponement of the fourth game in the world's series has been found necessary owing to the poor weather conditions. To-day the sky is overcast and intermittent rains have caused the field to be soggy and unfit for a game.

I do not believe in ghosts, but the talk about them scares me.

This is all there is to it; a woman who gives her husband letters to mail must stand the consequences.

FOR FAMILY USE

An Ideal Remedy for Coughs, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Weak Chest.

After having made a special study of the treatment of the throat and lungs for twenty years, Prof. D. Jackson states that in his opinion no preparation for general family use is so efficient, so healing, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone.

As his reasons for making this claim for Catarrhozone, Dr. Jackson says:

"Catarrhozone is free from opium.

"The patient can breathe its rich, balsamic fumes direct to the diseased spot.

"It is a remedy that treats and cures causes—prevents disease spreading.

"Reaches the innermost recesses of the throat, nose, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

"Alleviates chest soreness.

"Stops coughing instantly.

"Prevents bronchial irritations.

"Relieves clogged nostrils.

"Cures sniffles and nasal catarrh.

"Prevents La Grippe.

"Has proven itself a cure for weak lungs, loss of voice, speakers' sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, coughs, colds, and winter ills."

Catarrhozone is unquestionably the world's greatest breathable cold, cough, and catarrh medicine, and being free from all drowsy drugs, entirely safe for children and old folks; it makes an ideal family remedy. Recommended by the medical profession, and sold by all reliable dealers. Beware of imitations, get "Catarrhozone" only; large size lasts two months, and is guaranteed, price $1; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. By mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE CENSUS

The census is disappointing. There is no doubt about that. But we have at least the consolation of knowing that where the census enumerators failed to find what we think they should have found, there is good reason for believing the enumerators were not careful.

It was recognised at the time the census was taken that it was a botched job. The census was run as a distribution of small jobs for the party faithful. It was used all over the Dominion as a matter of patronage, for the heelers—and as a result the work was not performed properly at all.

Canada may have only seven million people, but even if she has, that does not count very much against us. Conditions are no better or worse than they are, and they are satisfactory to most Canadians, we think.

It will be a surprise that Ontario has not grown more, but evidently her rural population has been drained to fill the broad prairies of the west, while the increased industrial activity due to the growth of the west has made Ontario's urban growth much more rapid. Some of these days Ontario will come into its own again, in the matter of growth of agricultural population, but the prediction made years ago that Ontario would become the workshop of the Dominion is seemingly going to come true within a few years.

One very pleasing feature of the record is the growth of Peterborough, as compared with other Ontario cities. True, the inclusion of Ashburnham made a considerable difference, but at that, the industrial progress of Peterborough in the decade has been so great that the city must be placed in the list of first class manufacturing centres. Peterborough has nearer 20,000 population than the 18,300 which the enumerators give to it; but it is to be supposed that they missed as many people in other places as in Peterborough, so the record has some real value for purposes of comparison.

THE HERALD BUREAU

The New York Herald has withdrawn the Ottawa bureau which it established a year or so ago, the defeat of reciprocity having killed what the Herald evidently hoped was to be the beginning of closer relations between the two countries. In discussing the withdrawal of the bureau, the Herald uses language which openly acknowledges the object for which the bureau was established. It says:

"There is no necessity to hunt for a hidden motive. There is none. We merely thought Canadians had good business sense. Manifestly we were mistaken. There is nothing mysterious in the Herald's campaign in Canada to develop news, to cultivate good relations, and to do what it could to bring about commercial rapprochement between two countries. To avoid further misconception, we feel decided to close the Ottawa bureau for the present, leaving time to bring Canadians to a realization of where their true interests lie."

So the Herald is kind enough to leave to Time the bringing to Canadians to a realisation of where their true interests lie. We rather wonder at the Herald shelving such a tremendous task onto the shoulders of Father Time. Surely its influence in Canada is great enough that it need not waste the flying months waiting for Time to persuade a stubborn people of their mistake. The Herald's bureau at Ottawa was established because the Herald thought that reciprocity would be passed, and that Canada would, as was evidently intended, become a sub-nation to the United States. The Herald was prepared to take a most gratifying interest in Canada on that account, and push along the cause of political union.

Canadians will generally be greatly grieved over the withdrawal of the Herald bureau, but, of course, with the defeat of Laurier, its chief reason for existence has gone. We are now a forlorn and hopeless case, an outcast from the Herald's good graces. Misfortunes never come singly.

AS TO MR. MACKAY

So there is a movement on foot to depose A. G. MacKay, the leader of the Liberal party in Ontario! Mr. MacKay does not at all satisfy many of the Liberals in Ontario, particularly those who run the Toronto Globe, and will probably be asked to step down and out, to be succeeded by N. W. Rowell, K.C. In the dispatch from Toronto discussing the prospects of a new Ontario leader, it might be noticed that the name of Mr. Stratton does not occur.

Mr. MacKay is running through the troubles that beset every leader of an opposition. He is the head of a guerilla band, as a rule, most of the members thinking that they know more than the leader, and every little while someone starts a revolt, thinking to establish a new dynasty on the throne of the mas. Mr. MacKay has done very well as leader, though he has seemingly lacked that power of spreading his influence over the Ontario organization which is essential in a successful opposition man.

The Toronto Globe is at the bottom of the movement. The Globe seems to think that it is the dictator of Liberalism in the Dominion, and perhaps it is. That is why there is so little left of Liberalism at the present time. Having put Laurier out of business, the reverend editor of the Globe now thinks he would like to reconstruct the Ontario Liberal party. The Warwick is on the job. That's the worst of having a preacher butting into party organization.

EDITORIAL NOTES

October is the finest month of the year in Canada.

The Liberals want to depose Mr. MacKay because he doesn't suit. Perhaps it would be better to find a party for him to try to please, first.

Sins of commission will be more numerous than sins of omission, if Ald. Edgar's proposal to have the city system of governing changed, goes through.

Premier Whitney acknowledges that the Ontario railway board needs some reconstruction. If Sir James wasn't such a close personal friend of the chairman, he might find it well to begin at the top and work down.

A royal commission to inquire into the affairs of all the large spending departments at Ottawa! Hon. Slippery Bill Pugsley is a man of courage, but his shoes should be strengthened after this announcement.

What to do with Hon. Mackenzie King seems to be a problem. Mr. King was catapulted into the cabinet, was never very popular, and now that he is out, no one seems to want him around. This is a case where the office seems to make the man.

Sugar May Drop.

Brussels, Oct. 19.—The International Sugar Conference has been summoned to meet at Brussels next week to consider a request made by Russia that she be permitted to denounce the agreement of 1907, whereby her sugar exports were limited until 1913. Russia's reason for this request is the exceptional crop. Her stocks are overwhelming, and she wishes to increase her exports. If the request is granted, the price of sugar will fall in all European markets.

Big Stock Sale.

Brockville, Oct. 19.—A big sale of thoroughbred Holstein cattle was conducted at the farm of Gordon Manhard, near Brockville. In all about eighty head were disposed of, but the prices were disappointing. Alberta Maid brought the highest figure, $650, paid by Dr Harwood of Montreal. A large number of stock raisers were present from various points in Ontario and Quebec.

FIVE DOCTORS GAVE UP ALL HOPE

Said she Would Die of Kidney Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HER

MOUNTAIN, ONT., Dec. 14th. 1910.

"For six years, I suffered from dreadful Kidney Disease. My legs and lower part of my body were fearfully swollen, and the pain was awful. My people thought sometimes I was dead, as I would faint from the agony. Five different doctors attended me, and all said it was kidney trouble and gave me no hope of getting well. A kind neighbor told me to try "Fruit-a-tives" and mentioned the case of Mrs. Fenwick, who was cured by them.

I took "Fruit-a-tives"—and in a short time, I began to feel better, the swelling went down, the pain was easier, and then "Fruit-a-tives" entirely cured me. All my friends look upon my recovery as a miracle, and I am unable to praise "Fruit-a-tives" enough."

(Miss) MAGGIE JANNACK.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the most scientific remedy ever discovered for Irritation or Congestion of the Kidneys, frequent Pain In The Back, and Swollen Limbs. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The Argentine, Russia, Germany and Kansas all sent advices unfavorable to the bears. Close was at a net advance of 5-8 to 1 1-8c. Other leading staples also showed a unanimous gain, corn 5-8 to 1 1-8c, oats 1-4 to 3-8c to 1-2c and provisions 12 1-2 to 15c to 40c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ¼d to ⅝d higher than yesterday on wheat, and ¼d higher on corn. Antwerp wheat closed unchanged; Paris, ½c higher.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—A feature of the grain trade was the much stronger feeling in the market for oats and prices advanced ¼c to ½c per bushel. The local demand was good, including sales of 80,000 bushels of No. 2 Canadian western, at 48½c ex-store. The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat was better and the prices bid in some cases were ½d to 4½d higher and there were also bids in the market from New York buyers for No. 3 northern, which were flat on the market at the close. A good local trade continues to be done in flour, but bids from abroad were again out of line. There was an increased demand for bran and sales of some round lots were made for export account. A fair trade is passing in cheese, butter and eggs.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 18.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending October 14 were 1875 cattle, 2835 sheep and lambs 2235 hogs and 550 calves. The offerings on the market this morning were 1600 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 700 calves.

A feature of the trade was the weaker feeling in the market for cattle and prices declined fully ¼c per lb. for good to choice stock and half a cent for the lower grades. This weakness was attributed to the fact that the supply was largely in excess of the requirements of the trade, there being 500 head left over at the close, owing to the fact that the demand from butchers was very limited, as they were already well supplied with stock for the balance of the week.

The trade thruout the day was dull and dragging even at the above reduction in prices noted, and if it had not been for the demand from canners for supplies, who bought about 400 head at 1½c to 2c per pound for cows and at 2½c to 3½c for bulls, the condition of the market would have been much worse than it was. The prospects are that prices will go still lower in the near future, as the number of cattle in sight is large.

A few choice northwest steers sold at $5.65 to $5.75, but the bulk of trading done in top grades was at $5.50 to $5.60; good, at $5 to $5.25; medium, at $4.50 to $4.75, and common, at $3 to $4 per cwt. Good butcher cows brought from $3.25 to $4.25 and medium, $3 to $4 per cwt. The demand for milch cows is very good at $65 to $75 per head for good to choice milkers, and at $35 to $55 for common and medium.

Supplies of sheep and lambs were also in excess of the demand and in consequence the tone of the market was weaker and prices ruled lower. Sheep, ewes, sold at 3¼c to 3¾c, and bucks and culls, at 3½c to 3¼c per lb. Lambs, weighing from 80 to 85 lbs., brought 5c to 5½c per pound.

There was a good demand for calves, of which the offerings were ample to fill all requirements and sales of extra choice heavy ones were made at $15 to $20 each and the commoner ones at from $3 to $10 each.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for hogs, prices being about steady under a fair demand from packers and sales of selected lots were made at $6.25 to $6.50, and heavy lots at $5.75 to $6 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

On that same day in which Carlos Santander had shown himself at the Acordada, only at an early hour, the would-be emperor was seated in his apartment of the palace in which he was wont to give audience to ordinary visitors. He had got through the business affairs of the morning, dismissed his ministers and was alone, when one of the aids-de-camp in attendance entered with a card and respectfully saluting him, laid it on the table before him.

"Yes; say I can see him. Tell him to come in," he directed, soon as reading the name on the card.

In the door, on its second opening appeared Carlos Santander, in the uniform of a colonel of Hussars, gold bedizened and laced from collar to cuffs.

"Ah! Senor Don Carlos!" exclaimed the dictator in a joyous, jocular way, "what's your affair? Coming to tell me of some fresh conquest you've made among the ladies? From your cheerful countenance I should say it's that."

"Excellentissimo!"

"Oh! you needn't deny or look so demure about it. Well, you're a lucky fellow to be the lady killer I've heard say you are."

"Your excellency, that's only rumor; I ought rather to call it slander. I've no ambition to be thought such a character. Quite the reverse, I assure you."

"If you could assure me, but you can't. I've had you long enough under my eye to know beter. Haven't I observed your little flirtations with quite half a score of our senoritas, among them a very charming young lady you met in Louisiana, if I mistake not?"

Saying this, he fixed his eyes on Santander's face in a searching, interrogative way, as though he himself felt more than a commen interest in the charming young lady who had been met in Louisiana.

Avoiding his glance, as evading the question, the other rejoined:

'It is very god of your excellency to take such interest in me and I'm grateful. But I protest-----"

"Come, come, amigo mio! No protestations. 'Twould only be adding perjury to profligacy."

And the grand dignitary leaned back in his chair, laughing. For it was but bandiage and he in no way intended lecturing the staff colonel on his morality, nor rebuking him for any backslidings. Instead, what came after could but encourage him in such wise, his chief continuing:

"Yes, Senor Don Carlos, I'm aware of your escapades, for which I'm not the man to be hard upon you. In that regard, I myself get the credit so rumor says—of living in a glass house, so I cannot safely throw stones."

The tone of his laugh, with his self-satisfied look, told of his being aught but angry with rumor for so representing him.

"Well, your excellency," here put in the subordinate, "it does not much signify what the world says, so long as one's conscience is clear."

"Bravo-bravissimo!" exclaimed the most excellent. "Carlos Santander turned moralist! And moralising to me!"

The staff colonel appeared somewhat disconcerted, not knowing to what all this might be tending. However, he ventured to remark:

"I am glad to find your excellency in such good humor this morning."

"Ah, that's because you've come to ask some favor from me, I suppose." Santa Anna had a habit of interlarding his most familiar and friendly discourse with a little satire, sometimes very disagreeable to those he conversed with. "But never mind," he rattled on, "though I confess some surprise at your hypocrisy, which is all thrown away upon me, my friend! I don't at all wonder at your success with the senoritas. You're a handsome fellow, Don Carlos, and if it weren't for that scar on your cheek—— By the way, you never told me how you came by it. You hadn't it when you were last with us."

The red flushed into Santander's face and up over his forehead to the roots of his hair. He had told no one in Mexico, or anywhere else, how he came by that ugly thing on his jaw, which beard could not conceal and which he felt as a brand of Cain.

"It's a scar of a sword cut, your excellency. I got it in a duel."

"Ah! An honorable wound, then. But where?"

"In New Orleans."

"Just the place for that sort of thing, as I know, having been there myself." (Santa Anna had made a tour of the States, on parole, after the battle of San Jacinto, where he was taken prisoner.) "A very den of duelists is New Orleans; many of them masters of fencing. But who was our antagonist? I hope you gave him as good as you got."

"I did, your excellency; that, and more."

"You killed him?"

"Not quite. I would have done so, but that my second interposed and persuaded me to let him off."

"Well, he hasn't let you off, anyhow. What was the quarrel about? But hold! I needn't ask; the old orthodox cause—a lady, of course?"

"Nay; for once your excellency is in error. Our affair originated in something quite different."

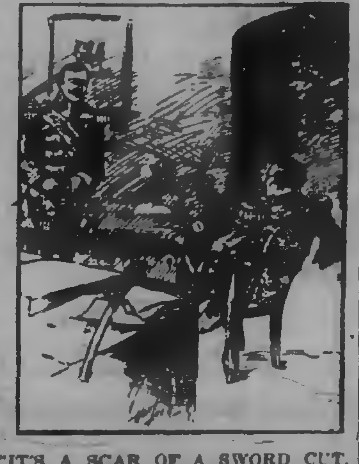
"What thing?"

"An endeavor on my part to do a service to Mexico and its honored ruler."

"Oh, indeed! In what way, Senor Colonel?"

"That band of filibusters, of which, as your excellency will remember——"

"Yes—yes," interrupted Santa Anna impatiently. He evidently knew all about that and prefered hearing no more of it. "It was one of the filibusters you fought with, I suppose?"



"IT'S A SCAR OF A SWORD CUT, YOUR EXCELLENCY. I GOT IT IN A DUEL."

"Yes, excellentissimo; the one they chose for their captain."

"You were angry at his being preferred to yourself and so called him out? Well, that was cause enough to a man of your mettle. But what became of him afterwards? Was he among those at Mier?"

"He was."

"Killed there?"

"No, your excellency; only taken prisoner."

"Shot at Solado?"

"Neither that, excellentissimo."

"Then he must be here?"

"He is here, your excellency."

"What's his name?"

"Kearney—Florence Kearney, an Irishman."

A peculiar expression came over Santa Anna's features, a sort of knowing look, as much as to say the name was not new to him. Nor was it. That very morning, only an hour before, Don Ignacio Valverde had audience of him on a matter relating to this same man—Florence Kearney; in short, to obtain clemency for the young Irishman—full pardon, if possible. But the minister had been dismissed with only vague promises. His influence at court was still not very great, and about the motive for his application—as also who it originated from—Santa Anna had conceived suspicions.

Of all this he said nothing to the man before him now, simply inquiring:

"Is the Irishman at Tacubaya?"

"No, your excellency; he's in the Acordada."

"Since you had the disposal of the Texan prisoners, I can understand that," returned the dictator, with a significant shrug. "It's about him, then, you're here, I suppose. Well, what do you want?"

"Your authority, excellentissimo, to punish him as he deserves."

'For making that tracing on your cheek, eh? You repent not having punished him more at the time when you yourself had the power? Isn't it is, Senor Colonel?"

Santander's face reddened, as he made reply:

"Not altogether, your excellency. There's something besides, for which he deserves to be treated differently from the others."

I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

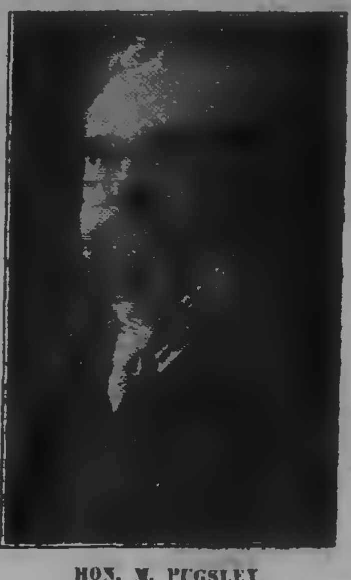
WHAT CANADIANS ARE DOING

HON. WILLIAM PUGSLEY

Mrs. Pugsley was launched in the world in 1850 and into the whirl wind of political life in 1885 when he was chosen a member of the New Brunswick Legislature. A couple of years later he was appointed speaker, and thus seemed fairly well started on the road that often leads to much higher things and often does not. In 1890 Mr Pugsley resigned to become Solicitor General and two years later retired out of politics to devote his energies in another direction. Returned to the Legislature in 1899 he was chosen Attorney General the year following, chief honors coming in 1907, which, however, he surrendered shortly after, on being appointed Minister of Public Works for Canada, having taken his seat in the House of Commons as representative of St. John, N.B., which constituency sent him along on acclammation.



HON. W. PUGSLEY
Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Pugsley is a remarkable man, inasmuch as his wealth as well as that of his friends seems to grow with leaps and bounds.

JOHN R. BOOTH

Pioneer Lumberman and Railroad Builder.

The recreations of Mr. J. R. Booth have been brought under the one terse heading of "worth". And to those who have followed his career from his early days to the present, the description will appeal as being peculiarly apt, for during all the years that have come and gone since emerging from the educational stage of youth, his mind, and his hands, were ever in the direction of advancing the material interests of the country of his birth.

Born at Shefford, Que., on April 5, 1826, and educated at Waterloo, Mr. Booth passed into the industrial world a young man well equipped for life's battle, and his first venture in business was as bridge carpenter. This, however, did not quite fill the demands of a nature that has all the time kept calling still for "more", and the early fifties found him Ottawa way, where he was destined to take rank as one of the pioneers in the lumber trade of the Ottawa valley, his mill at Chaudiere Falls being recognised today as the largest concern of the kind in all Canada.

But Mr. Booth was not content to remain all the time a lumberman, even as one of its kings. His natural abilities, and an inclination to be doing things, led him into the realms of railroad building, and under his guidance 500 miles Canadian Atlantic track was successfully completed in 1882, the Ottawa and Parry Sound line following in 1896. At the ripe age of 70, when, following an arduous life, the average man would have had his mind directed towards a time of leisure, it was, instead, bent on still further ventures in the commercial world, and to mark the three score and tenth milestone, he laid the foundation stone of a large pulp and paper mill at Ottawa, which he still owns and operates.

Not a Case of Suicide.

Hamilton, Oct. 19.—Alex. Connelly of Toronto, who was stricken with paralysis in the rotunda of the Hotel Royal yesterday afternoon, died in the city hospital last night. It was at first thought that the man had taken poison with suicidal intent, but the hospital physician who attended him, found that death was caused by heart failure. The body will be sent for interment to Niagara, where Connelly formerly lived.

IF YOU ARE SICK
YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST
WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees ?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

CHILDREN OF THE FOREST; WORK AMONG THE INDIANS

Interesting Talk by Archdeacon Renison at St. John's School Hall

The missionary reception last evening in St. John's schoolhouse proved to be a very interesting and entertaining event, and had few of the characteristics of the old-time missionary meeting; while the spirit of the new missionary movement was very much in evidence.

There was a very large attendance. After devotional exercises Canon Davidson introduced the guest of the evening, Ven. Archdeacon Renison, who was given a most cordial reception. He commenced by a congratulatory reference to the splendid buildings and equipment of St. John's, which seemed to him like an historic old pile transported from the old land.

WORK OF AUXILIARY.

He acknowledged the great help given to the work by the Women's Auxiliary in the large and valuable bales of clothing which had been sent to the Moose factory on Hudson Bay for many years, and what had given special help to the Indian children in the school.

DIVISIONS OF TERRITORY.

He spoke of the three great divisions of his territory. He first told of the southern portion with the centre at Cochrane, and the wonderful development of it, owing to the wealth of mineral resources. The territory had suffered heavily by the great fire of last July, in which three churches had been burned. The second division was that of Baffin's Land, the extreme north portion, where heroic work had been carried on for many years among the Eskimos, led by Rev. Mr. Peck and Rev. Mr. Greenshields, who had lived with the natives in the snow houses and undergone great privations with splendid heroism.

PERSONAL WORK.

He then came to his main subject, his work among the Indians with its centre at Moose factory, extending along both shores of the Hudson Bay for hundreds of miles. This work had begun in 1855 when John Horden came out from England for the purpose. For 20 years he had worked in that great wilderness, unknown to the outside world, and then he emerged to be consecrated as bishop of of the new diocese. Before his death he had the satisfaction of knowing that nearly 90 per cent. of the Indians had been Christianized in that great district. Even at the present time there were only Indians, fur-traders and missionaries inhabiting the land. The work among the Indians had been one of the most fruitful in history of missions, and the simple, trustful nature of the Indian's nature lent itself to an appreciation of the gospel message and the practice of it.

CHILDREN OF THE FOREST.

Archdeacon Renison gave very vivid pictures of Indian life, and characteristics, speaking with an enthusiastic affection for the children of the forest, who, in his country were as yet unspoiled by contact with whites. This contact with civilization the speaker said was too radical for the Indians' nature, and produced harmful results, physically and morally. Left to their own life, and their own kind of work, the Indians maintained their strength morally, but in his opinion it was a great mistake to transplant them into the circles of the white men and try and teach them white men's occupations.

He urged that the government should employ them as fire rangers for the protection and development of the country instead of handing the work over to students and others unaccustomed to it.

There were many questions asked by the audience and answered by the speaker, who received enthusiastic applause at the conclusion of his address.

Refreshments were served by the Women's Auxiliary under whose auspices the meeting was held, and a pleasant social half hour was spent.

Archdeacon Renison left last night for Ottawa and St. Johns, N.B.

AN OLD FRIEND IN "THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"

This old Comedy Still a Prime Favorite With the Public—Full of Laughs and Funny Situations

"The Private Secretary" is one of the oldest comedies on the stage, and yet it remains the most popular. There are many in the city who will welcome its apperance at the Grand on Saturday next as an old friend.

Mr C. James Bancroft, the English comedian has invested the Reverend Robert Spalding, in the "Private Secretary," with a portrayal so different from that in which Mr. William Gillette scored his successes in the revival of a few years ago, as to give that ancient medium of bubbling mirth almost the appearance of a new production. With a totally different physique from the almost lanky Gillette, whose very elongation was a source of mirth from the embarrassment it gaves its owner, Mr. Bancroft has interpreted the role as that of an unusually timid curate, to which his diminutive stature adds emphasis.

In all other respects the reappearance of the comedy at His Majesty's Theatre last night was like the return of an old friend which had been just long enough absent to leave the audience watching closely for the old familiar side-splitting episodes, and just somewhat in doubt as to where these would occur." The seat sale is now opened. Two performances will be given, matinee and night, and there is sure to be a crowded house each time.

CALLED TO THE BEYOND

Mrs. W. H. Robertson

Leaving two small children, Margaret Myrtle and Sibyl Ruth, aged 11 and 5 years respectively, to survive her, Mrs. Mabel H. Herron, relict of the late Mr. W. H. Robertson, passed away last evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Herron, Springville, after twelve months' illness from heart trouble.

The late Mrs. Robertson, who was born at Centreville, South Monaghan, 34 years ago, was married to Mr. Robertson at the age of 19 years. He predeceased her four years. For the past few months she has been residing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Herron, in the vicinity of Springville.

In religion she was a Presbyterian and always interested in the welfare of the Springville Presbyterian church, of which she was a member.

Bedridden for two months, deceased received all the care medical skill could suggest, but she passed away at nine o'clock yesterday evening.

Besides her parents and two little girls, two brothers, Bruce, Frobisher, Sask., Lloyd, Springville, and one sister, Mrs. Lindsay Vance, Frobisher, Sask., survive.

The funeral will take place at two o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the residence of Mr. J. J. Herron, lot 20, con 11, Cavan township, one mile west of Springville, to Centreville cemetery, North Monaghan. Service at the house at 1.30 p.m.

Mr. Joseph Glass

After eight months' illness Mr. Joe. Glass, 487 Parnell street, for over twenty-five years a resident of Peterborough and one of the oldest members of the local Moulders' Union, passed away at an early hour this morning.

The deceased gentleman who was well and favorably known throughout the city was born in Richmond, Virginia. For a number of years after his coming to Peterborough he was connected with the stove foundry, which was established in what is now the C.G.E. company.

Those left to mourn his loss are his wife, three sons, Joseph, city; George, Decatur, Indiana; John, Pennsylvania; four daughters, Mrs. J. Lowes, city; Mrs F. J. Smart, Toronto; Mrs. J. Morton, Toronto; Mrs. R. H. Doughty, Rochester.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 p.m. Saturday from the late residence, 487 Parnell street, to Little Lake cemetery.

Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald

At his residence, 460 Charlotte street, there passed away late yesterday afternoon, one of Peterborough's most highly respected residents in the person of Mr. Thomas Edward Fitzgerald. In Mr. Fitzgerald's death there is removed one who has been a keen observer of everything that has been going on in the city and county and one who has taken a great interest in public affairs.

Born in Smith township, October 29, 1835, deceased farmed the greater part of his life. As deputy-reeve of Smith township for twenty-four years he performed the duties of his office in a manner which was always in his mind for the best interests of the people he represented. Holding strong views of his own he was a valuable member of the township council, as well as a valued citizen.

As general agent for the Peter Hamilton Co. for several years, he made many friends by his straightforward manner and upright dealings.

On October 20, 1863, Mr. Fitzgerald was married to Miss Agnes Hall, who passed away in October, 1872. Thirty years ago he married Mrs. Oliver, of Newmarket, who survives him.

Twelve years ago the late Mr. Fitzgerald retired and took up his residence in this city. His sage advice has been sought by young and old and his death will be mourned by a host of friends as well as by his wife and one son, Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, the local coal and wood dealer; three daughters Mrs. Ed Elliott, city; Mrs. W. L. McKee, Marysville, Kans.; Mrs. (Rev.) R. B. Beavis, Saskatchewan, and one sister, Mrs. E. J. Sanderson, Chicago; and five brothers, Messrs. John B., Lakefield; William S., Buffalo; Samuel, Chatham; Robert, city, and James, South Carolina.

In religion a Presbyterian, deceased was a consistent member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Ailing for over two years he has been sinking rapidly during the past few days and his death was not wholly unexpected.

The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon from the late residence, 460 Charlotte street, to Little Lake cemetery.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. JOHN SAWERS

Was About City in Good Health on Monday

Alarmed at his non-appearance since Monday last, when he was apparently in good health, Messrs. James Carey and Frank Sanderson, admitted themselves into the home of Mr. John Sawers at the corner of Aylmer and London streets, about ten o'clock this morning and proceeding to his room, found Mr. Sawers cold in death. Coroner Dr. Greer was called, and gave natural causes as the reason of death.

He had been active about the city on Monday and had called at the office of Mr. W. H. Moore, K. C., to transact some legal business and promised to return the following day. Monday night he retired to his room, and while the time of death cannot exactly be ascertained, the grim reaper no doubt came quickly, and probably that night. The body was found reposing in a position that did not speak of any struggle or pain.

The late John Sawers had been a conspicuous figure in this city. He was born here, and was sixty-seven years of age. At an early age he left Peterboro for Lindsay, where he opened a grocery business, and later went to Lakefield, where similar operations were commenced by him. He was a successful business man and many years ago retired to come to Peterboro to reside. He interested himself in civic matters and served on the town council at different periods, and at one time was chairman of the Charity Committee.

His father, the late Augustus Sawers, was Mayor of Peterboro, when the late King Edward, visited here as Prince of Wales, in the year 1860. One year later the father passed away.

The late Mr. Sawers is survived by an invalid widow, who is in the hospital, and one grandchild, Mr. Harold Sanderson of Smith township. His brothers are Messrs. Augustus Sawers of Brock street, city; C.M. Sawers barrister of Vancouver; and Frederick H. Sawers, of Rochester, N.Y. One sister is Mrs. W. H. Moore, of this city.

Funeral arrangements are not completed.

Want Free Paper Repealed.

New York, Oct. 19.—At a meeting yesterday of the executive committee, officers and board of managers of the American Protection Tariff League, a resolution was adopted urging that industrial interests make common cause "against the enemies of American business," and in the fulfilment of this action all members of the league should work for the defeat at the polls of the candidates of whatsoever party who are not protectionist and vote for all candidates who are protectionists.

Other resolutions adopted opposed piecemeal revision of the tariff and requested the repeal of the agreement with Canada permitting the import of print paper free of duty.

NEW YORK SUCCESS AT GRAND MONDAY

Paul Gilmore's Famous Play the Mummy and the Humming Bird at the Grand Monday Oct. 23rd

The announcement is made of the coming appearance at the Grand, on Monday evening next, of Paul Gilmore's famous play, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" a play that had a wonderful success in New York recently.

It is a society play. Lord Lumley the character made famous by Paul Gilmore is a scientist. He marries a beautiful society girl and forgetting her immediately, settles down to his life of scientific investigation. He is the mummy. The Humming Bird is Sig. D'Orelli. He makes love to Lady Lumley, and the climax comes when she goes to his room and Lord Lumley discovers her misstep. He has become acquainted through his philantrophy with Giuseppe, an organ grinder, who tells Lord Lumley he is searching in London for an Italian who wreck d his home. Lord Lumley discovers that Giuseppe is after D'Orelli.

By several clever ruses, which result in thrilling climaxes, Lord Lumley secures his wife, forgives her and turns the vendetta of Giuseppe against D'Ortelli giving the latter a short start of his relentless pursuer.

The audience was large and undoubtedly appreciated Mr. Gilmore. The part of Lord Lumley suits him. The only time he is called upon to express emotion is the third act, when he refuses to be angered by the taunts of the foreigner. He arises to the occasion splendidly. He best depicts the suppressed emotion of a smooth man of the world. In the act where he enters D'Orelli's apartments carrying a revolver, to find his wife, he is at his best. "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" will be found worth seeing.

This is the play that made a star of Mr. Gilmore and will live as long as he lives.

$85,000 FOR TWO NEW PUBLIC SCHOOLS: CITY TRUST ASKED TO BUY THREE PROPERTIES

Deputation From Board of Education Gave Reasons Why Building of Schools in East and West Ward is Absolutely Necessary—Sites for New City Hall and Properties for Two Parks to be Secured.

The City Council had two big propositions on its hands last night and two by-laws calling for the appropriation of something over $100,000 were considered.

The first was to provide for the borrowing of $85,000 to pay for the building of two new public schools, one in the east part of the city and the other in the west, while the other requested the City Trust Commission to purchase three properties, one for a site for a new city hall; another as an addition to the present grounds of the King Edward school and the third for an addition to the property on Mark street, where once the drill hall stood.

To explain the merits of the first proposition, a deputation from the Board of Education consisting of the chairman, Mr John Crane, Dr. Morrison, chairman of the Building Committee, and Messrs. L. M. Hayes, K.C., T. H. Adams, W. H. Hill and Col. Miller was present.

For number two proposition the members of the Council and the chairman of the City Trust Commission, Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., and Mr. [illegible] Kendry came together for a somewhat prolonged discussion.

Regarding the question of the purchase of properties for the city hall and the two parks, which involves some $31,000, Mr. Moore was not inclined to accept the responsibility of making a definite answer. He and Mr. Kendry, the only two members of the commission present, did not constitute a quorum and he wanted the matter to be brought before the full membership of the commission. His department did not have that amount of money at their present disposal and while the discussion from the viewpoint of the council tended to show that the Commission was in a position to take such steps as would provide for the deals being brought to a head, the question will be taken up probably this week by the commission. The council, however, passed the by-law.

Mr. Wm Langford, sr., had under instructions looked over properties suitable for a city hall and secured options. These he presented with explanations at the meeting. It had, however been the unanimous verdict at a recent meeting, that the Birdsall at the corner of Brock and Water streets on which is situated the Fitzgerald Carriage Works, was the best choice.

CITY HALL SITE.

The matter of a site is not the only consideration as the Council is alive to the fact that now is the time to secure property for future purposes. There would be considerable revenue from the Birdsall property, as it now stands.

EAST CITY PARK.

Regarding the Mark street property, Ald. Morgan explained that at the request of the Council he had seen the late Dominion member, Mr. J. R. Stratton, who had promised that a deed of the same would be handed over to the city, and recently that he had seen Mr. J. H. Burnham, the new member, and he gave the assurance that the city would receive the consideration promised.

The adjoining property to the south is occupied by two dilapidated houses and an option on the same for $1,000 has been given the city. This is the property to be purchased to give East City a park.

SOUTH END PARK.

The third item refers to some three acres of land of the Best Estate, which can be purchased for $5,000 and being added to the present ground at the King Edward school will fulfill a long felt want in the south end of the city, in the matter of sufficient park and play grounds accommodation.

The commission has in hand $15,000 from the Midland Railway mortgage and there is $20,000 still unpaid. Then there is another $10,000 and interest to come from the sale of the waterfront property to the C.P.R. Recently $1,000 went out for the public lavatory and another $5,000 was to be put aside for police station improvements.

Mr Crane was the first speaker of the School Board deputation. He pointed out that when the board had asked for $40,000 to build the King Edward school in the south end of the city; it was said that the Board was too optimistic; but this had not proven to be the case, as the condition at the school to-day showed. The Collegiate too had been built and the Queen Alexandra enlarged and only this summer necessary changes had been made to the Central school. Now the north, south and centre of the city was being well taken care of. The east and west had been neglected and the time had arrived for action. The Board felt that a duty had been thrust upon them through the increase in population.

Dr. Morrison held that the spending of more money in the East and West Ward schools would not be acceptable to the people at large. And the expenditure would not be warranted. To make repairs at the East City school and provide a sufficiently large playground, the cost would be $30,000. The committee had decided that it was better to dispose of the present property and build a new school and for this there was only one available property, and this was of five acres at the northeast corner of Hunter and Concession streets on the Armour Estate. The price offered had been refused and the board had taken steps to have the property expropriated. Dr. Morrison presented a plan of the two schools to be built. They would be of two stories and twelve rooms with a basement, which could be used for domestic science and manual training.

In the West Ward it was absolutely necessary that the new school have twelve rooms. At present the junior third was the highest class. The speaker pointed out that many parents could not afford to send their children to the collegiate and therefore the very best education possible should be given the pupils in the public school. Such was not provided at the present time in the West Ward. Then again, the South Central, averages 46 pupils per room for ten rooms and there was no relieving point there. The King Edward had nine rooms and the tenth would have to be opened. The relieving point therefore would have to be on the west, and provision could be made for ample accommodation, the increases of the next eight or ten years being considered. As a site, three acres just outside the boundary at the corner of Weller street, had been chosen. The option expired at the end of this month.

Mr. W. H. Hill said it was the wish of the board to equalize conditions. There had been complaints from the East and West Wards about the poor accommodation, and other handicaps which the pupils had to face in poor ventilation, unsanitary conditions, etc.

The educational department was sending out for reports to be made out later than next June, regarding accommodation and equipment and general conditions and the report from these two schools would be anything but satisfactory. Mr. Hill read the reasons why the new schools were necessary. "Toronto is spending millions," said the speaker.

Aldermen Metheral and Graham were of the opinion that the request for the appropriation of $85,000 should go to the people.

Ald. Anderson thought the schools were really necessary.

Mr. Hill—"Suppose the people defeated the by-law, the schools would have to be built."

Ald. Morgan—"Let the council put it through, the people will stand by them."

It was pointed out that the people of the south, north and centre might feel disposed to vote against the by-law, and also that the city council had full power to pass the by-law in council.

With but very little discussion Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Edgar, moved that the by-law be prepared and the motion carried without a dissenting voice.

WHY BUILDINGS ARE NECESSARY

The following is a summary of the reasons given by the Board of Education for erecting new school buildings in East and West City instead of enlarging the old structures. The reasons are concrete ones that should commend themselves to all right-thinking ratepayers:

EAST CITY SCHOOL.

1. Building—
(1) Two buildings—neither can be enlarged and repaired.
(a) Foundation of main building defective and walls cracked—kept together with rods.
(2) No system of ventilation.
(3) Lighting defective—no cloak room.
(4) Wood furnace—pipes running through the room.
2. No modern conveniences, and no play rooms.
3. Yard too small for games.
4. Accommodation—
(a) Building fully taxed for accommodation at present.
(b) Seven rooms at present used.
(c) At present rate of increase, an eight room will be needed next midsummer.

Therefore, to make provision for future growth, a twelve roomed school is necessary.

The Education Department has recently notified all City Public School Inspectors to report to the Department before next June regarding city school buildings, under the following headings:

(1) Water closets, (2) water supply, (3) school grounds, (4) school buildings, (5) class rooms, (6) halls, (7) cap rooms, (8) teachers' rooms, (9) desks, (10) blackboards, (11) lighting, (12) heating.

NOTE—It must be borne in mind that in order to enjoy the departmental grants for school purposes condition must come up to twentieth century requirements. And unless the sanitary conditions and accommodation provided for these two schools are not augmented and improved this city stands to come short of departmental financial aid in support of East and West City schools.

11. Building—
(1) This building is not worth enlarging as the rooms are too small and the hall is very narrow.
(2) The lighting is defective.
(3) The ventilation system is very poor.
(4) There are no cloak rooms.
2 No modern conveniences.
3. Yard quite unfit for any games, as it is very small.
4. Accommodation—
(1) The building is overcrowded and the South Central is also overcrowded. To relieve these two schools two extra rooms will have to be opened in the near future.
(2) If Manual Training and Domestic Science classes were introduced into the South Central, fully NINE rooms would be required to the new building.

To accommodate the West Ward pupils and relieve the South Central school and to make provision for Manual Training and Domestic Science classes, there will be need for NINE rooms as soon as the building is opened.

A twelve roomed building would leave room for further growth of the city.

Bell Telephone Employees Will Have City League Team

It is the intention of the local Bell telephone employes to enter a team in the city hockey league, this winter, should such a league be arranged. Plenty of good material is available to compose a good hockey team, and those who have evinced a willinghood and enthusiasm in the game on the telephone staff, are eager for the ice to appear, and have a work out. The services of Wilfred Brisbin can be used, he having lately accepted employment with the mechanical staff. Wetlauffer and others with the Bell, should be able to put up a fair showing on ice in the popular winter game. In the event of no city league being formed, and should a mercantile league be organized, the team will be entered in the latter ranks.

OFFICERS ELECTED

A. A. Smith is President of the Telephony Club

The Telephony Club met last evening as announced in the district superintendent's office and held their opening meeting of the season. Mr. G. O. Cameron, acted as chairman and called for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President—A. A. Smith.
Vice-President—J. O. Guardhouse.
Sec.-Treasurer—J. P. Collins.
Librarian—E. K. Spriggs.
Chairman—F. W. Dean

An open and informal discussion took place after the appointment of the officers, on telephone plant accounting, which proved of interest to all present.

Mr. C. Leslie, of Toronto, district plant superintendent, was present.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

THE SOUND OF OUR VOICE

Experiments Support Contention That Everyone Hears His Own Voice Differently From Others.

That a man does not hear his own voice as all the rest of the world hears it is shown by an interesting experiment described by Dr. L. Laloy in La Nature (Paris). Says this writer:

"If a person records on a phonograph a few sentences pronounced by himself, together with others by his friends, and causes the machine to reproduce these at the end of a brief period, it generally happens that he easily recognizes his friends' voices, but not his own. On the other hand, the friends recognize his voice perfectly. This singular fact proves that every one hears his own voice differently from others.

"As is remarked by Professor Exner, the difference must lie in the quality of tone. It must be remembered that one hears his own voice not only through the air, as do his auditors, but across the solid parts situated between the organs of speech and those of hearing. The sound thus produced has a different timbre from that conducted to the ear by air alone

"We may show this as follows: Take the end of a wooden rod between the teeth and pronounce a vowel continuously. Let the other end be alternately taken between the teeth and released by another person, who at the same time stops his ears. The latter will find that every time he seizes the rod in his teeth the sound becomes stronger than when it reaches his ear through air alone, and has a different quality. The experiment may be varied by applying a wooden rod to the larynx of the person observed and touching it, from time to time, to the observer's own larynx. As in the preceding case, it will be found that its passage through a solid body augments the intensity of the sound and modifies its quality."

SOUND IN THE UNIVERSE.

We live and move at the bottom of an ocean of air, the earth's atmosphere. One consequence of this is that every mechanical disturbance starts waves of compression and rarefaction, which radiate out from the source, and, striking the drum of our ear, may (if of the right strength and quality) cause in us the sensation of "sound." Among such sensations some affect us merely as "noises"; in others we recognize a more or less well-defined "musical pitch," and "tone quality." Physically the "noise" differs from the "musical note" in that the former is an irregular disturbance, while the latter is periodic and of definite frequency. Not that there is any hard and fast line of demarkation; a rapid succession of impulses, which separately would be mere noises, may impress the ear with a definite sense of pitch. Thus the teeth of a saw, cutting in rapid sequence through a wooden board, produce a sound of definite pitch, though lacking perhaps in musical quality. Or, again, a sharp noise of brief duration, proceeding from a point in the neighbourhood of a series of equidistant obstacles, such as a line of fence-rails, or a flight of stone steps, produces upon the observer a sensation in which a more or less well-defined pitch can be recognized. The explanation of this phenomena is that the sound is reflected back from each fence-rail in turn, and since it takes time to travel, each echo reaches the observer a trifle later than that from the neighbouring rail.

To Make Light in a Bottle.

A safe light for going about at night or where there are inflammable materials, as into a store-room, may be made as follows: Take a long glass bottle and put into it a piece of phosphorus the size of a pea; upon this pour pure olive oil heated to the boiling point until this bottle is about one-third full and cork tightly. When light is needed take the cork out and allow the air to enter, subsequently recorking. The empty space in the bottle will then become luminous and give quite an effective light. If it becomes dim it can easily be revived by uncorking the bottle for a few seconds. One bottle will last a whole winter. Small bottles may also be prepared in this way and carried in the pocket.

Small but Strong.

The Katydid, which is closely allied to the grasshopper family, is something of a hauler for its avoirdupois. Recently, an average looking specimen was harnessed to a kind of sledge made by folding a piece of ordinary notepaper, and then loaded the sledge with various articles. The insect proved able to draw, in addition to the original paper, twelve paper sheets each three by four and a half inches, a large screw, two steel pens, a stone weighing two ounces, and three and a half lead pencils. When the weight became too heavy to draw otherwise the katydid got its fore feet over the edge of the table for a better hold, and on addition of another weight it increased the adhering power of its feet by moistening them in its mouth.

How Deserts are Formed

There is a popular idea that deserts like the Sahara are the bottoms of ancient seas which have been lifted above their original elevation by geological forces. This notion is an erroneous one. It is absolutely certain, high authorities contend, that the sands of all the great deserts have been formed on the spot by the disintegration of the solid rocks on which they rest. Desert sands correspond in all respects, so far as their mode of origin is concerned, to the dust and sand that accumulates on our high roads in summer. All deserts are situated where the winds from the ocean, before reaching them, are exhausted of their moisture by passing over mountains or across extensive tracts of land.

New Zealand's Sulphur Island.

One of the most extraordinary islands in the world lies in the Bay of Plenty, New Zealand. It is called White Island, and consists mainly of sulphur mixed with gypsum and a few other minerals. Over the island, which is about three miles in circumference, and rises between 800 and 900 feet above the sea, there continually flots an immense cloud of vapour attaining an elevation of 10,000 feet. In the centre is a boiling lake of acid-charged water, covering fifty acres, and surrounded with blow holes, from which steam and sulphurous fumes are emitted with great force and noise. With care a boat can be navigated on the lake. The sulphur from White Island is very pure, but little effort has yet been made to procure it systematically.

Finley Knew

Michael Clancy, who lived in Goldfield, Nevada, had returned to that mining city after a stay in Sacramento. He was telling his friend Finley about the place, and was expatiating particularly on the glories of a new hotel building where he had aided construction by carrying the hod.

"Tis that big," orated Clancy, "they have a place on the roof where they play goll'f."

"Man, you're crazy!" broke in Finley. "How could they do that? 'Tis some other game you're thinkin' av."

"Well, 'tis this game they play with a fish-net."

"That's tinnis," explained Finley.

"Beloike you're right," condescended Clancy; "I niver played it."

"Sure I'm right," declared Finley, with a fine air of superior wisdom. "I know'd it couldn't be goll'f, for how the blazes would they get their horses up there?"

It is not known just how long mosquitoes can live, but their average life is much longer than is ordinarily supposed. Thousands of them live through winter, hibernating or asleep in dark places, and even though the temperature may fall far below freezing they are not winter killed, but on the approach of warm weather become active again.

ABOUT WOMEN SPIES

Japan is Said to Have the Business of Female Spies Arranged on Very Effective Lines.

In no part of the world has the woman spy been brought to the point so near perfection as in Europe, and it may be unhesitatingly said that in Russia, which fairly swarms with eyes and ears of the Czar, the dashing, beautiful woman, of high breeding and title, perhaps has become the most necessary arm of that underground system which appears to read thoughts as well as detect designs.

To meet the Russian spy on his or her own ground the Japanese have, it is said, secured the services of some of the cleverest women in Europe, many of them French women, and often their visible means of support is by acting.

The Japanese police and military system has, of course, its secret service; but it is not nearly so ubiquitous as is the so-called third section of the Russian police. Yet during the last few years little of importance has transpired in Europe affecting the situation in the Far East of which the Japanese Foreign Office has been ignorant.

Her agents, the best of them those so-called French actresses, found a way of being present wherever there was anything to be learned. Often these women encounter the women spies of the Russian Government, who are undoubtedly among the cleverest detectives in their line in the world.

Governments at war, or on the brink of hostilities, require the services of two distinct classes of spies. There must be many men connected with this dangerous service; but for the most part the work demands courage and skill rather than the delicate diplomacy which is required, too, but is generally, certainly so far as Russia is concerned, assigned to women of culture, education, beauty, and rare judgment. With the troops of the enemy are sent the men spies, and with the commanding officers, with the diplomats, with the brains which stay in St. Petersburg and move armies 5000 miles away as if they were pawns on a chessboard, the ingratiating, clever women spies are to be found.

While the Japanese have not been regarded as having an especially efficient secret service, the events of the late war showed that the persons who were watching day and night for them proved of the greatest value. It is known that just about the time the war broke out there were in Port-Arthur several French dancers, who had captured every Russian official heart.

They were not only attractive dancers, but beautiful women, who dressed well and had most engaging manners. The Russian officers were charmed with them. They soon became better acquainted and proved to be very agreeable companions. They took a great interest in things military, but always made amazing blunders in attempting to repeat what had been told them.

The womanly ignorance of such matters charmed the young officers all the more, and at the same time put them off their guard. But, as a matter of fact, they were very clever women, and their information was forwarded speedily to the Japanese Legation at Pekin, which, in turn, forwarded valuable reports to Tokio. By the time their true character was known the French actresses, who were spies for the Japanese, had left Port Arthur far behind.

Music Healing.

It is quite agreed by psycho-therapeutists to-day that music has power not only to "soothe the savage breast," but to heal many disorders. Hence the great interest of the following record raked up by an official of an English city. It dates from 1704, and runs:—"The physicians of Bath solicited Mr. Nash to let the band perform in the Pump Room (to which he acquiesced) for the following among other reasons:—'That the least stroke imaginable upon any musical instrument has such an effect on the human body as to move its component machinulae in all their parts, giving the fibres of the whole body more or less, according to their degree of tension, correspondent concussions; and consequently the spirits are not only raised, or made fine, but the other animal fluids are also briskly agitated, and their preternatural cohesions and viscidities destroyed.'"

China and Opium Trade

That China is doing her best to stamp out the opium trade in the Middle Kingdom is coming to be generally recognized, and a letter in The Rangoon Gazette from the pen of E. J. Dingle is a reminder of the fact. Mr. Dingle who in 1909 made a study on the spot of this question in China, now writes from Hankow as follows: "I unhesitatingly declare that in my experience I have never known or heard of a crusade against this national curse being carried on with greater vigor and at greater national expense, and China is unquestionably doing her part. So recently as the past three months I have travelled in parts of the interior provinces where two years ago I saw more than half the land given up to cultivation of the poppy. Now there is not a single poppy patch."

Israelites and Palestine

Authorities in Palestine report a steady stream of Jewish immigrants. Half a century ago it was calculated that there were about six thousand Jews in Jerusalem out of a population of 12,000. To-day Jerusalem has a population of about 84,000, of whom it is estimated that no fewer than 55,000 to 60,000 are Jews. In other parts also in Palestine the Jews have established themselves in recent years in considerable numbers. In Jaffa they have increased in ten years from 1000 to 15,000, the total population being now about 40,000. Most of these Jewish immigrants have come from Russia and Poland, and often they arrived in very distressed circumstances.

QUAINT JAP PILGRIMS

The Japanese peasants, when they get themselves up for the business of a pilgrimage, are the quaintest figures imaginable. The women generally tuck up their petticoats well above their knees, either leaving the legs bare or else swathing them in white bandages, which form a kind of leggings. Their hair is done in the usual elaborate Japanese style, and generally an artificial flower is stuck in at the top. It does look so comic to see the wizened face of an old woman with a large red rose bobbobbing over it. And this floral decoration is not confined to the women: when you meet a party of pilgrims you often see the old men also with a flower stuck coquettishly above the ear. It appears that many of the poor old dears from the country get so bewildered by the magnificence of the places they go to and the distractions of shopping that they quite lose their heads, and consequently their way. So the ever thoughtful Japanese police have insisted that every party of pilgrims is to have a distinguishing badge. At Nagano it was the commonest thing possible to see some ancient dame rushing about wailing, "Where is my party? Where is the purple iris party?" or, "Where is the yellow-towel-round-the-neck party?" And then she would be told that the "yellow-towel-round-the-neck party" was on its way to the station, or that the "purple irises" were still saying their prayers in the temple.

They Set It Right!

Among "the good old ways" of "Merrie England" is the tendency to democracy prevailing in the great public schools. There there is no pampering, however exalted the boys' rank or great their possessions. A story is told of an Indian official of high rank, calling upon the house master in a famous public school, where a young prince, son of a rajah, was being educated. The official brought a special message from his master to the effect that he wanted no favours or exceptional treatment of any sort extended to his son on account of his exalted birth.

"You may set the mind of the rajah at rest on that score," said the house master, struggling to keep back his smile before the dignified anxiety of the Indian official. "If the authorities were inclined to discriminate in the prince's favour, the boys of the school would set the matter right. Among them generally the rajah's son answers to the name of 'Nigger,' and I understand that with his intimates he is familiarly known as 'Coal scuttle.'"

FIELD CROPS FOR ONTARIO

Bulletin Compares the Crops of This Year and Last

Ottawa, October 18—A bulletin of the Census and Statistics Office issued to-day deals with the field crops of the present year compared with the figures of the year 1900.

The census areas of field crops enumerated in the month of June have been compiled for all the provinces excepting Quebec and British Columbia, and the statistics of principal crops are given in this report together with estimates of production computed from the reports of a large staff of correspondents at the end of September. The area figures for Saskatchewan are lacking for those two districts and those of Nova Scotia for one district, but the totals of the Dominion will be ready for the November monthly, and a comparison of areas for the census years 1901 and 1911 will then be made.

For the years 1909, 1910 and 1911 the comparative quality of crops at the end of September was fairly uniform for wheat, oats, barley and rye; but peas, beans buckwheat, mixed grains and flax were lower this year by eight to 13 per cent. Fodder crops, including roots and corn, are unchanged for the three years. The condition of potatoes, which is 76.78, is the same as last year, but 13.60 less than two years ago.

The comparative condition of fodder and root crops for the Dominion at the end of September ranges from 82 to 87 per cent, of alfalfa 79.55 per cent and of potatoes 76.78 per cent. and is generally in Ontario than elsewhere The Maritime Provinces and the Northwest provinces give 90 per cent and over for potatoes, and nearly as good for other field roots.

The census enumeration of field crops taken in June shows for the Northwest provinces together with Ontario and the Maritime provinces an area of 9,990,021 acres wheat. 7,661,988 acres oats, 1,291,287 acres barley; 133,963 acres rye; and 1,090,615 acres flawx—to which will be added the acres for two districts in Saskatchewan. For the harvest year of 1900 the corresponding figures of the census of 1901 were 4,068,228 acres wheat 3,081,370 acres oats, 765,278 acres barley. 156,358 acres rye, and 21,202 acres flax.

The increase in the production of the principal grains in the decade, computed for the present year on the estimates of correspondents, is shown to be round numbers. 148,035,000 bushels wheat, 187,049,000 bushels oats, 21,711,000 bushels barley, 864,000 bushels rye, and 12,360,000 bushels flax. These figures are exclusive of returns for two districts in Saskatchewan.

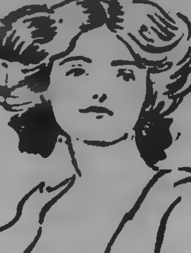
ARE YOUR LIPS BECOMING UGLY?

The "Cupid's Bow" is Said to be Giving Way to Thin, Hard and Straight Lips

Poets have raved and singers have sung of the beauty of woman's mouth —the magnet which draws man into the meshes of matrimony. But, alas! women's mouths are no longer beautiful. We look in vain for the "Cupid's Bow"—the "sweet, red, splendid kissing mouth." That type is giving way to lips which are thin, hard, and straight, and which, while expressing character, detract largely from the beauty of the modern woman.

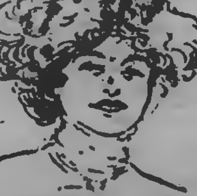


The Cupid's Bow.

At any rate, that is the view expressed by several artists in an interesting symposium of opinions published in the Morning Leader recently. And artists should know, seeing that their livelihood depends on their observations of the human form and face.

"The mouth," says one artist—Mr. G. Sheridan Knowles, R.I.—"is the feature which is most rarely perfect. Many women have good eyes, or a good nose, but very few have a perfect mouth. This may be deplored, because the mouth has the greatest share in expressing character, and cannot be overlooked. My own ideal is the subtle mouth—that is to say, a mouth which expresses distinct character and is in harmony with the rest of the face.

"The Venus of Milo has comparatively thick lips, but other equally famous statues have thin ones. My own opinion is that a compromise between the two extremes is the ideal. The 'Cupid's Bow' mouth may be ideal for a child, but something more subtle is needed for a woman. There have been many conventions in lips. The Gainsborough and Reynolds convention was comparatively thin lips without and Cupid curves. The Cosetti convention was the other extreme—very thick lips."

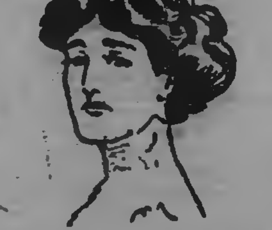


Don't grin. Mouths are best in repose.

One explanation offered of the fact that woman's lips are becoming less beautiful is that they are made thinner and straighter on account of the degeneration of teeth, caused by the unnatural conditions of to-day, and there is no doubt that lips depend upon good and regular teeth for their beauty, and lose their graceful outline when the teeth degenerate.

Mr. Alfred Praga, President of the Royal Miniature Society, agrees with Mr. Knowles that one very seldom sees a perfect mouth nowadays. "My ideal," he says, "is the rosebud or 'Cupid's Bow' type, which is the only pure type of beauty. It may not show character, but that does not matter. Character is not a pure, natural thing, but is acquired, and pure beauty always ends where character begins. Unluckily, woman is developing much character now, and the result may very likely be that she will lose the beauty of her lips.

"It cannot, I think, be too well understood that a beautiful mouth is at its best in repose. The present fashion of smiling and showing the teeth is deplorable. From the artistic point of view, a smile is nothing but a contortion of the face, which ruins the features for the purposes of portraiture. Face muscles that should be in repose are brought into activity, and the result is by no means beautiful. The mouth is stretched across the face, the lips lose any curves they may have, and the whole face suffers."



Type of lips of to-day.

On the other hand, Mr. G. G. Kilburne, R.I., says that he has no difficulty in finding models with beautiful mouths. "I notice many perfect mouths when walking about the streets," he continues; "one sees, indeed, a great number of beautiful women in London.

"Of course, there are many types of beauty, and one type may be as beautiful as another that is widely different. Probably every artist has his own ideal, and it is difficult to say definitely which lips are the most beautiful. They must not be too thin, and they must not be thick enough to become coarse. Certainly the rosebud mouth, which is often held up as the ideal, cannot be accepted as perfect, because, as I have said, it fails to express character."—Tit-Bits.

IN THE WORLD OF SCIENCE

ANIMAL AND RACIAL ODORS

The White Man Gives Off a Distinctive Natural Smell Same as the Negro.

That every human being and every animal possesses an individual odour we know, although generally our own sense of smell cannot distinguish one from another, for the more sensitive scent of the dog does this with ease from the slightest traces. That the personal odour of an entire race has a character of its own we also know. In most cases this odour is displeasing to members of different races. The odour of the negro is often spoken of by white races as offensive, but it will be news to most of us that the odour of Europeans is quite as objectionable to the Japanese. A Japanese physician, Dr. Burtaro Adacki, has recently published some remarkable observations on this subject.

"This physician states that 'it is certain that the Western peoples possess a natural odour which is not perceived by them, but which is clearly perceptible to the yellow race.' After a certain length of time, however, both Japanese and Chinese who have taken up their residence in Europe become habituated to this odour, it being the experience of these European residents that the odour of Europeans, which at first was intolerable, after several weeks' residence becomes supportable.

"Every living animal possesses in general a characteristic odour — horses, dogs, cats, etc., man himself having an emanation which is a part of the race and which may be individual and variable with age and condition of health. The sudoriferous glands produce the emanation perceived by the sense of smell, although it is true that the Chinese and Japanese have little or no odorous emanation. When these races perspire, their perspiration has no odour, a fact which is doubtless chiefly a question of race, although also probably one of alimentary regime. In the white races observers who possess an acute sense of smell can distinguish solely by this means those persons who follow a vegetarian regime and those who eat meat, at times the difference between these two classes of persons being very pronounced. The individuals who nourish themselves on meat exhale, under the influence of the fermentation of cutaneous secretions, a much stronger odour than vegetarians. Experimenters in ethnography know that there exist provincial odours, the odour of Brunswick being different from that of Bavaria, that of Savoy different from that of Normandy.

"The Japanese are chiefly vegetarians, and for this reason their skin exhales odours which are scarcely perceptible; but here clothing plays its role, for if we superimpose many layers of tissue closely around the body, perspiration is produced, and with it the odour of disassimilation

THE WONDERFUL WATCH

Few pieces of machinery show more marvellous features than that of the watch. As a general proposition it may be stated that a watch is the smallest, most delicate instrument of the same number of parts that has ever been devised. About one hundred and seventy-five different pieces of material enter into its construction, and upwards of twenty-four hundred separate operations are comprised in its manufacture. Certain of the facts connected with its performance are almost incredible, when considered as a whole. A blacksmith strikes several hundred blows on his anvil in a day and, as a matter of course, is glad when Sunday comes; but the roller jewel of a watch makes every day — and day after day — 432,000 impacts against the fork, or 157,680,000 blows during the course of a year, without stop or rest — or some 3,153,600,000 blows during the space of twenty years, the period for which a watch is usually guaranteed to keep good time. But the wonder of it does not cease here. It has been calculated that the power that moves the watch is equivalent to only four times the force used in a flea's jump. The watch-power is, therefore, what might be termed the equivalent of a four flea-power. One horse-power would suffice to operate 270,000,000 watches. Furthermore, the balance-wheel of a watch is moved by this four flea-power one and forty-three one-hundredths inches with each vibration, or 3558¾ miles continuously in one year. Not much oil is required to lubricate the little machine on its 3500-mile run. It takes only one-tenth of a drop to oil the entire machinery of a year service.

Life on Mars.

Mr. Elgie, the author of "The Night Skies of a Year," agrees with the statement recently made by a French scientist that life on Mars has evolved in the same way as it has done on the earth. It is, he thinks, a reasonable conclusion at which to arrive, and adds:—"Why should not life evolve (that is, on Mars) in the same way as it has done on the earth? And not only so on Mars, but on all the other planets? Life will appear on those planets which are at present without it when the planets are ready for the reception and the evolution of life—and not until then. Why should the earth be an exception, either to the rule of the existence of life, or of its evolution?"

The Best Temperature

Sir Benjamin Ward Richardson found, after long experiments and practice, that 64 degrees Fahr. is the best temperature in which to conduct mental labour. If the temperature falls below this the mind becomes drowsy and inactive, and if it rises much above there is a relaxed state of the body and mind which soon leads to fatigue and exhaustion. It is important that the temperature be the same in all parts of the room and that it be steadily maintained.

ALD. BROWN TALKS OF CIVIC MATTERS IN REGINA

Has Been on Trip to the West for Three Months—Pavement and Milk Questions.

Ald. James Brown and Mr. Joseph Ingram arrived in the city last-night after a three months' trip through Manitoba and Saskatchewan, very enthusiastic about Canada's great West. They spent most of their time in Regina where they purchased some property, and Ald. Brown on being interviewed this morning by the Review reporter, regarding civic matters in that city, expressed himself as being impressed with the way in which things are done there.

ALDERMANIC GOVERNMENT

The municipal government is done by Aldermen with their mayor as here and though some are agitating government by commission, it does not meet with general favor. The people think that there is enough drain upon the public treasury without having three or four more highly salaried officials.

PAVING QUESTION

In Regina, during the present season 90,300 square yards of street pavement has been laid at a cost of $281,735. If the autumn weather permits the engineering department to carry out the remainder of their program 26,000 additional square yards will be laid.

There are four kinds of pavement in use in Regina, namely the bithulithic, sheet asphalt, granitoul and asphalt block. Ald. Brown has interested himself in the paving question and may have a few valuable suggestions for the local Board of Works of which committee he is a member. He seems to favor the asphalt block as it can easily be taken up at any time.

MILK IN BOTTLES

Though milk is delivered in bottles and is sold for nine cents per quart in Regina, the milk question there could not be compared with that in this city as the conditions are vastly different. There are so few dairymen that the price is kept very high.

The bottling system as proposed by the local council, is to avoid changing the milk from vessel to another. To some extent it serves that purpose in the western city, but anyone wishing only a pint of milk gets it in a pint bottle which is filled in the wagon from a quart bottle.

PEOPLES' CHIMES RANG OUT FOR BRIDE IN VANCOUVER

At seven o'clock last evening, Mount Pleasant Methodist Church, Vancouver, B.C., was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Ada Winnifred, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Reid, Vancouver, B.C., and formerly of Peterborough, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr Charles D. Hamilton, B.A. Sc.

At ten o'clock last-night, the hour corresponding with seven o'clock in Vancouver time, the chimes in St. John's Church, were rung by Mr. R. J. Devey, in honor of the bride, whose grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William Reid, were the first couple married in St. John's church.

Peterboro friends will be pleased to hear of the interesting event. The bride has many friends in this city who will join in extending best wishes

PROF. FERNOW GIVES REPORT

What Forestry Expert Found in North

Work of Reclamation Should be Dominion's Work

Prof Fernow, the eminent forestry expert, who completed a 200-mile trip through the northern portion fo Peterborough County a few days ago, writes Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., as follows;

Toronto, 17th October, 1911.

J. H. Burnham, M. P.,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in following out your suggestion to give you in writing my impressions and opinions regarding the important problems which your riding offers in the way of inaugurating a policy of recovering the extensive waste lands to be found in the northern townships.

Allow me at the outset to thank you for the welcome opportunity you have afforded me of becoming acquainted with these problems in such a comprehensive manner as our 200-mile ride through the country under competent guidance permitted.

FOREST FIRES WERE WASTEFUL

The first impression that would strike any observant person in travelling over this country is the utter lack of rational management of the original timberlands which has given rise to these waste areas. For, the creation of these wastes, produced entirely by the inconsiderate use of the axe and carelessness in permitting fires repeatedly to run over the slashed areas, could have been avoided without foregoing any of the advantages which have been derived from the timber by lumbermen or government from their exploitation. I mean, all the timber could have been cut and yet the producing power of the land not be reduced. Where there are now hundreds of square miles of valueless brushlands and naked rock desert there could have been left a valuable forest, by this time nearly ready again for a new harvest, the basis of a thriving lumbering industry.

HARVEY AND GALWAY TOWNSHIPS.

This part of the country, the townships of Harvey and Galway, is located on Laurentian rock. This statement is significant for it pictures at once to the initiated the soil conditions, which are typical not only for your county but for a large part of Northern Ontario and Quebec, so that the problems represented in your county are also the problems for thousands of square miles, east, north and west of you. It means a meagre and thin soil overlying the rock, with only here and there pockets of larger and better soil accumualtions where farming is practicable. If there is such a thing as "absolute forest soils," this is the place to look for them.

Practically, at least 75 per cent. of the country under consideration is fit solely for timber growing. Abandoned farms and others that ought to be abandoned, testify to the correctness of the diagnosis that this is for the most part not farming country. Trees can grow in fissures between the rocks, where tillage is precluded and grass-lands are apt to dry out.

AREA ROBBED OF ITS VALUE.

This was originally a forest country, all over more or less of the same type, a mixed forest of hardwoods with pine, hemlock and spruce: the hardwoods prevailing on the better, loamier soils, the conifers on the poorer, sandier soils. Practically the whole area is robbed of its values, fires having repeatedly swept over the slash, denuding the soil of its vegetable mould, and rainwaters have washed away the unprotected soil, in many places creating real rock deserts. A growth of almost useless aspen and birch has established itself where the fire has not run through for a number of years, and a small crop of pine or spruce or other conifers has come in by natural seeding, wherever the cutting of old timber of the kind had not been too close and seed trees had been left—not by design, but by accident. There is still the possibility of reclaiming most of this area, but the story of the Sibyline books may repeat itself; each year's delay means a decrease of the chance of recovery.

The problems of what to do with these vast unproductive areas, which left to themselves and to nature will not in generations produce values, and are apt to deteriorate further.

The first fact to be recognized is that no private interests can be expected to attend to the recuperation of these ares, for it will take more than a generation to bring them into productive condition. It is therefore only the municipality, county, Province or Dominion that can be expected to occupy itself with the solution of the problem.

Financial considerations will probably deter municipalities and county to undertake the recovery of these lands. The province has already recognized its duty with regard to waste lands in the agricultural part of the province, and has in a small, I may say, half-hearted way, began to plant up abandoned farm areas; but as thousands of square miles of similar country are the property of the Province, the progress of their recovery will no doubt remain slow.

DOMINION SHOULD ACT.

The particular area, under consideration, however, offers special reasons for interest by the Dominion; for, the Dominion has already spent some 7 or 8 million dollars in conserving and developing the remarkable water resources of this section by a series of well located and excellently constructed dams at the overflow of the many large lakes characteristic this region. This undertaking of water conservation is one of prime importance and begun with unusual efficiency. While originally this development of water storage was designed to furnish feeders for the Trent canal, with the development of power transmission by electric current—and before the completion of the canal, which alone will give it any permanent value as a means of transportation—the influence of this water storage on the development of water powers is by all odds the present most important function of the same.

WILL CONSERVE WATER.

Now it is evident that anything which affects the efficiency and permanence of this work on which such large outlays have been made should be under the control of the Dominion

The surface conditions of these practically abandoned areas which form the watersheds of the lakes that have been turned into storage basins, are unquestionably of the greatest importance in the maintenance of the water supply, for, whatever may be said of the influence of forests on other climatic phenomena, the influence of surface cover, especially on the waterflow under the conditions of soil and rock of these watersheds, is undeniable.

Moreover, besides this most cogent reason for Dominion interest in these problems, a demonstration of the possibilities of recovery and management of such waste land would furnish an excellent example to the provinces to engage in similar work of conservation.

The areas involved should be looked over by expert foresters and described, the description laid down on maps—a forest reconnaissance similar, but in greater detail, to that which I had made for the Province of Nova Scotia.

SOME PORTIONS BEYOND RECOVERY.

It will then be found, that some of these areas are absolute waste which are beyond recovery, others which may be left to future consideration others again which by the judicious use of the axe may be brought into better condition at once; some of them now contain material that could be made useful if by smart management a market may be found, and would assist in maintenance account; others again may be planted or else merely protected against fire. In other words, by careful management, utilizing every means, including fishing and hunting privileges, summer tourist traffic, etc., as well as forestry products from the start the expense of this reclamation work may be kept to a minimum.

If our Conservation Commission, of which I have the honor to be a member, is to do more than collate existing information, here would be an opportunity for effective, original, investigating and educational work, by directing such a forest reconnaissance perhaps in co-operation with the Dominion Forestry Branch.

In conclusion allow me to congratulate you on your conception of seeing your parliamentary mission in this problem of the recovery of waste lands. It is a matter in which the mere politician can hardly take an interest, for it is all work for a distant future. It is a problem of true statesmanship, which sees into the future and plans for the prosperity of coming generations.

Sincerely Yours,
B. E. FERNOW.

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. C.P.R. LINE FROM VICTORIA HARBOR TO BETHANY COMPLETE

Last Rail is Laid of a Magnificent Stretch of Railway---Ready for This Fall's Traffic--Saves One Hundred Miles of Haul on Western Grain to Tide-Water.

The last rail on the Canadian Pacific Railway's new grain route from Victoria Harbor to Bethany was laid yesterday morning. Word to that effect was received at the local headquarters of the C.P.R. this afternoon and as soon as the ballasting has been completed the line will be ready for regular traffic. This should not take more than a couple of months at the most as the greater part of the ballasting that will have to be done before the line is ready for traffic is in the vicinity of Lindsay and Bethany. At Lindsay, where the biggest bridge of the line is being finished, the builders have a big staff of men at work and it is expected to be completed in a very short time. There are several other bridges on the line, but the only one of importance is where the line crosses from Lake Simcoe to Lake Couchiching. Here there is a 110 foot span swing bridge. The completion of this line by the Canadian Pacific is of singular importance. It will have to play an important part in the transportation of the grain crops of the west to Montreal and the east. The grain at present is brought from Fort William and Port Arthur, either all the way by the great lakes via Owen Sound and Toronto. When this new line is operated a new alternate route will be offered, the grain can be forwarded from the head of the lakes by steamer to Victoria Harbor on the Georgian Bay, the western terminus of the line, and from there by rail to Montreal. The advantages of the new route are manifold. First of all it will cut down the time consumed in shipping the grain from the head of the lakes by many hours. Compared with the Owen Sound Toronto route it means a saving in haul of nearly one hundred miles, and it is obviously much shorter than the all water route. Another advantage is that it is a line with practically no grades, a feature that will tend to make the running of trains much easier. Outside of its usefulness as a grain line, the new branch will have considerable value as a passenger line. It will allow the C.P.R. to tap a country which they have not heretofore entered and it will give good transportation facilities to a large farming populace. The new line starts from the docks at Victoria Harbor and crosses the Toronto Sudbury line of the C.P.R., 13 miles out. At Bethany, fourteen miles west of Peterboro it forms a junction with the main Toronto-Montreal line of the C.P.R. The Toronto construction company have had the work of building the road. It is 88 miles from Victoria Harbor to Bethany, and 85 pound rails have been laid. In connection with the new line the C.P.R. have spent huge sums of money in equipping Victoria Harbor as the western terminus of the line. Two wharfs 3,000 feet long and 60 feet wide have been built on either side of the harbor, and these are separated by a water way 100 feet wide, giving ample room for the berthing of a dozen large lake boats at the same time. There have also been built a large storage elevator, a boiler house, two 1,000 feet freight and flour sheds, boarding houses, cottages, etc. The elevator is one of the largest in Canada. It has a storage capacity at present of two million bushels of grain, but it is so constructed that it can in future be enlarged to a capacity of ten million bushels.

MACKAY TO STAY

Liberal Leader Declined To Quit the Job

Toronto, Oct. 20.—The leading Liberals of the province, to the number of about thirty, assembled yesterday afternoon in the reform headquarters here to discuss the provincial situation and size up their chances. They also discussed the Hon. A. G. MacKay, and just before adjournment the caucus unanimously passed a resolution of confidence in his leadership.

The caucus was attended by all the Liberal members of the Legislature and by the Liberal candidates who have already been nominated for the coming election. Mr. MacKay was also there. From what could be gathered later the meeting was fairly harmonious.

A statement was officially handed out in the evening by C. M. Smith of Sault Ste. Marie and was as follows: "The unanimous conviction was expressed that the Whitney Government had failed to live up to the expectations of the people of Ontario. The census returns just published, coupled with the conspicuous inability of the administration to take advantage of its great opportunities in the north country were cited as evidences of the necessity for a change of Government at Toronto."

"It was felt that the agricultural policy of the Whitney Government so far as old Ontario is concerned and the colonization policy for the agricultural lands in New Ontario is entirely inadequate. The census returns show that the Whitney police has not only not retained the natural increase in the rural population of old Ontario, but has absolutely failed to secure any part of the large immigration for either new or old Ontario. So much so that the rural population of the whole province has actually decreased during the regime of the present Government.

"Before adjournment on motion of Mr. Daniel Reed, M.P.P., for Wentworth and Mr. J. D. Elliott, M.P.P., for West Middlesex, the caucus passed an unanimous resolution of confidence in the leadership of the Hon. Mr. MacKay."

BEETON FARMER MET HIS DEATH

Was Struck by Train and Had Neck Broken

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—Richard Bray, of Beeton, Ont., who was found with a broken neck on the G.T.R. railway track at the foot of John street, last night, died this morning without having regained consciousness. He was discovered by Conductor Hinds, of the C.P.R., lying across a rail and covered with dirt. It is presumed that the unfortunate man was struck with a locomotive and rolled along the ground. He was a farmer and about sixty years of age.

C. N. R. to Tunnel Montreal.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—A tunnel through Mount Royal, which will cost about $25,000,000, will be constructed by the Canadian Northern Railway. The necessary application for authority to construct and operate such a tunnel, with the necessary approaches and works, will be made at the next session of the Dominion Parliament by the Canadian Northern Montreal Tunnel and Terminal Co., Ltd.

SLAVE HORRORS IN THE SAHARA

Tripoli Missionary Says That Traffic Flourishes

Rome, Oct. 20.—The missionary, Father Apollonio, head of the home at Benghazi, Tripoli, for young negroes who had been freed from slavery, says that the slave trade in the north of Africa is flourishing.

Small children are packed two, and even three, in a bag for transportation, while the larger ones are tied in chains, the desert being stained with their blood. Those who collapse are abandoned to die of starvation or to be the prey of lions.

On one occasion, the missionary says, the leader of the caravan, enraged because a female slave exhausted, was unable to proceed further, cut off one of her arms, using the member subsequently as a weapon with which to beat others of the unhappy party.

MONTREAL CLAIMS CENSUS WAS 26,000 SHORT IN COUNT

Civic Officials Say Census Missed Many People—Will Have Civic Census Taken.

Montreal, Oct. 20.—Judging from the inquiries received and the complaints made at the assessment department, the present Dominion census of the city of Montreal is about 26,000 short of its actual population, at a conservative estimate. This statement was made yesterday by P. W. Collins of the muncipal assessment department, in discussing the returns from Ottawa. Mr. Collins also said that the best method of taking census in cities was through the assessors. The assessment department had a complete list of the houses in town, and the assessors would prepare cards for each house for filling out. This was a scientific plan, and omissions could be readily detected.

"If the census enumerators had even come to us after they took the returns we could have checked the figures and told them of omissions."

Mr. William Robb, the city treasurer, said that the assessment commissioners were going to recommend to the Board of Control that they should be instructed to take an annual census of the city.

Dr. Louis Laberge, medical health officer, said that according to his estimate, the enumerators were at least 4,000 short in their count.

New Rector of Ottawa College.

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—The appointment of Rev. Father A. B. Roy as rector of the University of Ottawa, in succession to Rev. Father Wm. Murphy, whose term has expired, was officially announced yesterday. Father Roy was born at New Glasgow, Que., in 1866. He was educated in St. Lin, Que., New York City, Albany and Buffalo. Since 1906 he has been a professor in the university.

CLERGYMAN IS ARRESTED

Special to the Review.

Boston, Oct. 20 — Rev. Clarence Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Baptist church, at Cambridge, Mass., has been arrested in connection with the death of Avis Linnell, a young girl, who died after taking poison, in mistake for medicine. It is alleged that the preacher supplied the poison.

MR. PECK HOME FROM HOLIDAYS; READY FOR ARDUOUS CAMPAIGN

Conservative Candidate Preparing an Address to the Electors — Opposed to Bi-Lingual Teaching in the Schools — Brief Statement on Other Matters.

Mr. E. A. Peck returned last night from a short holiday at Ketcheum Lake in Cavendish township, and was interviewed this morning by a representative of the Review. Mr. Peck stated that in view of the information that had been sent him, that a provincial election would shortly be held, he had curtailed his holidays in order to proceed at once to organise for the campaign. Steps were now being taken to that end, and he was very pleased to say that very generous promises of support from not only Conservatives, but from many prominent Liberals have already been made to him. He stated that he proposed issuing an address to the electors in the course of a week. In the meantime there were two or three matters in connection with his platform to which he might now refer.

He was in favor of continuing the policy of the present administration in improving the means of communication within the riding. Liberal grants had been made by the government in the past towards the improvement of the highways in the northern part of the riding, and he stated that in addition to a continuation of such grants further sums might be obtained from the government with the co-operation of the County Council in improving the main highways leading to the centre of trade in the riding.

He felt a deep interest in the cause of education. The present government had kept in view the desirability of rendering the teachers more efficient and of encouraging the establishment of continuation classes in rural districts. Substantial grants were now made by the government with these objects in view.

In connection with education the Bilingual question might be referred to. Mr. Peck expressed himself as being strongly in favor of the use of the English language only in the Public schools of this Province. If necessary the school regulations should be amended so as to prevent the use of the French language in the instruction of the pupils. It was unfair to the French children themselves that they should not be so instructed as to enable them to compete on an equal footing with children of English extraction.

Fourth Game Again Postponed on Account of Rain

Special to the Review.

New York, October 20. — The third postponement of the fourth game of the World's series was made necessary to-day on account of rainy weather. The report that Manager McGraw will send Matthewson to the mound, when the fourth game is called, has no terrors for the Athletics as the players believe, that despite the rest Big Six has had, they can successfully solve his offerings and score a bigger victory than they did in the last contest.

Canada vs. Australia.

London, Oct. 20—(C. A. P. Cable.)—Commenting upon the Canadian census returns, The Daily News says that the proximity of the Dominion to the United States and Europe, combined with greater natural advantages and a generous emigration policy, explains how Canada has been outstripping Australia in the matter of population in the short space of twenty years.

A despatch from Sydney, N. S. W., says: "The Hon. Mr. Beeby, Minister of Lands, promises to throw open a million acres of land on leasehold tenure next year. Hon. Mr. Nelson, the ex-Minister, is attending the Chicago Irrigation Conference, to arrange for immigrants from the United States and to enquire if the appointment of commercial agents in America would be advisable.

BODY OF VIOLET SMITH, THE DILLONPORT SCHOOL TEACHER, DRAGGED FROM A RIVER

Discovery Was Made After Ten Days Search, and Hope Almost Gone—Body Has Not Been Examined for Marks of Violence — Was it Suicide or Murder.

Parry Sound, Oct. 20.—Word has been received here that the body of Violet Smith, the school teacher who has been missing for ten days, and for whom the whole countryside was being searched, has been found floating in the River Shebashekong, about a quarter of a mile from the house of Peter Ramsay, with whom she was boarding.

Captain Brock Batten of Port Arthur, Miss Smith's brother-in-law, and Wm. Beatty recovered the body, which was allowed to remain in the water attached to a small boat, pending the arrival of Coroner Davis.

Miss Violet Smith, who came from Collingwood, had many friends in Toronto, she having lived at 54 McGill street while studying at the Normal School, and all who knew her, speak of her in the highest terms. She is described as extremely retiring and diffident, and her failure to pass her final examination last summer is attributed to lack of self-confidence, as she appeared to be clever and painstaking. The cost of her studies was defrayed by a brother, Joseph, to whom she was deeply attached.

Being anxious to undertake the teaching profession, she accepted the opening at Dillon Port in September last.

Miss Smith's mother passed away on Nov. 14 of last year.

Prostrated with grief and on the verge of collapse through nervousness and excitement, the dead girl's two sisters, Evelyn and Birdie, are staying for the time being at Herman's restaurant on Yonge street, and are both under the doctor's care. They scout the idea of suicide and maintain that their sister must have been murdered.

There is no knowledge among her friends and relatives here in Toronto of any love affair, or jealousy which might have led to the tragedy. In writing to her sisters, Violet remarked that the reports she had heard before coming to Dillon Port that it was a "rough" place, were true, and the longer she stayed the more she realized how rough it was.

Miss Smith had commenced to teach school there at the opening of the fall term, and had intended to stay till the Christmas holidays, anyhow. She had only been in Dillon Port five or six weeks before her mysterious disappearance.

Mr. Herman, who was well acquainted with Miss Smith, says she never was melancholy, but always quiet and reserved. Her hair was dark in color and she was small and slender in physique. She was 19 years old, and quite clever, having passed her matriculation when she was 15. In languages she was particularly proficient.

Her two sisters are anxiously awaiting particulars of the tragedy, which are expected to-day. If it is found that Violet has been done away with, not a stone will be left unturned to bring the culprit to justice.

Important developments in the case are expected by the dead girl's friends in Toronto.

Robbed Safe of Printing Co. and Fired Building

Toronto, Oct. 20.—To get only fifty cents for his trouble was the experience of the tramp who robbed the safe of the Tailor, Osborne Printing company and fired the building. The loss to the company is placed to-day at seven thousand dollars.

DEFEAT FOR THE REBELS

Crushing Blow Reported by the Imperial Troops

Revolutionists Said to be Butchering the Manchus

Special To The Review.

Pekin, Oct. 20—An overwhelming defeat was yesterday registered against the rebels by the Imperial troops at Hankow, according to a message received here via Kiu Kiang. Direct communication being still interrupted. It is reported that the revolutionists are butchering the Manchus mercilessly but the foreigners are declared to be safe.

FOREIGNERS SAFE ABOARD

Are on the Cruisers in Hankow Harbor

Fighting is Very Severe--Imperial Soldiers Worsted

Pekin, Oct. 20.—The foreign legations in Pekin have received no despatches from Hankow since 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. The last message from the American consul-general, Roger S. Greene, stated only that the fighting had begun. It is believed, however, that the concessions in Hankow are safe, as ten or twelve foreign cruisers and gunboats in the harbor are ample protection, even from the joint Chinese army and navy.

But it will be impossible to prevent stray shells from threatening the foreigners, conflagrations and looting by the rabble. It would be difficult to cordon the concessions, because they are not surrounded by a wall. Only narrow streets cut them off from the densely packed Chinese city.

It is hoped that all the women and children have already been safely removed from Hankow, as it is feared that the defeat of the revolutionaries might be followed by excesses on the part of the mob, careful enquiries indicating that the people have more fear of the revolutionaries than sympathy for them.

The German legation at Pekin has made denial of the report that German troops had been engaged in the fighting in the streets of Hankow.

The Board of Communication early Wednesday evening received two despatches. One mentioned Siaokan, in Hupeh province, as having been captured by the rebels; the other was interrupted while being transmitted.

A report has reached here that imperialist troops have refused to detrain at Hankow. Other reports state that the Chinese gunboats took little part in Wednesday's fighting. Their inactivity is explained by the fact that a direct fire would have endangered their troops, while a flank fire would have involved a bombardment over foreign concessions.

Signs of discontent at Hankow are subsiding after Wednesday's fight. The rebels who retreated because of shortage of ammunition and the arrival of Government reinforcements retired in a southerly direction. Some of them re-entered the native city of Hankow, while others made their way towards Wuchang. The loyal troops were not sufficiently strong to press home any advantage they had gained.

The American attache, Lt.-Col. Wm. D. Beach, and Capt. J. H. Reeves returned to Pekin Wednesday night because they were not permitted to accompany the troops to Hankow. They say that the orderliness and precision with which the troop trains are being sent southward is admirable. The food supply seemed to be abundant and the troops were in good spirits. The rapidity with which 20,000 men have been despatched to the south has surprised the military attaches.

Capt. Reeves gave it as his opinio that the Imperials have made a grea mistake in taking the field, instead o the mountain guns, as the lack o roads makes mule-carried cannon pre ferable.

An edict issued yesterday give Yuan Shi Kai, as viceroy of the dis affected provinces, authority over th War Minister, Yin Tchang, who i now serving as a general in the field.

A strict censorship was establishe yesterday on all trans-provincial mes sages regarding military movement and also on all code messages, excep consular and legation despatche Even the legations are deprived o news by the interruption of the wire and there is anxious suspense, as th last messages received described th continuance of desultory firing, wit rebel reinforcements crossing th river.

According to a consular despatch the rebels, after crossing from Har yan, on the night of Oct. 17, evident ly marched all night long in a north easterly direction around the foreig concessions and attacked the Imper ialists shortly after daylight at their camp near the railway. The statio at which the encounter took place wa not that immediately behind the con cessions, but seven or eight miles t the eastward, on the Yangtse. Th other station, which has frequentl changed hands and at which the dis arming and slaughtering of three Im perial soldiers took place, is evidentl the main station, immediately behin the concessions.

Officials of the Chinese Foreig Board reiterate that the recapture o Wuchang is only a matter of days The attitude of the Chinese here to wards foreigners cannot be criticise and not the slightest danger is anti cipated.

The Province of Szechuen continue to be isolated. There has been n news from that quarter in severa days.

Did Warships Mutiny?

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—A despatc from Shanghai records a rumor tha three Imperial warships have surren dered and raised the flag of the re public. It is also said that the rebel have captured Wangchow, Provinc of Hupeh, occupied the forts and tele graph office there and are advancin towards Sheungyang.

Other messages say the America consul at Nanking has asked the Am erican legation at Pekin for warshi protection, expecting serious troubl there.

THE SCHOOLS

The provision of $85,000 for the two new schools, as asked for by the Board of Education, is one which all thoughtful citizens should support. Not only are the new schools demanded by the department of education, to bring up the facilities in these parts of the city, to the modern standard, but the schools are absolutely necessary to provide for the ever increasing school population of this growing city. Peterborough is growing; we all want it to grow; and we must be prepared to grow with it.

Whether or not the by-laws for the raising of the $85,000 go to the people for a vote, every citizen should support this effort to raise the educational facilities of Peterborough to a higher standard. The housing of the children in school hours is not a matter for indifference, because many a life may be saved by sanitary surroundings for the major portion of the day. With these two new schools, Peterborough will be equipped with as fine a set of public schools as there is in any city in the Province of Ontario, near the size of Peterborough, with the possible exception of Brantford.

There will be then only one other need to consider for years in the school line and that is the growing population of the south end, which will in a few years time crowd the schools there to the limit, in spite of present extensions. But that is a problem for the future; and with the east and the west to be looked after now, the duty of the people is plain.

THE CITY HALL

The city hall should not be placed on the Birdsall property at the corner of Water and Brock streets. This much is plain from the sentiment of the people generally. A gentleman commissioned by the city council, went around among the property owners in a certain favored zone and got options—many of them. Most of them were for absurdly high prices, as is natural when the people get the idea that a municipal corporation is after property. Because most of the options were not good ones, from a business standpoint, is that an all-sufficient reason for placing the city hall on an undesirable corner, merely because the option indicates a good value? If that is so, the city hall location is to be made to fit the options, and not the options to the location of the city hall.

The place for the city hall is where the fountain stands in Central Park. Some people may say that it would be a shame to put a building in the centre of the park, but would it? A look at the diagram on the front page of the Review to-morrow ought to cure that idea. The park is used mainly as a breathing place by the citizens, and for sitting out in, in the warm weather. There would be plenty of grounds left for this purpose, and if at each side of the city hall the park were well treed, the placing of the building say 100 feet by 125 feet, would be rather an improvement than an obstruction. And Peterborough would be assured for all time to come, of a city hall in an unsurpassed location, surrounded by a beautiful park and with a fine view from every side. There is everything in favor of this location, even the question of cost. The idea that seems to possess some citizens that the beauty of the park would be destroyed is based on what we consider to be false premises, for if the city hall were architecturally a beautiful work, the park would be enhanced, and not injured, by the addition of some of man's handiwork.

In any event, there is no hurry over the proposition to build a city hall. Better go slowly than to take something that is not desirable, just because it is the best that can be got at the moment. We believe that the present location would be preferable to the Brock and Water street one, but inasmuch as the people of Peterborough are not likely to authorize the spending of $100,000 on a city hall immediately after authorizing $85,000 on new schools, there would not seem to be any strong need for a hurry. Buy the Birdsall property and hold it; but locate the city hall on Central Park.

EDITORIAL NOTES

This fog somewhat resembles the public mind with regard to the question of city government by commission.

The parliamentary representation unit is 31,000. Peterborough still will have some growing to do, before it can have a member all to itself.

If by some means, Ennismore could be shunted out of West Peterborough riding for voting purposes, what a relief it would be.

When George street is paved some of the property owners who gave options on their property for city hall purposes will perhaps find out that central property is a costly affair.

Hon. A. G. MacKay says that he is NOT going to give up the leadership fo the Liberal party. He will do with the malcontent Liberals what Premier Ross said he would do with the Conservative opposition, in the days when Ross had only two and three of a majority—be will F-I-G-H-T.

The guard of the Duke of Connaught was kept ten minutes late by the officiousness of an inspecting officer. If Col. Sam Hughes can do anything to cure this sort of business, he will get the thanks of most military men, and the respect of the common-sense public.

The Burrill company, manufacturers of cream separators and milking machines in Brockville, is enlarging its plant considerably because of the defeat of reciprocity. That the late lamented was very unpopular we know; but watch Canadian business expand unaffected by the American business depression.

The location of the city hall should not be on the Birdsall property, at the corner of Water and Brock streets, with its surroundings of ramshackle buildings on Brock street. When Peterborough is going to locate its city hall for all time to come, and spend $100,000 or more on a building, let it be in a location in keeping with the situation.

Those property owners who asked about $15,000 for property assessed for about $4,000 are prima facie evidence that Peterborough assessment is woefully low. It is not much wonder that the city council has to watch every cent, and sometimes to skin it, in order to get through the year. In many cases assessments could be doubled, and still there would be undue leniency by the assessors. Those who put prices so high on their property should always keep the other side of the shield in mind.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

HOME SWEET HOME!

Grand Old Hymn, Known the World Over, Was First Sung in Public When Its Author, Payne, Was Under Arrest.

When the boundary line between Georgia and Tennessee was being fixed, it crossed an Indian trail which became a place of some importance. There had sprung up between Georgia and Tennessee a spirit of rivalry, and the boundary line fixing the limits of the respective territories increased it. To try and harmonize the contending factions, the government established a trading post there. John Howard Payne appeared upon the scene, and was accused of inciting the Indians to insubordination. He was placed under arrest as an incendiary and carried to the council house. During Payne's incarceration a band of Indians arrived, among whom was one known as Oochee or Rattling Gourd. His wife and papoose were buried in the neighborhood, and he visited their graves, where he mourned. It was seen that he was a broken-hearted man. One morning he was missed, and the patrol in searching, found him weltering in his own blood between the graves of his loved dead, he having fallen on his bayonet, which pierced his heart. He was buried by the soldiers, and after the service was over, Payne, who had been a silent witness to the pathetic scene, began singing softly to himself that hymn, or song which since has been sung in every land. General Bishop, who had kept a close scrutiny on Payne, heard the song and called him to him. "Young man" said the stern old fighter, "where did you learn that song?" "I wrote it," said Payne. "Where did you get the tune?" "I composed it," said Payne. "Will you give me a copy?" "Certainly I will."

General Bishop surveyed him for a moment, then said: "Well, a man who can write and sing like that is no incendiary. Appearance may be against you, but I am going to write out your discharge and give you a pass through all the territory."

That was the first time "Home, Sweet Home" was ever sung in public.

WATCHES IN EARLY DAYS

For General Time-Keeping the Sand-Glass Was Discarded in Sixteenth Century, When Watches Were First Seen in England.

Sand-glasses were introduced about A. D. 330, and they still have their uses when boiling eggs or taking a division in the House of Lords, though these are only miniature reproductions of the early time-tellers that took just one hour for the sand in the upper bulb to pass into the lower.

Watches were supposed to have been introduced into Britain only in 1577, but though this may be correct if taken in a general sense, it is nevertheless certain that Henry VIII. had a watch; and in 1572 the Earl of Leicester presented Queen Elisabeth with an armlet with a watch hanging from it. When Malvolio speaks of his anticipated great fortune, he says: "I frown the while and perchance wind up my watch or play with some rich jewel."

It used to be the custom to lend watches to be worn on special occasions, and in the "Alchemist" Jonson says:—

And I lent my watch last night to one
That dines to-day at the Sheriff's.

In 1698 English watchmakers became so famous that an Act was passed to compel makers to affix their names upon the watches they made in order that discreditable ones might not be passed for English. The best-known makers of the time were Noble, Tosbroke, Nares, and Pepys. The first watches were supposed to have come from Nuremberg, in Germany, and they were known under the name of "Nuremberg Eggs," on account of their shape, which was egg-like. The works were enclosed in a circular metal case, and they were hung from the girdle. At first the movements were entirely of steel, then brass was adopted for the plates, and pillars, the wheels and pinions only being made of steel, and at last it was only the pinions that were of steel.

Blind but Brilliant

That two old men who are totally deprived of their sight should be able to build a comfortable seven-roomed dwelling without any assistance from anyone is certainly a very remarkable feat to accomplish. The house that they built was twenty feet square, and is quite handsome in design and finish. These sightless builders, named respectively Frank M. Steele and Joseph Martinez, live out in one of the little suburbs of Berkeley, California. The house is a box-frame cottage constructed of pine lumber, and the exterior walls are covered with plain redwood lumber. It is practically a two-storey building, the first storey being part basement. There are a number of doors, of course, and six windows in the building. There is a little porch at the front, and steps leading up from the sidewalk. Both exterior and interior have been very neatly painted. Remarkable as the statement may seem, all of this work was done by Steele and Martinez without the least assistance from anyone else. They planned the building themselves, and all of the work was done without any suggestions. These men are both past the half-century mark.

A Phonographic Lock

The latest in door locks is built on the phonographic principle, and can only be opened when talked to by its owner. It might be easier, of course, for some people to talk into the keyhole than to insert a key in it on occasion, but at such times the lock might have a difficulty in recognising its master's voice, and the last state of the man might be worse than the first.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

Santa Anna could have given a close guess at what the exceptional something was. To his subtle perception a little love drama was gradually being disclosed; but be kept his thoughts to himself, with his eyes still searchingly fixed on Santander's face.

"This Kearney," continued the latter, "though an Irishman, is one of Mexico's bitterest enemies and especially bitter against your excellency. In a speech he made to the filibusters, he called you a usurper, tyrant, traitor to liberty and your country—ay, even coward. Pardon me for repeating the vile epithets he made use of."

Santa Anna's eyes now scintillated with a lurid sinister light, as if filled with fire, ready to blaze out. In the American newspapers he had often seen his name coupled with such opprobrious phrases, but never without feeling savagely wrathful. And not the less that his own innate consciousness told him it was all as said

"If it is true what you say, Don Carlos, as I presume it is, you can do as you like with this dog of an Irishman! have him shot, or have him garroted, whichever seems best to you. But no—stay! That won't do yet. There's a question about these Texans with the United States minister, and as this Kearney is an Irishman, and so a British subject, the representative of that country may make trouble, too. So till all this is settled he mustn't be either shot or garoted. Instead, let him be treated tenderly. You comprehend?"

The staff colonel did comprehend, the emphasis on the "tenderly" made it impossible for him to mistake the dictator's meaning, which was just as he desired it.

As Santander left the dictator's presence, his countenance was lit up, or rather darkened, by an expression of fiendish triumph. He now had it in his power to humiliate them who had so humbled him.

"Quite a little comedy!" soliloquized Santa Anna, as the door closed on his subordinate, "in which, before it's played out, I may myself take a part. She's a charming creature, this Senorita Valverde. But, ah! nothing to the condesa. That woman—witch, devil or whatever I may call her—bids fair to do what woman never did—make a fool of Lopez de Santa Anna."

CHAPTER XIX.

A Wooden-Legged Lothario.

For some time the dictator remained in his seat lighting cigarette after cigarette and puffing away at them furiously. The look of light frivolity had forsaken his face, which was now overcast with gloom.

At this time, as said, he wielded supreme unlimited power over the Mexican people—even to life and death. For although he might not recklessly or openly decree this, he could bring it about secretly—by means which, if rumor spoke true, he had more than once made use of. Indeed, there stood against his name more than one well-confirmed record of assassination.

Thought of this may have had something to do with the cloud that had come over his features; though not for any qualms of conscience for the murders he may have committed or hired others to commit. More likely a fear that he himself might some day meet a similar fate; like all despots he dreaded the steel of the assassin. By his corrupt administration he had encouraged bravoism till it had become a dangerous element in the social life of his country—almost an institution—and it was but natural he should fear the bravo's blade turned against himself.

Even then there was report of a proclamation in one of the northern cities of the republic—the state, by a polite euphemism, being still so designated. Only a faint cry it was, but with a tone that resembled the rumbling of distant thunder, which might yet be heard louder and nearer.

Little, however, of matters either revolutionary or political was he thinking now. The subject uppermost in his mind was that latent on his lips woman. Not in a general way, but with thoughts specially bent upon one of them, or both, with whose names he had just been making free. As his soliloquy told, a certain "condesa" had first place in his reflections, she being no other than the Condesa Almonte. In his wicked way he had made love to this young lady, as to many others; but, unlike as with many others, be had met repulse. He had only commenced skirmishing with her; a preliminary stroke of his tactics being that invitation to ride in the state carriage extended to Dona Luisita Valverde, while withheld from the countess—an astute maneuver on his part, and, as he supposed, likely to serve him. In short, the old sinner was playing the old game of "piques." Nor did he think himself so ancient as to despair of winning at it. In such contests he had too often come off victorious and success might attend upon him still. Vain was he of his personal appearance, and in his earlier days not without some show of reason. In his youth Santa Anna would claim to be called, if not handsome, a fairly good looking man (though a native Mexican, of Vera Cruz, he was of pure Spanish race and good blood—the boasted blue blood. His features were well formed, oval and slightly aquiline, his complexion dark, yet clear, his hair and moustache black, lustrous and profuse. But for a sinister cast in his eyes, not always observable, his countenance would have been pleasing enough. As it was he prided himself upon it even now that he was well up in years and his hair becoming silvered. As for the mustache, black pomatum preserved its original color.

One thing soured him even more than advancing age—his wooden leg. 'Tis said he could never contemplate that without an expression of pain coming over his features, as though there was gout in the leg itself giving him a twinge. And many the time—nay, hundreds of times—did he curse Prince de Joinville. For it was in defending Vera Cruz against the French commanded by the latter, he had received the wound, which rendered amputation of the limb necessary. Afterwards the mishap stood him in good stead; at election times when he was candidate for the chief magistracy of the state. Then he was proud to parade the artificial limb, and did so to some purpose. It was, indeed, an important element in his popularity and more than once proved an effective aid to his reinstatement.

With a grim look, however, he regarded it now. For though it had helped him politically, he was not thinking of politics, and in what he was thinking about he knew it an obstruction. A woman to love a man with a wooden leg! And such a women as Isabel Almonte! Not that he put it to himself in that way; far from it. He had still too good an opinion, if not of his personal appearance, at least of his powers, and he even then felt confident of success. For he had just succeeded in removing another obstacle which seemed likely to be more in his way than the wooden leg. He had but lately come to know of it, but as soon as knowing, had taken measures to avert the danger dreaded—by causing the imprisonment of a man. For it was a man he feared, or suspected, as his competitor for the affections of the condesa. It had cost him no small trouble to effect this individual's capture.

But he had been taken at length and was at that moment in the jail of the Acordada! which Santa Anna well knew, having himself ordered his incarceration there.

After sitting for some time, as he stretched out his hand and held the end of his paper cigar to the red coals burning in a brazier on the table before him, the frown upon his features changed to a demoniac smile. Possibly from the knowledge that this man was now in his power. Sure was he of this, but what would he not have given to be as sure of her being so, too!

Whether his reflections were sweet or bitter, or which predominated, he was not permitted longer to indulge in them. The door again opening—after a tap asking permission to enter—showed the same aide-de-camp and on a similar errand as before differing only in that now he placed two cards on the table instead of one; the cards themselves being somewhat dissimilar to that he had already brought in.

If he gave ready reception to his late visitor, still readier did he seem desirous of according it to those now seeking speech with him.

"Conduct the ladies in," was the almost instantaneous command quickly retracted. For soon as taken he countermanded it, seemingly from some afterthought. Then followed a chapter of instructions to the aide-de-camp confidential, and to the effect that the ladies were not to be immediately introduced. He was to keep them in conversation in the ante-chamber outside till he should hear the bell.

Judging by his looks as he went out the young subaltern was more than satisfied with the delay thus enjoined upon him. It was aught but a disagreeable duty! for, whether acquainted with the ladies who were in waiting, or not, he must have seen that both were, bewitchingly beautiful—one being Luisa Valverde, the other Isabel Almonte.

To be continued.

ECZEMA 20 YEARS!

4 Doctors Failed. Morriscy's No. 4 Cured in 60 Days.

Mr. A. J. Kierstead, Mexico, Maine, tells in a series of letters how he was relieved.

"I am terribly afflicted with Eczema and can find no cure. I have been advised to write you, because Father Morriscy's cures are known in all parts. If you can help me, for God's sake do so. Please reply quick."

Second letter: "Thanks for your quick reply. I have been troubled with Eczema for 20 years—it is on my face, neck, arms and hands, and right now it is one solid sore. I can't seem to get any cure."

30 days later: "As you requested me to let you know how your salve worked, can say it did more good than the four doctors here who treated me. My face and neck—also my arms and hands are almost well—but I need another box of Salve."

July 10th, 1911: "I am delighted to tell you that I am entirely cured of Eczema, and am more than thankful for your Ointment. It did for me what 4 doctors here could not do, and I cannot possibly find fitting words of praise for my relief and cure."

A. J. Kierstead.

The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine. Dr. Morriscy prescribed it for 44 years, and it cured thousands after other doctors failed.

WINTER ECZEMA

Cured by Zam-Buk

Mrs P. W. Drummond, of Theyford Mines, Que., writes: "Every w—, as soon as cold weather set in, my little daughter's face and hands would be covered with rough watery patches, which before long turned into scabby sores. These would itch and smart terribly and would remain on her face from fall until spring. This happened for three years, and we could get nothing which did her any good, until a short time ago I started using Zam-Buk, and now, after using half a box of same, the sores have entirely disappeared, leaving her skin as smooth and clear as it could possibly be."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for ulcers, abscesses, ringworm, blood-poison, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, and all skin diseases and injuries. 50c. a box, all stores.

Germany Interferes.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—The Government has interfered in the case of a German reserve, Lt. Von Lochow, whom the Italian Consul has ordered to leave Tripoli because he is suspected of being a spy. Germany demands that Italy prove her case before expelling a citizen of Germany.

Western Threshing Delayed.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 20.—Cold rains prevail generally through Manitoba and Saskatchewan, interfering with threshing.

A million bushels of grain daily are being rushed to the lakes, but the volume moved thus far is below the maximum of other years.

Dredging Company Changes Hands.

St. John, N.B., Oct. 20.—Following the change of Government, and consequent change in patronage, it is announced that the Maritime Dredging & Construction Co. has sold its plant to a new company, composed of Conservatives. Dredging was resumed yesterday.

Injuries Prove Fatal.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—The man injured by a street car at Queen street and Coxwell avenue last Friday died in the General Hospital at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, having been unconscious 138 hours. Before he died he was heard to mutter "T. Wilcox."

Family Nearly Killed.

Toronto, Oct. 19.—When Francis Rea, 1,427 West Bloor street, returned to his home for breakfast yesterday morning he found the house filled with gas. He had left the house just before 7 o'clock and returned at 9. When he left, everything seemed all right, but when he searched for the source of the deadly fumes he found that a supply pipe to a gas stove had become disconnected.

He rushed upstairs and found his wife and two children. His wife had evidently been overcome while in the act of dressing, for she was perfectly clothed. Medical aid was summoned and all were revived.

Banquet to Borden.

Halifax, Oct. 19.—The Conservatives of Nova Scotia some time ago determined to tender a complimentary banquet to Hon. R. L. Borden, to be held in this city. A telegram was received from him accepting the invitation for the night of November 2. It is expected that more than six hundred guests will be present. Invitations have been extended also to the members of Mr. Borden's Government and already acceptances have been received from Hon. Messrs. Monk, Reid, Hazen and Foster.

IN THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

A QUICK FREIGHT HANDLER

Easy and Inexpensive Method of Handling Goods to and from Storage Flats.

Some more expeditious means of handling goods in warehouses, whether they be crates, boxes, bales, or what not, has long been necessary to supplant the slow, antiquated methods of doing this by manual labour, especially in regard to transit between building and street. This has been found in a new type of simple conveyer that has recently been devised, and which is now in successful operation. It comprises a number of trestles supporting a continuous series of wheels or rollers, carried on two rails like a light, narrow-gauge railway. The wheels are employed when boxes have to be handled, and the rollers for bales and crates. The system works entirely by gravitation, a fall of about thirty inches in one hundred feet being advocated. Demonstrations with this simple appliance have sufficed to prove that goods can be expeditiously and safely transported by this means, and that sharp curves can be negotiated successfully. In a lofty building where goods have to be discharged from different levels the same system is adopted spirally, the gradient being so arranged that the descending goods do not acquire an unnecessary downward impetus. The conveyer has been adopted on one of the wharves of Thames-side, and another larger installation is in operation at a Belfast factory, this latter plant handling packages weighing up to five hundredweight. The system is stated to be far cheaper and more efficient than the ordinary belt conveyer, the cost of installation being very low.

THE GLOW-WORM'S LIGHT

Learned Men Differ in Opinoin as to the Source and Nature of the Light.

French entomologists have been just lately devoting much attention to the study of the glow-worm, particularly with reference to the source and nature of its light. It is found that both male and female are luminous, although in the former the light is much feebler. Even the eggs and larvae are faintly luminous. The light is produced on the last three segments of the abdomen. It may perhaps be worth pointing out that the glow-worm is not a worm, but an insect belonging to the great order of beetles the Coleoptera. Luminosity among insects indeed is chiefly found in the beetle order. The Mexican fireflies Pyrophorus, for example, are bettles. Some of them give out sufficient light to read by. Waterton sometimes used them in this way to write up his diary when wandering in the South American forests.

In adult life the glow-worm is a vegetarian, feeding on tender leaves of plants, but while a grub it is carnivorous, feeding on snails and slugs. The light of the glow-worm and fireflies has been called phosphorescent and attributed to phosphorus. Jousset de Bellesme has stated his conviction that it is phosphoretted hydrogen gas stored up in the cellular tissues and in communication with the nervous and respiratory systems.

Fabre finds that phosphorus does not enter into the composition of the luminous substance of the glow-worm. Under the microscope it is seen to be a sort of white plaster covering the epidermis and full of branching tubes.

The Manchurian Bean.

The "Japan Herald" has drawn attention to the fact that Manchurian beans were formerly used only to make tofu, miso, and soy. About fifty years ago Chinese near Tiehling and Kaiyuan first produced oil from them by a process similar to that employed for sesame and linseed. This oil was used for fuel and for cooking, and the residual for bean-cake fodder. In the winter of 1908 it began to be exported into Europe, where it was found to be better than cottonseed for fuel, soap-making, and feeding cattle. This success has marvellously increased the area devoted to the growing of the beans, and has caused the farmers in the north of Manchuria to give up wheat-raising. The Shantung farmers discovered that bean-cake was a first-rate fertiliser, and after the war with China this bean-cake was largely exported to Japan. The oil is used in Manchuria for lighting, lubricating, and cooking, and in south China in making waterproof cloth, paper umbrellas, and lanterns, and is often mixed with lacquer for making varnish and printing-ink. The Chinese hit upon the principle of rotation of leguminous with cereal crops quite accidentally, without knowing anything of the scientific explanation.

Vibration-Proof Electric Lamp

One of the drawbacks to the metallic filament incandescent electric lamp is the extreme fragility of the filament. The average lamp, if submitted to a jar or vibration such as occurs in a large manufactory where machinery is running, is apt to break down. This disadvantage counteracts the many attractive features which the lamp possesses. A recent invention seeks to obviate this defect. In this case the strands of the filament, instead of being looped over hooks, as is the usual practice, are passed through small rings which are carried on the hooks, but in such a manner as to have a little free-play. By this arrangement the filaments are not held so rigidly, and the effect of vibration is not so forcibly conveyed thereto. It may be pointed out that a lamp which suddenly gives out can often be given a little longer life by turning on the switch and giving the bulb a few taps to cause the broken ends to come together or fall across another strand, when, immediately lighting up and becoming incandescent, they fuse together.

The Lamp That Saves The Eyes

Children naturally never think of possible strain on their eyesight when poring over a fascinating book.

It is up to you to see they do not ruin their young eyes these long evenings by reading under a poor light.

The Rayo Lamp is an insurance against eye troubles, alike for young and old.

The Rayo is a low-priced lamp, but it is constructed on the soundest scientific principles, and there is not a better lamp made at any price.

It is easy on the eye because its light is so soft and white and widely diffused. And a Rayo Lamp never flickers.

Easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Solid brass throughout, with handsome nickel finish; also in many other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of

WHY?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

MILK TO ADVANCE

Not Particularly in Quality But in Price

According to information received from several of the local milk vendors, the price of milk will be raised to four cents per pint and seven cents per quart on the first of November.

This has been a poor season, it is pointed out, for fodder, and the milk vendors are being forced to raise the price of milk in order to make the necessary profit to carry on the business.

The Lindsay dairymen have already decided upon the same course. It is likely that a meeting of the local milk merchants will be called in the near future.

LAID TO REST

A large and representative number of citizens attended the funeral of the late Alexander Grieve yesterday afternoon, and paid their last respects to their departed fellow citizen. The many beautiful and costly floral tributes were evidences of the friends' high estimation of the late Mr. Grieve. Rev. Robert Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, conducted an impressive ceremony at the late residence, 47 Dennistoun Ave., and the funeral cortege proceeded to Little Lake cemetery where interment took place before the numerous sorrowing friends. The pall-bearers were — Messrs. Alexander Davidson, James Middleton, John Hall, Walter Young, Thomas Walton and John Simpson.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mr. and and Mrs. A.E. Melrose, Guelph; Mr. John Grieve, Guelph; Mr. Walter Young, Montreal; Mr. Thomas Walton, Dundalk; Mrs Harry Routhe, Cobourg; Miss May McGibbon, Port Hope; Mr. John Grieve, Newcastle; Mr. William Galbraith, Lindsay; and Mrs. Lorne Giddy, Port Hope.

AUCTION SALE OF BUILDING LOTS

Twenty-five Were Sold in About Two Hours

The people of Peterboro yesterday certainly had an opportunity, as was announced, of buying good building lots at their own prices, and seemed to realize this and take advantage of it. Not one lot that was put up was withdrawn, 25 lots being sold in about two hours There was a busy scene at A. Brown & Co's Real Estate office last night and many parties were there to make enquiries regarding sale. Those who had purchased lots were also present to set their contracts.

One contractor who purchased two lots yesterday already has started the excavation for the erection of a brick house on his lot.

Several have purchased two or three lots as a matter of speculation.

The sale will be continued to-morrow, when it is expected that every lot will be disposed of. Opportunity such as this, does not present itself every day, and the man who is looking for a good thing should find his way to the sale.

ANOTHER CASE OF ALLEGED NEGLECT OF CHILDREN

Father Will Appear Before County Magistrate Edmison Next Monday.

The trial will take place at County Court on Monday before County Police Magistrate, Edmison, of the man Ed. Montgomery, who is alleged to have neglected his children, a boy and girl, both about fourteen, who resided in the neighborhood of Burleigh Falls. The children were up before Magistrate, Edmison, a little over a week ago, and were placed in the shelter pending the apprehension of the father which has been effected by High County Constable, George Cochrane.

The children are said to have been discovered in a most destitute and forlorn state.

The circumstances will be all revealed at the trial on Monday.

Conditions such as these are said to exist in numerous parts of north country and it would not be surprising if the Children's Aid Society officers were called upon to make an investigation, such as was made in the eastern townships some time ago.

VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT MAY BE PETERBORO' MAN

Several local Old Countrymen, are discussing the possibility of the young man, who died unidentified yesterday afternoon in the General Hospital, Toronto, as a result of being hit by a street car on Queen street, on Oct. 13th, being a Mr. Gregory, a Scotchman, who left here a short time ago for Toronto, intending to eventually go to Saskatchewan.

The following description of the unfortunate man, as contained in a Toronto paper, leads Mr. Gregory's Peterboro friends to think it might be him. He is between twenty-five and thirty years of age, five feet ten inches in height, medium build, dark complexion and hair, clean shaven and long thin features. The palms of his hands are rough and he has the following tattoo marks butterfly on right arm; bee on back of right hand and on right arm and figure of a girl on both arms. In one of his pockets was a slip of paper, evidently torn from a pocketbook, on which was written the following instructions: "Cor. High Park boulevard and Sunnyside avenue, King car, transfer up Roncesvalles, and get off at High Park Avenue." This evidently goes to show that the man was a stranger in the city.

It is said that since Gregory's departure from the city, no news of him has been received. It was known that he had the figure of a girl tatooed on one of his arms.

AN ITALIAN AND A MONKEY

Play a Prominent Part in the Comedy "The Mummy and the Humming Bird on Monday Next.

The following story of the play, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," will be of interest to many, as the play will be produced at the Grand here next Monday evening:

Despite the grotesque name, Isaac Henderson's play, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," is not a farce comedy in which archeology and ornithology struggle for mastery, but a serious treatment of the theme of marital infelicity, arising from unconscious neglect on one side and hunger for affection on the other. It narrowly misses tragedy through the awakening of the Mummy in time to prevent the depredations planned by the Humming Bird. The restoration of love and confidence and the discomfiture of the interloper are accomplished by a series of events sufficiently out of the ordinary, to pique the interest and sufficiently dramatic to sustain the interest. Some of the scenes are devised with great cleverness, as for instance, that in which the Mummy carries on a conversation with the organ-grinder, who cannot speak English. The use made of his sign and symbol talk later on is certainly a most ingenious idea. Then there is the device by which the Mummy rescues his wife, and at the same time protects her reputation, a scene in which great dramatic intensity is relieved by an outcome that is as satisfying as it is unexpected.

The play, however, is one of action rather than of character. The persons in it are mostly of ordinary type and even the central characters, the husband immersed in scientific research, the wife driven to flirtation by his neglect, the Italian poet, who, with deliberate intention, entangles her, are the familiar ones found always at the angles of the "eternal triangle." One character alone—that of the Italian peasant in pursuit of vengeance—transcends the ordinary.

Paul Gilmore plays the husband with a poise and a restraint that are admirable. When the man comes out of his shell and grasps firmly the levers that control the course of events, Mr. Gilmore's acting leaves nothing to be desired. He is strong and masterful when necessary, generous and tender at other times. His voice is expressive, his carriage graceful and his manner pleasing. In the first scene with the organ-grinder he exhibits some talent for the lighter comedy touches.

Grand Opera House, Monday, Oct. 23rd. Seats now on sale.

KETCHECUM CLUB

Mr. E. A. Peck and R. Gibbs Return From Headquarters

After ten days sojourn at Lake Ketchecum, Mr. E. A. Peck and Mr. R. Gibbs returned last night, having spent a most enjoyable hunting and fishing trip in that vicinity.

Mr. Peck was seen by a Review representative to-day, and stated that the party had a jolly time, and that with the exception of a couple of days of disagreeable weather, they were particularly blessed by Jupiter.

Nothing unusual occurred during their stay, save that foot-prints of a bear were discovered, but Bruin did not venture near any of the skilful nimrods.

The fishing was very fair, but no large catches were made, and one that did bid fair to tip the scales at a record weight, got-away from one of the party by bending the hook. Considerable success attended their attempts at partridge and duck hunting.

One deer was espied by a member of the party. There were about seventeen in the Ketchecum party, and about nine are still at the cottage at Lake Ketchecum, and they will return home on Saturday.

WHO WANTS THIS WINSOME MAID

Home Desired for Child of Eleven Years

A pretty little girl, about eleven years of age, clever and bright in appearance, is at present under the care of G. H. Howson, and any kindly disposed and suitable person would be gladly received by the immigration officer, should they offer to take the child and provide for her a comfortable home.

The girl recently came out from the old country with her aunt and uncle, who were each given employment by Mr. Howson. Her parents are both dead, and the orphan lived with her grandmother up till the time of the latter's death. Being thus left unprotected, her aunt and uncle assumed her guardianship, and when they emigrated to this country brought the maid with them. She cannot, however, be properly accommodated by the people with whom they are placed, and if any person would care to take the little girl into their home, full information regarding her suitability and character will be cheerfully and gratefully supplied at the office of G. H. Howson, on Water street.

ONE GAME IN CHURCH LEAGUE

All Saints' and Park St. at the Brinton Meadows

No doubt a large crowd will be attracted to the Brinton Meadows tomorrow afternoon, where All Saints' and Park street, the Church League play a league game.

This contest is of special interest as a win for the Baptists would make a three cornered tie for the championship between St. James', Park street and All Saints'. Should the Saints win or draw, they will have the championship and the Burnham Trophy.

The Methodists made a bad start this season, dropping their two opening games, but if they get another chance they are likely to prove important contenders.

Committed Brutal Assault.

New York, Oct. 18.—The police have arrested Frank Broch, 19 years of age as the man, according to the charge against him, who assaulted and brutally beat Miss Agnes Waugh last Wednesday night as she was returning to her home in Brooklyn. Miss Waugh the police say, identified Broch as her assailant.

Jumping Out of Bed.

Our cherished theories are always being upset in these iconoclast days. We have always held it a virtue to be able to jump out of bed in a morning as soon as we have opened our eyes; now we are warned against this practice, on account of possible damage to our hearts. Doubtless many persons doing this have felt a dizziness follow the sudden and violent uprising in the morning; this is owing, so a well-known medical authority has it, to the shock to the vital organs, especially to the heart, as it starts suddenly to pump the blood more quickly. As a doctor points out:—"A kitten stretches out a leg, then the other, when waking; rubs its face rolls over, and stretches its whole body. A baby stretches its arms and legs, rubs its eyes, and yawns, waking up slowly. Even the birds do not fly off from the nest the instant they awake. All these movements are natural, and have a purpose; they are not mere whims or coincidences, but are the healthy and correct way of starting the vital organs into waking working order. So if you feel inclined to stay in bed a few moments, do so; it is the prompting of nature, only take care — don't turn over and go to sleep again.

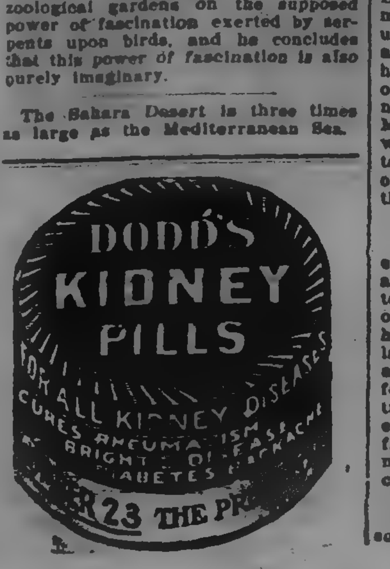
World's Most Costly Memorial.

The colossal statue of King Victor Emmanuel II., dedicated at Rome June 4, is the most costly and colossal memorial ever erected in honour of a national hero. The statue is itself 40 feet high, and weighs 50 tons. It is in gilded bronze, and stands against the white marble of a portico 500 feet long, which has 16 immense columns, and many fountains, groups of statuary, and gilded decorations. Back of the portico will be a national museum, in which will be placed mementos of Italy's struggle for independence. The entire memorial represents 30 years' work and a cost of twenty million dollars. The monument faces the famous Corso, and the statue may be seen a great distance. The chief criticism made against the memorial is that its newness and bigness make it overshadow the remnants of ancient Rome in the midst of which it stands.

Can the Serpent Fascinate?

Professor Barnard concludes from his personal observation of cobras in Ceylon, that the serpent's traditional love for music is a pure fable, and that the only effect of music is to arouse the reptile's curiosity, which is excited by any loud and acute sound. The cobra protrudes its head from its burrow alike on hearing the snake charmer's flute, the rattling of a chain, or the sounds made by beating the ground with a switch. It appears to perceive only sounds of high pitch, for it pays no attention to the low notes of the flute or the beating of a drum. Professor Barnard has also confirmed, in Ceylon, the results of observations made in the zoological gardens on the supposed power of fascination exerted by serpents upon birds, and he concludes that this power of fascination is also purely imaginary.

The Sahara Desert is three times as large as the Mediterranean Sea.



FAMOUS FLIERS AND THEIR FAME

Grahame-White, Bleriot, Farman, Loraine, Paulhan, Latham and Vedrines

Few will cavil at the honor claimed for Mr. Grahame-White of being Britain's champion aviator, who, although he failed to carry off the first Daily Mail $50,000 prize last year, proved himself to be the cleverest aviator we possess. What he doesn't know about the science of aviation is scarcely worth knowing. The prizes he has secured are legion, and he has met with success on the other side of the Atlantic. It is ten years ago since Mr. Grahame-White commenced flying, and, like so many others who have taken up aviation, he graduated in the schools of cycling and motoring. As a boy he had a passion for mechanics. When he was thirteen he and his brother were the joint possessors of a small motor-car, which he was for ever taking to pieces and examining. When he left school he entered upon motoring as a business, and paid much attention to motor-boats as well as cars.

M. Farman

M. Farman tells an extraordinary story of his début in aviation. He and his brother went in for motor-racing and won several important races at Pau and Nice. Then a strange accident happened on the Auvergne course in 1905, which, to quote M. Farman's own words, "instead of proving fatal turned my thoughts in the direction of flying through the air. At the time I was driving my car at a terrific speed and was about to take a rather swift turn when the car skidded outward, and as it plunged into a deep ravine I and my machinist remained very happily hanging in the branches of a tree. That was truly my début in aviation, even if that method of imitating the birds was as rough as it was unexpected." It was during these motor races, however, that M. Farman conceived the idea of providing the car in some way with supporting planes, and thus making it leave the ground when travelling at a terrific speed. "But I always adherred," he says, "to the thought that in such a case this tentative heavier than air flight would end swiftly with a shock, so terribly rash did the proposal seem to me then."

M. Blériot

The name of Blériot figured largely in the entries for the recent $50,000 race, although the famous aviator of that name was not one of the competitors. Many of the latter, however, used the Blériot monoplane invented by the man who possesses the distinction of holding Certificate No. 1 of the French Aero Club. He was, of course, the first man to fly from France to England, and foresees the time when aerial motors will be recognized as a popular form of passenger traffic. A remarkable fact about M. Blériot is that he has met with over fifty accidents while engaged in flying, but so far has escaped any serious injury.

M. Vedrines

It is not so many months ago that M. Vedrines, who proved such a formidable rival to M. Beaumont and won second place in the recent $50,000 contest, was quite unknown and acted as a mechanic to Mr. Robert Loraine. An enthusiastic student of the art of aviation and a master of mechanics, he entered for the Paris-Madrid race for France and won it. He also figured prominently in the Circuit of Europe, and early in July won two prizes of $1,000 each in this country. Experts have a great opinion of Vedrine's skill and resource.

M. Paulhan

What the birds of the air think of their new companions, the aviators, may be gathered from an incident which occurred while M. Paulhan was making one of his successful flights. He was flying at about 200 feet up when a whole army corps of very black crows came circling round the biplane. They were tremendously interested and excited over it, and they hung about him like a black cloud as he drove along full tilt with that shattering engine of his. Suddenly Paulhan steered up among them, and they fled to the four winds, screaming with indignation and fright. After that he had the near atmosphere all to himself.

Hubert Latham

Few people are aware of the fact that Mr. Hubert Latham, who at the Rheims meeting in 1909 created a record by flying for two hours thirteen minutes, has hunted the rhinoceros and elephant in Africa, conducted a scientific mission in Abyssinia, and brought back a number of, till then, unknown insects belonging to the species which is held responsible for the propagation of sleeping sickness. On one occasion M. Fallières took the opportunity, when congratulating Mr. Latham after a remarkable flight, to make a speech in which he enlarged upon the virtues of democracy and the advantages which it offered to the humblest mechanic to rise to positions of dignity and emolument. Then, needing to be prompted, he turned to Mr. Latham and whispered, "By the way, what was your trade before you took to aviating?" "I was a gentleman of private means, Mr. President," was the unexpected answer.

Robert Loraine

The story of the career of Mr. Robert Loraine, one of the most prominent aviators in Great Britain, is romantic to a degree. Mr. Loraine, as the son of that fine old actor, Henry Loraine, has not only earned fame and popularity behind the footlights and achieved some remarkable flying feats, but he has also served his country as a soldier. He joined, as a trooper, the Welsh Imperial Yeomanry, and first acted as one of a squadron of mounted infantry. After that he exchanged into a machine-gun section.

North Essex Liberals will hold a convention Oct. 28th.

IN LIFE-LONG DARKNESS

People Who for One Reason or Another Condemn Themselves to an Existence Where Light of Day Never Reaches.

It is a popular fallacy that light is as necessary to life as food. Yet in India, and also in Tibet, whole families have been found living in the bowels of the earth, to whom darkness is natural, and light unbearable. Numbers of Fakirs bury themselves in subterranean homes, and count it the noblest sacrifice to give up the good things of life, and shut themselves in caves of mother earth.

Earth dwellers are common in Tibet. Strangely clad men and women, who since childhood have rarely looked upon the sun, are found living in roomy clay apartments in a mode as stringent as any monastic order. They are supplied with food and other necessaries by their children, who alone leave the caverns; and much of their time is occupied in extending their curious residences.

Life at the bottom of a lake was the crazy idea of a Canadian settler who had amassed a fortune by ranching. He had arranged that his fiancee should come from Bradford to London where they were to be married. The young lady was drowned on the voyage, and the tragedy so affected the lover mentally that he determined on the mad motion of a house under water. He sold up everything, had a solid iron hut erected at the bottom of a small lake on his ranch, with unique ventilating and other apparatus.

A short tunnel was built connecting the abode with the land, and here he began to live. Unfortunately disaster soon followed, for during the terrific storms which swept across the colony a few year sago the tunnel collapsed, and the man was never seen again.

Underground-living is greatly favored by the illicit whisky-makers in Ireland. Secure in their peaty homes, they can carry on their trade with the minimum of risk, and the fewer opportunities they take of coming to light, the safer their position. Therefore a villager is won over to aid them, and acts as messenger and universal provider to the unknown inhabitants.

The bulk of the spirit manufactured is made by these distillers, whose names are in no directory, and whose house is not located. When they breathe the pure, fesh air it is at the dead of night, when the hills are deserted, and the officials are closely watching less wary dodgers.

In many mining districts in England there are scores of persons who can truly confess their ignorance of daylight. They literally live in the bowels of the earth, in charge of the horses, and even if for once they came out of their horrible prison, they would not be able to see and enjoy the summer sun.

Cotton Seed Talk

One of the most important industries in which wealth is now made from what many generations was regarded as waste is that of dealing with cotton seed. In the great plantations of the United States the seed for years and years and years was thrown away as useless. Then someone arose who made money by extracting the oil. To-day hundreds of factories turn out millions of pounds of cottonseed oil every year, that product having scores of uses in modern civilisation — from the blending of lubricating oils to cooking and the feeding of cattle. Planters in the Southern States of America are now making some $70,000,000 a year out of a product which once caused them much worry regarding its disposal.

It was one of Britain's Peers who gave a gigantic Chicago beef firm an idea out of which hundreds of thousands of dollars have been made. He was being shown through one of the slaughter houses, and was vastly impressed by the stream of blood flowing out as refuse. He gave his cicerone a hint, telling him that in the hospitals the nurses squeezed the blood out of beef and gave it to some patients, who thus got the strength out of the meat, even though they were too weak, say, to digest a steak. That hint was enough. Experiments were made. What has been the result? "Beef extract" is known throughout the world. It is said that the young nobleman was rewarded in due course for his suggestion by a present of £20,000, but, whether this is so or not, it is certain that vast fortunes have been made from what was once looked upon as waste.

Good Boy Fritz

To show his gratitude for having lived under the protection of the British flag for 30 years a German trader in Basutoland hoisted on Coronation Day the Union Jack on the top of Thabanise Peak, at an altitude of 9600 ft.

Nothing like combining business with pleasure. While visiting Krupp's works recently, Sir T. B. Robinson, Agent-General for Queensland, pointed out that there was no potato-peeler in the workmen's restaurants, and succeeded in introducing one of Australian make. An enterprising insurance agent who sought to do business with the dusky inhabitants of the African village at the Scottish Exhibition the other day was scarcely so successful, however.

According to the latest census the population of South Africa of all races is 5,938,489, compared with 5,185,824 in 1904. Of this number 1,279,025 are Europeans and 4,061,082 are natives.

The people of Queensland are presenting the King with a horse. A careful selection has been made, and the animal will leave soon for Buckingham Palace in charge of a Queensland police officer. The horse selected is a bay gelding, with black points, and is five years old. It is intended to give it a suitable aboriginal name.

Horses seem slower than ever, since automobiles came in.

WORK OF INCENDIARY.

Toronto Fire Bears Every Sign of Having Been Set.

Toronto, Oct. 20.—What looks very like a fire set to cover the entry and looting of the safe in the Taylor Printing Co.'s office in the basement of the Toronto Paper Co.'s new building on the north side of King, west of Bathurst street, was discovered by L. Spence of 189 Jameson avenue, as he was running his motor car in West King street at 10.55 last night. He turned in an alarm, and when the firemen, with Deputy Chief Noble, entered, they found that an entry had already been forced by a man who was seen walking to the north end of the basement. This man helped the men in with first lay of hose and they hurried back to the hoist shaft, where the fire was running to the upper floors. A stream was shot up this and another carried up the rear fire escape and the fire was soon subdued.

The damage to the box company was $2,500, fully covered by insurance, and that to the printing company was less than $500.

After the fire had been extinguished it was found that a little office of the printing company in the basement under the stairs had been entered, the glass door being forced and a small safe inside was opened by someone who knew or was able to manipulate the combination. Whatever was in it had been taken save a receipt for an insurance of $1,000 in the Home Insurance Co. The empty cashbox lay on the floor in front of the safe.

The fire bears every appearance of having been set. It started at the foot of the hoist shaft where it would gain the most rapid headway and where nothing appeared as a natural explanation of its origin. The firemen are quite sure that there was a man inside when they arrived.

Last Rail Laid.

Montreal, Oct. 20.—The last rail on the new grain route from Victoria Harbor to Bethany was laid Wednesday morning. Word to that effect was received at the local headquarters of the C. P. R. yesterday afternoon, and as soon as the ballasting has been completed the line will be ready for regular traffic. This should not take more than a couple of months at the most, as the greater part of the ballasting is already finished. What ballasting that will have to be done before the line is ready for traffic is in the vicinity of Lindsay and Bethany. At Lindsay, where the biggest bridge of the line is being finished, the builders have a big staff of men at work and it is expected to be completed in a very short time. There are several other bridges on the line, but the only one of importance is where in line crosses from Lake Simcoe to Lake Couchiching. Here there is a 160-foot span swing bridge.

On Eve of Marriage.

Montreal, Oct. 20.—While working overtime in order to earn more money, as he was to be married in a few weeks, Robert Wills, an employe of the Canadian Rubber Co., was electrocuted here yesterday morning while installing new wires.

Wills, who was employed in the electrical department, worked all day Wednesday, but hearing that work was to be continued through the night, asked to be allowed to work overtime, saying he was about to be married. His foreman, Robert Tees, gave his permission, and he and another electrician, J. Bastian, went upstairs to connect some wires. In the early morning Wills inadvertently touched a live wire and was killed.

Surface Cars Must Go.

Boston, Oct. 20.—"The time is rapidly approaching when surface street railway cars in all the large cities will be replaced by subways." So says Chief Engineer Davis of the Boston Transit Commission, and Chief Engineer Kimbal of the Boston Elevated, operating all the Boston lines.

THE CHURCH AND STATE

To The Editor of The Review.

Sir—The coming struggle over the interference of the Church of Rome with the laws of the State, will be a long and bitter one in every country. It will be as decisive in its ways as it can be. It is intended to decide the championship, between the Church of Rome on the one hand, and the State and all other churches on the other. The Church has laid it down once more in its recent papal decrees that the Church is supreme over all people in all matters coming within the domain of faith and everything bearing upon faith which of course includes thought, opinion, government, conduct, history, marriage, etc. This great general principle of supremacy over everybody, was re-asserted to the modern world in the recent papal condemnation of the modern system of thought. This is intended to bring the whole world of opinion to its knees before the Pope. The great and overwhelming struggle is to be upon this point. Ne Temere is a mere by-product or natural consequence. It refers to the claim of supremacy of the Church over the people in one department only viz.—marriage. But it follows that if the church is supreme in any one such department it is supreme in all. It is therefore a most important department. The struggle must open somewhere and in Canada it has opened at this point. In France it opened on the original decree against freedom of opinion. In Germany the Church appears to be strengthening its position. In the U. S. also. A great war will upset modern conditions and tend to restore old ones. It is undeniable that an enormous number of people, both clerical and lay are "going over" to the Church of Rome. There is nothing to be said against that. If people want to change their religious opinions they have a right to do so, although the Church of Rome denies and utterly condemns this statement. In order that we may thoroughly undestand the Ne Temere situation, and at a glance all that underlies it also The Toronto News has summed the matter up in a short editorial from which the following extract is taken.

"It is by virtue of Provincial, not ecclesiastical authority that even a parish priest in Ontario may officiate at a wedding. Marriage is first a question touching civil rights. Secondly it is a religious ceremony—whether sacramental or not depends upon the ecclesiastical viewpoint. A church goes far in presuming to question the validity of any marriage performed by Provincial authority. It is an assumption that must be opposed if we are to maintain the supremacy of our parliamentary and British institutions.

There is no established church in Canada. The Roman Catholic bishops are on exactly the same footing as Anglicans, Methodists and Presbyterians. They have no power whatever that is not subject to the legislature and the courts which are the interpreters of the legislature. Canon law is effective in the province of Quebec—not because it is Canon law, but because it has been re-enacted by Provincial statute."

This ought to make the whole matter plain. Cut this extract out and paste in your hat, whether you are Roman Catholic or Protestant. When you get mixed up over the question this extract will set you right as to what the dispute is about. How will it end? Will the Church triumph over the State, or will the State put the Church in its true place? The answer sums up in itself the whole case of the struggle for liberty, religious and civil, from the beginning, not only of Christianity but of man's life on earth. The Church cannot afford to be beaten. The clergy are authorised by the Pope to take active part in every phase of life, social, political, etc. They have the tremendous advantage of deliberating in secret. (The Secret Councils of Vigilance.) Why secret? It begins to look as if the Church had accepted too much responsibility when it accepted the task of absolute rule over the whole world. We shall see. Do not be misled by and talk to the effect that the Church of Rome is speaking to Roman Catholics only. People who say that don't know what they are talking about, as The News extract above shows. Moreover the mission of the Church applies to people of all sorts not to Roman Catholics only. Even a child ought to know that. There are many so-called Protestants, who are anxious to stand in with Rome. That might do when no great principle is at stake, but not now. The ordinary amenities of every day life even have no place at this time.

Brakeman Loses Both Legs.

Guelph, Oct. 20.—Grand Trunk trainmen who are inclined to be superstitious approach Guelph Junction with grave misgivings. Three accidents have occurred, two of which have already proved fatal, and the third may cost James Pattens, brakeman, running between Toronto Junction and London, and residing in the latter place, his life.

Patten was running along the top of his train Wednesday midnight, when there is said to have been a sudden jerking of the locomotive, which threw him. Both legs were severed.

Serious Obstacle Withdrawn.

London, Oct. 20.—It is officially announced that as a result of a final conference yesterday between Chancellor Lloyd-George and the representatives of the Friendly Societies, at which concessions were made by the societies, opposition to the Chancellor's national insurance bill, which has been a most serious obstacle, has been withdrawn and the support of the societies pledged. The bill will be taken up when Parliament reassembles on Oct. 24, and pushed through.

An Educational Crisis.

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—At a meeting of the Manitoba College board last night the action of the Manitoba College senate, when it was decided to discontinue relations with Wesley College in the teaching of moderns, was reviewed.

Several influential Presbyterian ministers are said favor Manitoba College giving up the teaching of arts, and allowing the University College to teach all subjects except theology.

Might Have Been a Wreck.

Brockville, Oct. 20.—The keen observation of the engineer in charge of the International Limited to Montreal averted what might have proved a terrible wreck. After the train pulled into Brockville he made the usual inspection of the engine and was quick to detect a noticeable defect in the axle of the front driving wheel, which was badly cracked. The engine was promptly replaced by another and sent to the shops for repairs.

Motorist Killed.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 20.—Billy Pierce, motor car driver, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon, when his Colby machine crashed into the fence while he was speeding at Woodland track. Pierce was practicing for the race meet which opens to-day. His home is said to be in Indiana.

Patience Rewarded.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 20.—Workmen yesterday began excavations for a lighthouse on Hog Island in the Niagara River at the mouth of the Welland River. The citizens petitioned the Laurier Government for the light two years ago.

THE CITY HALL

Location on Brock St. is Not Favored

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I am surprised and disgusted when I read in your paper that the corner of Brock and Water street had been recommended as the best site or location in the city for the new city hall. The party that recommended this must be short sighted and thinks that Peterborough is not going to grow. There are certainly far better and more central sights for a city hall, and my opinion is that a city hall should be on the main street, and as central as possible. Why not alter the building at the corner of Charlotte and George? This could be made into a fine city building, and there is plenty of room to extend it along Charlotte street east if it is required, and the city owns this land and will not have to go into the land business and buy more. This building could be made an ornament to our city with its fine tower, and the clock illuminated, and every-one coming into the city the city hall take two. by both railways would see it, and it is the most central spot in the city or if this could not be utilized to advantage, then build it in the centre of the present market square, and build cement walks to it and sod the rest. It could be made a very pretty sight, and move the market down to the river at the foot of Charlotte street.

There is also the Bradburn lot at the south of the Custom House, which is central. Let us remember that Peterborough is destined to be a city, and that we want a city hall, built in keeping with such a progressive city and don't think of hiding our new city hall under a bushel and putting it in such an out of the way place as as the one selected.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for valuable space, I remain,

Yours truly,

WELL WISHER.

BROKEN RAIL CAUSED ACCIDENT

Three Box Cars Were Smashed Near Lindsay

A broken rail caused the wreck of three box cars loaded with grain en route for Belleville on the G.T.R. near the iron bridge at Lindsay yesterday morning. The cars were being backed backed on to the siding, immediately west of the bridge, when the accident occurred.

The accident might have been more serious had the train been running at a high rate of speed.

Workmen were set to work to clean up the wreckage. No grain was lost.

WILL STAY IN THE GAME.

Hon. W. L. M. King Says He Will Not Desert Politics.

Berlin, Oct. 20. At the dinner tendered to Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King here last night, some very caustic remarks were made by Thomas Hilliard as to the ignorance of the electors at large. The majority of voters did not vote against reciprocity, but against annexation, the navy, the ne temere decree, he said. He was perplexed because of there being a different policy in every province and concession.

Mr King, who rose to speak shortly before midnight, and continued to the "wee sma' hours o' the morning," said that he was amazed at the results that had been attained with the difficulties that had to be contended with.

"It was useless for me," declared Mr. King, "as a Cabinet Minister to state that the Government would not go any further than the agreement stated, because the Conservatives had used every argument to generate fear in the hearts of the people. I admit that the manner in which the pact was presented was not the best form possible. But when we come to realize the great task of trying to fight against ignorance, passion, prejudice we in North Waterloo cannot but feel somewhat elated over the results."

Mr. King made no definite statements as to his future. He denied the rumor that he was going into the United States. He said: "I have purposely refrained from making any definite statement as to what the future has in store for me." Already Liberals in Ontario (federals) have offered me their seats, but public life has demonstrated to me the necessity of mastering the important questions that affect the lives of the laboring classes, whom I have learned to love, and with this in mind it will take some months to decide as to what action I will take.

"I hope to remain in Canadian politics for a long time to come, because Canada is one of the most important assets in the British Empire, which is the greatest agent of peace and justice on this earth at the present time."

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Italy is reported to be hastening the completion of three dreadnoughts, by December, 1912, and has ordered 4,000 tons of armor plate from an American concern.

It is understood that the Hon. Sydney Fisher will re-enter the political arena and that Mr. G. M. Boivin, member-elect in Shefford will resign his seat to make way for his return.

Howard P. Christie, aged 14, was accidentally shot in the head by Thomas Wade, aged 9, at Penniac, N.B., yesterday. The boys were out gunning. The boy died twenty minutes later.

Mayor Guerin yesterday laid the corner-stone of the new Montreal Herald building. Interest was added to the event by the fact that it was the 100th anniversary of the foundation of The Herald.

The rise in the Hudson river, owing to rainfalls has been so rapid that all work on the construction of the barge canal at Mechanicsville has stopped, and fears are felt for a number of cofferdams in the river.

Dr. T. S. Sproule will be Speaker of the House of Commons in the twelfth Parliament. This was decided upon at a Cabinet Council held yesterday afternoon. The Deputy Speaker will probably be Pierre Blondin of Champlain.

Chinese Liberal With Cash.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 20.—A Chinese laborer, Lee King Hon, yesterday, laid a sack containing $1,000 gold, his life's savings on the counter of the revolutionary office. G. T. R. Outside Party Politics.

London, Oct. 20.—(C. A. P. Cable.)—At the Standard Oil Co. of Canada meeting yesterday, the chairman said that while the balance sheet was not as satisfactory as he would like he very shortly hoped to be able to report a more prosperous state of things.

Chairman Smithers, interviewed anent the effect of the change of Government in Canada on the G. T. P., says that the G. T. R. has nothing to do with the Government's railway policy, and is outside the arena of party politics. Regarding trans-Pacific ocean steamships, it was altogether premature to make any statement. He derided the notion that Canada is likely to receive any setback.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

ROOSEVELT SAYS IT MUST BE POPULAR CONTROL OF JUDGES

Ex-President's Solution of Question of Reform—Judiciary Too Prone to Block Reform.

New York, Oct. 21.—The judiciary of the United States must be brought within the control of and answerable to the well-thought-out judgment of the people, in the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt, who spoke last night on "The Conservation of Womanhood and Childhood," before the civic forum. This control, in Mr. Roosevelt's judgment, should be, "exercised more cautiously and in different fashion than the control by the people over the legislator, and the executive, but the control must be there."

Control of the judges, Mr. Roosevelt said, was but half—although by far the more important part—of a program which should be carried out for the proper conservation of manhood, womanhood and childhood. The first half of the program, he said, consisted in placing upon the statute books of the nation and the various states, legislation to remedy existing defects.

The ex-President spoke at length of what he termed "crying abuses connected with child labor." He referred to the need of laws to prevent the employment of children as young as ten years in the canneries of this state, and to other legislation for the protection of children.

"I most emphatically believe that we have been wise in giving great power to our judges, including this power of judicial interpretation of statutes to see whether they conform with the fundamental law of the land. But I also most firmly believe that like any other power, this power can be abused, and that it is a power with which the people have merely temporarily parted and not one which they have permanently alienated.

"Used cautiously and moderately and only in the clearest cases, it is fraught with the utmost good to the body politic. Used recklessly, wantonly and foolishly, where the case is so doubtful that the judges themselves may be divided nearly equally on the two sides, it results in very great evil, as it has resulted again and again in this State of New York, and it may result in even greater evil, for it may, in the end, cause such a revulsion in the minds of the people at large as to result in totally taking away this power from the judges—action which I should deplore.

"During the last twenty-five years the courts here in New York, helped, I am sorry to say, once or twice by the supreme court of the nation, have thrown what have at times proved well nigh or altogether insurmountable obstacles in the path of needed social reforms.

"It is, I believe, an advantage to have fixed in the court the power to state that a legislative act is unconstitutional, but only provided that the power is exercised with the wisdom of self-restraint. If the courts continue to use it with the recklessness that has too often been shown in the past it is almost inevitable that efforts will be made to amend it. It is a rank absurdity to hold that the violation of the constitution is evident in a case where the present chief justice of the United States and enough of his colleagues to come within one of a majority, of a court holding strongly the opposite view.

"I believe that the only ultimate safety for our people is in self-control; not in control from the outside. I do not believe in snap judgments. I do not believe in permitting the determination of a moment to be transmuted into a permanent policy, but I do believe that the serious, sober, well-thought-out judgment of the people must be given effect; I do believe that the people must ultimately control its own destinies, and cannot surrender the right of ultimate control to a judge any more than to a legislator or an executive."

THAW USED HOT WATER

Another Story About Famous Youth's Doings.

New York, Oct. 21.—A Paris cable says If Miss Ruth Lambert, of Boston, can help it, Harry K. Thaw, who killed Stanford White, will not eat his Christmas dinner with his family. Miss Lambert, who has lived in Paris for the last twelve years, is armed with documents which, it is asserted prove Thaw's insanity. One of these is a statement that Miss Lambert having met Thaw in Maxim's, accepted his invitation to drink a glass of champagne in his apartment, having been induced to go there on Thaw's plea that he wished to show her his flat. Arriving in the apartment, Thaw tied Miss Lambert's hands behind her back, whipped her and poured hot water over her. She succeeded in getting on the balcony and calling for aid. By means of sheets she succeeded in making her escape. Certificates signed by a doctor describe the serious nature of the girl's wounds and bruises. She names several persons who will confirm her story.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS

The brief announcement given by Mr. Peck last night in the Review as to his stand on teaching in French or other languages in the public schools, will no doubt be received with considerable satisfaction by those curious ones who have been busy wondering what he was going to do about it. Mr. Peck has been away on a holiday, but on his return lost no time in indicating where he stood.

Apart from the question of Mr. Peck's stand on the matter, there are some features of the bi-lingual school question which many people do not thoroughly understand and appreciate. There are no bi-lingual schools, properly speaking, in Ontario. There is no constitutional provision for teaching in any language but the English language in the public schools. The instruction of pupils in the medium of French in the public schools in sections of the province where the school population is almost entirely French, is a matter for the department of Education to deal with by regulations, which may be changed at any time, without reference to the law-makers of the province.

Mr. Peck takes the stand that no language but the English language should be used in the public schools, even where the children are of French extraction, holding — and rightly so — that a knowledge of English is necessary to them in life, in living in an English speaking country, and having to compete in life with English speaking people. For the future citizens of Canada not to possess a knowledge of English is a handicap so serious, that the educational authorities of any province in the Dominion would be sadly lacking in true courage if they permitted it.

There may be cases, which have to be dealt with locally, where it is necessary to commence the instruction of French children in the French language, because they understand no other, and it would be a drawback to make them wait to acquire the English language sufficiently to enable them to begin study. Indeed we think that this would not be a practicable idea. But there is no reason why the teaching of the English language to French-speaking children should not be commenced at the beginning of their educational course, and a little later—say in the second book or third book—supplant French entirely as a medium for communication between teacher and pupil.

The product of this system would be a child who had been educated in both languages, but whose later years of school life had been entirely Anglicised. It is all very well for many well-meaning enthusiasts to claim that no other language but English is necessary in the public schools, but what are you going to do with a class of thirty youngsters of six or seven years of age, who do not know English? Teach them in English immediately? The only common sense and practical solution of the bi-lingual problem is a carefully graded course of English for the French pupils, with the tuition entirely English in the later years of schooling.

Mr. Peck's attitude will receive the hearty support of everyone in this part of the country, because it is most necessary that English shall be the language of instruction, as far as is practicable, in every part of the province.

RAILWAY. COMMISSION MAKES REPORT ON STRIKE TROUBLES

Report is Not Likely to be Favored By the Labor Men Generally.

London, Oct. 21.—In a report issued yesterday by the Railway Commission of Enquiry, which was appointed in August last, to endeavor to effect a settlement of questions at issue between the railway companies and their employes who were then on strike, opposition is expected to recognition by the companies of the men's unions. "The commissioners think," the report says, "that with their great responsibilities the companies cannot and should not be expected to permit any interference by their men on the subjects of discipline and management."

The commission recommends the adoption of a new scheme, to be in force until Jan. 6, 1914, by which all questions affecting hours of work, wages and conditions of service that cannot be settled by negotiations shall be referred to a conciliation board, to be formed along the lines of the existing sectional boards of conciliation. It is proposed also that the existing agreements between the companies and the men shall remain in force until Jan. 7, 1912.

The commissioners recommend in conclusion that men on strike shall not be allowed to coerce by threats or intimidation other men who wish to work.

J. E. Williams, chairman of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, in an interview last night said he was certain the report would not meet with the approval of the railway men. In some respects, Mr. Williams said, the recommendations made for a slight improvement in the old scheme, but in other respects were much inferior.

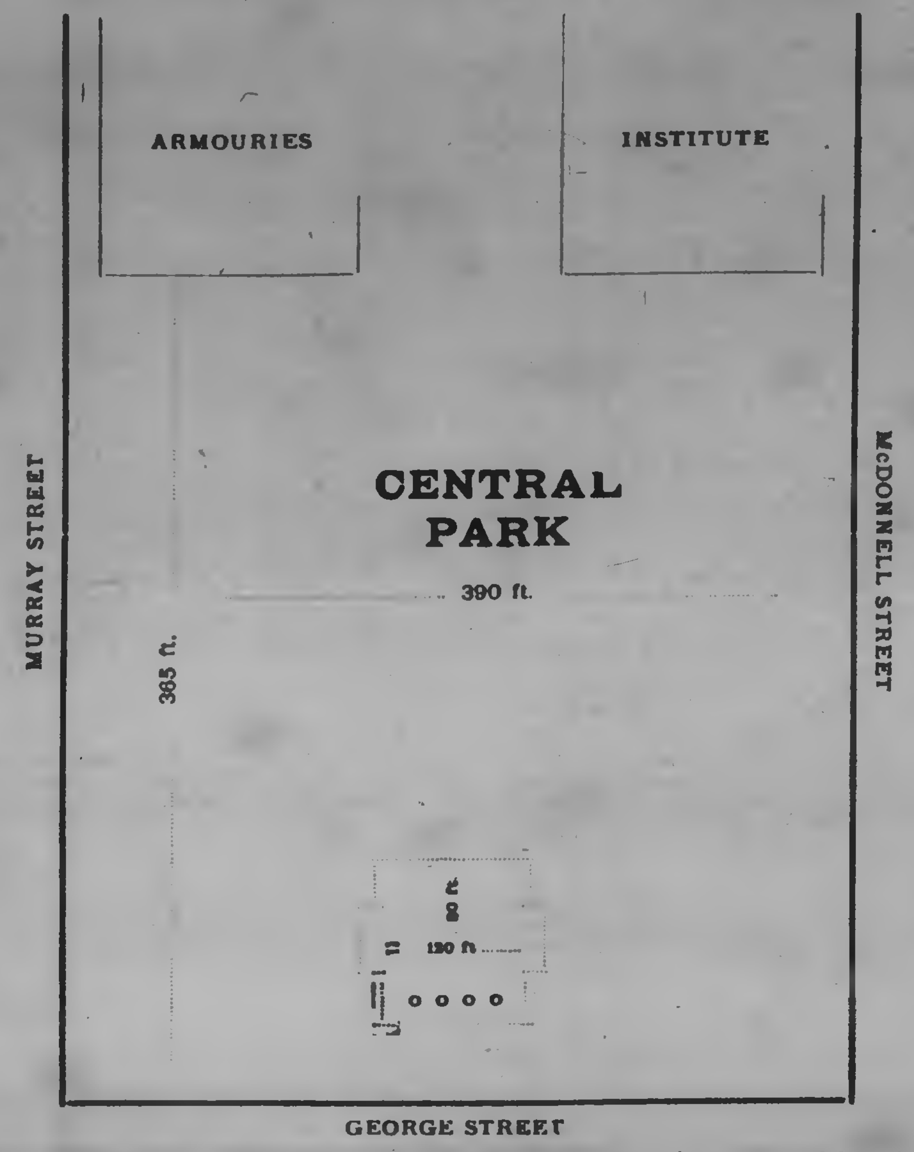
THE PROPER PLACE FOR THE CITY HALL IS HERE



The above is a diagram of the Central Park property, with a sketch as to what space a city hall building would occupy on the square. The plan is very much to scale, being about 90 feet to an inch. It is proposed that the city hall should be a building 80 feet by 120 feet, and three stories, this being plenty large enough for Peterborough's purposes.

The park site would not be injured by the erection of a $100,000 building in it, nor would the view be at all obstructed. As a site for a handsome civic building, the park will be ready whenever the city wants to build.

As a matter of fact, the paving of George street should receive first consideration, but if the city acquires the Birdsall property, let it be held for ten years, and some other requirement for it will have cropped up. This Central Park location is the place for the city hall, in the estimation of many citizens.

BATTLE AT HANKOW WAS A SEVERE DEFEAT FOR REGENT

Demoralization Sure to Follow in Wake of Rebels' Victory—Manchus May Stay by the Dynasty—Success of Revolution Assured.

Pekin, Oct. 21.—It is apparent here that the Imperial Government knew the result of the battle at Hankow between its forces and the rebels for more than twenty-four hours' before it became public here. Reports of the rebel victory gradually leaked out during the day, but the first positive account of the defeat of the Imperial troops was delivered to the Foreign legations last night by the Associated Press. It created a profound impression.

The success of the revolution has been considered here to hinge upon the result of the first encounter, as its moral effect would be far-reaching in China, as probably nowhere else would be the case, when the fugitive Imperialists reach the main army, which is mobilizing near Sin Yang Chow, the news of the repulse, it is believed, will utterly demoralise the troops, while on the other hand the news as it goes along the Yangtse River probably will result in further important adhesions to the rebel cause.

The foreign legations here believe that yesterday's news from Hankow and Yen-Nan will mean that the provinces south of the Yangtse and also some on the north side of the river sooner or later will secede.

The Government acknowledges that there is a serious situation in Chang-Sha, Province of Hu-Nan, which it is believed in Pekin means that Chang-Sha has joined the revolt.

Foreigners whose business it is to study Chine think that the northern provinces, which are not deeply affected by sedition, may rally around the Manchus. Everything, however, seems to depend on an immediate and successful advance by Minister of War Yin Tchang, who now commands 20,000 men within one hundred miles of Hankow, but only the Foreign Ministry pretends to enjoy confidence in his promised attack.

Already Yin Tchang is issuing proclamations in which he is offering pardon to all who desert the rebel standard, and it is believed he will rely on proclamations and negotiations, fearing or being unable to move his army.

At midnight last night a report from Yin Tchang was published in the official gazette. It does not refer to Wednesday's fight at Hankow. It says the twenty-second regiment arrived at Hankow Sunday, and that the rebels attacked twice, but were repulsed, and that three rebels were captured. His spies report that the rebels are preparing for a defence of Wu-Chang and Hankow. Many desertions from the rebel ranks are reported. Yin Tchang says he has made Sin-Yang-Chow his temporary headquarters, and will proceed southward after the arrival of the fourth division of the troops.

An edict which also is published sanctions Yin-Tching's proposals, and says it hopes he will lose no time in suppressing the rebels. Another edict expresses compassion for the people in those provinces, which are suffering from drought and rebellion, and orders 200,000 taels from the late Empress Dowager's hoard to be paid to Yuan Shi Kai, who will arrange for its distribution among the distressed people.

Red Cross In Field.

Hankow, Oct. 21.—During Wednesday's battle the Red Cross for the first time in history put Chinese workers in the field. The Red Cross has not yet obtained recognition by the Imperial troops, and consequently many of their wounded who were left on the field, were killed and mutilated by civilians who are in sympathy with revolt. The foreign nurses remained on the battlefield to take care of the wounded despite the advice of the consuls that they leave. The mission hospitals have now become Red Cross stations.

Many of the down-river towns report disturbances. A newspaper correspondent found at a railway station in the midst of a deserted camp, three frightened Chinese, who asked him to escort them to Hankow. The presence of foreigners is considered protection wherever there are revolutionists.

SEPARATION OF QUEEN'S TERMS

Bill Will Come Before Parliament Next Session.

Kingston, Oct. 21.—The bill for the separation of Queen's University from the Presbyterian Church, which is to come before the next session of the Dominion Parliament, will provide for a settlement upon the theological faculty of $200,000, as its share of the endowment fund, and for building, fuel, light, and attendance.

The General Assembly Commissioners are holding out for the transfer of the old arts building, now occupied by the faculty of theology, but the trustees do not want to give so much as that. The trustees promise, however, to erect a building for theology within five years.

Arabs Oppose Landing of Italians at Benghazi.

Turks Fled, But the Desert-men Stayed by Game.

Tripoli, Oct. 21.—In the fighting at Benghazi Thursday between the Italians and Turks and Arabs there were numerous casualties on both sides. When finally the Italians rushed the trenches, the Arabs made a strong resistance, while the Turks fled. The Italians took many Arabs prisoners

The Italian fleet under Rear-Admiral Aubrey bombarded Benghazi Thursday and landed 4,000 men, who, after a brisk battle, occupied a portion of the town. The greater part of the troops, however, camped on the beach Thursday night.

The expeditionary force instructed to occupy Benghazi arrived in the roadstead Wednesday morning, convoyed by the Italian battleships Vittorio Emanuele III., Roma, Napoli and Regina Elean, the cruisers Amalfi and Etruria, five smaller warships and two torpedo boat divisions.

Rear-Admiral Aubrey sent an officer with a white flag to the Turkish commander demanding surrender of the town. The Turkish commander promptly refused, and subsequently was notified by the Italian commander that unless he changed his mind and capitulated before 6 o'clock the town would be bombarded at that hour. No reply having been received, the bombardment began at the hour set. The shelling of the fleet continued until 9, when a detachment of sailors and troops was debarked. Other landing parties followed. The first Italians to come ashore were received with a sharp rifle fire from the Turks. The Italians bore themselves well and established a position near the water's edge, and stood the Turkish fire. They were rapidly reinforced from the fleet and later in a forward movement the Italians took the barracks in the village of Sidi by assault. They also took and held a part of Benghazi.

Altogether 4,000 men were landed. Late in the day temporary quarters were established on the beach.

Says He May Wish to be Back in Canada Again Before the Winter is Over.

Liverpool, Oct. 21.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Earl Grey, accompanied by Ladies Sybil and Evelyn Grey, were given a royal welcome on their arrival here yesterday. They were received by the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, wearing his chain of office, Harold D. Bateson, chairman of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce; Lieut.-Gen. Sir Henry Mackinnon, general officer commanding the western command; Gen. Bingham, whose son has been acting as A.D.C. to Earl Grey in Canada; and W. J. Doll, general manager of the Allan Line. His Excellency, invited to give a public message, said:

"It is impossible to be too sanguine as to the future development of Canada. It is a splendid country. It is going ahead as fast as anyone could desire. The more it increases in strength, the greater will be the accession of strength to the Empire.

"I am glad to be back in England after seven eventful years. They have been seven happy years in a land of open sunshine, and, although I am glad to be back among those who are carrying on practically singlehanded the whole burden of the British Empire, I confess I was sorry to leave the Dominion.

"As to the Canadian climate, I can only say that I thoroughly enjoyed it, whether in summer or winter, and I am not sure that before the present winter is over I shall not wish to be in Canada again."

Earl Grey and family later journeyed to London by special train, in which was reserved a royal saloon, decorated with choice flowers, the gift of the Canada Club, the Allan Line, and the C. P. R.

LIVER LAZINESS

Those Who Lack Energy and are Unsuccessful Should Read This Closely.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night and in the morning feel so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should soon be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicine and mixtures Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged up system. My spirits rose, I felt much better, the sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased, appetite, good color, and ambition to work returned and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well-known grocery dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys, and liver, and you'll enjoy long life and robust good health. Dr. Hamilton's Pills Stimulate Liver and Kidneys

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, OCT. 21, 1911.

AS TO CEMENT, ETC.

The Ottawa Free Press says:

> The Peterborough Review advocates a reduction of duties upon cement, yet it opposed the agreement which would have reduced the duty upon cement from the United States.

This is quite true. There were other tariff changes proposed in the reciprocity deal which the Review would have strongly favored, if they had not been bound up in a mass of objectionable and dangerous provisions. The Review does not regard this attitude as at all inconsistent. What we have favored—and shall continue to favor—is the making of our tariff schedules independent of any agreement with the United States. If we want or should have a reduction in our tariff on certain articles, for our own benefit, let us make them. But the principle of two men making a sweeping trade agreement, without giving the people an opportunity of changing that agreement in one detail, before it is passed, and accepted, is a wrong one, and the people of Canada so regarded it.

The Review thinks, for instance, that the Canadian duty on linotype machines should be abolished, as they are not made in Canada, and it is not likely ever will be, owing to the patents. This abolition was provided for in the reciprocity agreement, and we think it was a wise, and eminently proper provision, but that did not prevent the Review from opposing the "great betrayal" that would have given the United States a powerful grip on Canadian commercialism.

We believe the Conservative government would have the backing of the Canadian people at large in making some of the tariff changes that the reciprocity agreement proposed; but let them be made by Canada independently of any written arrangement with the United States, and with an eye only to our own good. We shall then be preserving our fiscal independence, and be running our own affairs as they should be run.

THE NEW SPEAKER

The selection of Dr. Sproule as speaker of the Dominion parliament is announced and should give general satisfaction to all classes of people. Next to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. John Haggart Dr. Sproule is the veteran of the Dominion parliament, having been first elected in 1878. Since that time he has continuously represented East Grey in parliament, and his representation has been of such high order that in his home constituency he enjoys the esteem of all classes of citizens, no matter what their political faith, says the Hamilton Spectator.

Dr. Sproule is of Irish parentage, was born in York county and graduated from Toronto University in medicine in 1868. He has had a somewhat varied business career, having variously conducted drug and stationery businesses, flour and saw mill enterprises, and for the last 23 years having been a successful farmer. During all this time he has continued his profession as a practicing physician. As a parliamentarian he is in the first class, being blessed with a large fund of common sense, coupled with an urbanity of temperament and kindliness of manner that make him a general favorite. His worth in parliament has been on many occasions attested by his appointment to important committee chairmanships. He is a grand master of the Orange association of British America, and a Methodist.

As speaker it is a foregone conclusion that Dr. Sproule will give the best of satisfaction to both parties in parliament. While as a member of the Conservative party in the house he has always been counted as one of the most vigorous of fighters, yet his fighting has invariably borne the stamp of fairness, and it cannot be said of him that he ever took a mean advantage of an opponent in debate. This characteristic, so pronounced in him, qualifies him most admirably for the duties of his new position, and, coupled with his undoubtedly clear and extensive knowledge of the rules of procedure, guarantees a period of fair dealing in the house, so far as decisions from the chair are concerned.

THE WHITNEY RECORD

The Whitney government has not, so far as we can recollect, been accused of one bit of dishonesty, or of what is commonly recognised by the term "graft" in its six years of office. It is a government that has not been afraid to tackle problems that would have frightened many politicians out of their boots—the installation of a co-operative municipal power scheme, for instance. It has worked hard at the problem of providing efficient teachers in sufficient numbers to raise the standard of education in the rural parts of the riding. That there is still a dearth of teachers cannot be laid at the door of the government, so long as the remuneration offered by the west is considerably more attractive than eastern salaries. The Whitney government has done its best to get the salary standard raised in the rural townships, but while it has succeeded to some extent, there is still much to be desired.

The criticism offered as to the hydro-electric power scheme by newspapers like the Examiner, that it is for the benefit of one section of the province, at the expense of the remainder of the province, is absurdly narrow and provincial. To say that the government of Ontario should not try to get, for the benefit of the people, some of the wealth of power afforded by Niagara Falls, because this power could not also be sent to North Bay, or to the Soo, as well as to the part of the province surrounding, is foolish talk. If the government will undertake to do for each section of the province all that can be done in view of local facilities and conditions, what more can be expected? The prosperity of one part of the country, and of one part of the province is interrelated with the prosperity of the whole.

The Whitney government has done a great deal to help the good roads movement. It will now have the assistance of the Borden government, probably, to some degree in improving the roads, in improving communication with the commercial centres, in developing Ontario's resources as they should be developed. Taken from the standpoint of progressiveness, the Whitney government cannot be accused of having failed to keep faith with the people. The utter lack of any sound, feasible program of further forward policies, as exhibited by the Liberals should be sufficient for the people of Ontario to declare with one voice, "Let Whitney finish his work."

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Port Hope merchant was fined for marking poor apples as No. 1 grade. Who will invent a method for fining the druggist who gives you something "just as good," and which isn't.

The Conservatives had some trouble over the leadership just before their big success in the country, but this does not make a precedent for the Ontario Liberals and their present trouble over the leadership to Mr. MacKay.

The governor of the Bahama islands is at the capital with the idea of furthering closer business relations, and ultimately political absorption. Perhaps if he were to go to Washington, accompanied by some other, Bahaman of ancient ideas, Uncle Sam might take this as consolation for what happened in Canada.

Mr. R. R. Hall apparently believes that he can "come back." But there are a lot of Peterborough Liberals who would have preferred G. N. Gordon, as the candidate. He is a young man, not one of the muscle-bound stalwarts. Mr. Gordon would have been probably the best choice in the riding.

There is peculiar aptness in the attitude of the MacKay Liberals in reference to the Ontario leadership. They tell the Toronto Liberals, who are aspiring to the lofty heights of leading a disorganized party, that they should first elect a Toronto Liberal member of the legislature. It is rather odd that Toronto should want to lead militant Ontario Liberalism.

The Liberal criticism of the Whitney administration will be largely based on a criticism of its policy with regard to keeping the farm population of Ontario on the farms. But if the people on the farms choose to go west, and take up new land, or if they choose to go to the cities to help in manufacturing for the west, how can the Whitney government keep them from it? The experience of Ontario in this regard is similar to the experience of the other eastern provinces. The trend of population is westward, and while a vigorous colonization policy will help some to overcome it, this matter must await the readjustment of time.

The Germans certainly do know good beer, and all the Germans in Europe would drink "Salvador" if the output were large enough.

Reinhardts' "Salvador" (The Famous National Drink) is the only beer brewed on this side of the Atlantic that equals the famous Bavarian "Salvador" in purity and tonic qualities.

"Halsbury Club" Excites.

London, Oct. 21.—The formation of the Halsbury Club has aroused intense interest in political circles throughout the country. The Radical newspapers are naturally delighted, but the moderates in the Unionist party are shocked. The "die-hards" continue to be firm in their demand for a resolute and uncompromising leadership.

Mr. Balfour speaks in Edinburgh and Glasgow, and comes to London on Sunday. It now seems almost certain that a meeting of the party leaders will be held on Monday to discuss the situation.

Doctor Strangely Missing.

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 21.—Dr. Jos. J. Doyle, assistant port physician, disappeared from the quarantine steamer Minoes Thursday at noon, leaving his coat and hat behind. It is feared that he lost his life while trying to step ashore, although several persons assert they saw him on Thursday night.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 20.—The easier feeling displayed in America yesterday, notwithstanding bullish private advices regarding shortage prompted some selling for profit here, which resulted in a decline. Following the opening there was some show of strength on predictions of small Russian shipments this week and expected light world's, other than Americas. During the morning further easiness developed on the increasing offers of new Plate wheat and the weakness in Buenos Ayres with the weather in Argentine favorable. There is a smaller inquiry for cargoes in all positions. At the close prices were unchanged from last night.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A new high-price record for the season was made to-day in wheat. Rain and snow northwest hurried up investors, who had been hoping in vain that a reaction was just at hand. The close, tho nervous, was at 1-4c and 1-8c advance. Corn finished 1 1-8c to 1 3-8c above last night. Oats was up 1-4c to 3-8c, and hog products dearer by 7½c

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

CHAPTER XX.

A Pair of Beautiful Petitioners.

Soon as the aide-de-camp had closed the door behind him, Santa Anna sprang up from his seat and hastily stumped it to a large cheval glass which stood on one side of the room. Squaring himself before this he took survey of his person from crown to toes. He gave a pull or two at his mustache, twisting the points, and turning them upward; then running his fingers comb-like through his hair, he gave that also a jaunty set. In fine, straightening himself in his gold-braided uniform frock, with a last glance down to his feet—this resulting in a slight grimace—he returned to the state chair and reseated himself.

With all his gallantry and politeness—and to these he made much pretension—it was not his custom to receive lady visitors standing. In the upright attitude the artificial leg made him look stiff, and he preferred stowing it away under the table. Besides, there was his dignity, as the grand figurehead of the nation, which he now wished to have its full effect. Leaning forward, he gave a downward blow to the spring of the table bell; then assuming an attitude of expectant grandeur, sat expectant. This time the aide-de-camp required no passing to and fro, and the door again opening, the ladies were ushered into the august presence.

In their air and manner they betrayed agitation too, while the serious expression upon their features told they were there on no trivial errand.

"Pray be seated, ladies," said the dictator, after exchanging salutations. "Condesa Almonte honors the palace with her presence, and for the Senorita Valverde, were it not for official relations with her father, I fear we should see even less of her than we do."

While speaking he pointed to a couch near the table.

They sat down rather hesitatingly and slightly trembling. Not that either would have been at all timid had the occasion been a common one. Both were of Mexico's best blood, the condesa one of the old nobility who hold their heads higher even than the political chief of the state, when he chances to be—as more than once has occurred—an adventurer of humbler birth. Therefore it was not any awe of the great dignitary that now unnerved them, but the purpose for which they were seeking speech with him. Whether Santa Anna guessed it, or not, could not be told by his looks. An experienced diplomatist, he could keep his features fixed and immovable as the Sphinx, or play them to suit the time and the tune. So, after having delivered himself, as above, with the blandest of smiles upon his face, he remained silent, awaiting the rejoinder.

It was the condesa who made it.

"Your excellency," she said, doing her utmost to look humble, "we have come to beg a favor from you."

A gratified look, like a gleam of light, illuminated Santa Anna's swarthy features. Isabel Almonte begging favors from him! What better could he have wished? With all his command of features he but ill concealed the triumph he now felt. It flashed up in his eyes as he said respondingly:

"A favor you would ask? Well, if it be within my power to grant it, neither the Condesa Almonte, nor the Dona Luisa Velverde need fear refusal. Be frank, then, and tell me what it is."

The countess, with all her courage, still hesitated to declare it. For despite the ready promise of compliance, she did fear a refusal; since it had been asked for that same morning and though not absolutely refused, the answer left but little hope of its being conceded.

As is known, at an earlier hour Don Ignacio had paid a visit to the palace to seek clemency for a prisoner-of-war, Florence Kearney. But pardon for a state prisoner was also included in his application—that being Ruperto Rivas. Of all this the ladies were well aware, since it was at their instigation and through their importunity he had acted. It was only, therefore, by the urgency of a despairing effort, as a last resort, they had now sought the presence as petitioners, and naturally they dreaded [illegible].

Noting the condesa's backwardness—a thing new but not displeasing to him, since it gave promise of influence over her—Santa Anna said interrogatively.

"Might this favor, as you are pleased to term it, have aught to do with a request lately made to me by Don Ignacio Valverde?"

"'Tis the same, your excellency," answered the countess, at length recovering spirit, but still keeping up the air of meek supplication she had assumed.

"Indeed!" exclaimed the dictator, adding, "that grieves me very much."

He made an attempt to look sorry, though it needed none for him to appear chagrined. This he was in reality and for reasons intelligible. Here were two ladies, both of whom he had amatory designs upon, each proclaiming by her presence—as it were telling him to his teeth, the great interest she felt in another—that otherwise she would not have been here!

"But why, excellentissimo?" asked the countess, entreatingly. "What is there to grieve you in giving their freedom to two men—gentlemen, either of whom has been guilty of crime and who are in prison only for offenses your excelency can easily pardon?"

"Not so easily as you think, condesa. You forget that I am but official head of the state and have others to consult—my ministers and the congress—in affairs of such magnitude. Know, too, that both these men for whom you solicit pardon have been guilty of the gravest offenses; one of them, a foreigner, an enemy of our country, taken in arms against it; the other, I am sorry to say, a citizen, who has become a rebel, and worse still, a robber!"

"'Tis false!" exclaimed the countess, all at once changing tone and seeming to forget the place she was in and the presence. "Don Ruperto Rivas is no robber; never was, nor rebel either; instead, the purest of patriots!"

Isabel Almonte never looked lovelier than at that moment. Her spirit roused, cheeks red, eyes sparkling with indignation, she seemed to be the very impersonation of defiance, angry, but beautiful. Instinct or intuition told her it would be of no use pleading further and she had made up her mind for the worst.

The traits of beauty which her excitement called forth added piquancy to her natural charms and inflamed Santa Anna's wicked passions all the more, but more than any of them revenge. For now he knew how much the fair petitioner was interested in the man whose suit she had preferred. With a cold cynicism—which, however, cost him an effort—he rejoined:

"That, perhaps, is your way of thinking, condesa. But it remains to be proved—and the prisoner you speak of shall have an opportunity of proving it—with his innocence in every respect. That much I can promise you. The same for him," he added, turning to Luisa Valverde, "in whom, if I mistake not, the Don Luisa is more especially interested. These gentlemen prisoners shall have a fair trial and justice done them. Now, ladies, can you ask more of me?"

They did not; both seeing it would be to no purpose. Equally purposeless to prolong the interview, and they turned toward the door, the daughter of Don Ignacio leading where she had before followed.

This was just as Santa Anna wished it. Seemingly forgetful of his cork leg and the limp he took such pains to conceal, he jerked himself out of his chair and hurried after—on a feigned plea of politeness. Just in time to say to the countess in a hurried, half whisper:

"If the countess will return and prefer her request alone, it may meet with more favor."

The lady passed on, with head held disdainfully, as though she heard but would not heed. She did hear what he said, and it brought a fresh flush upon her cheek, with another flash of anger to her eyes.

CHAPTER XXI.

A Woman's Scheme.

"Ruperto is indeed in danger! Now I am sure of it. Ah, even to his life! And I may be the cause of his losing it."

So spoke the Countess Almonte half in soliloquy, though beside her sat her friend Luisa Valverde. They were in a carriage on return from their fruitless visit to the dictator. It was the countess' own landau, which had remained waiting for them outside the palace gates.

The other, absorbed with her own anxieties, might not have noticed what was said but for its nature. This, being in correspondence with what was at the moment in her own mind, caught her ear, almost making her start. For she, too, was thinking of a life endangered and how much that danger might be due to herself. It was not Ruperto's life, but Florencio's.

"You the cause, Isabel!" she said, not in surprise, save at the similarity of their thoughts. "Ah! yes; I think I comprehend you."

"If not, amiga, don't ask explanation of it now. It's a hateful thing and I dislike to think, much more speak of it. Some other time I'll tell you all. Now we've work to do—a task that will take all our energies—However is it to be done?"

To her interrogatory she did not expect reply. And the desponding look of Luisa Valverde showed she had none to give that would be satisfactory, for she quite understood what was the task spoken of and equally comprehended the difficulty of its accomplishment.

For awhile they sat without further exchange of speech, both buried in thought. Not long, however, when the countess again spoke, saying:

"You're not good at dissembling, Luisita, I wish you were."

To be continued.

RHEUMATISM GONE, SAYS DETECTIVE KILLEN.

Morriscy's No. 7 and Liniment Cured his Knee. "Feels good as new."

St. John, N.B., April 12, 1911.

"I am glad to report that my knee is completely cured of Rheumatism—thanks to Father Morriscy's No. 7 Rheumatism & Kidney Tablets, as they alone are responsible for my cure. I was troubled for a number of years, and tried everything I heard of, and needless to say, spent quite a sum of money without any results. I have no further trouble now, and my knee feels as good as new. I was personally acquainted with the late Father Morriscy and know his remedies are good. Anyone suffering from Rheumatism and Kidney trouble should by all means try No. 7 Tablets, as I can cheerfully recommend them." PATRICK KILLEN, Provincial Detective, St. John, N.B.

The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine. Dr. Morriscy prescribed it for 44 years and it cured thousands after other doctors failed.

WHO'S WHO IN CANADA

WILLIAM DENNIS

Mr. Denis, owner of the Halifax Herald, is a native of Cornwall, Eng., but came to Canada in 1873, and joined the reportorial staff of the Herald when it started a couple of years later. For some years he engaged in journalistic work in Winnipeg, and when he returned to Halifax it was to take possession of the concern on which he had acted as junior. Since then the Herald has gone on prospering and to prosper, and is to-day a journal of weight and influence. Mr. Dennis earned a high degree of praise for the whole souled effort through the columns of his paper in 1906 when no less a sum than $15,000 were raised in the distinct to help relieve the want resulting from the famine in Japan.

WILLIAM DENNIS
Prominent Halifax Journalist

SIR CHARLES FITZPATRICK, K.C.M.G.

Chief Justice of Canada

When Sir Charles Fitzpatrick left the stormy sea of politics in 1906 for the comparitive calm of the bench he left behind him a record that any man would be proud of — a reputation that has been enhanced each year he has dispensed justice as the head of our judiciary and a splendid tribute to his impartiality is the esteem he is held by men who were at one time bitter political opponents. This brillant man was born in 1853 in Quebec when after graduating in Laval, he took up practice in law; three years later becoming crown prosecutor for his native city. In 1890 he entered the Provincial House for the county of Quebec, resigning six years later to became federal member for the same division, when he was also appointed Solicitor General. In 1902 Sir Charles became Minister of Justice, which portfolio he resigned in 1906 to occupy his present high position. Possibly the highest compliment that could be paid to a legal man was paid to the Chief Justice when he was offered and accepted a place in the Hague Tribunal of Arbitration in 1908-10, where he discharged his duties in such a way as to call forth the commendation of the greatest legal luminaries of the world. In 1906 Sir Charles received his K.C.M.G. and in 1908 his P.C.

HON. CHARLES DEVLIN

Minister of Public Works, Quebec.

Charley Devlin must have kissed the "blarney stone" thrice if successful public life and a gift of the mother tongue go together; for there is no doubt but what the Hon. Charles Ramsey Devlin — to give him his full title — has turned up trumps in every sphere of political work he has undertaken. First a member of the Federal House at Ottawa, — then a Commissioner in Ireland, — next a member of the Imperial Parliament — back again to Ottawa as member and finally Minister of Public Works in the Quebec Government and a seat in the Provincial House. Not a bad record for a man just out of the forties.

Chas. Ramsey Devlin was born in 1858 in Aylmer, Que., where after graduating at Laval University he engaged in newspaper work. He first became M. P. for Ottawa County in 181 resigning from parliamentary life temporarily to take up the position of Canadian Commissioner in Ireland. While in the land of his forbears Mr. Devlin was elected by acclamation as M. P. for Galway in the British House of Commons. On his returning to Canada in 1906 he was elected to the Federal House for Nicolet, but resigned nine months later to accept his present position as Minister of Public Works, Que. As a man Mr. Devlin is the essence of courtesy and kindness and no immigrant from the Emerald Isle has appealed to this big hearted man in vain.

"FATHER ENDEAVOR" CLARK

Not many Canadians have a more fruitful sixty years of life behind them than the Rev. "Father Endeavor" Clark, who visited Montreal a few days ago and has since celebrated his birthday in his native town of Aylmer. He was one of the first and ablest men to apply the new organising principles of this continent to spiritual work, and the society which he formed has done a notable work in rallying the young people of the Protestant world into a single force, imbuing them with a powerful inspiration, and combatting the tendency to drift away from religious affiliation. In the 'eighties Dr. Clark could hardly have done what he did if he had remained in Canada, so that his removal to the United States was more a mission than an expatriation.

PHYSICIANS Failed to Cure Rheumatism

Miss Flora Chapman Vividly Describes Her Sufferings and Ultimate Cure With "Nerviline."

"After being an enthusiastic user of Nerviline for years, I feel it my duty to tell you personally what your wonderful preparation has done for me.

"I suffered torture from rheumatism and heart trouble, tried scores of so-called remedies, consulted for weeks and months with Toronto's most eminent physicians, but derived only slight benefit.

"A friend insisted on my using Nerviline, and to my surprise a vigorous rubbing of this powerful liniment eased the pains and reduced the stiffness in my joints. I continued to use Nerviline and was permanently cured. I am now perfectly well, and for three years have had no rheumatism at all. I know many families where no other medicine but Nerviline is kept—it is so useful in minor ailments like earache, toothache, neuralgia, coughs, colds, lumbago, and sciatica. I call Nerviline my "Life Guard," and urge all to try its merit."

IF YOU ARE SICK YOU CONSULT A SPECIALIST

WHY ?

Because he has made a special study of the disease you are suffering from, and from the knowledge gained by years of experience knows just what treatment you require.

If you are going into a law-suit, you do the same—consult the best lawyer you can get, and find it cheap in the end.

Now, when you are considering taking Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, do you not think it would pay you to consult one who has had many years experience in that profession, and whose knowledge would be of use to you in enabling you to get the best value for your premiums, with the most liberal policies and absolute guarantees ?

If you want what is best in Life, Fire or Accident Insurance, you can get it by calling at, or phoning to

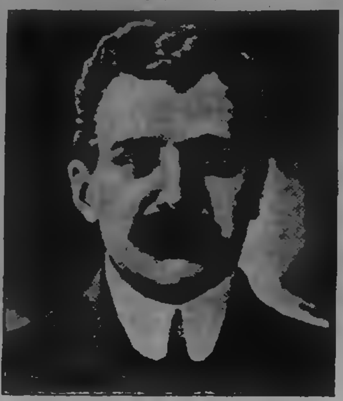
DOCTORS
GAVE ME UP
But "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Me.

MOORFIELD, ONT., March 25th, 1910.
"I suffered from severe indigestion and dyspepsia for nearly two years. I could not take food without fearful distress.
I could not do any work and became so run down and weak that I could hardly walk. I was attended by two experienced doctors and they both pronounced my case incurable, that they could do nothing more for me as they thought my disease was HEART FAILURE AND INCURABLE. The doctors gave me up and I looked forward for death in a short time.



At this time my son asked me to try 'FRUIT-A-TIVES', and from the outset of taking these wonderful tablets I was better, and gradually this medicine completely cured me. I took a large number of boxes, perhaps a dozen, and now I am entirely cured and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight."

A PRINCE OF THE SEA

The Life of the Great Columbus Interestingly Told

BY REV. JAS. ROLLINS

Real eloquence tinged at frequent intervals with remarkable exhibitions of pure rhetoric, characterized the lecture on "A Prince of the Sea" delivered last evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church by the pastor, Rev. James Rollins, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

It was surprising indeed the degree of genuine entertainment and instructiveness, that the speaker was able to clothe his presentation of a topic that to many might seem dry and uninteresting. The rapt attention of the gathering never flagged for a moment, and throughout the entire course of his lecture, not a period of restlessness was observed.

Previous to the lecture, Mr. Chisholm, in the capacity of chairman, which position he filled most satisfactorily, introduced Mr. A. C. Treneer, the gifted but sightless organist, who rendered a selection on the organ in a most acceptable and talented manner. This was followed by a well given vocal number by Mrs. Dickson Hall. Both selections were accorded hearty acclamation. The chairman then introduced Rev. Mr. Rollins, the speaker of the evening.

A PRINCE OF THE SEA

Beginning at the time of the earliest boyhood of Christopher Columbus, the prince of the sea, Rev. Mr. Rollins drew a vivid and accurate mental picture of the life of the young sailor, and of the ambitions and sailor-like aspirations that surged in his breast from his earliest days. These feelings were engendered undoubtedly by the impressions and examples with which his life was surrounded from the time he was an infant in the cradle.

Proceeding skilfully, the speaker told of the early education of the youth, of the knowledge and valuable experience that fitted him for his life work, that he derived from his hazardous and highly dangerous life as a sailor on the pirate-thronged waters of the Mediterranean sea, which commenced at the tender age of fourteen. Twenty-one years of this perilous life eminently fitted him with the experience that enabled him in later years to carry his great ambition to a successful and glorious accomplishment.

The speaker graphically related the story of the long years of vexations and disappointments endured by Columbus in his efforts to interest royalty in his project of discovering a new route to India by water. Finally, with the gracious assistance of Queen Isabella of Spain, he was enabled to equip three puny vessels and set out on his supposedly wildly impossible undertaking. In the face of myriad obstacles and indirect opposition to the cowardice and mutiny of men, he finally sighted America, and planted foot on the beautiful island which he named San Salvador, as a token of thanksgiving to the Almighty for the discovery.

His triumph return to Spain; of the plaudits and honors with which everywhere he was acclaimed, were all absorbingly and vividly pictured by the speaker in fluent language.

The evening was concluded by a hearty vote of thanks tendered the speaker, evidenced by a hearty handclap, and also by another skilfully given organ selection by Mr. Treneer. Special mention is due the latter selection, for the impressive and masterly interpretation of the piece. Mr. Treneer's command of the instrument for a musician minus his sight, is marvellous, and his playing last night amply revealed his wonderful musical abilities.

THE HOME PHYSICIAN
Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Cure Most of the Family's Ills.

Perhaps if the children, and the "grown-ups" too, always ate exactly the right quantities of exactly the right things, at just the proper times, and in every other way obeyed the rules of health, there would be no sickness in the family, and no need of medicine.

This Little Box is Mother's Stand-by.

But they never have and probably never will, so in every family there are sure to be more or less frequent attacks of sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, and kidney and liver troubles, and occasionally some one is "sick in bed".

It is worth a good deal to the mother, then, to have on hand that perfectly safe and reliable remedy for these ills —

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

They invigorate those organs which cleanse the body of waste and impurities, regulating the bowels, stimulating the kidneys and opening the pores of the skin.

Thus Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cure the common ailments and keep the family healthy. This they have been doing for over half a century in every part of the world.

While the Hon. Adam Beck is a busy man with his duties as chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, he finds time to take a big interest in other questions, and one of these is the health of the people of Ontario.

RECITAL AND PRESENTATIONS

Choice Musical Program at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum

Young Musicians Rewarded for Efforts at Success

The exceptionally fine musical treat provided for by the Sisters of St. Mary's Convent and given at St. Alphonsus Lyceum last night won the unanimous approval of a large audience and it was a highly pleased gathering which left the hall at the close of the recital. Not prolonged as is too often the case, the program pleased everyone.

The visiting artists, Miss Grace Smith, pianist, of London, England, and Mr Frank Whitehouse, violinist, were instant favorites. Both commanding splendid control of their instruments, their numbers were at all times pleasing. The vocalists of the evening, Messrs. Harold Lee and Albert New, always popular contributors, were heartily received. Several renditions by the Glee Club assisted to the evening's enjoyment.

During an interval the presentation of testimonials and medals were made to the Convent scholars by his Lordship Bishop O'Connor, who afterwards warmly congratulated the young musicians on their success, and also offered some kindly advice as to the the importance of studies.

Mr. James Farley, well-known to the old residents of Peterborough, passed away at the House of Providence last evening and the funeral took place this afternoon to St. Peter's cemetery. The late Mr. Farley had been an inmate of the House of Providence for some time. In his earlier life he was a farmer known through the country. He was twice married, his second wife being also an inmate of the House of Providence. Mr. Farley has been a constant visitor to the Review Office for a number of years, to get a copy of the paper. Several days ago he made what has proved to be his last call and at that time complained of illness. His death was due to his advanced age of 79 years.

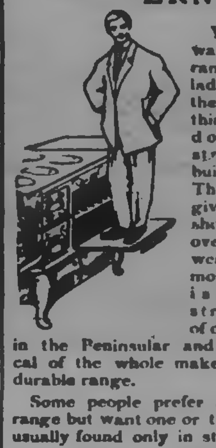
Peerless Peninsular
A DURABLE CAST-IRON RANGE WITH MODERN CONVENIENCES



You don't want to use a range as a step-ladder—not as the ordinary thing—but you do want a strong, well-built range. This picture is given here to show that the oven door — a weak spot in most ranges — is a firm, strong piece of construction in the Peninsular and it is typical of the whole make-up of this durable range.

Some people prefer a cast-iron range but want one or two features usually found only in steel ranges.

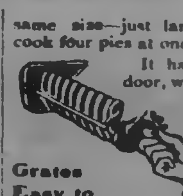
The Peerless
is designed for just such people.

It has the perfectly-fitting doors and parts, the firm, substantial body and the cosey, homelike appearance peculiar to cast-iron ranges.

At the same time it has an oven made partly of iron and partly of steel — an oven that will heat quickly and evenly all over.

It has a large oven, two inches deeper than any other range of the same size—just large enough to cook four pies at once.

Low Closet for Pots and Pans



Grates Easy to Remove

It has a drop oven door, which is not usual on a cast-iron range.

It may be had with a hot water reservoir and a steel warming closet with drop door.

The Part You Cannot See
These are all things that you can see—very important things, but not more so than the things you cannot see—the interior construction, which decides whether or not your pies will burn, whether your oven will be perfectly tight so as to keep out dust and smoke, whether it will wear.

These unseen points you can be sure of when you buy a Peninsular range.

Fifty years of building stoves—honest stoves — are behind every range that bears the name "Peninsular." That name says the materials are good — the flue arrangement is good—the oven is built to heat evenly—the range will wear.

There is a Peninsular range to suit every purse and to please every taste in range architecture.

"The Cost"
illustrates some of the more popular lines and explains why Peninsular ranges cost less in the long run than others. Don't buy a range before reading this book. It's free.

RAFAEL'S MADONNA

Beautiful Copy of Original at the Public Library

An anonymous donor, resident in this city has presented to the Library a beautiful copy of Raphael's Madonna, the original of which hangs in the Royal Galley at Dresden. The picture, which is a costly one, has been presented to the Library in the hope that other well-wishers of the institution may be moved to do likewise, and by gifts of statuary or paintings, enable the Board of Directors to beautify the building in a style befitting its importance and the dignity of the city in which it is situated.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY HOLDS SPLENDID SOCIAL GATHERING

Large Gathering of English Element at S.O.E. Hall Had Enjoyable Time.

A social evening under the auspices of St. George's Society was held last evening in the Sons of England Hall at which over three hundred people were present. Although the society has only been in existence for a few months, such has been the good work done by the officers, and the energetic way in which they have put forward their claims before their fellow countrymen, that a large proportion of the English population of Peterborough are now members. Many cases of real need have been brought to the notice of the Relief Committee and in every case, without exception, help of some kind has been given.

Mr. W. Guy, the president, occupied the chair and introduced the various entertainers to the audience. The program was as follows:

Pianoforte solo—Miss Jay.
Song—Mrs. Wells, encore.
Recitation—Miss Edith Pryce.
Song—Mr. Deakin.
Song—Mrs. B. Read, encore.
Ventriloquial sketch—Mr. Cole.
Recitation—Mr. J. John, encore.
Address—Mr. W. H. Pretty.
Comic song—Mr. Nicholls, encore.
Song—Mr. Harrison.
Duet—Mrs. Read and Mr. Deakin.

Refreshments were served by the committee, the ladies having brought cakes, while the gentlemen provided coffee, etc.

In a neat speech Mr. Walter Stocker moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly provided the luncheon. Mr. Pretty seconded the motion.

The meeting last night was the largest gathering of Englishmen and their wives that has been held in the city. The St George's Society proposes holding a social evening of this nature at different times during the winter months in order to brighten the social life of the English residents.

Those in charge of last night's program were:—

President—W. Guy.
Vice-Presidents—Messrs. W. Stocker and J. Huxley.
Secretary—Mr. T. Pitchford.
Executive — Messrs. B. Read, J. Packman, S. Jay and J. John.

The technical works above mentioned are absolutely up-to-date and are the output of the very best authors. The works attributed to Mr. Paul Hasluck the editor of "Work" are merely edited by him and are by various authors.

Some confusion still seems to exist in regard to the hours during which books may be obtained at the library and it may be as well once again to state that whilst the reading rooms are open to the public between the hours of 9.30 a.m. and 10 p.m. the stack room is only open from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. It was a choice between closing up the Library entirely during the process of cataloguing or giving the public a limited service, and the Board decided on the latter course. As soon as practicable the regular hours of opening and closing the stack room will be reverted to and due notice will be given in the papers to that effect.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me.

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—MRS. JANETZKI, 2963 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

O'Keefe's PILSENER LAGER

The Light Beer in the Light Bottle

Canadians laugh at any talk of the superiority of "imported lagers".

They know that O'Keefe's "Pilsener" Lager is a purer, better beer than anything imported into Canada.

They know that O'Keefe's "Pilsener" is brewed only of the choicest hops and malt—which cannot be said of any American lager.

DISTANCE GAS-LIGHTING

Useful Appliance by Which Gas Jets May be Lit Up All Over a Warehouse by Merely Moving a Switch.

Users of gas for lighting purposes will be interested in the very useful appliance for lighting gas at a distance by means of an electric spark. The whole apparatus is compact and inexpensive, and may be used with existing fittings and be applied to any number of lights, and when once installed costs practically nothing for upkeep, as there is no permanent pass-jet used. The apparatus consists of a small dry battery which generates a current of four to six volts, and measures about twelve by six by three inches, and is capable of serving any number of lights up to five hundred. To each burner is fixed a patent valve-tap which can be opened or shut as desired by means of a switch, and this can be fixed at any convenient place in the room, its connection with the battery and the valve-tap being made with ordinary bell-wire. The switch has two buttons, the first of which, on being pressed, opens the gas-way, and at the same time makes a very hot spark at the point of the burner which sets it alight; the second button when pressed shuts off the gas. To obviate the trouble and expense of using insulated wire in the wiring, the current from the battery is altered by means of a trembler, and is transformed to high tension by passing it through a transformer which is fixed to each valve-tap. The transformer is made of a core of laminated soft iron surrounded by a short coil of thick wire and a long coil of thin wire; the spark-leads are of stout working wires with steatite insulators, and the spark emitted is of the same strength as is used for firing explosive mixtures for internal combustion, and cannot miss fire. The whole apparatus is neat and compact; the valve and transformer, being quite small, do not show any apparent indication of their presence on the fittings.

Want a Colony For Tramps.

Winchester, Ont., Oct. 21.—The Provincial W. C. T. U. decided to organize a new department in connection with children's work, and Mrs. McLaughlin of Hamilton was appointed honorary secretary.

A resolution was passed memorializing the Ontario Government, requesting them to provide a provincial colony for tramps.

Queen's Scholarships.

Kingston, Oct. 21.—The results of the fall theological examinations at Queen's were posted Friday afternoon as follows:

Matriculation scholarships—The David Strathern Daw, value $75; George Telford, B.A., Scotland.

The Dominion, founded by Walker Lawson, value $70; J. W. North, Ann Arbor.

The Buchanan, founded by Rev. Alexander Buchanan, Stirling, value $65; P. L. Jull, B.A., Brantford.

D. A. Ferguson obtained second-class standing in church history, while T. N. Caldwell secured the same standard in New Testament.

Check Emigration Figures.

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—A system will be established for a record of emigration, not only to the United States, but to other countries, and the figures will be used in checking over the next census returns.

The presence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Premier Borden's office yesterday morning started the report that they were conferring in regard to acclamations for the new Ministers, and Messrs. Fielding and Graham, defeated Ministers. It is learned, however, that they simply discussed the status of the private secretaries of the late Ministers.

To Divide Supreme Court?

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—In Government circles a proposal is mooted to divide the Supreme Court of Canada into two sections, east and west, though there is much doubt as to whether it will be carried out.

Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Interior, is one of those who favor the proposition as designed to lighten the cost of litigation to the west.

Treasured by Queen Victoria.

At Windsor Castle may be seen two objects of small intrinsic value, which Queen Victoria is said to have valued more highly than most of the costly gifts showered upon her during her long reign. The first is an old and much-worn Bible which Gen. Gordon carried with him throughout his great campaign in China. It was presented by Gordon's sister to Her Majesty, who had it preserved in a beautiful casket of crystal and enamel. The second object is a fitting companion to the first. It is the Koran formerly used by Gordon's murderer, the Mahdi. It was given to Queen Victoria by Lord Kitchener.

The Utilisation of 'Air-Gas.'

During the past few years the utilisation of air-gas for lighting, heating, and other domestic purposes has advanced considerably. Air-gas, it may be explained, is an inflammable mixture formed by the addition in very small proportions of the vapour of a highly volatile spirit such as petrol with the air. Several disadvantages of the system have developed in its use, the most noteworthy being the condensation of moisture in the pipes, which impedes the flow of the gas and produces a disconcerting flicker in the light. This drawback, however, has now been overcome by previously passing the air to be associated with the volatilised spirit over a moisture-absorbing medium such as calcium chloride. That the system in the main is reliable and efficient is proved by the increasing establishment of small installations for the lighting of the houses in small communities from a central point. Worked on such a principle, it enables the smallest and most remote village to secure the same illuminating and other conveniences as are possible to large towns with an elaborate coal-gas generating station, and at a much smaller proportionate expenditure.

Artificial Snails.

It is astonishing how often it is that one hears of strange and secret processes through what is virtually the vagaries of that blind goddess, Chance. An instance of this occurred in France a week or so ago, when a workman brought an action against his employer to recover damages for a finger that had been mutilated in one of the machines. Then in the examination that followed the fact came out that the factory in question was engaged in the manufacture of artificial snails. It appears that the shells are bought by the firm in question from the dustmen and rag-pickers, and, after being cleaned, are filled with "lights" or cats' meat, the soft flesh being cut into corkscrew form to fit the shell by a skilfully-designed machine. The top is then sealed with liquid fat, and the escargot is ready for the consumer. The artificial snails have a ready sale in Paris and other French towns, and are presumably sold as the genuine article. One wonders what the opinion of many epicures of this delicacy is now that they have discovered the method by which their favourite dish is sometimes manufactured.

Artificial Resuscitation

The resuscitation of a drowning person by means of artificial breathing is not only a laborious undertaking, but the motions must be correctly executed or the attempt will prove unsuccessful. A Swedish physician has constructed an exceptionally simple and effective apparatus, which lightens the task materially and adds immensely to the chances of success. It consists of a short board on which the patient is placed, two levers to which the arms are fastened, attached to the board, and a wide belt or girdle fastened to the levers and passing over the patient's breast. When the levers are pushed backward, the arms follow and the chest is inflated; and when the levers are pushed forward and down the girdle presses the air out of the lungs.

MIGHTY MIRACLE IN STONE

Unearthing the Secrets of Egypt's Mighty Pyramids that have been Buried for Over Fifty Seven Centuries.

It slumbered for thirty-seven centuries before the coming of Christ — the Great Pyramid of Cheops, or Khufu. It still stands there, eight miles from Cairo, defying time, the elements, and the vandals, all working together, barely able to stretch its skin. An American, Dow Covington, has brought out the latest word from its mysterious depths; he has almost solved its secret.

After clearing every passage that can be found, he has discovered that certain winds make musical sounds in the passages, which he has rid of the debris of nearly fifty-seven centuries and he hopes yet to find another northern passage which will make quite a musical effect when the winds blow right. Best of all, he has cleared the single remaining course just above the sands of the desert, and revealed to the world that its outer sheath was of white limestone, which nobody knew before, because the great mass of stone had been used as a common quarry for thousands of years. The limestone sheathing make many a mosque in Egypt to-day. When the tomb of Cheops was first reared it was as white as a marble mansion of our times. The technical work of those days was marvellous. The masonry is absolutely unrivalled; there is nothing better in all the world to-day. Monuments and palaces have come and have gone a hundred times since the Great Pyramid was built. They have perished; it remains.

For 20 years 100,000 men toiled at the stones. They built their great pile facing exactly north and south. They chose a base of nearly a seventh of a mile, 761 ft. to be exact. This was a plot covering nearly 13 acres. There were 210 perfect courses of stone, almost invisibly joined of Mokattem limestone blocks. At an angle of a little more than 51 degrees its four sides swept-up, tapering to the pointed apex, 481 ft. above the ground.

In it were 85,000,000 cubic feet of stone, put up by people who had no modern machinery. There are about 2,300,000 individual blocks.

It Flew 5600 Years Ago!

The debris removed, marvellous relics were unearthed. They had been left there almost before modern time began — objects of bronze and terra cotta, two mason's levels, bread-plates and wine-flasks used by the workmen of other days. There were the bones of a sacred bird which flew its last flight at least 5,600 years ago.

He found the mysterious chamber below the ground — burrowed out of the living rock beneath the mighty pile above—"The stones of darkness and the shadow of death." What this chamber was for is not yet known.

Sixty-nine feet of debris obstructs the outer end of the channel that leads to the great chamber of the king — the great Cheops, or Khufu himself, and when this has been cleared away there will be exposed for the first time in history the interior of this world wonder.

The Queen's Chamber

Beneath the King's chamber, in the heart of the pyramid, is the Queen's chamber, near the entrance to which there was found about forty years ago a number of rare relics, the most important of them being a small bracelet of iron, or perhaps it was a child's anklet. This was lying imbedded in the cement of the eighty-fourth course. It is the oldest iron object known to men. In 1837 a Mr. Hill, an engineer, found imbedded in the 103 course a flat piece of iron equally as old, which is now in the British Museum.

Masons to-day build no more beautifully than did those ancient men who toiled 5,600 years ago. They have left their own monument in the Queen's chamber which, apparently, was never used. It is superbly finished and jointed; yet, oddly enough, the entrances to this superb tomb was covered and concealed. Possibly it was intended for Mertitefe, Khufu's Queen, but she survived him and married his brother Chephren, who built the second pyramid in the great group which stands to-day as perpetual monuments just outside Cairo.

The Grand Gallery is considered the most mysterious part of this mighty miracle in stone, because if the pyramid were intended only as a tomb there was practically no use for this elaborate Grand Gallery, with its strange and remarkable features, except perhaps to temporarily accommodate the granite plugs which still close the lower end of the ascending passage, but which I find fit too tightly to have been slid into position. At an angle of about 26 degrees 8 minutes it slopes up for 155 feet, its height 28 feet, and its width above the ramps nearly 7 feet. Its great sides are clearly marked by seven overlapping layers of stone, while it is roofed by thirty-six slabs.

Plants Breaking Up an Island.

The man in the street would scarcely associate great growth with so delicate and fragile a thing as maidenhair fern, yet if its roots have not sufficient room they will break the pot in which the plant grows. Blades of grass will force the curbstones between which they spring up out of their place, and in a single night a crop of small mushrooms has been known to lift a large stone. Indeed, plants are on record as having broken the hardest rocks. The island of Aldabra, to the north-west of Madagascar, is now becoming smaller through the action of the mangroves that grow along the foot of the cliffs. They eat their way into the rock in all directions, and into the gaps thus formed the waves force their way. In time they will probably reduce the island to pieces.

The body of John Connolly, a well-known Bridgeburg man, was found in the M.C.R. yards there.

An Innovation in Oil Heaters

The Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater, with its drums enameled in turquoise, is an ornament to any room, whether in the country or city home.

No home is quite complete without a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a necessity in the fall and spring, when it is too warm to start the regular heating apparatus, and too cool to be without heat. In the midst of winter it is often convenient as an auxiliary heater, as there are always some cold corners in a house.

The enameled heater always presents a nice appearance, as the enamel will not tarnish or burn off. It is not an "enamel paint," but it is the same as the enamel of your cooking utensils.

The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient portable heating device you can find. An automatically-locking flame spreader prevents turning the wick high enough to smoke.

Coughs, Colds Bronchitis

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhozone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully soothing vapor of Catarrhozone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only. 50c and $1, at all dealers. 10

Friends of Mr. Trotter had received a small case by express and had taken it to the cemetery, where a burial service was to have been said when it was discovered that the wrong case had been sent. THE LIE NAILED DOWN

J. M. Barrie, who celebrated his 51st birthday a few days ago, is a direct contradiction to the absurd theory that Scotsmen are humorless. Once the leading actor who was playing in one of his plays fell ill. The occurrence meant a chance for his understudy, who, not being particularly gifted with a sense of modesty, sent a few dozen telegrams to dramatic critics and others solemnly informing them that he would be taking the "star" part that evening. One telegram went to Mr. Barrie. He sent this answer:

"Thanks for your warning."

In connection with the Scotsman's proverbial love of argument, he tells a delicious story. An old fellow lay very near to death, and his friends suggested sending for the minister. But the old chap did not want a spiritual comforter. The friends said they would sing a hymn. The dying man did not want hymns. "A'm wanting neither hymns nor minister," quoth he; "I want to argy."

Another yarn Mr. Barrie tells is about a friend of his who once had the misfortune to sit at a performance of "The Little Minister" behind a lady with a large hat. Requested politely to remove it, the lady stubbornly refused. But the man was anxious to see the play. Presently he leaned forward again. "Madam," he said, gravely, "if you won't remove your hat, would you mind folding up your ears?"

A TALK ON RHEUMATISM

Telling How to Cure This Painful Malady

This article is for the man or woman who suffers from rheumatism who wants to be cured, not merely relieved — but actually cured. The most a rheumatic sufferer can hope for in rubbing something on the tender, aching joint, is a little relief. No lotion or liniment ever did or ever can make a cure. The rheumatic poison is rooted in the blood. Therefore rheumatism can only be cured when this poisonous acid is driven out of the blood. That's why rubbing and liniments and outward applications are no good — they can't reach the cause in the blood. Any doctor will tell you this is true. If you want something that will go right to the root of the trouble in the blood every time, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new, rich blood which drives out the poisonous acid and cures rheumatism to stay cured. This is a solemn truth which has been proved in thousands of cases, and the following is a striking instance. Mrs. W. H. Elnor, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as they completely cured me of rheumatism after I had been almost an invalid for three years. I doctored with two skilled doctors and took electric treatment, but without benefit. On going to a third doctor he recommended mineral baths as the only thing that would help me. After taking this treatment for some time I felt that I was really growing worse instead of better, and I began to think there was no cure for me and that I was doomed to be a helpless sufferer. For some months I discontinued all treatment and then I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a few boxes I could notice a distinct improvement and I continued taking the Pills for several months when the cure was complete. That is some two years ago, and I have ever since been perfectly free from the trouble. I would therefore advise anyone afflicted with rheumatism to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they certainly made a remarkable cure in my case."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ROYAL TASTES IN DRESS.

Kaiserin dresses more fashionably than Queen Mary.

It was noticeable during the visit of the German royalties to London that the Kaiserin did not share the prejudices of Queen Mary in regard to certain styles. The two ladies drove everywhere together and always Queen Mary wore the modest little toques of which she approves, while the German Empress favored large and much plumed headgear of the sort which Queen Mary has declared against.

Princess Victoria also revelled in large hats and even wore fairly tight skirts, not of the hobble variety but much skimpier and more clinging than those England's Queen considers suitable for court wear. One good old fashion all three ladies clung to, and that was a pocket in place of the bag which women carry nowadays.

Queen Mary always has capacious pockets in her skirts and underskirts, even her coronation gown had a pocket concealed in the panel down the front, and it was noted that the German Empress and her daughter dived down into a side recess of their skirts when they sought handkerchiefs, small change, etc., during their expeditions around London.

CANADA'S NAVY

How to Tell a Naval Officer's Rank.

Two stripes indicate a lieutenant, an engineer-lieutenant, a surgeon, or a paymaster — always having regard to the gold circle on the uppermost stripe for the lieutenant, or the purple, red, or white cloth between the stripes, and no circle, for the other branches. Three stripes, of which the middle one is only half the thickness of the other two, indicate a senior lieutenant or senior engineer, a staff-surgeon, or a staff-paymaster; while three stripes all of the same thickness denote a commander, a fleet-surgeon, or a fleet-paymaster.

A captain has four stripes. Officers of admiral's rank have always one broad gold stripe nearest the cuff, and from one to four thinner gold stripes above it. Thus, a rear-admiral has the broad stripe and one stripe above it; a vice-admiral has two above, an admiral has three, while an admiral of the fleet — of whom there are only five on the active list, one of whom is King George —has four. An admiral always wears aiguillettes, as do the officers on his staff, such as his flag-lieutenant or his secretary.

Midshipmen have no stripes, as they are not commissioned officers; but they have a small square of white cloth on the front of the collars of their coats.

Took Only Half an Hour to Shoot $2,500 Worth of Ivory.

W. Buckley, the great English elephant shot, in talking of his favorite game says:

"There are three curious things about the elephant.

"First, although he is the biggest animal in the world, he is the hardest to see, for he is the same color as the forest.

"Second, for all his vast area there is little more than a square foot of him that is vulnerable to a bullet.

"Third, all elephants are "left handed," as is proved by the fact that the left tusk is always shorter, being worn away with work.

"My biggest bag of elephants in one day was ten, but the most profitable was a day when I shot eight, and their tusks weighed 766 pounds. It took me half an hour to shoot them, and the ivory was worth $2,500. Of course that was an exceptionally good day.

"The tusks of the biggest elephant weighed 282 pounds —the right tusk 147 pounds, the left 135 pounds.

"The elephant is a very blind animal. From tests carried out he cannot see further than 170 yards, but he can scent a man for half a mile, and can distinguish between a white man and a black man. When he charges he always makes for the white man."

FORESTRY IN JAPAN.

Authorities Believe in Conservation—Been planting for 1200 years.

Japan has longer than any other country practiced technical forestry. With extraordinary skill and absolute success the authorities have for 1,200 years planted and cared for the forest trees. "The results," writes a correspondent, "have been really wonderful, for through the extremely sedulous management and the knowledge of skill by degrees attained the financial gains have been very large, indeed. Not a twig is ever wasted. The trees are regarded as almost sacred property, and not a particle of any one of them is regarded as rubbish, so close is the utilization. Thinning and all departments of arboreal culture are very carefully conducted. At the end of 13 years from planting a wood lot is thinned by experts, and then every five years the process is repeated for 120 years, the average period of the cultivation of a set of trees.

London Fog.

——During a season of heavy fog a London daily paper offered a prize for the best fog story. The story given here won the prize: A merchant received a telephone message one morning from one of his clerks. "Hello, Mr. Smith!" said the clerk, over the wire. "I can not come down to the shop this morning on account of the fog. I have not yet arrived home yesterday."

Don't think a man's generous when he says he has bought his wife a machine. Maybe it's a sewing machine.

PROGRESSIVE CHANGES AT WM. STOCK AND SONS BAKERY

Fine Brick Stable and Drive Shed is About Completed—Six Wagons on the Road

By building a big white brick addition to their plant, Messrs. Wm Stock and Sons, the enterprising local bread manufacturers, have established the most commodious, most convenient and best equipped bakers plant in the city.

The flourishing condition of this firm's business is an example of what ambition and perseverance will do. In 1870 Mr. Wm. Stock came to Peterborough, a baker. He started to make bread and delivered it in any kind of vehicle he could procure. To-day there are seven wagons going through the city streets bearing the name of William Stock & Sons.

Mr Wm. Stock has retired from the turmoil of business life and resides in Auburn, while Messrs. Harry and Bert Stock handle the bread business.

Messrs. Jones and Davidson, who are supervising the erection of the new structure, have the fine new building almost completed.

The stable, which is over the wagon shed, is the best in the city. There is room for ten horses, and it is equipped with water tank and other conveniences. The fodder loft is roomy and fitted with bran and oat bins and an unloading fork to handle the hay. Between the stable and the bakeshop there are two rooms and two walls of solid brick, thus assuring a sanitary condition of affairs.

Instead of loading the route wagons at the front as is now the custom, they will be loaded at the back, where it will be possible to work at six boxes at once.

The frame sheds which at present face Sherbrooke street, will be removed and a driveway will be established along the east side of the building, to the end, where it will connect with a Stewart street driveway. There is a large set of scales on the east side of the main building which is accessible from Sherbrooke street.

The wet weather has hindered the cement workers to a considerable extent, otherwise the job would have been finished some few days ago.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Penniless and a physical wreck, Raymond Moore, a one time popular song writer is seriously ill at the Massachusetts Hospital. Moore is the composer of "Sweet Marie," "Just as the Sun Went Down," and other song hits.

Mark Hambourg, who was heard here Tuesday night, played before a packed house at Ottawa. The prices ranged up to $5, but the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were there.

For Thankgiving Day, the management of the Grand Opera House have to offer the big musical show, "The Girl from Rectors," matinee and night.

The present manager of Hambourg secured his position through somewhat gruesome developments, the former manager being shot and killed at Rimouski, shortly after the celebrated pianist arrived in this country.

Gilbert Parker's book, "The Right of Way" has proved an interesting story to thousands of readers. It will be produced at the Grand on October 31.

The practice of late comers disturbing those already seated is still in evidence. The ushers should be instructed to take no check during an act.

DIRECTORS' CONFERENCE

Discussion on Physical Department of an Association

The physical directors' conference at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon proved of mutual helpfulness to the directors, who were able to attend. The afternoon session was mainly given over to the discussion of the work of the physical department and of new ideas for the promotion and furtherance of the work.

In the evening Dr. John Brown, jr., of the International Committee, addressed a gathering of the junior, intermediate and senior leaders, at an informal banquet. His address was chiefly along the line of technical work and training and its importance to all physical directors. He dwelt on the possibilities of that department of the work, of the splendid openings there were, and of the scarcity of men for the numerous positions.

His talk was greatly appreciated. F. E. Dingman, of Belleville; A. C. James, of Orillia, and O. E. Sisson and J. J. Thompson also spoke briefly.

Mr J. Connal, chairman of the physical committee, presided at the banquet.

NO BARGAIN DAY AT THE MARKET

Potatoes Sold at $1.40 and $1.50 per Bag

Good Supply of Tubers in Stores at $1.35

In spite of the fact that potatoes are being shipped into the city from other points and sold at $1.35 per bag the farmers on the market this morning asked $1.40 and $1.50 per bag, and one man showed a Review reporter orders for over half his load at the latter price. When asked as to the reason for the high prices the farmers invariably answered that the 'murphies' were scarce and the price was likely to be even more exorbitant in a short time.

Eggs and butter are about stationary as regard the prices. Both were plentiful as were chickens, geese and ducks.

VISITOR HERE FROM TORONTO

Mr. Galbraith Returns to City for For Few Days

Mr. Wm. Galbraith of the Independent Real Estate Co., formerly of this city, and who is located at Toronto but returns to Peterboro frequently to look after the business here, motored to the city Thursday evening and will remain here for a few days. He speaks well of the prospects in real estate in Toronto, where he has transacted considerable business for the company since the organization.

Mr. Galbraith is interested in some Edmonton property at present and has a good proposition for Peterboro people. He will be in his office to night and Monday prepared to transact business.

TWO JEWS ARRESTED

Charged With Attempt To Defraud--Wanted in Belleville

Two well-dressed young Jews answering to the names of Harry and Louis Stocker were arrested this afternoon shortly after 1.30 on receipt of the following wire from Belleville

Chief Constable,
Peterborough.

I hold warrants for the arrest of Harry Stocker and Louis Stocker, two Jewish shoemakers, who left here this morning. The charge is defrauding creditors. See the Canadian Express Company. May be at S. Fienbergs, 187 Simcoe street. Hold and wire. Will send.

The two men were arrested at the store mentioned by Acting Detective Meagher, this afternoon, and are now lodged in the police cells awaiting the arrival of an officer from Belleville to take them back for trial.

DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION TO CURE ECZEMA

The most advanced physicians of this country and Europe, are now prescribing a wash of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other soothing and healing ingredients for the cure of Eczema, Psoriasis and all other forms of skin trouble. This compound is known as the D.D.D. Prescription.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes—"I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as is quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years."

D.D.D. Prescription will instantly stop the burning itch, and in a short time cure the disease. It will not injure the skin, but will make it clear and soft.

You can try D.D.D. without expense if you send for a free sample bottle to the D.D.D. Laboratories, Dept P.R. 49 Colborne St., Toronto.

BRIGHT YOUNG LIFE IS CLOSED

Walter Johnston Ill With Appendicitis Only One Week

Sad indeed are the circumstances in the passing of Walter Hayes Johnston, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Johnston, 166 Hunter street east, whose death occurred last evening about 7.30 o'clock, following one week's illness from appendicitis. His age was 15 years and 3 months.

The family came to this city one year ago from Montreal, where the young lad was born. He was a bright boy with a splendid character, and one whose influence over his young friends was always for good. He was a member of St. Paul's church and Sunday school, where he was a general favorite. He also attended the Collegiate Institute. What makes his death doubly sad is that his father only recently recovered from a compound fracture of the leg, by which he was laid up for months.

The funeral will take place from the family residence Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, to the Little Lake cemetery. Service at two o'clock.

LAID TO REST

The funeral of the late Mr. Joseph Glass this afternoon from the family residence, Parnell street, to Little Lake cemetery was attended by about sixty members of the International Moulders' Union No. 191, of which deceased was one of the oldest members, as well as a large and representative body of citizens. The moulders met at the C.O.F. Hall, Hunter street, at two o'clock and marched to the late home of their deceased friend and fellow-member, where six of their number, Messrs David Spence, Joseph Crowe, Jerry Wright, Edward O'Brien, John Robertson, sr., and John Law acted as pall-bearers.

Rev. James G. Brown, of St. James' Methodist church, officiated. The funeral cortege, which left for Little Lake cemetery, where interment took place, at 2.45 o'clock, was an unusually lengthy one. Among the many beautiful and costly floral tributes was one from the I.M.U. No. 191.

The funeral of the late John Sawers was held this afternoon at three o'clock to Little Lake cemetery, and the body was followed to the grave by a large number of the citizens and sincere mourners. The funeral service was distinctly impressive, and was conducted by Rev. Robert Pogue.

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR GLASSES Why?

The increasingly long evenings of autumn give greater opportunity for sewing, writing, reading, study, and as this is necessarily by artificial light the strain upon the eyes is such as to make Glasses quite a boom at this season of the year. This no doubt accounts for much of the present increased demand for Glasses.

Appointment for examining the eyes for Glasses is usually necessary.

NIGHT ATTACK

Turks Catch Italians in the Dark.

Warships Cannot Render Assistance—Many Dead

Berlin, Oct. 23.—A special despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Tripoli, by way of Malta, reports a sanguinary fight on Thursday night near the city of Tripoli. The Turks surprised the Italians, who were caught between two fires. The warships were unable to give any assistance. Fifteen Italian soldiers were found dead in the trenches. A large pile of uniforms belonging to Italian soldiers later was discovered in a field, which leads to the belief that the Italian casualties were much more serious than admitted. Many dead and wounded were transported to the warships. The authorities, however assert that only one man is missing.

The same correspondent says that the Turkish garrison at Benghazi is offering vigorous resistance to the Italian troops, and is being aided by the Senussi tribesmen. The landing of further troops has been hindered by a storm.

Criticizing the Premier.

Rome (via the frontier), Oct. 23.—Both at home and abroad the employment of seemingly excessive forces by Italy in its Tripolitan campaign has come in for criticism, and it is pointed out that this policy does not seem to be compatible with the expressed intention of Italy to avoid bloodshed.

Premier Gioletti, it is explained by Government officials, is following the same course in this war as he followed in his home policy. At the first threat of disorders it has been his policy to mass sufficient police and troops to make resistance impracticable. The Premier has not forgotten Italy's defeat in Abyssinia, and he holds that any excessive caution is justified.

His wish has been to make the occupation of Tripoli certain, without risk and with the avoidance of the horrors of war. The show of force, he believes, will impress the Turks sufficiently to retard them from offering serious resistance.

TORONTO PROTESTANTS TO RUN CANDIDATES IN DOZEN RIDINGS

Will Take a Hand in Election in Peterborough, as Well as Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa—Want to Pledge Government Candidate.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Oct 23.—The bi-lingual school question promises to figure largely in the coming election, more so than has been generally anticipated. The Canadian Protestant organization—an organization of members of the Orange lodges and affiliated orders—purposes running candidates in a number of ridings throughout the province, who are pledged to advocate one language only for the public schools in Ontario.

One of the heads of the association in Toronto stated this morning that it was intended to run candidates in at least twelve ridings.

"We have a lot of good men who are willing to stand for election," he said, "and we expect to take part in the fight in Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Peterborough, as well as in a number of rural ridings." This gentleman, who is an officer of the Toronto branch of the association, says that Government candidates will first be interviewed and if they will consent to oppose bi-lingual schools, they will be given the endorsation of the organization, otherwise an independent Protestant candidate will be brought out.

It was this Canadian Protestant organization that proposed contesting South Toronto in the recent Dominion elections, but dropped out before polling day. The bi-lingual schools being the only question in which the associating is interested, this phase of the provincial fight will be alone considered.

CHINESE REBELS HOLD PASSES; IMPERIAL TROOPS ON THE RUN

Loyalists Making for North of Province in a Hurry—General Not Anxious to Attack Revolutionaries.

Pekin, Oct. 23.—Gen. Yin Tchang, the War Minister, who is in the neighborhood of Sinyongchau, in Honan Province, has completed the mobilisation of 20,000 men, but the opinion is held here that he has no intention for the present to begin an advance against the revolutionaries holding the towns of Wuchang, Hanyang and Hankow.

The Provinces of Honan and Tupeh are divided by a high ranges of hills, through which the only pass for many miles is traversed by the railway. It is reported that this pass is held by the rebels, who have posted many guns. They are supposed to have cut off 3,000 imperial troops, who are fleeing northwards from Hankow.

The Government first mentioned Kwangshui, which is on the south slope of the hills, as the place of Yin Tchang's mobilization, but evidently the War Minister has been content to assemble his forces on the north side of the hills. The pass is believed to be impassable by the troops under Yin Tchang. Whether he will reinforce them is questionable because of the growing feeling that it will be necessary to retain all available forces as near to Pekin as possible.

It is stated significantly that Yin Tchang intends to perfect his organization before advancing against the rebels holding Hwangchow, which is some miles below Hankow at the narrowest point of the Yangtsekiang.

A reliable report has reached here that on the morning of Oct. 18, the third brigade of Government troops arriving at the Liuchiamiao stations, were fired upon by the rebels with thirty-six field guns, whereupon the whole brigade stampeded to the north. The provincial troops hastened to their aid, but without avail. The imperial troops were in a state of consternation, and the rout could not be checked.

The same advices add that the brigade had no option but to return to Sinyangchau and await reinforcements. Liuchiamiao is about 65 miles to the northeast of Kwangshui, and it is therefore evident—if the report of the rout is true—that the Government does not hold Kwangshui.

MAY REVEAL A SENSATION

Investigation Into Violet Smith's Death

Toronto Oct. 23.—Startling revelations may yet be made regarding the death of Violet Smith, who came to her death by drowning in the River Shebashekong. In the eyes of the relatives the whole affair is still enshrouded with mystery—mystery of such a nature that a thorough investigation is to be conducted without delay.

The remains were brought to Toronto on Saturday evening, and yesterday morning Chief Coroner A. J. Johnson performed a postmortem at the request of the relatives, and it is believed, discovered signs of ill-usage. Dr. Johnson did not wish to disclose any information as yet, but intimated that further developments would be made in a day or so.

TO BUILD 1000 MILE RAILWAY FOR MOUNTAIN SECTION OF B.C.

J. D. McArthur's Proposition For a New Line is Made Public.

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—Announcement that J. D. McArthur, millionaire railway contractor of Winnipeg, and associates, had acquired a charter for a railway extending from Edmonton to Fort George, B.C., was made yesterday by J. L. Cote, member for Athabasca in the Albert Legislature.

The proposed line will traverse the richest part of the Peace River district, entering British Columbia via Pine River Pass, north of Yellowhead Pass, and opening up vast regions in the northern portion of this province. It will be over 1,000 miles long and will take the shape of two sides of a triangle, its apex at Pine River Pass, which has a low altitude. An exploratory survey party is now going over the route to secure data preliminary to undertaking the location work. It is expected that the line will be completed and in operation within four years, as it is understood arrangements for financing the proposition have already been completed.

This road, when completed, will connect with the Grand Trunk Pacific at Fort George, providing a line in the through route from Vancouver to the Peace River district.

Six Workman Injured.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Six workmen were buried under bricks, mortar and other debris when a portion of a building on St. Dominique street, which they were engaged in demolishing collapsed at 2.30 p.m. Saturday.

Three of the men were taken to the General Hospital, where they must remain several days to recover from the cuts and bruises resulting from their fall.

The following are the injured, who had to receive hospital attention: Antonio Rossa, 1885 St. Andrew street; Louis Romano, 2285 St. Andre street; Sam Sobloskey, 680 St. Dominique street.

What Did He Mean?

Hamilton, Oct. 23.—An early visit of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught to Hamilton is intimated in a letter received by Mayor Lees Saturday morning from the new Governor-General's secretary. The date of the visit is given as Nov. 31, but as that month has only thirty days, some uncertainty exists as to the date meant. It is thought, however, that the royal couple will be here on Nov. 30. The reception committee of the City Council will start immediately to prepare an elaborate program of entertainment for Their Royal Highnesses.

PROBABILITIES

Moderate south-west gales with showers to-night. Tuesday, fresh westerly winds, fair and cooler.

HIGHER PAY AND SHORTER HOURS

Or Tie-up of Railroad Traffic as Alternative

Special to the Review.

London, Oct. 23—"We must have higher pay and shorter hours, or there will be such a stike as will stop every wheel on every railroad in England before Christmas" said Arthur Henderson to-day in commenting on the resolution of the Labor bodies yesterday, repudiating the Royal Commissioners' report.

Killed by Fall.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—While removing a shutter from a second storey window of his residence, 381 Markham street, on Saturday, James E. Bizzey lost his footing and fell to the ground, sustained a fractured skull. Medical aid was summoned at once, but he died several hours later.

The body will be removed to Montreal, where it will be interred in the family plot. A widow and four children survive. He was a member of the I. O. O. F.

U. S. Soldiers at Quebec.

Quebec, Oct. 23.—Battery C. Militia Volunteers of Massachusetts, arrived in town yesterday morning by special train from Lawrence, Mass. The battery left Lawrence, Mass., on Friday night and arrived yesterday morning. The battery numbers about 90. The battery paid a visit to St. Anne de Beaupre yesterday, and also had a trip around town.

Pastor Created Scandal.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23.—Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, held in Boston on a charge of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, was pastor of the Bethany Baptist Church in this city from 1901 until 1904, when he resigned by request, following the sensational disclosures of three young women, each of whom accused him of being engaged to her.

REBELS IN THE PASSES

Capture Artillery and Supply Trains of Imperials

Special To The Review.

Pekn, Oct 23.—Enormous losses were suffered by the Imperial troops on Saturday at Kwang Shi, and the rebels, who captured artillery and supply trains are strongly entrenched in the mountains passes.

HENRI'S DEMAND

Says That Nationalists Will Abide Vote.

Wants the Navy Question Submitted to People.

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Although Hon. F. D. Monk did not put in an appearance at the Raivelle demonstration in Chambly yesterday, Mr. Henri Bourassa was present and made a very interesting statement in view of recent happenings at Ottawa.

He was a little scandalized to see the Liberal papers blaming Mr. Borden for taking Col. Sam Hughes into his Government and making good old Dr. Sproule Speaker when these same Laurier men were only too glad to get Sam Hughes' support when they wanted to violate the rights of the minority in the West.

He claimed that the platform of the Nationalist group was that laid down by Sir John Macdonald when at Quebec in 1864 the then Conservative leader had said there must be no victor and vanquished, no inferior or superior race in Canada. Then he felt Mr. Borden was too honorable a man to want to repudiate his policy supporting Monk's plebiscite resolution, supported by Col. Hughes and all his friends.

"Let Canadians be asked if they want to maintain their strict autonomy as loyal Canadian and loyal to the flag and sovereign. Do they want secondly to contribute directly to the imperial navy or do they want to build a navy here which will be Canadian in times of peace and British in times of war," he said. Whichever decision the majority reaches it will be loyally accepted by the Nationalists.

WILL HAVE A JURY SOME DAY

It is Expected Preliminaries Will Be Over by New Year

Three Jurors Have Been Selected so Far

Los Angeles, Oct. 21.—A jury in the McNamara murder trial by Jan. 1, 1912, was the prediction made on Saturday by Attorney Clarence Darrow, chief of counsel for the defence.

With no court session Saturday, opposing counsel took opportunity to finish up the work of the first complete court week in the trial of James B. McNamara for the murder of Charles J. Haggerty in The Los Angeles Times explosion.

Attorney Darrow's statement was based, he said, partly on progress made thus far, which shows three talesmen in the box, subject to peremptory challenge, but more upon the opposition manifested by talesmen to infliction of the death penalty on circumstantial evidence or in some instances, under any conditions.

"It is getting harder all the time to get a jury in a murder case, according to my experience," said Mr. Darrow. "The defence expects that this sentiment will form a considerable obstacle."

The state has already made public some of its direct evidence in the case, including the statement made by Ortie E. McManigal, implicating the defendant, and is known not to be dependent on circumstantial evidence altogether, but District Attorney Fredericks has taken the position that the people are entitled to a jury which will convict entirely upon circumstantial evidence if a case beyond reasonable doubt is made out, and Judge Bordwell has sustained that position.

Official Arrested.

Paris, Oct. 23.—Gen. Toutee, commander of the Algerian force in Morocco, has sent a telegram to the Minister of War, saying he has caused the arrest of M. Destailleur, the French commissioner, who has had in charge the regulation and control of the Algerian-Moroccan frontier. Because of his refusal to permit an investigation of his accounts, Mr. Destailleur and several other men, including the Caid of Oudja, are charged with illegal collusion. Other despatches received here from Algiers declare that the arrest of M. Destailleur is due to a contraband trade in arms and official smuggling over the frontier.

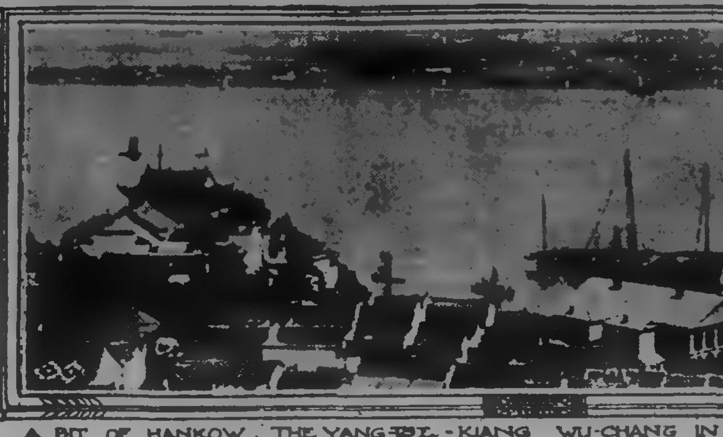
Some Family.

Syracuse, N.Y., Oct. 23.—A unique wedding in which a widow of ten children, became the bride of a widower with ten more, took place yesterday afternoon in the Church of the Assumption, where Mrs. Margaret Webber was married to Joseph Reinman, both of this city. The wedding ceremony was performed by Father Ambrose, pastor of the church. Some of the children of both principals are married. The bride's youngest is six. Her husband's youngest is eight. They will live in a new house just completed at No. 504 Spring street.

Baby Wasn't Hurt.

Smith's Falls Oct. 23.—Some children playing in the home of Mr. Milton Hay of Hallville procured a box of dynamite caps, not knowing what they were, and gave them to the baby to amuse him. He let the dangerous toy fall to the floor, and immediately there was a terrific explosion. The room in which is occurred was badly torn up, and two little girls were seriously burned, though the baby escaped injury. There were several children in the room, but none of them were fatally injured.

SCENE OF REBELLION IN CHINA WHERE TROOPS HAVE BEEN RUSHED



A BIT OF HANKOW, THE YANG-TSE-KIANG WU-CHANG IN THE DISTANCE.

The capture of Wu-chang by the revolutionists under the leadership of the soldiers who mutinied constitutes, in the opinion of diplomatists here, the gravest situation in China since the Boxer uprising.

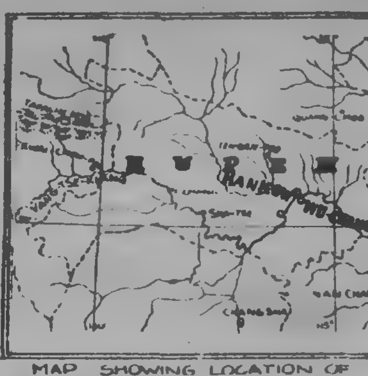
This is the first instance of the complete overthrow of governmental authority in any provincial capital since the Taiping rebellion.

The part played by the troops causes unconcealed alarm in court circles, arousing the suspicion that the new army is honeycombed with revolutionists.

Disquieting reports from Canton inspire fear of similar outbreaks in the southern provinces.

The general staff is preparing to rush troops to Hankow.

The Chinese officials have requested the consuls to have foreign gunboats patrol the river to prevent the revolutionists from crossing.



MAP SHOWING LOCATION OF LATEST CHINESE OUTBREAK

The United States gunboat Helena is expected at Hankow within a few days. Additional British, German and Japanese war ships are also due there.

HOLY GHOSTERS HAD TERRIBLE TRIP; LEADER UNDER ARREST

Seven Died on Board Leaking Yacht From Scurvy—Fifty Religious Enthusiasts Had a Wild Experience With Storm.

Portland, Me., Oct. 23.—As the climax to months of hardships, during which he and his little band of followers at times suffered from hunger and thirst as their yacht Coronet was buffeted about by sea and wind, the Rev. Frank W. Sandford, leader of the Holy Ghost and Us Society of Shiloh, was brought to this city last night in the custody of the county authorities.

His arrest was made on a writ in a civil suit brought by Mrs. Florence N. Whittaker, wife of one of the Holy Ghost and Us leaders, who alleged that she was illegally detained aboard the Kingdom, formerly one of the Sandford fleet. She was released on habeas corpus proceedings in June, 1910, and since then the authorities have been awaiting the appearance of Sandford within the jurisdiction of the state, that they might place him under arrest.

When Sandford was brought ashore from the Coronet, which swings at anchor off the quarantine station, a wrecked and disabled craft, he was accompanied by the husband of the woman at whose instigation he was arrested, the Rev. A. A. Whittaker. The latter came ashore that he might assist in arraigning bail for his leader.

Last night two men were brought ashore from the Coronet by the health authorities and placed in a local hospital, both suffering with scurvy. Seven others, six men and one child, died of the same disease and were buried at sea during the past few months, according to statements made by members of the crew. Many others have had touches of scurvy.

Not a sail of her original suit of canvas was left whole and there was a foot of water in the cabin when the Coronet entered the harbor and dropped anchor off the quarantine station yesterday. Her flying jibboom, both her jibs and foresails were carried away in recent storms, and her mainsail was split to ribbons. The pumps were being worked continually.

In the vessel's larder there was not a loaf of bread and no fresh meat had passed the lips of any of the religious seafarers for many days. So exhausted and weakened were the crew and passengers that it is doubtful if they could have kept their craft afloat for many days.

The Coronet has been at sea since June 27, when she sailed from a Haytien port, and was last reported on Sept. 27, when she was sighted by the steamer Lapland, flying signals which indicated that she was short of provisions. The Lapland sent relief and then proceeded. At that time the Coronet was off Cape Sable. For the last week the staunch craft has been beating her way along the coast, her crew despairing her ability to reach port.

On board were fifty-five people, including Rev. Mr. Sandford and his wife and five children. Besides the thirty-one survivors of the wreck of the barkentine Kingdom, there were twenty-four persons who were on the Coronet when she left Maine waters. The party included eleven children, ranging in ages from four to sixteen years, and just nineteen able-bodied men.

Worn by the terrible hardships of months at sea, half-starved and with faces emaciated, it was a ghastly looking company of seafarers which confronted the boarding party at quarantine. For seven days the men and women have been working incessantly at the pumps, in reliefs of three watches and this terrible labor in their weakened condition had reduced even the strongest of the crew to mere skeletons as compared with formef selves.

While they worked at the pumps, man and woman prayed incessantly. In the storm every small boat was smashed to kindling wood, and if the yacht had foundered, the Shilohites would all have perished without a chance to save themselves.

The Coronet, which more than twenty years ago defeated the schooner-yacht Dauntless in a race from Sandy Hook to Queenstown, has been battered by many seas since she left Portland in 1910. When asked where she had been, the sailing master, H. F. Witham, replied: "Everywhere." He said later that they had been to the Holy Land, but had spent much time in the tropics, spreading the faith of their sect.

ENGAGED TO THREE GIRLS

Rev. Clarence Richeson Had to Leave Kansas Church

Did Former Suitor Give Poison to Avis Linnell?

Special to the Review.

Boston, Oct. 23—The defence in the Avis-Linnell murder case, will attempt to prove that a former suitor of the girl administered the drug and not Rev. Clarence Richeson. It has been found that the prisoner was the principal in a scandal while pastor of Bethany Baptist church at Kansas, Mo., from 1901 to 1904. He resigned at the request of the officials of the church following sensational disclosures of three young women, each of whom accused him of being engaged to her.

Christian Chinese Weren't.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The police yesterday raided a Chinese resort at 56 O'Connor street, and gathered in 56 Chinamen. The place was found to be a gambling den and opium joint; fan tan was largely in progress in the basement, with other games of chance and a Chinese lottery table in the corner. The officers gathered the money and apparatus. Upstairs an opium joint was in full session and much material around.

Many of those arrested had just left Sunday School and had tracts and religious books with them. All are held in the cells till the police court sits.

NO EVIDENCE OF VIOLENCE

Found on Body of Drowned School Teacher

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Oct. 23—The second postmortem examination on the body of Violet Smith, made yesterday, revealed several ante-mortem bruises on her body, but there was no other evidence of violence. The report of the physicians will be placed before the Attorney General's department.

The remains of the unfortunate school teacher were interred in Mount Pleasant cemetery yesterday, besides those of her mother.

LEONARD GETS IT

Railway Man Appointed Head of N.T.R.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Announcement of four appointments was made by Premier Borden following Saturday's meeting of the Cabinet.

Reuben E. Leonard, St. Catharines, to be chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission.

Hon. Senator Landry, to be Speaker of the Senate.

Alphonse Lariviere, to be Senator from Manitoba.

Adam Carr Bell, to be Senator from Nova Scotia.

The Leonard appointment is of course the 'most important.' It has been made after much consideration and consultation and makes the first instance in years when a big federal office has had to seek the man.

R. E. Leonard has accepted the post as a matter of public duty, the ten thousand dollar salary being small consideration to a man whose annual income exceeds the half million.

Mr. Leonard is a graduate of the Royal Military College and stands high among Canadian engineers. He has a wide experience in railway construction and operation, having had much to do with the building of the C.P.R. short line, the New York Central and other lines. Latterly he has been best known in connection with the Coniagas mine and the smelting industry at Thorold.

The negotiations leading up to Mr. Leonard's appointment were conducted by Hon. Frank Cochrane.

A. C. Bell takes the Senatorship held by the late Senator Comeau of Digby, N.S. He is an old Parliamentarian and was Conservative candidate in Pictou in the last election.

J. A. C. Lariviere enters the Senate in place of the late Senator Chevrier. He also is one of the Conservative old guard who of late years have failed to come back by way of the ballot box.

Senator Landry gets the Senate Speakership, because he is the only French Conservative Senator eligible, and the Senate Speaker must be French now that Dr. Sproule is to preside in the Commons.

Snow In Texas.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 23.—Snow, the earliest in the history of that section, has fallen over the panhandle of Texas and northwestern New Mexico for the past 24 hours. At Amarillo, where flowers were blooming and trees yet covered in summer verdure, the sight was novel and unprecedented. The remainder of the state is blanketed by a heavy rain with the temperature registering 50 degrees. The forecast for to-day is frost all over the state, except in the extreme south portion.

Invitations May Be Curtailed.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Considerable speculation, not to say apprehension, prevails in social circles in Ottawa as to the conditions governing at Rideau Hall under the regime of the Duke of Connaught. There is a somewhat widespread feeling that the invitation list for state and social functions there may be submitted to a process of elimination. Nothing official or semi-official on the subject is obtainable, but something along the line indicated seems highly probable.

Sweet-Toothed Burglars.

Hamilton, Oct. 23.—Burglars who are thought by the police to be amateurs broke into the office of the Aylmer Canning Co. on Mary street Saturday morning and made away with about $1 worth of stamps and the contents of several cans of preserves. Entrance was gained by breakmade to get into the safe.
ing a window glass. No effort was made to get into the safe.

SOUR RISINGS FROM STOMACH

Those Who Experience Fullness and Pain After Meals, Stomach Disorders, and Indigestion, Should Read Below.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

MR. BURNHAM'S OFFER

That was a graceful act by Mr. Burnham on Saturday, when he wired to Premier Borden placing himself at the disposal of the Premier, if he wished to have Hon. W. T. White returned from West Peterborough. Mr. Burnham's action indicates that he is ready to act in the best interests of the party, and of the country, for, though it may not be generally realised, the appointment of Mr. White as finance minister will prove to be one of Mr. Borden's greatest moves in cabinet making. It would be a signal honor for West Peterborough to be represented by the finance minister of Canada.

At the same time, from the practical aspect of the case, it is doubtful whether this seat would be as safe for Mr. White as would be desired. It is quite true the Liberals of the riding, though beaten, would like only too well to have another chance to embarrass the victors of the late fight, though they might have nothing to hope for, from such a course. Peterborough will be quite pleased to have Mr. Burnham take his place at Ottawa, as a government supporter, and continue the work he has begun so well. The offer, however, is an indication of the breadth of Mr. Burnham's vision, and cannot but bring him to the notice of the country as at least one good Conservative ready to do what he can to assist Premier Borden in his difficult work.

MR. HALL'S NOMINATION

As was expected, the Grit standard bearer in West Peterborough is Mr. R. R. Hall. Mr. Hall is an old political warrior, and a man of great energy. Just why he should have the desire to sit in opposition at Toronto with a score of discouraged Liberals, is not clear. It is not a desirable position, from more than one standpoint. No one has yet suggested that Mr. Hall is likely to succeed Mr. MacKay—the latter has determined not to be ousted. However, Mr. Hall has accepted the nomination, and one need not be concerned about his reasons for doing so, as much as what he aims at accomplishing by doing so.

Mr. Hall may be depended on to put up a good fight. He may be expected not to neglect any of the artifices which the time-worn politician knows so well how to employ, but whether he will be skilful enough to convince the people of West Peterborough that their interests will be better served by himself in opposition, than by the Whitney government and by Mr. Peck remains to be seen. We do not see even at the beginning of a long campaign, where Mr. Hall can hope to make much of an impression in the Whitney armor. The Liberal party in Ontario has no program, no distinct platform on which to appeal to the people. The Liberals of Ontario have for the last four years put up a sort of guerilla warfare, a pinpricking policy of criticism that has utterly failed of being true opposition work.

Will Mr. Hall be bold enough to make up a platform for himself? Will he be his own leader, and his own follower, in the matter of a constructive policy with which to allure the voters of this riding? He must, if he expects to have any program worth while presenting to an intelligent electorate for consideration. Mr. MacKay has failed to offer proposals that are clear cut and definite. He has no hydro-electric power policy, no solution for the question of developing teachers for the rural schools, no feasible plan for the colonisation of Ontario.

Mr. Hall's address to the electors outlining what he thinks ought to catch the voters of this riding, will be real interesting. It will be a case with the Liberal candidates of Ontario of "Each for himself, and Allah for all."

SPITE FENCES

Says the Ottawa Citizen: The city of Toronto proposes to secure legislation against so-called spite fences. One of the oldest principles of British law is that a man's house is his castle. There were quite a number of spears broken and several pints of blood shed to demonstrate this principle in the years gone by, but the principle has always remained the same. A British subject who owns a piece of British soil can build on it a hovel, or a battlemented castle, but his rights remain the same within his own boundaries. The denomination of "spite fences" has been attached to erections that are intended to protect the land owner in the enjoyment of his property, quite as much as the battlemented castles of a thousand years ago were intended to protect the land holder of those days in the similar enjoyment of his property. The term has been invented on this side of the water, the same as that other derogatory expression which condemns any objector to the infringement upon his rights as a "kicker." The aggressive corporation interests have conspired to stigmatise any individual who dares to resist their encroachments as "kicker." In order to strengthen their position they have educated the unthinking public to view with something akin to contempt any man who has the courage to stand up for his own rights as distinguished from those who have not the backbone to do so. The same applies to the term "spite fence." It is an adaptation from the American. There are certain conditions under which a property owner has no choice in the way of protesting himself in the enjoyment of his property, except by the erection of so-called 'spite fences." There may be occasions on which such fences are greeted as an offence to an adjoining neighbor, but nine times out of ten the same men who are agitating for legislation against the erection of spite fences would themselves resort to the same defence under the same circumstances. But apart from that, and notwithstanding the amount of freak legislation in regard to property that is allowed to pass through our legislatures, who imagine that the right of a property holder can be legally abrogated will find that they are up against something taller than the average spite fence, if such legislation, presuming that it can be obtained, ever comes before the privy council.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Hall took good care this time, that there were no seventeen ballots slipped to do him out of the nomination.

The question will shortly become a burning one. Wouldn't it be a sore touch if Mr. Hall were to prove that he was the only Liberal who could carry this riding.

The people of West Peterboro need a supporter of the government at Toronto as well as a supporter of the government at Ottawa. Let us be on the winning side in both cases.

The postponing of that next ball game for the world's championship causes more heart-burning in America than all the European wars Germany could bring on.

Well, with J. H. Stratton and F.D. Kerr out of the way, the disposal of Mr. Hall will wipe out the chief of the political possibilities in the Grit camp, except two or three minors twinkling lights.

It is so absurd to say that the Liberals have any chance of overwhelming Whitney, that no one who has any common sense will make the prediction. We shall see if Mr. Hall will say that the Liberals are sure to be returned to power in Ontario. Surely he will not go as far as that.

There have been twenty-four teachers in ten years at the Dillonport school, at which Violet Smith taught—in a lonely rough settlement. The duty of the department of education is to take special note of such cases, and by special assistance, try to raise the teaching standard in such districts. Surely it is possible, by some means, to get male teachers for such backwoods wildernesses.

The appointment of J. W. Leonard, of the C.P.R., to the chairmanship of the National Transcontinental is another of Mr. Borden's choices of strong men for office. Mr. Leonard is recognized as one of the great railway men of America. He is a vice-president of the C.P.R., and one of the most suitable men for the position in the Dominion. The National Transcontinental work will now have some efficient handling.

Fireless Cooking-Stoves.

A system of cooking comestibles or keeping in a heated condition those which have already been prepared has been devised, and has aroused considerable attention, especially in regard to its application to railway trains. The stove, which has neither fire nor gas, is based upon the ingenious utilisation of a non-conductor of heat. The outer vessel is wrought in aluminium, and the vessels employed for culinary purposes are of the same metal with aluminium locking covers. The necessary heat is supplied by radiation from several hot plates, which are inserted in the cooker, and the arrangement is such that several dishes can be cooked simultaneously. It is stated that not only is this system, so far as it applies to railway travel, free from all danger, but that it represents a saving of 70 to 90 per cent. in the fuel-bill, while one charge of the plates is sufficient to keep the contents hot, or to cook them, during a journey of several hundred miles.

An Interesting Watch.

An interesting horological, sidereal novelty has been perfected by the Rev. Daniel B. Marsh, D.Sc., F.R.A.S. The watch contains many ingenious features, and is conceded to be a striking example of timekeeping mechanism. It is adjusted to five positions, fully jewelled with twenty-one rubies, compensated for temperature, and owing to the special construction of the face-mechanism there is no lost motion in the hands. The watch has been acquired already by the leading observatories of Canada, and is being manufactured in Switzerland, the watch-makers of that country alone having proved equal to the delicate nature of the task imposed, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

Safety Window Cleaner.

The invention consists of a wire frame made to clip the window cloth. To the frame is attached a long band of webbing, which passes over trolleys running along the top and bottom of the window-frame and continues right down the inside of the window. There is obviously no danger in cleaning the outside of a window with this invention, as, of course, the pad is moved to and fro, up, down, or sideways, entirely by the manipulation of the webbing strap on the inside of the room. The necessary pressure upon the surface of the window is obtained by springs, and in obstinate cases the busy maid can of course revert to that well-known domestic dodge of adding a little methylated spirit to the water.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE MARKETS

Latest Quotations in Grain Dairy Products, Live Stock Etc.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—A huge reduction to-day in the estimated wheat yield of the Canadian Northwest helped give the market for that cereal an upward tilt. The closing tone was strong, with prices running from the same as last night to ½c advance. In corn there was a net decline of ⅛c to ¼c; oats finished unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions varied from 5c lower to 10c higher.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛d higher than yesterday on wheat, and ⅛d higher on corn. Paris wheat closed unchanged, Berlin ½c lower, Budapest ⅛ lower, and Antwerp unchanged.

MEXICO IN '42

By D. Lewis

"Why?" exclaimed her friend alike surprised at the remark as at its abruptness "Why do you wish that Isabel?"

"Because I think I knew a way by which something might be done—if you were but the woman to do it."

"Oh, Isabel! I will do anything to get Florencio out of prison."

"It isn't Florencio I want you to get out, but Ruperto. Leave the getting out of Florencio to me."

Still more astonished was Don Ignacio's daughter What would the countess mean now? She put the question to her thus:

"What is it you desire me to do?"

"Practice a little deception—play the coquet—that's all."

It was not in Luisa Valverde's nature. If she had many admirers, and she had—some of them over head and ears in love with her—it was from no frivolity, or encouragement given them on her part. From the day Florence Kearney first made impression upon her heart, it had been true to him and she loyal throughout all. So much that people thought her cold, some even pronouncing her a prude. They knew not how warmly that heart beat, though it was but for one. Thinking of this one, however, what the countess proposed gave her a shock, which the latter perceiving, added with a laugh:

"Only for a time, my dear. I don't want you to keep it up for long, nor to make fools of all the fine gentlemen I see dangling around you. Only one."

"Which one?"

She was not averse to hearing what the scheme was, at all events. How could she be, in view of the object aimed at?

"A man," pursued the countess, "who can do more for us than your father; more than we've been able to do ourselves."

"Who is he?"

"Don Carlos Santander, colonel of Hussars on the staff—aide-de-camp and adjutant to his excellency in more way than military ones—some not quite so honorable. 'Tis said also, that this staff colonel, for reasons nobody seems to know, or need we care, has more influence at court than almost any one else. So what I want you to do is to utilise this influence for our purpose, which I know you can."

"Ah dear Isabel! How much you are mistaken, to think I could influence him to that! Carlos Santander would be the last man to help me in procuring pardon for Florencio—the very last. You know why."

"Oh, yes; I know. But he may help me in procuring pardon for Ruperto. Luckily my good looks, if I have any, never received notice from the grand colonel, who has eyes only for you; so he's not jealous of Ruperto."

"But what would you have me do?"

"Makes yourself agreeable to the colonel. Only in appearance, as I've said, and only for a time till you've tried your power over him and see with what success."

"I'm sure it would fail."

"I don't think it would, my dear, and will not, if you go about it according to instructions. Though it may cost you some unpleasantness, Luisita, and an effort, you'll make it for my sake, won't you? And as a reward," pursued the countess, as if to render her appeal more surely effective, 'I shall do as much for you and in a similar way. For I, too intend counterfeiting complacency in a certain quarter and in the interest of a different individual—Don Florencio. Now, do you understand me?"

"Not quite yet."

"Never mind. I'll make it more plain by and by. Only promise me that you'll do——"

"Dearest Isabel! I'd do anything for you."

"And Don Florencio. I thought that would secure your consent. But what a game of cross-purpose we'll be playing: I for you and you for me and neither for ourselves! Let us hope we may both win."

By this time the carriage had stopped in front of the Casa Valverde to set down Dona Luisa. The countess alighted also, ordering the horses home. It was but a step to her own house and she could walk, for she had something more to say which required saying there and then. Passing on into the patio, far enough to be beyond earshot of the coachman, and there stopping, she resumed the dialogue at the point where she had let off.

"We must set to work at once," she said; "this very day, if opportunity offer. Perhaps in the procession——"

"Oh! Isabel!" interrupted the other "How I dislike the thought of this procession making merry as it were, and he in a prison! And we must pass it, too—its very doors! I'm sure I shall feel like springing out of the carriage and rushing inside to see him."

"That would be just the way to insure your not seeing him—perhaps, never more. The very opposite is what you must do or you'll spoil all my plans. But I'll instruct you better before we start out."

"You insist, then, on our going?"

"Of course, yes; for the very reason—the very purpose we've been speaking of That's just why I ask you to take me with you. It will never do to offend his high mightiness, angry as we may be with him. I'm not sorry at having shown temper but how could I help it, hearing Ruperto called a robber? However, that may be all for the best. So, upstairs; array yourself in your richest apparel and be in readiness for the gilded coach when it comes round. And," she added after drawing out her jeweled watch and glancing at its dial. "We haven't a moment to spare, I must be off to my toilet, too."

She had made a step in the direction of the street, when suddenly turning again she added:

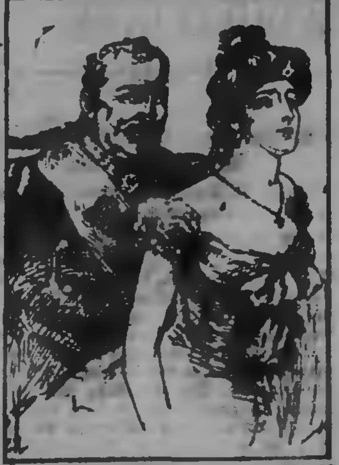
"As a last word, less I might forget it. When next you appear in the grand presence drop that forlorn, doleful look. Misery is the weakest weapon either man or woman can make use of—the very worst advocate in any cause. So don't show it, especially in the company of Don Carlos Santander, where in all likelihood you will be before the end of another hour. Try to look cheerful, put on your sweetest smile, though it be a feigned one, as I intend doing for Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna."

She took her departure now, but as she passed out a cloud could be seen upon her countenance, more than that from the shadow of the arched gateway telling that she herself needed quite as much as her friend admonition to be cheerful.

CHAPTER XXII.

In the Sewers.

Along with a score of other prisoners, the "chain gang" of the Acordada. Kearney, Rock, Rivas and the dwarf were conducted out into the street and on the Calle de Plateros Dominguez, the jailer, went with them—having received orders to that effect—carrying a heavy whip with hard rawhide lash knotted at the end Their escort consisted of two or three files of the prison guard, dirty looking soldiers in coarse linen uniforms, stiff shakos on their heads their arms the old-fashioned flintlock muskets.



"IF THE COUNTESS WILL PREFER HER REQUEST ALONE, IT MAY MEET WITH MORE FAVOR."

The scavengers had still their ankle chains on, but lengthened to give more freedom to their work. In the Mexican metropolis there are whole districts where the policeman fears to show his face, and a criminal pursued, even by soldiers in uniform, would have every door thrown open to him, and every opportunity given for stowing himself away. If he but reach the country and the mountains—on all sides conveniently near—his chances are even better, since the first man there met may be either footpad or salteador.

The covering flags of the sewers had been already lifted off, exposing to view the drain brimful of liquid filth; the tools were beside—scoops, drags and shovels have been sent on before.

Soon, on arriving at its edge, Dominguez who kept close by the two couples in which were the Texans, ordered them to lay hold and fall to.

There could be no question of refusal or disobedience. From the way he twirled the lash between his fingers it looked as though he wished there was, so that he might have an excuse for using it. Besides, any hanging back would be rewarded by a blow from the butt of a musket, and, persisted in, possibly a bayonet thrust—like as not to lame the refractory individual for life.

There was no need for such violent measures now. The others of the gang had done scavenger work before, and knowing its ways, went at it as soon as the word was given Kearney and Cris Rock, with their chain partners, had to do likewise: though, perhaps, never man laid hold of laborer's tools with more reluctance than did the Texan. It was a long shafted shovel that had been assigned to him, and the first use he made of the implement was to swing it round his head, as though he intended bringing it down on that of one of the sentries who stood beside.

"Durnashun!" he shrieked out, still brandishing the tool and looking the soldier straight in the face. "If't warn't that the thing 'ud be o' no use an' you ain't the one as is to blame, I'd brain ye on the spot, ye ugly yallerbelly. Let me get back to Texas and grip a good rifle and the Mexican as comes my way may look out for partickler forked lightnin'!"

Though not comprehending a word of what was said the little manikin of a guard was so frightened by the big fellow's gestures as to spring back several feet, with a look o' alarm so intense, yet so comical, as to set the Texan off into a roar of laughter. And still laughing, he faced towards the sewer, plunged in his implement, and set to work with the others.

At first the task was comparatively clean and easy—a sort of skimming affair—the scavengers keeping upon the pavement. The necessity had not yet arisen for them going down into the drain.

Chest Inflammation

Suffered From a Heavy Cold, Pleuritic Pains in Side — Constant Coughing.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the open ing words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my sides and settled in my shoulders. I used different liniments, but none broke up my cold till I used Nerviline I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realising that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

Nerviline CURES CHEST COLDS

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica, and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large bottles, 50c, trial size 25c Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

After a time, however, as the liquid got lower and the sediment at the bottom too stiff to be conveniently scooped up, a number of them were ordered to "step in."

Cris Rock was already down, having gone voluntary. Only one of each couple had been ordered below and, much as he disliked the dwarf he had no wish to see him drowned or suffocated, which the diminutive creature would well nigh have been in the horrible cesspool Tall as the Texan was, the mud reached up to his thighs, the surface of the street itself being on a level with his armpits, while only the heads of the others could be seen above the stones.

Neither Kearney nor Rivas had yet taken the plunge. They still stood on the brink, discussing the question of precedence. Strange as it may appear, the young Irishman had taken a liking to the Mexican, and the feeling was reciprocated, so that each was now trying to restrain the other from entering the ugly gulf.

But their friendly contest was cut short by the brutal jailer, who, advancing, grasped Rivas by the shoulder and ordered him down.

In time, all were disposed of; one of each couple down in the sewer pitching out its contents; the other pressing them back upon the pavement to prevent their oozing in again. Either way the work was nasty enough, but for those below it was a task most repulsive.

Reduced to Weekly.

Quebec, Oct. 23.—La Vigie, which has been published as a French Liberal morning paper since the latter end of 1909, announced in its issue of Saturday morning that it would henceforth appear only as a weekly. The paper states that when it became a daily its promoters looked largely to the future and upon a rapid increase in the population of Quebec. Unfortunately things have not grown as fast as it expected, and, in addition, recent developments have not been of a nature to create encouragement.

Costly Jewels Were Stolen.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Warren Fairbanks of Chicago, social leader and wife of the son of former Vice-President Fairbanks, reported to the police Saturday that a bag containing jewels worth $10,000 had been taken from her from a Pullman train en route from Boston to Chicago a week ago.

Wheeping It Up.

Welland, Oct. 23.—About a hundred temperance addresses, under the auspices of the Dominion Alliance, were given yesterday in churches in Welland and Haldimand Counties, most of the speakers coming from Toronto

RHEUMATISM FOR FIFTEEN YEARS!

Throws away crutches after using Father Morriscy's No. 7.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.B., Oct. 15, 1910.

"I had suffered with Rheumatism for fifteen years — sometimes so badly I had to use crutches — and could get nothing to help me. I saw your No. 7 Tablets advertised and decided to give them a trial. I procured a box, and in a very short time I got relief, and by the time I had taken five boxes the Rheumatism had all left me. After 18 months it returned — I got another box, and now I am free from Rheumatism. I can conscientiously recommend your remedy to all sufferers from Rheumatism. Your No. 7 Tablets are great — worth their weight in gold."

Charles R. Cronkhite,
General Merchant.

The above prescription is not a "Cure-All" or so-called patent medicine. Dr. Morriscy prescribed it for 44 years, and it cured thousands after other doctors failed.
